Paul's First Missionary Journey.—Cyprus. Acts 13:1-12.

Golden Text—Go ye into all the world, and preach the gospel to every creature. Mark 16:15.

Verse 1—Where was Antioch?

What constituted a Christian church, then, and now?

What was the difference between prophets and teachers?

Verse 2—What is meant by "ministered to the Lord?"

What mental, physical or spiritual benefits are there derived from fasting?

How long should a person abstain from food, in order to constitute a Christian fast?

What right has the present day Protestant church to discontinue the practice of fasting?

When would the ears of a company of godly men be most sensitive to the voice of God, during a feast, or a fast?

Was there any connection between their ministering and fasting, and the Holy Spirit speaking to them?

Is the Holy Spirit apt to speak to those who are not intensely engaged in the cause of God?

What is necessary in order to cultivate an ear for the voice of God?

Should we all be "called" of God, before undertaking any kind of work?

Verse 3—Ought the church to-day to send out missionaries to new districts, and to heathen countries?

If it is the duty of the church to send out missionaries, is it, or not, the duty of every person, whether a member of the church or not, to help support them? (This question must be answered in writing by members of the club.)

Why did they fast and pray, before sending Paul and Barnabas on their mission?

Would it be a help to each local church to-day to fast and pray before each missionary meeting?

Do you think the women took part in this service, and whether or not, what reason is there to debar women from any of the church's work?

Verse 4—Is it possible or practicable to be guided in every journey we take, and in all else by the Holy Spirit?

Should a pastor ever take charge of a new church, without being directed to do so, by the Holy Spirit?

Please point out on the maps, in your Bible, where Seleucia, Salamis and Cyprus are situated.

Were they consciously, or unconsciously, directed by God the Holy Spirit, all along their journey?

Verse 5—Should men and women, in the ordinary walks of life, be as faithful in preaching the gospel, or testifying for Jesus, wherever they may be, as Paul and Barnabas were?

Verse 6—How many places mentioned in this lesson are situated on the island of Cyprus? (See your map.)

What motives had likely induced this man Elymas to claim to be a prophet?

Verses 7-8—How do you account for a man being so bad, as to try to prevent another man from serving the true God?

Verses 9-12—Are good men justified in rebuking bad men with vehemence when they would stop a work of love and mercy?

Is it possible for a bad man to escape the just penalty of his sins?

FRESHEN UP AND SAVE YOUR PROPERTY.

Spring time has become the universal paint time, and especially is it so in Canada, to the country's lasting benefit.

There is a two-fold virtue in paint—good paint. It changes a house that looks dingy, cheerless and generally down at the heels into a home of which any man—and his family may well be proud. At the same time it protects the house from decay, adding years to its life and therefore to its value. What is true of the house is true for anything in wood or unprotected metal which is exposed to the weather. It certainly pays to keep things well painted.

"Well painted", however, does not, as some people suppose, simply mean covered thick with paint. Some paints, like the barnacles on a ship's bottom, may be thick enough, but a very poor protection. It all depends on the paint and the paint depends largely on the white lead of which it is made.

A house is really well painted when it is covered with "English" Liquid Paint. This paint is 100 per cent. pure, 70 per cent. Brandram's B. B. Genuine White Lead and 30 per cent. pure White Zinc. This lead has been made for over a century by Brandram's in London, Eng., and now by Brandram-Henderson Limited in Montreal. The Brandram Process is known only by Brandram Bros., in England, and Brandram Henderson Limited, in Canada. The product has always commanded a higher price than others. It is the Standard.

"English" Liquid Paint forms an elastic and durable film that expands and contracts freely with changes of temperature, and does not crack. It lasts and affords real protection.

REASON FOR THE SCRAP.

A maid servant in the employ of a Brooklyn woman was left the other day in charge of the children while her mistress went for a long drive.

"Well, Mary," asked the lady on her return, "how did the children behave during my absence? Nicely, I hope."

"Nicely, ma'am," Mary answered, "but at the end they fought terribly together."

"Fight! Mercy me! Why did they fight?"

"To decide which was behaving the best."

DRIVING.

The big autumn moon rolled up above the frosty pines.

"You like to go out driving?" he said, after a long silence.

"Yes," she answered, nestling closer.

"And you always like to go with a young man who knows how to handle the ribbons?"

"Well, er—sometimes I like to go with a young man who knows how to drop them."

And after that the old horse jogged along unguided.

POWDERED GLASS IN SANDPAPER.

"There is no sand in sandpaper," said the manufacturer. "It is powdered glass that does the business. That's where the broken bottles go to."

He nodded toward an Everest of broken bottles in the yard.

"We powder the glass into half a dozen grades," he said. "We coat our paper with an even layer of hot glue. Then, without loss of time, we spread on the glass powder. Finally we run a wooden roller lightly over the sheets to give them a good surface.

"When in the past they made sandpaper of sand it wouldn't do a quarter of the work that glass paper does."

A CYCLONE'S MIRACLE.

Norman Duncan, at a dinner in Lawrence, said of a brother author:

"His nature studies are fascinating but false—false as so many of our Kansas cyclone yarns. They are hard to beat. I heard a new one yesterday. A stranger, on the way through the fertile farm lands of the State, pointed to a tall pinnacle-like something that rose up in the clear sky at the distance.

"'What's that tall chimney doing there?' he said. 'Is somebody starting to build a factory?'

"'Oh no,' said a native. 'That's no chimney. It is Jabez Greene's well. Cyclone turned her inside out.'"

NO GOLD.

"Women," said Mr. Ransome P. Hazard, the noted Dubuque criminologist, in an address on the suffrage, "no longer resort to tears. They no longer need to."

She smiled grimly.

"It wasn't always so. I remember a brutal old husband in Croydon, my native village. In a millinery shop one Good Friday, before a crowd of townspeople, the old man refused to buy his wife an Easter bonnet—said they were all too dear.

"She began to weep, but he bundled her out growling:

"'That won't git it for ye. That's gold in sea water mebbe, but that ain't none in tears.'"

HANDICAPPED.

"Sir, I wish to marry your daughter," faltered the young man.

"You do, eh?" exclaimed the fond parent. "Well, I have been rather expecting this, and to be thoroughly orthodox I shall put a few questions to you. Do you drink?"

"No, sir, I abhor liquor."

"You do, eh? Smoke?"

"I never use tobacco in any form."

"Well, I didn't suppose you ate it. Do you frequent the race tracks?"

"I never saw a horse race in my life, sir."

"H-m-m. Play cards for money?"

"Emphatically, no, sir."

"Well, young man, I must say you are heavily handicapped. My daughter is a thoroughly society girl, and I can't for the life of me see what she is going to do with you. However, it's her funeral, and if she wants to undertake the job, why, God bless you both."

A FOOTNOTE TO HISTORY.

"The open season is at hand, and now in all the angling clubs tall stories are to be heard," said Commissioner George M. Bowers, of the bureau of fisheries in Washington. "I heard a group of anglers boasting and wrangling the other night. A pale, grave man, after listening to them for some time, said quietly:

"'Gentlemen, did you ever wonder what finally became of the whale that swallowed Jonah?'

"'What's the use wondering about that? Nothing definite's known,' said a trout fisherman rudely. 'Boys,' he went on, [illegible]

"'Look here,' the grave man interrupted, 'I know what became of that whale.'

"'Humph! What?' said the trout fisherman.

"'For the rest of his life he made a bore of himself telling all the other whales how the largest man he ever caught wriggled loose and got away.'"

USED BEFORE.

After listening to a story particularly offensive with age, Lincoln McConnell, the Georgia evangelist, told this:

An old darky went into a store down in Georgia and asked:

"Say, boss, you got any gunpowdah heah?"

"Yes, we have gunpowder."

"Lemme see some of that theah gunpowdah."

The dealer showed him some.

"Pore a little of that powdah in my hand."

The old darky took the powder near the light, ran his forefinger around and around in it, looked at it critically, and then smelled it two or three times.

"And you say this heah is powdah?"

"Yes," answered the dealer sharply, "that is powder. What is the matter with it?"

"Dunno, boss"—the darky shook his head doubtfully—"but hit smells ter me like hit's done been shot off befoah."

Many Aged People

Endorse Vinol as the Best Body Builder and Strength Creator Any Old Person Can Take.

"At 75 years of age I became so run-down and weak that I was discouraged. I had taken many different tonics and medicines which were prescribed for me without gaining in strength. A friend advised me to try Vinol, saying that it was a cod liver and iron medicine sold on a positive guarantee to benefit or money refunded. I decided to do so and I am glad to say that it built me up wonderfully. I gained in strength until I felt like a new man. I consider Vinol the best tonic in the world for elderly people." Jacob Young, Norristown, Pa.

This is another instance which demonstrates the remarkable power of Vinol to create strength and build up health for old people after all other means have failed.

As we have yet to learn of an old person who has ever taken Vinol and has not been benefited by it we unhesitatingly say to any feeble old person in this town, come and get a bottle of Vinol and try it. If it does you no good, we will return your money. We make this offer to show our faith. T. B. Wallace, Druggist, Napanee, Ont.

DOCTOR SAID ONLY ZAM-BUK COULD CURE HER ECZEMA.

In view of the numerous cures which Zam-Buk has worked when all else has failed, there is little wonder that in the end the doctor attending Mrs. J. P. St. Denis, of 305 Thompson Street, Winnipeg, should tell her there was nothing but Zam-Buk could cure her. The result showed the far-seeing wisdom of this practitioner, and having been completely cured by Zam-Buk, Mrs. St. Denis gives her experience for the benefit of other sufferers.

She says: "Eczema started on one side of my face and nose. At first my nose felt sore, similar to what one feels when having a bad cold. I paid no attention to this, thinking it would pass away in a day or so, but to my surprise it got worse. The nose then became swollen and hard, and turned a purplish red, as well as part of the cheek on that side of my face. As the disease developed, pimples and ulcers broke out, then the skin cracked in places and peeled off in flakes, leaving my face and nose raw and sore. This condition re-acted on my general health, and I became very ill. I could get no sleep at night because of the irritation and the pain, and my face was in such a shocking condition that for two months I did not go out of the house. I applied remedies which were supposed to be good for skin diseases, but in vain. My doctor also treated me, but without effect, until one day he said that the only thing which would now be likely to cure me was Zam-Buk.

"Acting on his advice, I procured a supply and found that even the first few applications had a soothing effect on the sores. I left off everything else in favour of this balm, and applied it liberally every day to the affected parts. In a remarkably short time, considering the obstinate nature of my disease, we saw traces of improvement, which encouraged us to persevere with the Zam-Buk treatment. Zam-Buk reduced the discoloration, then the hard swelling began to show traces of leaving, the sores seemed to be less angry, and in about three weeks' time most of the sores were healing nicely. To cut a long story short, I continued with the Zam-Buk treatment until my face was cleared completely of all traces of the troublesome and painful eczema."

Zam-Buk is a sure cure for cuts, lacerations, burns, eczema, ringworm, poisoned wounds, festering sores, bad leg, and all skin injuries and diseases. It is also a cure for piles. Druggists and Stores everywhere sell at 50c. a box, or post free from Zam-Buk Co., Toronto, on receipt of price. You are warned against cheap and harmful imitations sometimes represented as "just as good."

SURPRISING EFFECT.

An old gentleman in one of our large Eastern cities was asked to buy a ticket to a fireman's ball and good naturedly complied. The next question was what to do with it. He had two servants, either one of whom would be glad to use it, but he did not wish to show favoritism.

Then it occurred to him he might buy another ticket and give both his servants a pleasure. Not knowing where the tickets were sold, he inquired of a policeman, and the officer suggested that he go to the engine house. So the old gentleman went to the engine house that evening, but there was no one in sight. He had never been in such a place before and stood for a moment or so uncertain how to make his presence known.

Presently he saw an electric button on the side of the room, and he put his thumb on it.

The effect was electrical in every sense of the word. Through the ceiling, down the stairs, and from every other direction firemen came running and falling, the horses rushed out of their stalls, and in short, all the machinery of a modern engine-house was instantly in motion.

Amid all this uproar stood the innocent old gentleman, who did not suspect that he had touched the fire alarm until the men clamored around him for information as to the locality of the fire.

Then he said, mildly, "I should like to buy another ticket for the ball, if you please."

The situation was so ludicrous that there was a general shout of laughter, and the old gentleman bought his ticket, and the engine house resumed its former state.

SURE PROOF OF IT.

Daisy—Is she so economical?

Maisie—Well, she's saving her wedding dress for a possible second marriage.

AWFUL.

"Did you hear of the kidnaping case in our block?"

"Good heavens, no! Who was it?"

"Mrs. Jigsby. She missed her little boy, and when she went to hunt for him found the kid napping in his crib."

WHAT HE DID.

There was a woman living in a country town who never called in a doctor if she could help, but was forever trying to get free advice by devious means.

One day, suffering from a slight cold, she waylaid a gruff middle-aged medico of the old school, after a little preliminary conversation, asked tentatively:

"By the way, doctor, what do you do when you have a cough?"

He looked her straight in the face for a minute, and then answered, without moving a muscle:

"I cough, madam."

CHOICE OF TWO EVILS.

When Charles Dudley Warner was editor of the Hartford (Conn.) Press, back in the '60's, arousing the patriotism of the State by his vigorous appeals, one of the typesetters came in from the composing room and, planting himself before the editor, said: "Well, Mr. Warner, I've decided to enlist in the army."

With mingled sensations of pride and responsibility, Mr. Warner replied encouragingly that he was glad to see that the man felt the call of duty.

"Oh, it isn't that," said the truthful compositor, "but I'd rather be shot than to try to set any more of your copy."

"How did you happen to change your political views? they were the same as mine last week?"

"I found it out."

A Grand Old Man

GEN. BOOTH, THE FOUNDER OF THE SALVATION ARMY.

Eightieth Birthday Anniversary Celebrated in 8,300 Posts Throughout the World—Sixty-five Years a Preacher.

Eighty years ago Gen. William Booth, the founder, organizer and director of the great religious institution known as the Salvation Army was born. For 65 of those years he has been giving all the strength that was in him to the redemption from poverty and ignorance and vice of humanity's submerged tenth. During the last 44 of these years he has seen the growth of the machine which he and his wife created—the Salvation Army—from a handful of penitent Whitechapel rowdies and criminals to an organization that is an active force in the life of 54 great countries. Now, on his 80th birthday, in every one of the 8,300 cities and towns of the world where a Salvation Army post is established, public gatherings in his honor were held and prominent men and women of all creeds, positions and professions joined with his followers in commemoratory exercises. As his own contribution to the occasion, Gen. Booth began the work of raising an endowment fund of $5,000,000 for his proposed University of Humanity a great school, or system of great schools, having its main establishment in London and branches in New York and Chicago, to train men and women to deal with misfortune and combat the sins of the drunkard, the criminal, the pauper and the would-be suicide.

A PREACHER AT 15.

Gen. Booth was born in Nottingham, Eng., the son of Episcopalian parents. At the age of 15 he joined the Methodist Church and soon afterward started out as a field or lay preacher, holding services in the slum streets of Nottingham, standing on a chair or a box at a corner while he preached and pleaded. Although so young and inexperienced, he had a wonderful gift of oratory. Always he led a crowd from his street services to some cottage or chapel meeting, and was thrilled to see the penitents kneel in prayer. Ruffians tried to break up his meetings, pelting him with stones and filth; scoffers were wont to bombard him with jeers and clumsy wit. He resented nothing, defended himself against nothing, but, smiling quietly while the verbal and material missiles flew, pleaded on for souls.

When he was 20 the exigencies of earning his bread took him to London, where, without a pause, he threw himself into the work in the great slums of the East End. In a few months he was a favorite and well-known preacher. On May 29th, 1858, he was regularly ordained a minister of the Methodist Church and entered actively into the career of an evangelist. Just before this event he married, his wife being Catherine Mumford. After a few years the Methodist Conference wished to change his work and make him a pastor. He believed his call was to evangelical work, and, on a point of conscience, he left the denomination and labored unattached in the revival field.

IN LONDON'S SLUMS.

From the beginning his sympathies had been wholly with the poorest; he believed that his mission was to the least fortunate and most neglected of his fellow creatures, and his preference was always for work in the slums. The slums of Nottingham had seemed to him terrible; the slums of London seemed so much worse that he could think of little else. In July, 1865, having no church, no income, no money, no prospects, and no support, except from his loyal and unfaltering wife, he began his first definite campaign in the East End of London, for his idea was and has always been that the efficient cure for slum conditions is Christianity.

In an old tent, pitched on a disused burial ground in the heart of Whitechapel, he fought his first battle with the slum. From his point of view, he met with instantaneous success. Every night scores of hardened wretches knelt in tears before him.

After a time he moved his tent to a hideous place called Mile End Waste, where one night the wind and the rain tore it to pieces. Not in the least dismayed, William Booth found a place for his tatterdemalion congregation, first in a dancing saloon, then in an old wool warehouse, much beset by hoodlums and hooligans, where the services were long enlivened with sticks, stones and firecrackers, hurled through the open windows. At last the young leader hit upon a master stroke. He hired a sadly disreputable theatre, and on its stage one Sunday afternoon gathered scores of men and women that had been the worst and most notorious in the district men and women that had been reformed and almost remade by his mission. There they sat, former prize fighters, drunkards, thieves and dissolute women, testifying in their changed appearance as much as in their words to the new life they had found. And Mile End Road came and wondered.

From that time the work of the mission thrived and spread amazingly. Workers, reformed men and women, persons touched with the Booth fire of primitive Christianity, came and offered their help. Branches were established in other slum regions; in halls, chapels or in the streets the meetings were held. Mr. Booth stood at the head of all and directed the campaign. A revival fervor possessed the great and neglected East End. The new movement, so based, took on a name. It was called the Christian Mission. By 1877 it had attained the extent and power of a religious sect and took the name it has to-day—the Salvation Army.

EARLY STRUGGLES.

The new movement spread rapidly through London. It was practical. It dealt with conditions as they are, it descended to the every-day needs of the lowest, and always it was attended with common-sense benevolence—work for the unemployed, shelter for the homeless, succor for the starving, rescue stations for the fallen women, opportunity for the miserable men. For every one of these noble enterprises the world was indebted to the heart and brain of William Booth. He now proceeded to send forth his lines into other cities. In a few years he had all Great Britain dotted with posts of the Salvation Army, and there was not one British slum in which its soldiers, inspired with his spirit and directed by his genius, were not attacking evil conditions.

At first the new movement aroused savage opposition in two directions. Some of the churchmen denounced it as if it were an instrument of evil instead of good. Most of the middle class regarded it with scorn, ridiculed its methods and slurred its motives. The street ruffians frequently tried to break up its meetings and assaulted and beat the speakers. There were many shocking scenes and some that were shocking. The Salvationists never made the least effort to defend themselves. They were willing to die for their cause, if need be, but they would not lift a hand against a brother. Sometimes the officers that conducted the meetings stood with bandaged heads or covered with blood, but they went on with their meetings nevertheless.

ESTABLISHED IN 54 COUNTRIES.

To-day the Salvation Army is established in 54 countries, Russia being the only European nation excluding it. It has 8,358 separate societies or posts, with 21,197 commissioned officers or employees and 77,285 local officers and bandsmen. It publishes 71 different periodicals in 26 languages, having a combined circulation of more than 50,000,003 a year. It conducts 860 social institutions of various sorts and 520 day schools.

The sociological work in the United States alone, even translated into statistics, is impressive, and it serves to give a better conception of the greatness of the whole machine. There are 79 workingmen's hotels, which last year supplied 2,250,003 beds and 500,000 meals. Eighty-nine industrial homes cared for 12,845 men, 24 rescue homes admitted 6,678 women and girls, three farm colonies took care of 400 persons and four children's homes have sheltered 277 children. The 24 slum post workers visited 69,476 persons, but the good they did cannot be told in figures or words. More than 5,000 prisoners were assisted on being discharged, 35,564 prisoners were visited, 305,000 Christmas dinners were supplied, relief was given to 257,000 persons outside of homes and for 72,000 men and women employment was obtained.

GEN. BOOTH TO-DAY.

Every day Gen. Booth is in intimate touch with the work in every part of the world, communicating by cable and letter with the department chiefs in every country, telling them what to do and how to do it, resistlessly urging on the work with the same boyish enthusiasm that burned in him when he was 16 years old and stood in the Nottingham slums. With physical vigor marvelously preserved, with every mental faculty forging full speed ahead with undiminished fire, he toils on in feeling and eagerness much as he was 65 years ago. A group of remarkable descendants uphold his hands and execute his plans, but the impetus of all the work he contributes. One of the greatest of organizers, he is also one of the greatest of orators, and his appearance on a platform, with his tall, spare figure, beautiful face, benign expression and snow-white beard and hair no observer ever forgets. His hold upon the hearts of the people is astounding. When he makes an automobile tour through England the country roads are lined with his admirers, the sick and infirm are brought on cots to receive his blessing, traffic in the city streets is suppressed and thousands follow his car singing hymns.

BILL NYE AND THE LATE MAJ. POND.

The late Maj. Pond managed Bill Nye for several lecture seasons, but their first meeting was rather informal. Nye was one day walking down Fourth avenue with a friend, when he spied the major's modest sign in a window of the Everett House.

"Here's the man that makes lecturers," said Nye. "Let's go in and see if we can't induce him to lead a better life."

Entering, Nye removed his hat, ran his hand over the [illegible] of his head and [illegible] about for a moment, said:

"This is Maj. Pond, I believe?"

"Yes, sir. What can I do for you?" answered the major.

"I want to get a job on the platform," returned Nye.

"Ah—yes," said the major. "Have you had experience?"

"Well, I've been with Barnum a couple of years."

"Yes? May I ask in what capacity?"

"I've been with Barnum, concealed in the bottom of a [illegible] exhibited my head as the [illegible] ostrich egg in captivity."

CANADIAN ON AIRSHIPS.

Mr. Casey Baldwin, the young Canadian aeronautic expert, who is prominently associated with Prof. Graham Bell in his experiments with airships at Baddeck, Cape Breton, was a visitor in Toronto the other day. While there he gave a couple of lectures on the aeroplane, and explained what is now being accomplished at Baddeck and elsewhere with the new craft. One side of it on which he dwelt lightly was its attractions to sporting men. According to him automobiling is not to be compared with it for sheer pleasure. And indeed Mr. Baldwin's description of the sensation of gliding through the air is enough to make people want to go out and get an aeroplane right away. He pointed out that one of the finest things about it was its perfect smoothness and its sense of freedom. High speeds were attained, but one never had the usual sensations of speed. There was no roughness, no jolting, but just a smooth, easy glide. He said that he expected it to become quite a sport, and that in this way much of its development might come, just as the racing motor had taught many useful lessons in motoring.

Why does capital continue to accumulate in banking houses the world over when the rates fixed for the use of it are abnormally low? The Bank of England's low premium discount rate of 2½ per cent and the equally modest 3 per cent. rate of the Bank of France are both too nigh for the money markets in either of the capitals, where private discounts range easily one per cent. below the official rates. In New York four and six month commercial bills are being placed at present between 3½ and 4 per cent. Sixty and ninety day bills were as low as 3½ per cent. The explanation that trade is so light as to reduce to a minimum the demand for capital inadequately explains the glut of money in the financial centres. The basic reason is that the consumption of manufactured goods is still so far behind normal as to remove justification for widespread business expansion at present. Holders of money are still cautious, and the one event necessary to bring about a complete return of confidence is another fair world's crop. This is needed to restore the buying powers of the commodity markets, and without this increased consumption bankers, notwithstanding the apparent cheapness of capital, will hold off from heavy advances to manufacturing and mercantile industries. While the published reports of leading institutions reveal interest rates at the bottom, capital has not yet worked out into business, and banking opinion seems to agree that this situation will exist throughout the greater part of the summer. With the assurance of an average crop, surplus supplies of funds will be gradually absorbed by business and the adjustment of the relation between capital and commerce will be complete. In the meantime short-term money on stock collateral should continue easy and plentiful.

DR. GRENFELL'S WORK

Labrador Missionary Tells of Helpers' Heroism and His Own Rescue—The Modern Apostle Receives Gift of Marconi Apparatus.

In his characteristically quiet, undemonstrative, self-controlled manner, which is more lastingly convincing of a sincere cause than all the carefully prepared oratorical fireworks of the platform, Dr. Grenfell told a great deal of the work and worth and the self-sacrifice not his own, but that of others who are assisting him of the Labrador Mission to a very large congregation in Erskine Church, Montreal, on Sunday morning.

"The Joy of Service," might very appropriately have formed the title of the subject of discourse, in which the speaker made no glorification of the labor and the manifest hardships of such a mission in such a region, but rather he brought before his hearers proof of the appreciation of the people to whom services are rendered so as to emphasize the happiness that is to be derived from a knowledge of having something accomplished, something done in the name of Christian charity and goodness. And in speaking in this way it was not Dr. Grenfell's own effective work that the congregation were directly made aware of; but it was the self-sacrifice of the nurses in the coast hospitals and in the homes of the people where there is suffering; it was the unselfish and magnificent generosity of some of these nurses, who remitted part of their own salary to the mission in order to help to develop and extend the work; and it was the story not of Dr. Grenfell's risks but of the strenuous efforts which took two days to realize, of four or five brave fishermen who rescued him from death on an ice floe.

"It is the joy of service which makes life worth while," remarked Dr. Grenfell, in an appreciation of the services of the nurses, "and if happiness is to be enjoyed in proportion to what they do, and what they give, then I should say the nurses are happy indeed."

Some people said to him, "But you are wearing your life away even as a missionary problem, if among fishermen." They thought, was not big enough for the sacrifice it necessitated. His reply was that if it was worth Christ's while to come down to earth to win a few fishermen, it was worth the while of others to go into the uttermost parts of the earth to win twelve more men to him. To be successful "fishers of men" they had to walk in Christ's footsteps.

Other people said the life of an educated man or woman was thrown away among the Chinese or the men of Labrador. Life, according to these people, could not be joyful and successful because they measured joy and success, if he might say so, by the standard of the devil, when he offered Jesus Christ "all the good things of the earth."

The two greatest difficulties met with in this mission, Dr. Grenfell said, were drink and houses of shame. Success already achieved in overcoming these difficulties, and the good results of preaching Christian manliness and manly Christianity, encouraged them to go on, and in doing this he confidently appealed to his friends in Canada for further assistance.

On Saturday afternoon Dr. Grenfell said, he considered an arrangement with the Marconi Wireless Telegraphy Company under which they would install the Marconi apparatus on his ship, the "Strathcona," foregoing the cost—which would be about one thousand dollars—and also the Royalties. The only expense to the mission would be $300 for an operator, and he suggested that the congregation he was addressing might give him the amount named. He did not ask for this on the ground that the wireless telegraph system would make his ship any safer, but because the communication it would maintain with the coast, and the hospitals would be of great practical benefit to the people.

Growing Boys And Growing Girls

Need Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to Give Them Health and Strength.

Growing boys as well as girls need such a tonic as Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to keep the blood rich, red and pure and give them health and strength. Mrs. Edward Koch, postmistress at Prince's Lodge, N.S., tells the great benefit her little son has derived from the use of this world famous medicine. Mrs. Koch says:—"My little son, Reginald, has been troubled with anaemia almost since birth. He was always a sickly looking child, with no energy and little or no appetite. His veins showed very plainly through his skin and he had several serious attacks of stomach and bowel trouble, and on one occasion his life was dispaired of by two doctors who were attending him. His little body was slowly wasting away until he was nothing more than a skeleton. He was peevish and fretful and a misery to himself. Having read and heard so much of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills I determined to try them in his case, and after giving them to him for a couple of months they certainly worked wonders with him. To-day he is fat and healthy looking; he has a healthy appetite, is able to play like other children, and, is bright and energetic, instead of dull and listless as he used to be. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have changed my puny, sickly child, into a rugged, healthy boy."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills cured this sickly boy because they went down to the root of the trouble in his blood. That is why they never fail. Bad blood is the cause of all common diseases like anaemia, (bloodlessness), eczema, paleness, headaches, indigestion, kidney trouble neuralgia, rheumatism and the special ailments that only growing girls and womenfolk know. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills don't bother with mere symptoms, they cure diseases through the blood. They don't cure for a day—they cure to stay cured. Do not take any pills without the full name "Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People" on the wrapper around each box. Sold by all medicine dealers or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

WRONG AGAIN.

"Lysander," sweetly, "do you know what day this is?"

"Sure! Our anniversary, Margaret, dear," pretending to have remembered it all the time.

Lysander paled, tried to square himself on the anniversary blunder, failed utterly, and the fireworks were on.

PURE BRED CLYDESDALE

SYMMETRY III. No. 3933.

Mr. W. A. Potter has purchased from Graham Bros., of Claremont, for a very large sum, a thoroughbred Clydesdale stallion Symmetry III 3933. This horse will stand for mares at Moscow, Enterprise, Tamworth, Centreville and Camden East. The farmers in this section should take advantage of this fine horse that has proved himself a sure foal getter of the very best stock. Mr. Potter deserves great credit for bringing such a grand bred horse in this county. 1sd

FIG PILLS

For Kidney and Liver Trouble, Constipation and Rheumatism.

Mr. Abe Freeman, 194 Dowling avenue, Toronto, Ont., says: I have been a great sufferer for a number of years with dyspepsia and constipation. I have taken dollars' worth of medicine, but I never got relief. I had decided that there was nothing made that would cure me. One day a friend advised me to try Fig Pills. I bought a box, and before I had taken half of the box I felt better. I have taken four boxes and to-day I am a new man. Fig Pills have certainly done wonders for me. Fig Pills are a positive cure for all kidney, liver and stomach trouble, sour stomach, heartburn, bilious headache and dyspepsia. 25c box. For Sale at F. L. Hooper's.

THE BEST FLOUR:
DAFOE'S NONESUCH,
DAFOE'S MANITOBA PATENT.

By numerous tests by the best bakers the above mentioned grades have been proven to be the best flours in the market.

When buying flour, ask for Dafoe's and patronize your home mill, thereby producing Bran and Shorts that you can purchase cheaper than the product of the Western mills, which has to be transported thousands of miles at great expense, and usually when it reaches you is of inferior quality.

The grocer complains if the farmer or the mechanic sends to Toronto or to outside points for an article he can get at the home store just as good, but he does not hesitate to buy flour from mills hundreds of miles away, and sells you an inferior flour for more money than you can purchase the home product for, every bag of which is guaranteed.

Choice Cornmeal and Buckwheat Flour always on hand. Feed grinding a specialty with the best feed mills known to the trade.

A full stock of the best Anthracite Coal; also in the market for the purchase of all kinds of grain.

RETURN ENGAGEMENT.

Owing to a break in on their engagement at Hamilton, Manager Brisco has been able to get The Fenberg Stock Co. to play the night here, on Monday, 3d May, this popular company will hold forth at the Opera House, presenting at that time the greatest of all melodramas "The Millionaire's Revenge." This play was written around that great tragedy which set the entire world talking, and even now it is still before the public. This tragedy will be remembered when the young Pittsburg millionaire, Harry K. Thaw, shot and killed Stanford White on the roof garden of The Madison Sq., New York. Mr. Hal. Reid, who wrote the play, has taken all the principle events of the case and has put the same into one of the strongest of plays. The scenes are laid in Stanford White's Studio, The Madison Square Garden, The Decks, Prison, etc. The company is the same as when seen here last. Prices 15c., 25c., 35c.

ADDRESS AND PRESENTATION.

The following is the text of the address read to Miss F. McKim, and mentioned in Newburgh correspondence:

Dear Miss McKim,—We, the members of the Epworth League, are assembled here to show in some small way our regard and esteem for one, who has been a very faithful worker for our society.

We regret very much your departure from our midst, and sincerely hope that you will find your sphere of usefulness wherever you may go.

You have been a sincere and earnest worker both in the missionary and social departments of our League. Especially in the missionary line have you shown yourself to be capable and successful. That extremely difficult phase of League work requires strong intelligent effort, and a great amount of patience to create an interest. In this you have excelled, and it will be hard to find a competent worker in your place.

As a token of our esteem and affection we present you this pin. Trusting you will always remember our League and its members, we wish you every success in your new sphere of life.

On behalf of the League,
M. E. Sexsmith, Hon. Pres.
Miss E. Shorey, Pres.
Miss P. Nesbit, 1st Vice.

DESERONTO.

Some one for reasons known best by himself, gave a valuable dog owned by Mr. J. M. Gowan, a dose of rough-on-rats, with the desired effect. The dog is dead.

A few days ago Mr. W. J. McMicking, manager of the Deseronto News Co., while opening a case containing envelopes, cut his finger, and did not give it proper attention with the result that it turned to blood poisoning, and although confined to his home no serious result is anticipated.

The schooner Theo. Voges, Capt. Gowan, which left here loaded with lumber for Oswego, encountered very heavy weather, losing her deck load and part of her rigging and was helpless on the lake for some time, until picked up and brought to Oswego by the steamer Tondawanda.

Mrs. Saunders, formerly of Deseronto, now of Sudbury, is visiting friends in Deseronto and vicinity.

Mrs. A. S. Vallean received word on Wednesday of the death of her aunt, Mrs. Malcolm Greeley, Picton.

The Hamilton Spectator will send the first Canadian to finish in the Big Marathon to be held May 24th, to Athens, Greece, to compete in that famous event in 1910. There is also a 15-mile race, and we understand they would like the names of some of the might be runners from Deseronto and vicinity, who would like to take part. They can get the necessary information and blanks by applying to sporting editor of the Hamilton Spectator.

The str. Belleville came through on her way to Montreal, gaily decorated with flags.

A horse belonging to F. Gaylord, gardener, started on a trip on his own account up Front street. At that time of day, especially a busy one, it would be hard to say what damage would have been done had not the animal been stopped. Fortunately coming down the street was Walter Cole, "the man of the hour," who went in pursuit and was not long in overtaking and capturing it.

Mr. Loftland Benson, of Cuba, at one time a resident of Prince Edward County, spent a day this week with his friend and one time neighbor, Collector of Customs A. S. Vallean.

Mr. M. J. Burns returned to Brockville on Tuesday, the condition of his brother [illegible] who is so seriously ill, being about the same as last report.

By mutual consent the lease of Mr. W. D. Carter's house to Mr. Griffin was revoked, and the latter has leased the manse, Presbyterian, for the present.

The licenses applied for having all been granted, Saturday is pay day. In this case, however, it has its pleasures as it [illegible] the vital [illegible], the [illegible]

Mr. E. J. Lennon was in Kingston on business on Wednesday.

Mr. P. E. Wheeler has moved his family to Gananoque to remain permanently in the employ of the Thousand Island Railway Co. Deseronto loses another good citizen.

Mrs. E. Baxter and Willie are spending a few days in Gananoque the guests of her sister, Mrs. Geo. Toppings.

The steamer Whitemow left on Monday for Gananoque, where she will commence the season on her route between the above place and Clayton.

The steamer Alexandria arrived here 4 hours late and reported a very heavy sea and gale coming across.

Mr. H. Hall has moved into his residence on Thomas st., his father and sister, who have occupied it, having moved to Belleville.

The Rathbun Co. have a gang of men repairing their docks along the waterfront.

The schooner Echo, arrived from and loaded for Belleville.

Following is the school report:

STRATHCONA.

Mrs. John Pybus passed away on Wednesday. Funeral on Friday at 1.30 p.m., at her late residence.—Mr. Irvine Rook was married last week at Galt, and has returned home from his honeymoon.—Seeding in this vicinity is very backward.—Our baseball team has been re-organized this season again, finding the players in good trim and playing 100 per cent. better ball than last year. Last year they made their debut as a ball team and did fairly well, but this year they are open for challenges from any or all teams in the surrounding district. With Dunlop twirling, Old Faithful in the mask, Lott handling the first bag, Findlay second, Pybus third, also Bert, Roy and Will doing the high fly stunts and Tommy on the short, they can lick anything in sight. So give them a trial and see how you like it. The officers elected are:

Pres.—R. L. Lott.
Manager—John Darlington.
Captain—Harry Dunlop.
Sec.-Treas.—Geo. Findlay.

NEWBURGH.

In the presence of a large and distinguished gathering of the craft, on Wednesday night of last week, the lodge room of Prince Arthur Lodge, A. F. & A. M., was dedicated with fitting rite and ceremony. It was one of the most notable occasions in connection with Masonry in the history of this district. One hundred afterwards sat down to a sumptuous banquet in Finkle's Hall, catered to by Mrs. Stone, in splendid style.

Mr. W. D. M. Shorey, after completing his second year at Osgoode Hall, has returned for the summer vacation.

Mr. F. Hubert Ryan, recently graduated B.Sc., left on Thursday of this week for New York, where he enters upon the duties of an electrical engineer. May the highest success attend him.

The High School boys have organized a baseball team, with George Paul as manager. They had their first game on Wednesday afternoon at Camden East, defeating the home team.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Anson Aylesworth and son John returned this week from a four months' sojourn in the Old Land, where Mr. Aylesworth was again an immigration propaganda for the Dominion Government. They were accompanied from Brockville by the other members of the family, Mrs. Hope and Miss Hope Aylesworth.

Mr. J. W. Courtney, Financial Secretary of the local A. O. U. W., wears a handsome signet ring, one of the prizes offered by the Grand Lodge of this Order for the best financial report presented [illegible] year.

Mr. T. B. Wilson met with a [illegible] painful accident on Wednesday in a fall which dislocated his arm.

In the near future a concert will be given in aid of St. John's Anglican church, when a drama will be presented by a local [illegible]. It promises to be high class and the date is anxiously awaited.

Mr. T. Hamilton has purchased from Mr. Card his property on Main st., formerly owned by Mr. J. M. [illegible], and is occupying it [illegible]

ODESSA.

Well, the auto stage has been running some few days, with a goodly number of passengers. Hope it will be a success in every way. It is a much quicker means of conveyance than the old lumbering stage. Mr. Finkle is a hustler and no mistake.

On Sabbath last was held the last quarterly meeting of the ecclesiastical year, with Rev. McCamus assisted by Mr. Shaver in the pulpit. A large number were present.

Tuesday evening Rev. and Mrs. McCamus entertained the officers and teachers of the church and Sunday School.

The W. M. S. at their last meeting made Rev. and Mrs. McCamus life members of the Society. The latter has been a most faithful and efficient worker in the Society, and also in the Sunday School, as teacher of the ladies' Bible Class. Long may she be spared to do much good.

Say! whisper it low but Dr. Sparks seems to have as little trouble in extracting teeth as did Dr. Nash, if the scraps of conversation one hears on the streets can be depended on. So mote it be. Every one must have his day. So don't be afraid but come along to Odessa every other Monday in the month, and see what you will see.

Our milliners are seemingly doing a good business. They were in considerable trouble in not receiving a box containing hats, flowers and ribbons, which was sent them from Toronto, we think. But we understand they advertised and located the box at Elginburgh. A farmer having found it near Cataraqui, took it home, but seeing it advertised, sent it to the owners. So much for advertising and honesty.

A couple of our nearby citizens have left for Cobalt last week, Mr. Will McCormack and Mr. McFarlane, but they are replaced by a young son at Mr. Herbert Remion's, and a young daughter at Mr. George Milsap's.

Mr. Gledwin Clarke has gone to Napanee for a few months to further his knowledge in telegraphy. Success to you, Glad.

Mrs. Ed. Vrooman has gone to North Bay to visit her daughter there.

Mrs. Robert Cairns went to Kingston on Tuesday to spend the week end with her sister, Mrs. (Dr.) Day.

Mr. Bert Amey answers to the name of conductor on the auto, while Mr. Alfred Laidley has gone to Calgary for a short time.

Mrs. S. A. Hamm entertained a few friends on Wednesday evening.

WILSON'S CROSSING.

The weather looks more settled and farmers are beginning to look as if there was a hustle ahead for them.—Mrs. Tom Scanlon spent Monday afternoon with her sister, Mrs. Dillon.—Mr. Hugh Hinchey took tea with Mr. and Mrs. Wm. H. Hinchey, on Sunday.—Mr. and Mrs. M. H. Switzer spent the afternoon and took tea with Mr. and Mrs. Baptiste Wilson, Sunday.—Mrs. Dr. MacCormack and little daughter, Vera Jean, Napanee, spent a couple of days last week with Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Clancy.—Mr. Martin H. Switzer has bought a dandy horse.—Mr. Tom. Scanlon is buying up cattle extensively. He is a hustler.—Mrs. and Miss Fanny Loucks spent Monday in Enterprise, guests of Mr. and Mrs. S. Fenwick.—Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Fenwick at Mr. George Fenwick's, recently.—Dr. MacCormack, Mr. George Milligan, Mrs. G. N. Wagar and Mr. Polmateer, Erinsville, dined at Mr. Wm. Clancy's, on Tuesday. — Miss Sadie Haynes spent Tuesday with her sister, Mrs. J. Cousins.—Mr. B. Wilson has a very bad cold. We hope he will soon get over it.

ERNESTTOWN STATION.

On Friday evening, April 23d, a few members of the Union Church Adult Bible Classes met at the residence of Mr. Henry Clow, to present his eldest daughter, Emma, recently united in the holy bonds of matrimony to Mr. Richard Snod, with a variety shower, expressive of their esteem and good will to them as fellow members of same classes. Below is a list of presents:

Mrs. Nicholas Amey, 1 quilt, [illegible] dozen knives; Mrs. B. F. Aylesworth, set smoothing irons; Mrs. Oscar Amey, pair towels; Mrs. Elmore Amey, 3 agate pie plates; Mr. Asel Back, pair towels; Mr. and Mrs. F. Ashurst, 1 dozen teaspoons; Miss Ethel Thompson, sugar bowl and cream pitcher; Miss Myrtle Thompson, butter dish; Mr. S. Colvill, dust pan; Miss Grace Sharp, 1 doz. cups and saucers; Miss Bessie Aylesworth, a comfortable; Miss [illegible] Wilmot, pair pillows; Miss [illegible] Bell, salad dish and fruit; Mr. Alfred Amey, coffee pot; Mrs. Alfred Amey, table and fruit; Mrs. J. W. [illegible], milk pitcher and butter dish.

It is needless to say Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd were greatly surprised and highly appreciated the gifts tendered, which were expressed in a few well chosen words. After wishing the young couple a happy and prosperous journey through life all dispersed to their home, wondering where or on whom the next shower would fall. Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd have taken up housekeeping at [illegible]

HARLOWE.

We are having a very backward spring as yet, and the farmers are getting anxious about seeding. Many have to buy hay.—Mr. and Mrs. A. Marshall visited at G. Conners' on Sunday.—Miss L. Morrison left on Thursday to visit friends at Enterprise.—Miss L. and J. Morgan visited at G. Conners', Sunday.—J. Bishop left Monday for [illegible].—F. Conners made a business trip to Cloyne on Monday.—Mr. J. Mc[illegible]land, we are sorry to say, is [illegible].—Mr. and Mrs. B. Gray visited at J. Gray's, Sunday.—T. [illegible] settled with H. Benn last week for his dog killing his sheep.—M[illegible] of the children in our vicinity are [illegible] from la grippe.—Mr. and Mrs. J. White visited friends at [illegible] this week.—E. Morgan purchased a fine colt from Mrs. William [illegible].—Mr. M. Bishop, of Mountain Grove, visited at G. Conners', [illegible].—W. Pope made a business trip to Arden last week.—[illegible] is all smiles; it's a girl.

DENBIGH.

The spring is very cold and backward, and on the last of April two or three inches of snow fell.—Mr. Stanley Perry and Jennie E. Lane, daughter of John Lane of the village, were very quietly married last Monday at noon, by Rev. McLean, of Matawatchan, only the bride's family being present and Mrs. McLean. The happy couple left on Wednesday on their trip via Renfrew for North Bay, where they will reside. We wish them long life and happiness.—Mrs. H. McDavitt, of New York City, is spending a week with her brother, Mr. E. C. Bebee.—Mr. Jas. Penner lost a valuable horse last week.—The Quarterly Board of the Methodist church met on Wednesday afternoon, with very good attendance.—Gillies Bros., Braeside, also met and settled with their men, who had made timber for them last winter, making a great stir in our village on Wednesday last.—A dance was held at the residence of Mr. Thos. Thompson, on Friday night, and was very well attended, considering the bad weather.—Rev. Rebbe was called to Raglan to officiate at a funeral on Thursday.—Mr. Samuel Lane is running his saw mill full blast.—Mr. Ed. Petzold and his mother visited at Raglan on Thursday and Friday.—Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Ball spent Thursday in town.—Miss Martha John and Mr. S. Bebee at E. C. Bebee's.—Rumor says another wedding soon.

CREAM OF THE WEST FLOUR

"CREAM OF THE WEST" may cost you a trifle more than other grades of Manitoba flour. Suppose it does. What does a few cents per bag more matter if you get complete satisfaction.

"CREAM OF THE WEST" is honestly as good a grade of flour as can be made from the hardest of hard Manitoba wheat and that means the best wheat in the world.

"CREAM OF THE WEST" is an expensive flour to mill because it represents the very "cream of the best of the wheat berry" but it rings true in the baking.

"CREAM OF THE WEST" is a nourishing, toothsome, sweet flour, that invariably pleases. Order a bag.

International Newspaper Bible Study Club

SUGGESTIVE QUESTIONS ON THE SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON BY REV. DR. LINSCOTT FOR THE INTERNATIONAL NEWSPAPER BIBLE STUDY CLUB FOR MAY 9th, 1909.

(Registered in accordance with the Copyright Act.)

Paul's First Missionary Journey—Antioch in Pisidia. Acts xiii : 13-52.

Golden Text—The word of the Lord was published throughout all the region. Acts xiii : 49.

Verse 13—At what points had Paul and Barnabas touched, according to the last lesson?

What important events were narrated in the last lesson?

Look up your map and say where are Paphos, Perga, and Antioch in Pisidia.

Verse 14—Should a Christian always attend church on Sunday, if he has the opportunity, whether at home or abroad?

If a man does not act like a Christian when away from home, is he a real Christian when at home, no matter what his outward acts may be?

Verse 15—Are not our present day churches too stiff and formal, compared with the services in this synagogue?

Should not our services be sufficiently elastic to call upon others beside the pastor, to take part in them?

Verse 16—Were there many devout Jews and others, in these days, who feared God and were accepted of him, who had not embraced Christianity?

Should preachers and teachers in addressing non-Christian audiences, assume that there may be some of the number who really "fear God," notwithstanding that they may never have heard of Jesus? (This question must be answered in writing by members of the club.)

Verses 17-25—In addressing a hostile audience it is well for a speaker to commence with things which they believe in common, making them lead up to the main question; what matters did Paul refer to in carrying out this wise rule?

What points in this address of Paul's would you say were the most striking?

Verses 38-39—In what sense can God forgive sins through Jesus, that he could not through the law of Moses?

Granted a future life of rewards and punishments, what question can compare in importance with the forgiveness of sins?

Are men sane who neglect to have their sins forgiven, seeing they admit the grave dangers of delay?

Verses 40-41—What do unconverted sinners need to "beware" of?

Why do sinners not accept of the salvation offered to them by Jesus?

Verses 42-43—What is it a sign of, when men want to hear the gospel preached?

Is there always an affinity between spiritual people, notwithstanding differences of opinion?

Does it do us all good to be urged to be true to God?

Verses 44, 45—Does the story of the cross still draw crowds as it did at Antioch?

When one preacher is jealous at the good another preacher is doing, what is that a sign of?

Is a truly good man ever jealous of the good others are doing?

Verses 46-49—Is God more partial to one nationality than he is to another?

Does God ordain all those to eternal life who will accept of Jesus?

Are gladness and joy always in the hearts of those who love and serve God?

Verses 50-52—When the bad persecute the good, which gets the most trouble?

Relation of the Liver and Kidneys

FUNCTIONS SUCH THAT EACH SUFFERS WHEN THE OTHER IS DERANGED

COMPLICATED CASES CAN ONLY BE CURED BY COMBINED TREATMENT SUCH AS VITOL.

The liver filters poison from the blood. The Kidneys also filter poisons from the blood. When the liver becomes sluggish and torpid in action, or is giving too much work by over eating, the kidneys have to help out with the work of filteration, therefore the kidneys are overtaxed. The result—Biliousness, indigestion and constipation, and after a time the kidneys are affected and you have a backache, urinary derangements and kidney disease. You feel drowsy, lazy, tired; skin becomes dry and hot. Fig Pills will put you right at once; they cleanse the liver and the Kidneys and purify the blood. You feel like a new person. Take one at bedtime. Price 25c box. For sale by F. L. Hooper.

OBITUARY.

A very sudden death occurred in the Fourth Concession of Camden on April 6th, which has cast a gloom over the community. Mr. Charles Carter, who has been long and favorably known in this vicinity, died very suddenly at his home on the above date. Mr. Carter had been about his usual work during the day, and went to bed feeling as well as usual. About midnight Mrs. Carter noticed that he seemed breathing hard, and spoke to him, but received no answer as he seemed to breathe but twice afterwards and expired. Deceased leaves besides his widow, two sons and two daughters in Canada, Charles, of Camden East, and Fred at home; Mrs. Albert Cartwright, Toronto, and Mrs. Edward Lewis, of Belleville. Also a son and daughter by his first wife, Byron Carter and Mrs. Robinson, both of Brier Hill, N.Y., and two brothers, Alfred, of Brier Hill, N.Y., and Henry, of Ogdensburg, N.Y., and one sister, Mrs. Charley Fitch, of Morristown, N.Y., to mourn the loss of a kind husband and an affectionate father and brother.

MRS. A. E. TUCKER.

Mrs. Emma Grange Tucker, wife of Albert E. Tucker, died suddenly yesterday morning at 7.30 o'clock at her home on Georgia avenue after a brief illness of pneumonia. Only last Wednesday night Mrs. Tucker attended the weekly prayer meeting at the First Presbyterian church of which she has, for a number of years, been one of the most faithful members. On reaching home she had a slight chill from which the fatal attack developed. No immediate danger was apprehended until a brief hour before the end, when an alarming weakness of the heart action was noticed by the physician and nurse, and almost before there was time to summon the members of the family she had passed away.

Mrs. Tucker was a daughter of the late Dr. Grange and his wife, who came to Chattanooga from Napanee, Canada, twenty-one years ago. She was married in 1890 to Mr. Tucker, who, with their daughter, Helen, survives her. Other members of the family are her mother, Mrs. Grange, who makes her home with Mrs. F. F. Andrews; her sisters, Mrs. Andrews and Miss Hariet Grange, of this city; Mrs. Reed, of Jacksonville, Fla.; Mrs. Frank Mulford, Mrs. J. D. Merritt and Miss Mabel Grange, of Oakland, Cal., and Mrs. Casey Trull, of Canada. One brother, Fred Grange, is also living in Jacksonville. To those who knew Mrs. Tucker well, her quiet, gentle manner, and her many unobtrusive charities, were an inspiration to better living. With perfect devotion to her home duties, she reached out to few organized methods of work except her church and one club, the City Beautiful, to both of which she gave such steady devotion that her place in either will be hard to fill.

The funeral will be held this afternoon at 3.30 at the family home on Georgia avenue. The services will be conducted by her pastor, Dr. J. W. Bachman. The pallbearers will be Frank Spurlock, T. C. Latimore, W. B. Swaney, M. T. Freeman, E. E. Edwards, and D. Nippert. Interment will be in Forest Hills cemetery.—The Daily Times, Chattanooga, Tenn., April 21st, 1909.

NORTHWEST GRAIN CROP.

Canadian Northern Report Rather Cheering in Tone.

Winnipeg, May 3d.—(Special)—Increased acreage of from ten to thirty per cent., with most land ready for the seed, is the information detailed in this week's crop bulletin, issued by the Canadian Northern. Reports estimate but a small percentage of grain yet sown, but a continuance of good weather this week will make possible the completion seeding in most sections.

At North Battleford 50 per cent. more ground is under cultivation than last year, and at Lashburn the increase will aggregate between 25 and 30 per cent.

Along the main line through Saskatchewan and Alberta the greatest increase will be noted this year and the report bears the stamp of optimism which only very unfavorable weather conditions can blight.

On the Saskatchewan farm sawing is more advanced than elsewhere, and estimates state that from 20 to 35 per cent. of the acreage is seeded.

THOMPSON—SCOTT.

The marriage of Ethel Maud, fourth daughter of Walter and Mrs. Scott, 32s King street east, to Charles Thompson, of Napanee, was solemnized at the home of the bride's parents, at 8 o'clock last night, by Rev. R. J. Treleaven, pastor of First Methodist church. The bride was gowned in a costume of white embroidered mull, princess style, and carried a bouquet of bride's roses. She was attended by her sister, Mrs. Rolland Yates, while Mr. Yates acted as groomsman.

Only the immediate relatives were present, and after the ceremony a dainty supper was served. This morning Mr. and Mrs. Thompson left for points east, where they will spend a few days, before going to their new home in Napanee. Mr. and Mrs. Thompson will be followed to their new home by the best wishes of a very wide circle of friends. The bride's travelling costume was of blue Venetian cloth, with hat to match. The groom's gift to the bride was a pearl pendant, to the bridesmaid, a pin set with pearls, and to the groomsman a pearl scarf pin. The bride was also the recipient of a very large number of handsome gifts, which bore testimony to the high esteem in which she is held.—Hamilton Spectator, Hamilton, April 23d, 1909.

HATS FOR MIDSUMMER.

The first warm days suggest the coming Summer, and Summer calls up visions of travel, country tours in the auto, lazy days on the water and at the water's edge. Warm-weather hats suggest the purpose for which they are worn. Thus we see the soft manila crushed to a becoming shape, its only trimming a gay scarf of polka-dot or Roman-stripe silk, hunting at golf as readily as the always popular sailor does of boating, fishing and kindred recreations. The quaint scoop-shaped bonnet is as becoming as it is smart. A pretty hat for motor tours is almost covered with gauzy chiffon veils which are a necessary protection for the hair and complexion. When the hat is to be covered with the veil the trimming is of the simplest, and a convenient shape must be considered.

Two hats for dress are refreshingly new and Summery, one being massed with flowers, the other, the daintiest type of lingerie hat, made of fine lace and mull.

And last but possibly the most important is the hat for traveling and the stylish new veil. The trimming of ribbon and wings lies close to the hat, and the satin-bordered veil is draped entirely over the hat with a point falling directly in front.—The Delineator for June.

THE LIONS WERE KIND.

Three of Them Fell Before Roosevelt's Rifle—A Fourth Became Kermit's Victim—One of the Former President's Fondest Ambitions Realized—Celebration at Nairobi.

Nairobi, May 1st.—Four lions are trophies of ex-President Roosevelt's camp in the Mau Hills to-night, and the two hundred or more native followers are joining with the party in the celebration of the unusually good luck.

The lions were bagged yesterday, and Colonel Roosevelt's gun brought three of them to earth, each on the first shot. Thus one of the former President's fondest ambitions has been realized. The fourth of the jungle kings fell before the rifle of Kermit Roosevelt.

So magnificent a kill was far beyond their expectations, but lions have been plentiful in the hills for the past month, and the English hunter, F. C. Selous, has been out for several days laying plans for their extinction.

It seems as if the virus of the Revolution would never be worked out in France. There is always a contrast between the spirit and temperament of the Frenchman and those of the Englishman. Twice England had revolutions; one in the reign of Charles I., the other in that of James II. From each she went back at once to regular Government. With all their gifts and brilliancy, the French are light-headed. At present, we are told, there is no visible danger of the overthrow of the Republic. There is, however, a very visible danger of such a triumph of the revolutionary and socialistic spirit under the forms of the Republic as would practically amount to revolution, and might lead once more to a grand catastrophe. The world is in a troubled state; due, it can hardly be doubted, in part to the withdrawal of the religious belief which helped to reconcile the masses to their stinted share of the good things of the present world. Young men may live to see the end of it; the old hardly will. We are told that the situation has revealed the profound contempt of the French working classes for the whole Parliamentary system. For what system will they not have a profound contempt if it fails to transfer the good things of this world from the present possessors to themselves?

OVER A MILLION DOLLARS FOR CHARITY.

Charitable bequests aggregating over one million dollars, were contained in the will of Mr. George C. Thomas, banker, and philanthropist, of Philadelphia, who died two weeks ago. A bequest of $100,000 to the Domestic and Foreign Missionary Society of the Protestant Episcopal Church in the United States. A bequest of $50,000 to the Board of Missions to the diocese of Pennsylvania for the work of church extension in the diocese. A bequest of $10,000 in trust for the purpose of encouraging and aiding any men acceptable to the Bishop who shall offer themselves to the work of the ministry. $10,000 to the Hahnemann College and hospital $10,000 to the Episcopal hospital. To specific churches, chapels, Sunday Schools and Missions, about $850,000, and to the widow and children $200,000 for distribution among charitable institutions as they may elect. Mr. George Paul, brother of Mr. A. E. Paul, of our town, who has been Mr. Thomas' private secretary for quite a number of years, was remembered in the will to the extent of $10,000.

"PARSIFAL" RETURNS TO KINGSTON.

A sterling Company and magnificent production at the Grand Opera House, in Kingston, on Wednesday, May 12th. There is little, if any doubt in the minds of theatregoers here that the most notable theatrical offering on the list of last season's attractions was "Parsifal". And it will be remembered that the performance and production given under the management of Martin and Emery created intense satisfaction and a delightfully artistic surprise.

This season they return with a still more admirable company and with scenery and other accessories, just as complete, and fitting as art could depict and human ingenuity devise. The stage production, as it will be seen at the coming visit, will form an exact counterpart of that seen at Baireuth—the same graceful outlines, the same charming effects of light and shade, the same exquisite coloring and the same marvelous transitions of scenes, which are effected in full view of the audience before they become conscious of the change.

That which most concerns Parsifal devotees is the hour of commencement. The performance will begin at 7.45 prompt and conclude at 11.15.

ROCHESTER BOYS WIN WATER COLOR PRIZES.

Roy Bartlett and Elmer Lapp Take First and Second Awards in Mechanics Institute Contest.

The Wiltsie Water Color prizes are awarded every year to students of the Department of Applied and Fine Arts of Mechanics' Institute, for the best work in this medium. This season Roy Bartlett, of Rochester, son of Mr. A. A. Bartlett, formerly of Napanee, was the winner of the first prize, and Elmer R. Lapp, of Rochester, of the second.

The problem given was a poster to illustrate one of the classes of the department. Mr. Bartlett chose the metal and jewelry class, and very aptly adapted his color scheme and decorative features to the materials used in this class. Mr. Lapp for his poster chose the classes in Painting and made use of his knowledge of the human figure, whereas Mr. Bartlett centred himself more to objects and decoration. These posters will form a feature of the school exhibition at the close of the season in June.

Charles H. Wiltsie, who offers the prize, is a member of the Bevier committee. He has given this prize for a number of years and it has always had a most stimulating effect on the students.—The Post Express, Rochester, N.Y., May 1st, 1909.

AN OPEN LETTER.

RESULTS SO SURPRISING THAT THEY SEEM MARVELOUS ARE COMMON TO MI-O-NA, THE ONE DEPENDABLE STOMACH REMEDY.

Mrs. J. A. Pillow, of North Street, Gananoque, Ont., says: "Mi-o-na is worth its weight in gold for quickly and permanently curing dyspepsia. I became so bad that I was unable to leave my bed. There was a constant burning in my stomach. I would belch up gas every few minutes and could eat but very little, as the food would quickly ferment and make gas that caused a serious depression of the heart. Perspiration would break out all over my body. I would become so weak that I could not stir and would often fall on the floor in a helpless state. The pains in my stomach were terrible. I could find no position in which to sit or lie without suffering, and I was so nervous that the least noise affected me. Headaches were constant. I would become dizzy and spots would appear before my eyes. I had no ambition to get around and everything seemed to tire me. The first box of Mi-o-na gave me more relief than anything I had previously tried. The second box of Mi-o-na cured me. I am well and strong and I have not had an hour's suffering since. I will always feel grateful to Mi-o-na for the cure given me and glad to recommend."

In the face of such evidence it is easy to understand why T. B. Wallace feels assured in saying to you, money back if Mi-o-na fails to relieve either trivial or serious stomach trouble.

$85,000,000 FOR NEW RAILROADS IN WESTERN CANADA.

Winnipeg, Man., April 30th:—Approximately $85,000,000 will be spent by railroads in actual construction in Western Canada during 1909, according to statements made by head officials of the various companies. The construction campaign laid out by the Canadian Pacific is the most costly and calls for the expenditure of over $20,000,000. James J. Hill will spend $15,000,000 on the Great Northern and subsidiary companies in Western Canada, together making a fourth trunk system across the prairies westward from this City. The Canadian Northern intends to spend some $11,000,000, part of which will be for the extention of its main line towards the Pacific Coast. A like amount will be spent by the Grand Trunk Pacific on its main line between Winnipeg and the Pacific Ocean, but the bulk of the money used by this company during 1909 will be on its branch lines.

This year Melville, Saskatchewan, the headquarters of the Grand Trunk Pacific in Western Canada, appears to be the most favored town, for the Company has announced that at least three branches will be built from there this year. One will run northwesterly to Prince Albert, another northeasterly to the Hudson's Bay, while a third will run to the American boundary passing through Regina en route. These three lines will be the most important ever built in Western Canada, as far as American farmers and homeseekers are concerned, for they will give direct access to the rich mineral deposits and famous Peace River Valley, north of Prince Albert, while the other northerly line will give direct communication to Hudson's Bay and the short wheat route to Europe.

The remainder of the $85,000,000 will easily be expended by the almost innumerable companies charterred to build lines in all directions, covering Western Canada with a net work of railroads like a spider's web.

The only cloud on the horizon is a prospect of a shortage of labor, but it is said this will not be very serious owing to the large immigration promised from all quarters of the globe.

If your baking goes wrong, investigate — find the cause. Look to your stove, your yeast, your baking methods.

If you succeed in pinning the trouble down to the flour—then take up the flour question in dead earnest.

Consider that flour, to be successful from a baking standpoint, must be fine to produce light bread or pastry, pure to make that bread or pastry wholesome, and rich in nutriment to make it nourishing.

GOWGANDA HAS DEPTH.

Opinion of Mining Men on Important Point.—It is One of the Things That Has Had a Wonderful Effect in Directing Attention to the New Field.

The opinion that is freely expressed among experienced mining men as to the certain permanency of the silver veins at GowGanda has had a wonderful effect in directing attention to the new field. The fact cannot be denied that the experience in some mines elsewhere has caused the particular question of depth to be considered. It has been considered carefully and in the light of experience under identical or analogous conditions at Cobalt. A prominent mining man who recently looked over some of the properties at Gow Ganda was invited to inspect the Bartlett Mines. He was impressed with the showings. "They are remarkable," he said, "but I congratulate you on the fact that your silver is between two good solid walls of diabase."

S. R. Clark, whose interests at Gow Ganda are heavy, said: "My faith in this camp is absolute. The discoveries are in the eruptive rock, and depth is as certain as geological evidence can make it."

When one is so well qualified to judge as Mr. Carnegie says that only a spark is needed to plunge England and Germany into war, the situation, to say the least, is critical. What is there to cause war? Militarism wants it. To the rest of both nations and to the world which shares their interests, what could it be but a fearful curse and set-back? Dire experiences shows that the blustering and mischief-making few may prevail over the manifest interests of the many, and that without any just or intelligible cause of war, war there may be. The utterly untenable and insulting claim of England to the empire of the seas is a standing affront to the other nations and a constant provocation of the feeling which prepares for war.

The race in the building of Dreadnoughts has reached a phase almost ridiculous, especially when we consider the rapid progress of naval invention and the possibility that something still more destructive may any day turn up. To the uninitiated it would seem that the concentration of the naval force in a few monsters would rather be against the interest of the power which, like England, has the most numerous points to defend. What could a Dreadnought on guard at Liverpool or Plymouth do for the protection of Halifax, Vancouver or Sydney?

CHAPTER I.

IT was long ago, in the days when men sighed when they fell in love, when people danced by candle and lamp, and did dance, too, instead of solemnly gliding about; in that mellow time so long ago when the young were romantic and summer was roses and wine, old Carewe brought his lovely daughter home from the convent to wreck the hearts of the youth of Rouen.

That was not a far journey; only an afternoon's drive through the woods and by the river in an April long ago, Miss Betty's harp carefully strapped behind the great lumbering carriage, her guitar on the front seat half buried under a mound of bouquets and oddly shaped little bundles, farewell gifts of her comrades and the good sisters. In her left hand she clutched a small lace handkerchief, with which she now and then touched her eyes, brimmed with the parting from Sister Cecilia, Sister Mary Bazilede, the old stone steps and all the girls, but for every time that she lifted the dainty kerchief to brush away the edge of a tear she took a deep breath of the western woodland air and smiled at least twice, for the years of strict inclosure within St. Mary's walls and still gardens were finished and done with, and at last the many colored world flashed and danced in a mystery before her. This mystery was brilliant to the convent girl because it contained men. She was eager to behold it.

They rumbled into town after sunset in the fair twilight, the dogs barking before them, and every one would have been surprised to know that Tom Vanrevel, instead of Mr. Crailey Gray, was the first to see her. By the merest accident Tom was strolling near the Carewe place at the time, and when the carriage swung into the gates, with rattle and clink and clouds of dust at the finish, it was not too soon lost behind the shrubbery and trees for Tom to catch something more than a glimpse of a gray skirt behind a mound of flowers and of a charming face with parted lips and dark eyes beneath the scuttle of an enormous bonnet. It happened—perhaps it is more accurate to say that Tom thought it happened—that she was just clearing away her veil when he turned to look. She blushed suddenly—so much was not to be mistaken—and the eyes that met his were remarkable for other reasons than the sheer loveliness of them, in that, even in the one flash of them he caught, they meant so many things at one time. But, above all, these eyes were fully conscious of Tom Vanrevel.

Without realizing what he did Mr. Vanrevel stopped short. He had been swinging a walking stick, which, describing a brief arc, remained poised halfway in its descent. There was only that one glance between them, and the carriage disappeared, leaving a scent of spring flowers in the air.

The young man was left standing on the wooden pavement in the midst of a great loneliness, yet enveloped in the afterglow, his soul roseate, his being quavering, his expression, like his cane, instantaneously arrested. With such promptitude and finish was he disposed of that had Miss Carewe been aware of his name and the condition wrought in him by the single stroke she could have sought only the terse Richard of England for a like executive ability: "Off with his head! So much for Vanrevel!"

She had lifted a slender hand to the fluttering veil, a hand in a white glove with a small lace gauntlet at the wrist. This gesture was the final divinity of the radiant vision which remained with the dazed young man as he went down the street, and it may have been three-quarters of an hour later when the background of the picture became vivid to him—a carefully dressed gentleman with heavy brows and a handsome high nose, who sat stiffly upright beside the girl, his very bright eyes quite as conscious of the stricken pedestrian as were hers; vastly different, however, in this—that they glittered—nay, almost bristled—with hostility, while every polished button of his blue coat seemed to reflect their malignancy and to dart little echoing shafts of venom at Mr. Vanrevel.

Tom was dismayed by the acuteness of his perception that a man who does not speak to you has no right to have a daughter like the lady in the carriage, and, the moment of this realization occurring as he sat making a poor pretense to eat his evening meal at the Rouen House, he dropped his fork rattling upon his plate and leaned back, staring at nothing, a proceeding of which his table mate, Mr. William Cummings, the editor of the Rouen Journal, was too busy over his river bass to take note.

"Have you heard what's new in town?" asked Cummings presently, looking up.

"No," said Tom truthfully, for he had seen what was new, but not heard it.

"Old Carewe's brought his daughter home. Fanchon Bareaud was with her at St. Mary's until last year, and Fanchon says she's not only a great beauty, but a great dear."

"Ah!" rejoined the other with masterly indifference. "Dare say—dare say."

"No wonder you're not interested," said Cummings cheerfully, returning to the discussion of his bass. "The old villain will take precious good care you don't come near her."

Mr. Vanrevel already possessed a profound conviction to the same effect. Robert Meilhac Carewe was known not only as the wealthiest citizen of Rouen, but also as its heartiest and most steadfast hater; and, although there were only 5,000 or 6,000 inhabitants, neither was a small distinction, for Rouen was ranked in those easy days as a wealthy town, even as it was called an old town, proud of its age and its riches and bitter in its politics, of course. The French had built a fort there soon after La Salle's last voyage and, as Crailey Gray said, had settled the place, and had then been settled themselves by the pioneer militia. After the Revolution, Carolinians and Virginians had come by way of Tennessee and Kentucky, while the adventurous countrymen from Connecticut, traveling thither to sell, remained to buy—and then sell—when the country was in its teens. In course of time the little trading post of the northwest territory had grown to be the leading center of elegance and culture in the Ohio valley—at least they said so in Rouen.

Robert Carewe was Rouen's magnate, commercially and socially and, until an upstart young lawyer named Vanrevel struck into his power with a broadax, politically. The wharfs were Carewe's; the warehouses that stood by the river and the line of packets which plied upon it were his. Half the town was his, and in Rouen this meant that he was possessed of the middle justice, the high and the low. His mother was a Frenchwoman, and in those days, when to go abroad was a ponderous and venturesome undertaking, the fact that he had spent most of his youth in the French capital wrought a certain glamour about him, for to the American Paris was Europe, and it lay shimmering on the far horizon of every imagination, a golden city.

Mr. Carewe lived in an old fashioned house on the broad, quiet, shady street which bore his name. There was a wide lawn in front, shadowy under elm and locust trees and bounded by thick shrubberies. A long garden, fair with roses and hollyhocks, lay outside the library windows—an old time garden, with fine gravel paths and green arbors, drowsed over in summer time by the bees, while overhead the locust rasped his rusty cadences the livelong day, and a faraway sounding love note from the high branches brought to mind the line, like an old refrain:

The voice of the turtle was heard in the land,

Between the garden and the carriage gates there was a fountain where a bronze boy with the dropsy (but not minding it) lived in a perpetual bath from a green goblet held over his head. Near by a stone sundial gleamed against a clump of lilac bushes, and it was upon this spot that the white kitten introduced Thomas Vanrevel to Miss Carewe.

Upon the morning after her arrival, having finished her pianoforte practice, touched her harp twice and arpeggioed the "Spanish Fandango" on her guitar, Miss Betty read two paragraphs of "Gilbert" (for she was profoundly determined to pursue her tasks with diligence), but, the open windows disclosing a world all sunshine and green leaves, she threw the book aside with a good conscience and danced out to the garden. There, coming upon a fuzzy white ball rolling into itself spirally on a lazy pathway, she pounced at it, whereupon the thing uncurled with lightning swiftness and fled, more like a streak than a kitten, down the drive, through the open gates and into the street, Miss Betty in full cry.

Across the way there chanced to be strolling a young lady in blue, accompanied by a gentleman whose leisurely gait gave no indication of the maneuvering he had done to hasten their walk into its present direction. He was apparently thirty or thirty-one, tall, very straight, dark, smooth shaved, his eyes keen, deep set and thoughtful, and his high white hat, white satin cravat and careful collar were evidence of an elaboration of toilet somewhat unusual in Rouen for the morning. Also he was carrying a pair of white gloves in his hand and dangled a slender ebony cane from his wrist. The flying kitten headed toward the couple when, with a celerity only to be accounted for on the theory that his eye had been fixed on the Carewe gateway for some time previous to this sudden apparition, the gentleman leaped in front of the fugitive.

The kitten attempted a dodge to pass; the gentleman was there before it. The kitten feinted; the gentleman was altogether too much on the spot. Immediately, and just as Miss Carewe, flushed and glowing, ran into the street, the small animal doubled, evaded Miss Betty's frantic clutch, re-entered the gateway and attempted a disappearance into the lilac bushes instead of going around them, only to find itself, for a fatal two seconds, in difficulties with the close set thicket of ste[illegible].

In regard to the ex[illegible] agility of which the pursuing gentleman was capable, it is enough to say that he caught the cat. He emerged from the lilacs holding it in one hand, his gloves and white hat in the other, and presented himself before Miss Betty with a breathlessness not entirely attributable to his exertions.

For a moment, as she came running toward him and he met her flashing look, bright with laughter and recognition and haste, he stammered. A thrill nothing less than delirious sent the blood up behind his brown cheeks, for he saw that she, too, knew that this was the second time their eyes had met.

He could not speak at once, but when he could, "Permit me, madam," he said solemnly, offering the captive, "to restore your kitten."

An agitated kitten should not be detained by clasping its waist, and already the conqueror was paying for his victory. There ensued a final outrageous squirm of despair. Two frantic claws, extended, drew one long red mark across the stranger's wrist and another down the back of his hand to the knuckles. They were good, hearty scratches, and the blood followed the artist's lines rapidly, but of this the young man took no note, for he knew that he was about to hear Miss Carewe's voice for the first time.

"They say the best way to hold them," he observed, "is by the scruff of the neck."

Beholding his wounds, suffered in her cause, she gave a pitying cry that made his heart leap with the richness and sweetness of it. Catching the kitten from him, she dropped it to the ground in such wise as to prove nature's foresight most kind in cushioning the feet of cats.

"Ah, I didn't want it that much!"

"A cat in the hand is worth two nightingales in the bush," he said boldly and laughed. "I would shed more blood than that!"

Miss Betty blushed like a southern dawn and started back from him. From the convent but yesterday—and she had taken a man's hand in both of hers!

It was to this tableau that the lady in blue entered, following the hunt through the gates, where she stopped with a discomposed countenance. At once, however, she advanced and, with a cry of greeting, enveloped Miss Betty in a brief embrace, to the relief of the latter's confusion. It was Fanchon Bareaud, now two years emancipated from St. Mary's and far gone in taffeta. With her lusterful light hair, absent blue eyes and her gentle voice, as small and pretty as her face and figure, it was not too difficult to justify Crailey Gray's characterization of her as one of those winsome baggages who had made an air of feminine helplessness the fashion of the day.

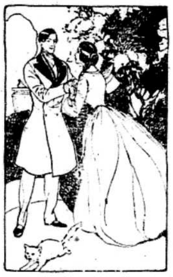
"I'm so glad—glad!" exclaimed Betty. "You were just coming to see me, weren't you? My father is in the library. Let me"—

Miss Bareaud drew back. "No, no," she interrupted hastily and with evident perturbation; "I—we must be on our way immediately." She threw a glance at the gentleman, which let him know that she now comprehended his gloves and why their stroll had trended toward Carewe street. "Come at once," she commanded him quickly in an undertone.

"But now that you're here," said Miss Betty, wondering very much why he was not presented to her, "won't you wait and let me gather a nosegay for you? Our pansies and violets"—

"I could help," the gentleman suggested, with the look of a lame dog at Miss Bareaud. "I have been considered useful about a garden."

"Fool!" Betty did not hear the word that came from Miss Bareaud's closed teeth, though she was mightily surprised at the visible agitation of her schoolmate, for the latter's face was pale and excited. And Miss Carewe's amazement was complete when Fanchon, without more words, cavalierly seized the gentleman's arm and moved toward the street with him as rapidly as his perceptible reluctance to leave permitted. But at the gate Miss Bareaud turned and called back over her shoulder, as if remembering the necessity of offering an excuse for so remarkable a proceeding: "I shall come again very soon. Just now we are upon an errand of great importance. Good day!"



"I didn't want it that much!"

Miss Betty waved her hand, staring after them, her eyes large with wonder. She compressed her lips tightly. "Errand!" This was the friend of childhood's happy hour, and they had not met in two years!

"Errand!" She ran to the hedge, along the top of which a high white hat was now seen perambulating. She pressed down a loose branch and called in a tender voice to the stranger whom Fanchon had chosen should remain nameless:

"Be sure to put some salve on your hand!"

He made a [illegible] just missed being too [illegible].

"It is [illegible]," he said and, losing [illegible] the bow, made his speech with [illegible] a grasp before the [illegible] dullest person in the world [illegible] have seen that he meant it.

Miss Betty [illegible].

There was a [illegible] of expression about the gentle [illegible] of Fanchon Bareaud, which her companion did not enjoy, as they went on their way, each preserving an [illegible] silence, until at her own door she turned [illegible] upon him. "Tom Vanrevel, I thought you were the steadiest—and now you've proved yourself the craziest—soul in Rouen!" she burst out. "And I couldn't say worse!"

"Why didn't you present me to her?" asked Vanrevel.

"Because I thought a man of your gallantry might prefer not to face a shotgun in the presence of ladies!"

"Pooh!"

"Pooh!" mimicked Miss Bareaud. "You can 'pooh' as much as you like, but if he had seen us from the window"— She covered her face with her hands for a moment, then dropped them and smiled upon him. "I understand perfectly to what I owe the pleasure of a stroll with you this morning, and your casual insistence on the shadiness of Carewe street!" He laughed nervously, but her smile vanished, and she continued: "Keep away, Tom. She is beautiful, and at St. Mary's I always thought she had spirit and wit too. I only hope Crailey won't see her before the wedding! But it isn't safe for you. Go along, now, and ask Crailey please to come at 3 this afternoon."

This message from Mr. Gray's betrothed was not all the ill starred Tom conveyed to his friend. Mr. Vanrevel was ordinarily esteemed a person of great reserve and discretion; nevertheless there was one man to whom he told everything, and from whom he had no secrets. He spent the noon hour in feeble attempts to describe to Crailey Gray the outward appearance of Miss Elizabeth Carewe—how she ran like a young Diana, what one felt upon hearing her voice, and he presented in himself an example exhibiting something of the cost of looking in her eyes. His conversation was more or less incoherent, but the effect of it was complete.

"Why I Recommend Dr. Williams' Pink Pills."

The Particulars of a Remarkable Cure Told by a Presbyterian Clergyman — The Sufferer Brought Back From Death's Door.

St. Andrew's Manse,
Cardigan, P.E.I., Jan. 1908.

Though I have never been sick myself, and have not had occasion to use Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, I thought you ought to know of the remarkable cure they have wrought in Mr. Olding's case.

During a visit to my home in Merigomish, N.S., some years ago, I was grieved to find our next door neighbor and friend, Michael Olding, very low. "He is not expected to live," my mother informed me, "and you must go over and see him as he is liable to pass away at any moment." "Not expected to live," that was the opinion not only of the doctor who attended him, but of his wife and family as well. Upon visiting him myself I found abundant evidence to confirm their opinion.

Mr. Olding had for years been afflicted with asthma and bronchitis, but now a complication of diseases was ravishing his system. He had been confined to his bed for months and was reduced to a skeleton. Though evidently glad to see me, he conversed with the greatest difficulty, and seemed to realize that it was the beginning of the end. He was daily growing weaker; his feet were swollen to twice their natural size, and the cold hand of death was upon his brow. "It's no use," he said feebly, "the doctor's medicine is not helping me and I am going down rapidly." I prayed with him as for a man soon to pass into eternity, and when I took his hand in parting it was the last time I expected to see him in the flesh.

Three years later while on another visit to my mother's Michael Olding was seemingly in better health than I had ever seen him, for, as I said, he had always been ailing. In sheer desperation he had asked his wife to get him Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. They soon began to help him. His appetite and strength began to improve, and to the astonishment of his family and friends he rapidly regained his health. Now, though the burden of well nigh four score years is upon him, he is able to do a fair day's work, and is in the enjoyment of good health, even the asthma has ceased to trouble him as in former years.

Mr. Olding himself, as well as his neighbors and the writer of this letter, confidently believe that his rescue from the very jaws of death—seemingly so miraculous—is due under the blessing of God to the timely and continuous use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

REV. EDWIN SMITH, M.A.

Mr. Olding himself writes:—"I am glad Rev. Mr. Smith has written you about my wonderful cure, for I confidently believe that if it had not been for Dr. Williams' Pink Pills I would have been dead long ago. It would be impossible to exaggerate the desperate condition I was in when I began to use the Pills. No one thought I could get better. I scarcely dared hope myself that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills would bring me through, but they did and I have ever since enjoyed good health. Though I am seventy-nine years old people are always remarking on how young I look—and I feel young. I can do a fair day's work and I am better in every way than I had been for years. I cannot say too much in praise of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and I take every opportunity I can to recommend them to friends who are ailing."

IMMEDIATE RELIEF.

FROM COUGHS, COLDS, SORE THROATS AND HOARSENESS BY USING HYOMEI.

When you catch cold you want to get rid of it as quickly as you can. You don't want to lie around the house for a week swallowing nauseating drugs.

Why not avoid all this? Why not relieve your cold in five minutes? Why not cure it over night? You can do it by using Hyomei, the sure and guaranteed cure for colds, coughs, sore throat, catarrh, bronchitis, and asthma.

William Guest, of Ayr, Ont., says: "Booth's Hyomei has proven to be a most satisfactory treatment for nasal catarrh and bronchial trouble. I have doctored considerably for these troubles, and conscientiously say that nothing ever used has given me such quick and lasting benefit as this remedy. I have found it especially good for cold in the head and cough. I am very glad to endorse Hyomei as an article of uncommon merit."

Hyomei (pronounced High-o-me) is medicated and antiseptic air. You breathe it into the lungs through a small pocket inhaler and its soothing influence as it passes over the inflamed membrane of the respiratory tract, stops the mucous discharge, allays the inflammation and the cold is cured. A complete Hyomei outfit costs $1.00 and T. B. Wallace will refund your money if it fails to cure.

RESTORED TO HEALTH BY VINOL.

"Having for years suffered from catarrh and a cough, and being run-down owing to a severe attack of bronchitis, and after seeking relief in vain from several so-called remedies, I took three bottles of Vinol, which completely restored my usual vigor, entirely removed the mucous and cured the cough.

"I consider Vinol the greatest and most beneficial remedy ever offered the public and am glad to testify to its efficiency." George Cole, "The Pines," Kincardine, Ontario.

This is because Vinol is a genuine tonic and body-builder which contains peptonate of iron together with every one of the body-building, medicinal elements of cod liver oil, but without one drop of oil to upset the stomach and retard its work. Vinol acts directly upon the stomach, creates a healthy appetite, and enables the digestive organs to obtain the necessary elements from the food eaten to make rich, red blood, healthy flesh and muscle tissue and create strength.

Your money back if Vinol fails to benefit. T. B. Wallace, Druggist, Napanee.

The transition from winter's cold to summer's heat frequently puts a strain upon the system that produces internal complications, always painful and often serious. A common form of disorder is dysentery, to which many are prone in the spring and summer. The very best medicine to use in subduing this painful ailment is Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Dysentery Cordial. It is a standard remedy, sold everywhere.

SCIENCE PREVENTS BALDNESS.

The Fatal Germ and Its Remedy Now Facts of Science.

It is the rarest thing in the world for a man to be necessarily bald. No man whose hair is not dead at the roots, need be bald if he will use Newbro's Herpicide, the new scalp antiseptic. Herpicide destroys the germ that cuts the hair off at the root; and cleans the scalp of dandruff and leaves it in a perfectly healthy condition. Mr. Mannett, in the Maryland Block, Butte, Mont., was entirely bald. In less than a month Herpicide had removed the enemies of hair growth, and nature did its work by covering his head with thick hair an inch long, and in six weeks he had a normal suit of hair. Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c. in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich.

Two Scarce Items in the Kid Glove Trade.

In large cities there has been a scramble for short length Kid Gloves in Tan Glace Gloves and in Grey Suede Gloves. When we say Kid Gloves we refer to the genuine French Kid Gloves that the best trade wear.

This week we placed in stock a new shipment of Tan Glace Gloves, in pretty shades, sizes 5¾ to 7, made from the best quality of real French Kid, $1.50 pair.

Also Grey Suede Gloves, undressed, in soft tones of grey, French Kid, fastened with 3 domes. Sizes, 5½ to 7, $1.50 pair.

All our Kid Gloves are guaranteed and we prefer to fit them for you at time of purchase.

Fancy Parasols Are Here and Selling

Fancy Parasols have been selling freely. The wise ones know that if they wait till summer that the color they wish may be hard to find.

If you know what you want by all means come in and select now. It may be a scarce shade, if it is, we will do our best to find it for you. Ask to see our floral and Dresden effects with brass trimmings. Very special values at $1.00, $1.25 and $1.50.

Silks to Match Our Suitings.

For those who want a three piece suit in one color we have silks for waists to match our suitings in plain and stripes. These were selected with a great deal of care. The color tones harmonize perfectly.

Then we have the braids, gimps, guipures, buttons and appliques to put on the finishing touches.

Neckwear and Belt Novelties.

With our present arrangement for purchasing neckwear we keep closely in touch with New York's accepted styles. If it is a good style and worth the having, the chances are you will soon find it represented in our stock. We often have customers, who do considerable travelling, tell us that our Neckwear and Belts are right up to the minute in style. The more they go the better they appreciate this their home store.

Art Sateens, Cretonnes and Chintz.

One should not associate the designs of to-day with the designs of years ago. The new designs are works of Art and learning to use Cretonnes, Chintz and Sateens in many ways, particularly for bedroom decorations. For walls and seats the try designs, for bed hangings the lighter colored chintz and chair coverings chintz and cretonnes. Cretonnes, 10c to 35c 10c to 25c yd. Chintz, 12½c to 20c yd.

Part of the fun of Springtime is selecting and wearing new, light weight clothes. Somehow it feels good to get away from the heavy weights and more sombre colors of winter. The Ladies' Home Journal for May is rich in suggestions for dainty summer clothes, but you need not be rich in order to realize them.

The Ladies' Home Journal Patterns cover all the designs which you will find in the Journal itself. These patterns, more and more, are showing their superiority over the older brands. Will you stop at our pattern counter and get a book?

"Breathe-Rite."

How much of your lungs do you use when you breathe?

WHAT "BREATHE-RITE" IS.

"Breathe-Rite" is a scientifically constructed, self-adjusting brace made for men, women and children. It fits over the shoulders and around the back, thus forcing the chest out and compelling the wearer to breathe as nature intended—deeply and regularly. The abdomen is held in by the same brace that holds the shoulders back. This reduces the waist and quickly improves the figure and appearance of the man or woman who wears it. For sale at Men's Counter.

WELL MET

An American visited Scotland some time ago and engaged a little boy to show him around the city. The little fellow showed him everything that was interesting. Then they came to a large monument. "That," said the boy, "is our largest and best monument."

"That's nothing," said the American. "We make cigars that size in New York."

The boy did not know what to say. They passed on down the street when they had to stand while a big team of four horses were pulling a large piece of crooked iron, placed on two carts.

"What's that clumsy looking piece of iron for?" said the American.

"They are building a large hotel down town and they are hauling up the kitchen poker," answered the boy.

OUT OF CURIOSITY

"Come in!"

The door opened to admit an individual of benign aspect, who at once began:

"You advertised that you had found a purse, did you not?"

"I did."

"You said it contained a sum of money?"

"I did."

"In fact a very large sum of money?"

"That's so."

"You mentioned too that the owner could have the same by naming the sum found and describing the purse?"

"Yes, go on."

"That is all I wanted to ask."

"But you will have to give a description of the purse before you can claim it."

"I haven't lost any purse."

"You haven't?"

"No."

"Then why on earth have you called?"

"Oh, merely to see what a man looks like who will find a very large sum of money and advertise the fact in the daily newspapers instead of having a good time with the spoils. Good morning, sir!"

DEATH OF CARMINO CESARO

The news of the death of the above young man on Friday morning last caused a feeling of universal regret throughout the town. Deceased, who three years ago was a strong healthy young man, contracted a cold while working in Rochester, N.Y., pulmonary tuberculosis being the result. Carmino Cesaro was born in Squilla, Italy, on the 8th of May, 1887, and came to Napanee about nine years ago. He was an industrious boy and was well liked and respected by his many friends in town. The funeral took place on Sunday, service being held in St. Patrick's church, Rev. Fr. O'Connor preaching the last sad rites. The remains were placed in the R. C. cemetery vault to await interment later. Deceased was a member of the Independent Order of Foresters, the local Court attending the funeral in a body. Beautiful wreaths of flowers were contributed by friends and the I. O. F. Besides the parents, Mr. and Mrs. Izadore Cesaro, one sister, Mrs. Mark Pizzariello, is left to mourn the loss of a kind and loving son and brother. The stricken family have the sympathy of their many friends in their sad bereavement.

THE PHOTOGRAPHER'S RESORT.

The smiling photographer had begged, bribed, promised, all in vain; the little girl simply would not remain still long enough to have her picture taken; mother's efforts, too, were fruitless. It seemed that the photo could not be made that day. Out of temper and desperate with the delay, the photographer yet resolved upon a last effort, so, smiling pleasantly, he said to the mother, "Madam, if you will leave your sweet, precious little girl with me a few moments I am confident I can secure a good negative." The mother complied and in a few moments the picture was taken. As they were going home, the mother asked, "What did the nice man say to you, dearie, to make you sit still for him?" "He thaid, 'you thilly, ugly, thquint-eyed monkey, or I'll thake the life out of your trembling careath,' and mamma, I that very thtill."

MAY 24, TO PICTON

Following is an extract from a By-law passed at the Town Council meeting on Monday evening last: "Every bicycle and tricycle ridden in any public street or place in the town, shall be provided with a bell and at night with a lighted lamp, and no person shall ride a bicycle or tricycle or any such vehicle through or in any street or public place at an unmoderate speed."

An interesting and somewhat unique function was held in Mr. Madole's hardware establishment, on Saturday afternoon last, when the Ladies' Aid of the Western Methodist church served tea during the day and in so doing demonstrated the admirable qualities of the Thermos Tea Pot, a new departure in the line of tea table requisities, which has recently been put on the market. Tea will also be served at the same place next Saturday afternoon and evening.

STR. "BROCKVILLE"

The Ruri-Decenel Chapter of Lennox and Addington met in Camden East last week, and well attended services in connection therewith were held in St. Luke's church, on Wednesday and Thursday evenings. On Wednesday the Rev. J. C. O'Connor Fenton preached a very helpful and instructive sermon, his theme being "The Good Shepherd", and on Thursday, the Rev. Rural Dean Dibb gave a most interesting and convincing address on the the recent Laymen's Missionary Congress.

Zam-Buk Saved His Hand!

WHEN TORN BY TROLLEY ROPE.

WORKING men and women throughout the Dominion find that Zam-Buk is the greatest boon they can have as a healer of accidental cuts, burns, and bruises, as well as skin diseases. Mr. H. G. Purchase, conductor on the Toronto Street Railway, tells how this great herbal balm benefited him when he met with his accident.

The trolley pole of his car slipped off the live wire, and the rope was caught in the standard. Purchase held on to the rope until his hand was pulled up to the top of the car. There it was held, and the rope, pulled through his fingers by the force of the moving car, tore and lacerated to a shocking extent three fingers, tearing several pieces of flesh completely away. Zam-Buk was applied, and eased the pain very quickly. Writing to this effect, Mr. Purchase says:—

"I had previously had experience of the healing power of Zam-Buk, and the way it soothes cuts and injuries. I, therefore, bound the fingers in Zam-Buk, and it was most gratifying the way in which this balm soothed the pain. Two days after the accident the wounds were closed, and new skin was beginning to form over the top. Each day I dressed the wounds with Zam-Buk, and I am now back again at work with the hand as sound as ever. To look at it you would never know it had been so terribly torn and lacerated.

"I do not think there is anything to equal Zam-Buk as a healer of skin injuries and diseases."

WHAT YOU SHOULD USE ZAM-BUK FOR.

Zam-Buk cures pimples, skin-eruptions, burns, cuts, piles, festering ulcers and sores, blood-poisoning, salt rheum, prairie itch, ringworm, bad leg, diseased ankles, old wounds, eczema, and all skin disease. All Druggists and Stores sell at 50c. box, three for $1.25, or post free from Zam-Buk Co., Toronto, for price.

DANGERS OF NEGLECTING A SORE.

NEVER neglect a cut or sore, however trivial it may appear. Mrs. H. L. Bedwell, of 117, Provencher Avenue, St Boniface, Winnipeg, had a small sore on the second finger of her left hand. She thought it would get right unaided, but it didn't. Instead, blood poisoning set in. She says:—"I then tried poultices and an ordinary salve. These, however, did not have the desired effect, and, as the finger began to fester, I had to call in a doctor, who lanced it. Despite his care, however, it again festered, and the ointment, liniments and other preparations which the doctor gave me seemed absolutely unable to bring about any relief. We were told of a case similar to my own in which Zam-Buk had effected a cure when everything else had failed, and we therefore decided to give Zam-Buk a trial. It only needed a few [illegible] [illegible] of this [illegible] [illegible] and inflammation were [illegible] and the pain [illegible] quite. In [illegible] few weeks' time [illegible] with Zam-Buk [illegible] was quite sound again."

"ENGLISH" LIQUID PAINT

A Handsome Paint

One special reason why "English" Liquid Paint gives your house such a handsome finish is because the 70% pure white lead used in its manufacture is Brandram's B. B. Genuine White Lead. This lead, ever since it was first manufactured, over one-hundred years ago, has been the standard of the lead trade and commanded the highest lead prices.

Yet "English" Liquid Paint is not an extravagant paint—it is the most economical paint you can use.

Made by Brandram-Henderson Limited, in 45 handsome shades, in addition to black and white.

A DAIRY FARM'S COMPETITION.

A committee composed of leading farmers and dairymen representing the dairy Cattle Breeders' Associations and the Dairymen's Associations of Ontario, have completed arrangements for the holding this year, of a dairy farms competition through Ontario. The prizes will consist of 69 gold and silver medals, and diplomas, as well as a large number of special prizes, the details of which have not yet been arranged.

The Province will be divided into four districts, as follows:—from Kingston east; from Kingston to Yonge St., Toronto; Western Ontario, north and south, of a line running from Hamilton to Goderich. There will be a competition this year, for the best farms in each district and 5 gold and 10 silver medals will be offered this year in each district.

The farms will be judged twice, once about July 1st, and again some time during December, thus giving the judges an opportunity to see the farms under winter and summer conditions.

Next year, the farms in Eastern Ontario and all farms in Western Ontario which win prizes in the competition this year, will be allowed to compete in special competitions to decide the best farm in Eastern Ontario and the best farm in Western Ontario. Two years from now, it is proposed to hold a final competition, in which the leading farms for both Eastern and Western Ontario will compete to decide the best farm in the Province. Exceptionally fine prizes will be offered in this final competition.

All branches of farm work will be included in the competition. In all 1000 points will be offered. These points have been sub-divided as follows:—House and surroundings 150; farm buildings 150; live stock 200; crops 200; farm management 150; farm machinery 75; permanent improvements 75. Several prizes will be offered to the farms that score the highest points on the house and surroundings; on poultry; on orchards, and other similar departments.

Competitions of this kind were held in Ontario some 25 years ago, and created great interest. The gold medal farmer in the Province at that time was Mr. Simpson Rennie, the well known Farmers' Institute speaker, who now lives in Toronto.

The committee which has charge of the competition is composed of Messrs. H. Glendinning of Manilla; G. A. Gillespie, of Peterboro', representing the Eastern Ontario Dairymen's Association; Mr. D. A. Dempsey of Stratford, and C. R. Wallace, of Burgessville, representing the Western Ontario Dairymen's Association; Mr. W. W. Ballantyne, of Stratford; D. Duncan, of Don; George McKenzie, of Thornhill; R. F. Hicks, of Newtonbrook; Gordon Gooderham, of York Mills; Simpson Rennie and W. G. Ellis, of Toronto, and H. B. Cowan, of Peterboro', the Secretary.

Full particulars about the competition may be obtained from the Secretary. Already a number of leading farmers in Ontario have indicated their intention to take part in the competition which promises to create a great interest and be productive of much good.

OBSERVED THE PROPRIETIES.

ALWAYS.

At a Sunday School in the country a teacher was examining her class on the Bible, the lesson being a part of Genesis. She asked her class: "Why did the serpent tempt Eve instead of Adam?" For some time there was silence, but at length a little boy held up his hand and replied: "Please mum, 'cause it's ladies first."

With an air of sympathy Manager Fasco passed his hand over his freshly-shaven chin.

"Hamfat, my dear fellow," he said heartily, "you'll be missed if you leave the stage."

Hamfat Garrick shook back his great mane of silver hair.

"Well," he said, frankly, "at any time of life one gets tired of always being hit."

IN HORSELAND.

A well-fed horse drove into town behind a span of ancient men, whose knees were sore from falling down and striving to get up again; their poor old ribs were bare of meat, and they had sores upon their necks; there wasn't, on the village street, a tougher looking pair of wrecks. And so they shambled up the street, a specter harnessed with a ghost; the horse descended from his seat, and left them standing by a post. And there they stood through half the night, and shook and shivered in the tugs, the while their master, in delight, was shaking dice with other pldgs. And there they died of grief and cold—no more they'll haul the heavy plow; their master said, when he was told: "They cost blamed little, anyhow."

BOARD.

New Curate—Can any of you tell me how much it costs to board an automobile here?

Old Resident—About $30, I think.

Young M. D.—But it only costs $25 to board a horse.

Miss Stenographer—And it only costs five cents to board a trolley.

TOWN COUNCIL.

Council Chambers,
Napanee, May 3d, 1909.

Council met in regular session on Monday evening, Mayor Simpson presiding.

Members present—Reeve Ruttan, Councillors Bogart, Gibbard, Alexander, Steacy, Kimmerly, Burrows.

Minutes of the last regular meeting were read and on motion were confirmed.

From the Secretary of the Union of Canadian Municipalities, asking the Council to forward the amount of their account, $10.00. Referred to the Finance Committee to report.

From C. H. Finkle, Esq., Newburgh, saying that owing to the almost impassible state of the York Road within the municipality, running east of Napanee I find it almost impossible to run my car without doing serious damage to it, as it is so full of holes that it makes it very hard to get along. I hope that the Council will take an interest in it and have it repaired as soon as possible. Referred to the Street Committee with power to act.

From S. Casey Denison, saying that he was putting down a cement walk in front of his store at his own expense, and would make the proposition that if the Council would put down a cement walk in front of his property he would furnish the ballast laid down on the street and would draw the stone if the town furnish them. The Council to furnish cement and do the work complete. Referred to the Street Committee to report.

From the Association for the Preventive of Consumption, saying the annual meeting would be held on the 19th and 20th of May at Hamilton. Ordered filed.

To the Mayor and Members of the Municipal Council of the Town of Napanee:

Gentlemen,—Your notice from Clerk, Mr. Grange, to hand, re emptying of tar and other waste products in Napanee River. In reply would say that I am not emptying tar or any other waste products in the Napanee River. If the gentlemen who are instrumental in trying to hamper the Gas Company would direct their surplus energies to devising some plan by which the pollution of town water supply and the river by sewerage can be eradicated, they would be conferring a benefit on the general public that would resound greatly to their credit.

Yours truly,
R. C. CARTWRIGHT,
Manager Napanee Gas Co.

Ordered filed.

The tenders for the caretaking of The Harvey Warner Park, as follows, were referred to the Town Property Committee to report:

W. H. Foster, $103.00 for the season.
Samuel Howard, $90.00 for the season.
D. T. Deshane, $80.00 for the season.
Chas. Pearson, [illegible]
Herbert J. Paul, $18.00 per month.

From Mrs. Jas. McCoy and others asking the attention of the Town Council to the condition of the street on the east side of Richard street, between Dundas and Mill streets. Referred to the Street Committee with power to act.

The monthly statement of the Treasurer was presented as follows:

Committee	Appropriation	Amount expended	Balance on hand
Streets	$3,500 00	$ 648 11	$2,851 79

Cash on hand in Merchants Bank, May 1st			$[illegible]

Moved by Reeve Ruttan, seconded by Coun. Alexander, that the tender of Boyle & Son, for cement, be accepted. Carried.

On motion the appointment of Ira Jaynes as poundkeeper was reconsidered and rescinded.

On motion the Street Committee were empowered to secure a person to furnish a pound and look after the cattle.

A by-law was passed empowering the Municipality of Napanee to borrow from the Merchants Bank the sum of $5,000 to cover any overdraft that may be necessary before the taxes are all paid in.

A by-law respecting the egress from public buildings was given its first and second reading.

Moved by Coun. Bogart, seconded by Coun. Gibbard, that By-laws Nos. 796 and 805 passed by the Council in 1908 and 1909 for levying an assessment upon the rateable property of the town for the purposes set forth in said By-laws, be referred to the Printing and By-laws Committee to set forth the facts concerning said by-laws and obtain the legal opinion of an independent Counsel as to their legality and the right of the Council to order the Collector to make seizures for enforcing the payment of taxes. Carried.

Moved by Coun. Gibbard, seconded by Reeve Ruttan, that all accounts for granolithic walks now due be placed in the hands of the Chief-of-police to be collected, and if not paid to be placed in court for collection. Carried.

On motion the Street Committee were asked to keep an estimate of all tile furnished for water closets during 1909.

On motion Mr. H. V. Fralick was given the right to lay down building material on Adelphi street under the usual conditions, also that Mr. W. T. Gibbard be given the same privilege on Dundas st.

On motion the matter re pedlar's license was referred to the Printing and By-law committee.

On motion Mr. M. B. Mills was asked to look after the swing bridge for the current year.

NO MEMORY.

"I suppose," said the sympathizing neighbor, "that you will erect a handsome monument to your husband's memory?"

"To his memory," echoed the tearful widow; "why poor John hadn't any. I was sorting over some of his clothes today and I found the pockets full of letters I had given him to post."

TWO SONGS.

A great big awkward North Carolinian called at the village store to buy a pair of No. 11 brogan shoes. The storekeeper (who was very close and careful about selling goods on credit) handed him over the shoes and said to him: "Now my friend you can sing, 'How firm a foundation.'" The purchaser took the shoes, but didn't pay for them, and said: "That is so—and now you can sing, 'A charge to keep I have.'"

ONE KIND OF HUSBAND.

Lady Arthur Paget, at a dinner in New York, said of the "appalling American divorce habit"—for that is the shape which our divorce question takes in her eyes—

"And deceit, petty deceit, grave deceit,—that is another frequent cause of divorce. Too many husbands are like the one who said, as his servant helped him on with his overcoat:

"James, if my wife asks you where I am, tell her I've gone to the opera."

The man bowed.

"Yes, sir; very good, sir." And he added imperturbably, "And where are you really going, sir, in case any of your friends should call or ring you up?"

CURING THE TEACHER.

A young woman teacher in a school in one of the poorer parts of New York City was overcome by a sudden attack of illness the other day. She dismissed the class, telling the boys she felt too ill to continue, but hoped to be quite well by the next day. The teacher rested her head on her arms and sat at her desk a few minutes waiting for strength to start on the journey homeward. She was only dully conscious of what was going on about her and did not notice a group of the ragged youngsters gathered by the door in deep consultation.

In a little while she heard someone softly say "Teacher," and looked up. It was the raggedest boy of the lot, and he was holding out a paper bag full of something.

"What is it, Jimmie?" she asked.

"Sea-sick'n' t'eat," replied Jimmie.

"But I'm not hungry."

"Yes, you are," insisted the ragged philanthropist, winking at her gravely. "Nobody's sick except when they're hungry. We took up a c'lection an' got these cream puffs fur youse. Eat 'em quick, ma'am, an' you'll feel better."

Better Than Pills For Liver Ills.

NATURE'S REMEDY is better than pills, because it acts in the right way. It strengthens the Stomach, aids Digestion, cures Dyspepsia, cleanses the Liver and Bowels, curing Constipation. One daily dose NR Tablet is all that is necessary to correct the average trouble. It starts in the Stomach and searches through the Liver, Kidney and intestines, dissolving and soothing as it goes. NR Tablets are always just right and neither sicken, gripe nor have any harmful after effect. GET A 25c BOX.

The Ills of Childhood How To Cure Them

In thousands of homes throughout Canada Baby's Own Tablets is the only medicine used when the children are ailing, and the mother who keeps this medicine on hand may feel as safe as though there was a doctor constantly in the home. Baby's Own Tablets cure all stomach and bowel troubles, break up colds, destroy worms, and make teething easy. Guaranteed free from opiates and poisonous drugs. Mrs. Geo. Wilson, Wilson's, N.B., says:—"I began using Baby's Own Tablets about five years ago, and since then have used no other medicine for my children. They never fail to bring relief, and I would advise all mothers to try them." Sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

VITOL

THE GREAT BLOOD, FLESH AND NERVE TONIC.

Vitol Tablets invigorate the Blood and System when broken by overwork and worry. They build up the system, shattered by excesses of disease and cure nervous despondency, loss of memory, confusion of ideas, pain in the back, rheumatism.

Mrs. E. Sider, 19 Lake street, St. Catharines, writes: "For five years I have been a great sufferer, my spirits were so depressed that at times I thought I would do something awful. I was afraid to be left alone. I could not sleep at nights, my nerves were completely gone. I tried everything I could hear of but got no relief till I tried Vitol Tablets. The first box helped me. After I had taken six boxes I was completely cured. My, what a change. We guarantee Vitol Tablets to cure all cases of nervousness, anaemia, general muscular weakness and depression of the spirits. Price, 50c box, six boxes for $2.50. Lawrason's Drug Store.

MORVEN.

The quarterly meeting held in the Brick church on Sunday morning last was well attended. Rev. Horton was assisted by Rev. Montgomery.—Rev. and Mrs. Montgomery are this week removing to Sarnia where he has an appointment.—Mr. and Mrs. German Valleau have gone to Oso for the summer.—A strange buggy has been resting on the townline just above the Brick church, apparently without an owner, and minus one wheel.—Mr. James Frink and family spent Sunday at Switzerville.—Quite a number of our citizens have been confined to the house owing to a peculiar kind of cold that seems to be paying all a call.—Mr. Fred Perry has the foundation laid for his new cheese factory, and expects to start building next week.—Most of our young people are very busy just now as June is drawing near, and great changes are expected to take place during that month.

CAMDEN EAST.

May came in cold, with rain and snow. We are having a very backward spring for the farmers to till the land.—The Anglican Church held meetings last Wednesday and Thursday evenings, speaking on the Laymen's Missionary Congress, held in Toronto recently.—Mr. Venton, of Deseronto, and Mr. Dibb, of Napanee, handled the subject very creditably.—Mr. Williams held a mission service in the Methodist church last Sunday evening.—Mrs. Hamilton, who has been seriously ill, is improving slowly. Also Mr. Bicknell's little girl is able to sit up, after returning from Kingston hospital, last week.—Mr. B. Parrott has returned to Flinton to finish up his work in the saw mill.—A number of the Freemasons from Camden East attended the dedication of the Masonic lodge room and banquet at Newburgh, last Wednesday evening.—Mrs. Carter, who moved from Selby to this village recently, is seriously ill at time of writing. Also Mrs. Patterson is very ill with little hopes for her recovery.—Miss Florence Amey and Miss May Hamilton are learning the millinery trade with Miss Martin, our popular milliner.

CLOYNE.

The farmers have commenced to wear a long face as the spring is keeping so cold and backward. On Monday a heavy snow storm came, which made the roads almost impassable.—Mr. Hugh Bishop is moving from Cloyne, and will move on his farm again, where his brother has been living for the past two years. George Bishop will move in Edward Nolan's house, which he has bought. Mr. Willie Salmon spent a month with his parents and will return to Cobalt next week, accompanied by Mrs. Clifford as far as Liskeard, where she will visit her granddaughter, Mrs. Milton Irvine, for a few months.—Mr. H. Head is on the sick list.—Mr. W. Kenney is spending a few weeks with his brother, John, after spending the last year in the lower province.—Miss Stella Cuddy went to Toronto last week, where she will secure a position.—Mr. A. Levear, of Bath, has been visiting around here for some time.—Our school has not been opened since the Easter holidays, as the teacher, Miss Myers, has been very sick, but we hope she will soon be able to resume her duties again.—Mr. Tom. Delyea and Alice Benny were quietly married last week in Flinton.—Also Charles Spencer and Nancy Meeks at Harlowe, on Sunday.—A number of our young men have gone up to Peterboro' to work on the river.—Our cheese factory will open the first of next week. They expect to have a very large factory this year.—Mr. Card made a business trip through here last week.—Mr. G. Deline was back, buying deacon skins and eggs.—Mr. Rolin, Mamie Reid and Norman McMillan and son Donald, at T. Storey's, on Sunday.—Miss Blanche Cuddy with her aunt, Mrs. E. Wickwire.—Mrs. McBride returned to her home in Hanley, Sask., last week, where she will join her husband.—Mary E. Kennelly at her aunt's, Mrs. T. Hunt.—Miss Susan McGuinness, at Rev. Mr. Snider's, for a few days.—Mrs. John Cornell is on the sick list; also Mrs. John Roach.—A baby boy has come to stay at Elbert Wickware's.—Miss Hilda Wise is no better in health. She has been a great sufferer.

MARYSVILLE.

The weather still keeps cold and stormy. On Sunday last we had snow flurries. The farmers are wishing it would get warmer so they can get on the land again.—The bridges and culverts have been floating, owing to the heavy rains we have had the past week.—A few friends spent Sunday evening with Mr. B. McGinness, Woodbine Cottage.—We were all sorry to lose our old friend, Mr. A. Airhart, who passed away on Thursday, April 29th. He was taken with a very heavy cold. He was 71 years old. He was buried on Sunday, the service being conducted at the residence by Rev. Mr. Thompson, of Selby, after which the remains were taken to Vandebogart's cemetery.—A few sports from Lonsdale, accompanied by a few young men, from Marysville were in town on Sunday night.—Mr. J. C. Meagher is building a new piece of Sampson fence, which will make a big improvement to his farm.—Messrs. Frank and Orten German were in town on Sunday evening, attending service held in the Methodist church.—We are all in hopes of the recovery of Jimmie Burns, of Deseronto.

TO PREVENT CONSUMPTION.

Hard to cure; easy to prevent. Scott's Emulsion nourishes the body, keeps all the organs and tissues healthy, and the consumption germs can not get a foothold. 18b

EMPEY HILL.

The farmers in this vicinity have been delayed with their spring's work, on account of the inclemency of the weather.—There was no service held in this church last Sunday owing to quarterly service at Selby.—Mrs. David A. Martin returned home on Friday, after visiting friends in Deseronto.—Mr. Elias Stafford had the misfortune to lose a very valuable cow.—Miss Mabel English has returned home, after spending a week with friends at Barrett.—The home of Mr. and Mrs. Will. Gibson is brightened by a little boy.—Mr. Bruce Russell was renewing old acquaintances one day recently.—This community was again shocked to learn of the death of our esteemed young friend, Claude Sexsmith. His unexpected death has cast a gloom which is hard to realize. Claude was a faithful attendent of the church, and a willing worker, and a beautiful example of youthful piety. He was a general favorite, both with the old and young. His straightforward manner won him many friends, and his early demise will cause a vacancy which will not be easily filled. Much sympathy goes out to the grief-stricken parents and family.

Two men and a boy were killed by a live wire in Paris.

The postoffice and a number of stores at Elk Lake were burned on Saturday.

THE BEST FLOUR.
DAFOE'S NONESUCH.
DAFOE'S MANITOBA PATENT.

By numerous tests by the best bakers the above mentioned grades have been proven to be the best flours on the market.

When buying flour, ask for Dafoe's, and patronize your home mill, thereby receiving Bran and Shorts that you can purchase cheaper than the product of the Western mills, which has to be transported thousands of miles at great expense, and still when it reaches you is of inferior quality.

The grocer complains if the farmer or the mechanic sends to Toronto or to outside points for an article he can get at the home store just as good, but he does not hesitate to buy flour from mills hundreds of miles away, and sells you an inferior flour for more money than you can purchase the home product for, every bag of which is guaranteed.

Choice Cornmeal and Buckwheat Flour always on hand. Feed grinding a specialty with the best feed mills known to the trade.

A full stock of the best Anthracite Coal also in the market for the purchase of all kinds of grain.

Ask for prices at the Big Mill before purchasing your Flour, Feed or Coal.

DIED ON HIS WEDDING TRIP.

The sad intelligence was received yesterday that Mr. William Korst Johnston died suddenly on May 5th at Kandy, in the Island of Ceylon, while on his wedding trip around the world. Mr. Johnston was the guest for several weeks last summer of Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Herrington, and was favorably known to many people in Napanee. In November last he was married to Ena, the only daughter of Geo. J. Ham, of Mexico City, and a few days later the happy couple set out on a two years' trip around the world. They visited Japan, China, Siam, Hong Kong and India, and had proceeded as far as Kandy when they were overtaken by this great calamity, the full particulars of which have not yet arrived. Mr. Johnston was a young man with a most promising career before him. He was a graduate of Yale University, and had the enviable reputation of being the most popular man of his class. He subsequently took a two years' course in the Boston Law School, preparatory to his admission to the diplomatic service. He was only twenty-seven years of age and was of a most genial, yet modest, disposition. He belonged to one of the oldest and best families of Washington, and his sad death will bring sorrow to a very wide circle of intimate friends. We are quite sure that the sympathy of this community will go out to the grief-stricken widow, whose happiness has been brought to such a sudden and awful end, and to Mr. and Mrs. Ham in their bereavement.

Now is the time to use Liquid Veneer. Removes scratches on pianos, furniture. You can buy this at BOYLE & SON'S cheaper than any other place.

Take our word—you will enjoy it. "Our Boys", Wednesday night.

THE NUMBER.

Few people in Smoke Ridge had ever seen an automobile, so when one of these "red devils" stopped for a few minutes in the isolated village, the curious inhabitants gazed at the snorting demon with a mixture of fear and awe, and the owner, who had entered the one general store to make a purchase, heard one rustic remark:

"I'll bet it's a man-killer."

"Of course it is," assured the other.

"Look at that number on the back of the car. That shows how many people it's run over. That's accordin' to law. Now if that feller was to run over anybody here in Smoke Ridge, it would be our duty to telegraph that number—1284—to the next town ahead."

"And what would they do?" demanded the interested auditors.

"Why, the police would stop him and change his number to 1285."

DESERONTO.

Messrs. Jos. A. Gaulen, E. Houle and M. Palmer, of Kingston, spent Sunday in town.

Mr. R. Slaven, of McGill's, Montreal, is spending some time with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. Slavin, George st.

Some of our citizens are going to celebrate in Ottawa on the 24th of May.

Mrs. Cannon, Mill st., has been on the sick list for the past week.

The schooner Reid arrived on Saturday evening with 1045 tons slack coal for Marlbank Cement Works. This means that Engineer McNeill will have to look sharp for the next few days, as this is the first boat they have had to give the new hoist a test.

Steamer Alexandria did not arrive until 4 a.m. Sunday morning, arriving in Charlotte about 6 p.m. on Sunday evening. There were a number who had a long wait. Steamer Belleville also late; both had large cargoes of freight.

Walter Cole has entered in the 15-mile race, to be held in Hamilton, by the "Hamilton Spectator".

Mr. W. J. McMicking is again able to be around, making his usual visits.

The death occurred on Tuesday, 11th inst., at 6.15 p.m., at his residence, St. George st., of A. H. McGaughey, postmaster. The funeral was held on Thursday at 2.30 p.m. The family were all at home when the end came, Mrs. McGaughey, Misses Leah and Annie, and Mrs. W. J. Johnson, Mr. Geo. A. and Charles. The flags on the public buildings and all others that had poles were flying at half mast.

The schooner Echo is on the dry dock for some necessary repairs.

Several families are moving to Point Ann.

The barge Recruit, rebuilt by the Deseronto Navigation Co., some years ago, and for some time the steamer Resolute's consort, has been purchased by the Point Ann Quarries Co.

The barge Isabel Reid cleared on Tuesday for Cleveland.

The Deseronto Tennis Club held their organization meeting one evening last week.

The shipyard looks lonesome and deserted now. The steamers Brockville, Reindeer, Wherenow, Florence, and Ella L., and schooners Theo. Voges and Horace Taber have gone on their different ways "perhaps" to return again at the close of the season. The only thing that remains is the remains of the noble Armenia.

Mr. J. M. Hurley was in town this week.

James Burns leaves for the Manatoulin, where he has accepted a position as filer for a Company operating there.

The schooner Jamieson is loading lumber for Oswego.

Some relics of times, long since past, have been unearthed, in the house-cleaning of the Rathbun Co.'s old shanty storehouse.

On account of the time now being short until the final exams. in the High School, the management have decided to dispence with the weekly exams.

THE ORCHARD.

The following essay was written during the recent examinations by Lena Herrington:

We went there just in the spring, my love and I, from the restless, clamouring city, where the skies were ever dark with smoke, to that peaceful, quiet-breathing orchard, where God's bright sunshine poured down upon the budding world. The rows on rows of huge unsightly buildings, reaching ever upwards to the skies above them, were replaced by the crooked, old fruit trees, their branches covered thick with red brown buds, a few slashed with green, where the warm spring sunshine had coaxed some impatient leaf from its snug hiding place. We watched them, day by day, and grew to love them, those little leaves that pushed forth so gaily in the spring, making all the world bright and joyous like themselves, only to die when the cold hand of winter touched them freezing the life in their tiny veins. The soft, warm earth under our feet, was covered, layer on layer, with their brothers who had gone before them, who had burst forth in the spring, only to wither and die when the warm sun was gone. Here and there, a brave little grass-blade had pushed them aside and peeped forth in the sunshine. But braver and more beautiful than the leaves or the grass-blades, were the crocuses, tiny living goblets of amythest and topaz, offering us, from their brimming lips, a draught of golden sunshine. And the chaste and beautiful snow-drops—white wedding-bells, were swinging on their green ribbands, and ringing out to all the world their message of the spring, and the soft wind whispered it too, but the little brook that ran through our orchard shouted his song to the skies. And we mourned because we were not to be married then, with the snow-drop to ring our wedding chimes, and the crocus for our loving-cup. But the poet, and his never-dying song, came to comfort us, and we sang, with joyous hearts, that "The temple bells are ringing, the young green corn is springing, and the marriage month is drawing very near." But with us the bells of the temple were the snow-drops in our orchard.

So the days slipped by unheeded, and summer came, and with it the roses—and our wedding day. We were married there in the orchard with the blossom-laden trees for a canopy over our heads, and the blossom-strewn ground for a carpet beneath our feet. The gnarled old trunks, which formed the aisles of our church, were twined with roses, the knotted branches, which were the roof, were hidden beneath their gay mantles of pink and green. The rustic fence, that girdled our fairyland, separating it from the other world, was lost behind the martial ranks of the holly-hocks, which stood there, straight and stiff, proud in their new uniforms of green with profusion of silken rosettes. The birds and the bees were our choir, and although the snow-drops were gone long since, the lilies-of-the-valley rang forth our wedding chimes, and we drank to each other from the curved leaf of a bridal rose.

We stayed there, in our orchard, until the autumn, and then we went away. But not before the emerald of the leaves had given place to the autumn browns, and reds, and yellows; not before the dainty blossoms, of ivory and coral, had been replaced by the mellow fruit, apples, ruby-red, golden pears, and hidden behind the blood-stained leaves of the grape vine, its amythest fruit. The leaves waved us a farewell; the flowers nodded to us, the wind, as it hurried past, sighed a good-bye in our ears, and the little brook added his murmuring to this farewell of nature to ones who loved her. But we cried, "Au revoir."

And in the winter I returned. The ground was thick with snow, the skies cold and grey. The little brook had ceased to sing, frozen stiff in winter's icy grasp. The birds and the bees had flown, the once bright sunshine was dull, and lustreless. The leaves had all fallen, the flowers were dead and I,—I was alone.

Our races were a success. Our concert will be a success. Don't miss it. Napanee Canoe Club.

A fresh outbreak of Suffragettism in England in the same style of masculine rowdyism, bespeaks the real character of the movement, which like some that have preceded it in history, is in fact an insurrection against the natural limitations of the sex. One cannot imagine these ladies contentedly by the domestic hearth and playing the part of happy wives and mothers. It seems impossible that the agitation, its character having been so openly displayed, should meet with very general support. Nevertheless it will probably succeed, as other sectional movements have succeeded, by playing on the balance of party. Its support will be everywhere sold, without regard to general principles, to the party willing to buy, just as the Irish vote was sold, and with the same effect.

DEATH AT ERINSVILLE.

The sad death of Cornelius Lynch occurred at his home near Erinsville, on Monday, May 3d. He was born in Ireland sixty six years ago, but has lived in this locality about forty-five years. Mr. Lynch was in apparent good health until a month previous to his death when he received a serious injury from a fall. From that time he gradually declined but his illness was not thought serious until he was seized with cardiac asthma. All that medical aid and tender care could do was done, but to no avail. The funeral, which was largely attended, took place on Wednesday to the Church of the Assumption, and thence to the R. C. cemetery. Rev. Father Quinn, of Tweed, conducted the services in the absence of Rev. Father Carey. The deceased leaves to mourn his loss five children, Patrick, of Belleville; and Margaret, Estella, Nellie and James, at home. Besides his children, he leaves four sisters, Mrs. Bridget Doherty, and Mrs. Anna Lynch, of Belleville; Mrs. Ellen Doyle, of Stoco; Mrs. Thos. Keegan, of Erinsville, and one brother, Mr. John Lynch, of Erinsville. Much sympathy is extended to the family in their sad bereavement.

A Guarantee of Safety.

Most of the "soothing" syrups and powders advertised to cure the ills of babies and young children contain poisonous opiates, and an overdose may kill the child. Baby's Own Tablets are sold under the guarantee of a government analyst that they contain no opiate or harmful drug. They can be given with absolute safety to a new born child. They cure all those minor ailments originating in disordered stomach or bowels. Mrs. F. Young, River Hebert, N.S., says: "I have used Baby's Own Tablets for constipation and stomach trouble and when my baby was teething, and have found them the best medicine I know of for these troubles." Sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

A WEALTHY PARTY.

Settlers Coming on 'Empress of Britain' Represent Capital of $250,000.

London, May 7.—A party of 175 settlers, personally conducted by Mr. Jos. Clark, the Ontario Government's agent in Burnham, Somerset, through whose efforts the party was got together, sailed to-day on the 'Empress of Britain.' The party is probably the wealthiest that has ever left England for Canada. They represent a capital of a quarter of a million of dollars. The majority of the party will take up land, while the others will seek farm work and gain experience.

This is the first party for Ontario since the government established a London office under the able management of Mr. Calcock, the agent-general.

Prominent citizens of Burnham gave Mr. Clark a complimentary dinner prior to the departure of the party.

PLANS HIS OWN FUNERAL.

Wealthy Parisian Will Have a Most Gorgeous One.—Has Set Aside $40,000 for the Purpose—the Mausoleum Almost Completed and Coffin Already Made—A Magnificent Cortege.

Paul Chauchard, the wealthy Paris merchant, who is lying dangerously ill at his home, has signed a will in which he makes provision for the most magnificent spectacle in the way of a funeral that Paris has ever seen.

M. Chauchard long ago began a mausoleum in which he intends to sleep his last sleep. This sumptuous monument is completed except for a bust of the expected inhabitant, which is not yet in place. The coffin is made. It is a work of art of amaranthine colored wood wrought by artistic hands in cunning designs.

It only remains to put these gorgeous but gloomy receptacles to their use in the ceremony for which M. Chauchard has set apart 200,000 francs and has arranged to the nicest detail. After lying in state two days, during which the shop will be closed, the body will be placed in a magnificent car, preceded by 4,000 employees in habits of mourning and a guard of horsemen and borne to the Madeleine. The mourning coaches provided for the invited guests are all in the style of Louis XV., with clean-shaven coachmen and footmen in gala costume impressively trimmed in gold lace in a specially lavish design; and in knee breeches, wigs, and cocked hats.

Much attention has been given to the costumes of the pallbearers, which will present a most complete artistic mourning effect. The clergy of two parishes will join in giving adequate solemnity to the service, for which also an orchestra of eminent soloists of the opera has been retained. From the Madeleine the cortege will proceed to Pere la Chaise, the portals of which will be draped in black.

1826-1881.

"[illegible]"

Beneath this [illegible] stone [illegible] ing ruin.
Nature's immutable law, strong [illegible]
The former [illegible] that [illegible] truth.
But thy eternal, [illegible] soul
Shall soar infinity's remotest [illegible];
The secret of the universe is thine.
[illegible] of friends, forsaken of [illegible],
My soul in meditation [illegible]
[illegible] strong.
How often banged the dust [illegible]
How often [illegible] to [illegible] with thee.
For [illegible]
If in the spirit [illegible] return
To this [illegible] world of [illegible] men.
And [illegible]
And tell of [illegible]
Of how the soul triumphant [illegible]
Of all thy hopes, ideals bright and fair?
[illegible] vain my dream! [illegible]
[illegible]
Thou hast in [illegible]
Oblivious of me and all the [illegible],
Obliterated from the minds of men,
What carest thou for all [illegible]
I knew thee not. [illegible]
Thou won'st not be, till death's [illegible] ing hand
Transforms [illegible]
What [illegible] of contemplation [illegible]
Of the earthly form, [illegible] and grave,
Of thy character and inmost aspirations
Oft have I marvelled. And yet I knew
That thou [illegible] wast.
Whose mind a noble thought [illegible] tered,
Whose soul was [illegible] uplifted from the [illegible] vial,
Or felt Aesthetician's [illegible].

But [illegible] lifeless [illegible]
The cycle of a century revolves.
And still the infinite future rolls her [illegible]
As if to hide in darker gloom the past.
Another sun will rise, while spring returns,
Nature throws off her mourning robes at length,
And dons the garb of life [illegible];
But for thyself [illegible] she brings no change;
Still in cold earth the smouldering [illegible]
[illegible]
The pristine home of that pure soul and mind
In sombre mould and dust has grimly fallen
O treasured [illegible] of high intelligence!
Ambrosial shrine of pure and [illegible] thoughts!
Thou art abandoned now, fore'er deserted
Regeneration's breath comes not to thee.
The chainless psyche's gone forever away
To wander in illimitable ether
A broader scope, a vast ethereal [illegible]
The realms of thought unconquered yet by man.
And now from yonder rim grandly serene,
The radiant and eternal Queen of Night
Sublime with her calm holy light arises,
With majesty celestial clothes this scene
Then sinks beneath the clouds, her glory shown.
The worldly melts away, subdued in shame,
I drink a draught of immortality;
My thoughts pursue the spirit far away,
The psychic force once lord of thee, O Dust,
The very soul, the mind, Calvin himself,
Straightway dark Melancholy shakes her wings
And leaves me drunken with ecstatic joy;
Life's mighty lesson learned—that nothing dies
But lives part of the Universal mind.

WITH NATURE.

Written for The Beaver.

Out in God's grand world
With nature, never alone,
The springtime flowers with fragrance fair,
Wafting away on the balmy air;
On wing from above the wild bird sings,
And each wild flung note, echo repeat,
In the deep deep forest below.

Down where the rivulet trails,
The depth of the flowered vale,
By mossy bank there the willow bend,
Its branches upon the shinning stream,
As though 'twere nature's immortal bard
Dipping his mighty pen.

Out in the glorious world,
Out in the bless'd sunshine,
With birds and flowers, let sorrow decay,
Romp through the fair green fields and play;
All is God's. His wonderful art
Sinless, spotless; and we may search
And see the beauty of all that's true,
And be one of her boundless heart
—Vandewar.

"You never show your age!" She blushed prettily.

"Well, I'm sure," she said, "it's kind of you to say so."

"Yes," resumed the older woman, closing the family Bible, "it's been scratched out some time, hasn't it?"

MANY INVENTIONS HELP THE HOUSEKEEPER.

"Spring" and "Housecleaning" mean much the same to the Housewife, and it is difficult for her to think of one without the other looming large. It is an annual or semi-annual visitation that involves inconvenience and discomforts that make it a period to be anticipated with fear and trembling by the male portion of the household at least, notwithstanding that but a small portion of the work actually falls to their share. Housecleaning time is also welcomed by the funny paper joke-makers, who, through years and years of practice, have become adepts in dressing the two or three existing housecleaning jokes up in new raiment to make quite a presentable appearance.

These remarks are intended to bear directly if briefly on the changed and improved method of housekeeping in some directions in the average household of to-day. Housecleaning has changed in two ways since the time of our father's father; it has become easier to accomplish, and more productive of results. The housewife has many inventions and appliances that simplify the work which once was done by elbow grease and that alone. Progress and ingenuity have solved some disagreeable questions for her in the last decade or two.

Unquestionably, the most distasteful part of housecleaning is the taking up of carpets with their multitudinous tacks, beating and relaying them. Nevertheless, sanitation requires that it be done. Nowadays, the tendency is for painted or varnished floors covered with rugs and mats, and their use is continually growing. It is a simple matter to take up rugs from the floor and clean them. Not only are "finished" floors more sanitary but decidedly better looking for even the most ordinary wood floor can be transformed at a small expense into one having the appearance of costly hard wood by the application of one or two coats of varnish stain which are now made in imitation Cherry, Oak, Mahogany, Walnut and so on and are so durable that they will successfully withstand a great deal of wear and tear occasioned by the constant walking and the moving of furniture over them.

Wall papering is being largely supplanted by wall paints and finishes in beautiful colors and shades that will stand scrubbing with soap and water and come out of the operation bright and fresh as the day they were put on. This avoids "messy" papering operations. Woodwork such as wainscoting and cupboards, given one coat of paint, specially prepared for the surface, which will dry over night, enables the housewife to keep the kitchen and pantries fairly shining with cleanliness. "Last year's" fly screens after receiving a coat of enamel are as good as new again. Furniture, too, both in the kitchen and in the other rooms of the house need not remain shabby long. The process of cleaning it with polish, or refinishing it with paint or varnish is so simple, and the furniture so improved in appearance thereby, that most housewives include a course of refinishing furniture in their Spring housecleaning operations. This applies not only to drawing and dining room chairs, but to the rough kitchen and laundry chairs and to those wicker and cane ones that spend a good deal of their time on the verandah or lawn and not only to the tables, bookcases and lounges of more or less expensive woods, but to the home made things of rough lumber, and so on throughout the entire house. Whereas painting about the house was once a considerable undertaking now it is a matter of very little expense and a small inconvenience. As one thrifty dame was heard to remark "The use of paints and varnishes at housecleaning time has become almost a mania with me; actually I look forward to housecleaning just because it gives me an excuse to fuss with paint."

These remarks, of course, do not begin to outline the improvements and changes that have come about in the housekeeping. They are simply intended as straws to show which way the wind is blowing. For instance, there is electric light and gas where there once were lamps to clean. There are the improvements in plumbing and heating arrangements, the telephone and the gas stove, and so on, until a book almost could be written on improvements along these lines.

She who has charge of the "home" has a high mission, and inventions that go to make her work less laborious and productive of greater results, are as momentous as discoveries in any other branch of modern life. It can no longer truthfully be said that invention in things that pertain to domestic life is lagging behind in the march of progress.

The general weakness of the Pope is causing anxiety at the Vatican.

In a speech at Liverpool Lord Charles Beresford lectured the British people upon their excitability.

DEATH OF DAVID BLAIN.

Pioneer Citizen of Toronto Passes Away.—Formerly Prominent Lawyer of This City and Supporter of Alexander Mackenzie in House of Commons—Funeral Was Private.

The Globe, Toronto, May 7th, 1909.

David Blain, LL.D., one of Toronto's pioneer citizens, died yesterday morning at the residence of his brother, Mr. Hugh Blain, "Blanayr" Deer Park. Dr. Blain had been ailing for about a year, but had been able to be around until a few days ago, when he was taken suddenly ill.

Dr. Blain was born in the town of Ayr, Scotland, in 1832, and came to Toronto with his parents when ten years old. He took his college course at the University of Toronto, chose the legal profession, and was one of the first who received the degree of LL.D. from the Provincial University.

He practised law in this city for several years, and was senior member of the firm of Blain, Ferguson & Parkinson, one of the then most prominent firms in Toronto. His work in connection with the law was chiefly in chancery, and his partner was afterwards made Judge Ferguson. During his active business life in Toronto Dr. Blain was connected with a number of financial institutions, including the Ontario Loan Company, of which he was President. He was also one of the prime movers in the organization of the Toronto Electric Light Company.

Deceased retired from the practice of the law on account of ill health. He afterwards, for a time, devoted himself to political life and sat as member for West York in the Dominion House, a supporter of the Hon. Alex. Mackenzie, from 1873 to 1878. Although a Liberal in politics he believed in protection, and, indeed, was the mover of the first resolution in that direction in the House of Commons. Dr. Blain formed a warm friendship with Hon. George Brown, and also with Hon. Alexander Mackenzie. In 1875 he was defeated at the polls by the late Hon. N. Clarke Wallace, since when he had lived chiefly abroad on account of his health and had circled the globe. Dr. Blain had been at home for about a year before his death.

He married in 1869 Miss Eliza H. Harrington, whose brother was one of Toronto's leading wholesale merchants, and who predeceased him by about eighteen years. He leaves no children. Messrs. Hugh and James W. Blain, both of this city, are brothers. The funeral was private.

Mr. Hugh Blain is a brother in law of Mr. J. S. Ham, Napanee.

KIDNAPPERS SENTENCED.

Boyl Given Life Imprisonment—His Wife 25 Years—Both Prisoners Collapsed When Sentence Was Imposed—The Woman Attempts Suicide With Morphine—Boyle Gives Out a Statement.

Mercer, Pa., May 10.—James Boyle was sentenced to-day to life imprisonment in the Western Penitentiary at Pittsburg for the kidnapping of "Billy" Whitla. Mrs. Boyle, indicted as Mary Doe, received a sentence of 25 years, with a fine of $5,000 and the costs of the prosecution. Boyle did not utter a word prior to his sentence. His counsel, however, made a plea for both Boyle and his wife, pleading for leniency in both cases. He stated that until a recent period the extreme penalty for kidnapping in this State was ten years, and in view of the fact that the boy had been treated with every consideration, and that all care had been taken not to inflict unnecessary mental anguish upon the parents, he felt leniency might be asked for with propriety.

Both Boyle and his wife collapsed completely upon hearing their sentences pronounced.

Boyle gave out a statement to-day in which he says that Mr. Harry Forker, of Sharon, Pa., suggested the kidnapping to him. He further connects Forker with the alleged murder in Youngstown, Ohio, several years ago, of Dan Reeble, and says Forker paid him money regularly for several years to keep silent regarding this murder.

That the threats of a double suicide, made by Mrs. Boyle last night were not mere idle words was shown to-day, when it became known that a razor which had been secreted in his clothing was taken from Boyle today, and that Mrs. Boyle had taken what she says was "enough morphine to kill two people." The morphine was taken between midnight and day light. She was rendered partly unconscious during the night and was very sick this morning. It is believed that it was the effect of the morphine which caused her to collapse in the court room.

WHAT every cook should know is, which wheat makes the best flour, and why.

Winter wheat is put into the ground in the fall, but does not ripen until the following July. It matures slowly, is soft and very starchy.

Spring wheat is sown in April or May, and ripens in August. It's a flinty, translucent wheat, rich in gluten and contains nearly twice as much nutriment as winter wheat.

Royal Household Flour

is made entirely from the hard, nutritious spring wheat, carefully selected from all the wheat of this kind grown in Canada.

Royal Household is fine, light and pure—milled by the most improved methods—in a mill as clean as your own kitchen.

CHAPTER II.

DOES there exist an incredulous or jealous denizen of another portion of our country who, knowing that the room in the wooden cupola over Mr. Carewe's library was commonly alluded to by Rouen as the "tower chamber," will prove himself so sectionally prejudiced as to deny that the town was a veritable hotbed of literary interest or that Sir Walter Scott was ill appreciated there? Some of the men looked sly and others grinned at mention of this apartment, but the romantic were not lacking who spoke of it in whispers—how the lights sometimes shone there all night long and the gentlemen drove away, white faced, in the dawn. The cupola, rising above the library, overlooked the garden, and the house, save for that, was of a single story, with a low veranda running the length of its front. The windows of the library and of a row of bedrooms, one of which was Miss Betty's, lined the veranda steamboat fashion, the inner doors of these rooms all opening upon a long hall which bisected the house. The stairway leading to the room in the cupola rose in the library itself, while the bisecting hall afforded the only access to the library; hence the gossips, well acquainted with the geography of the place, conferred seriously together upon what effect Miss Betty's home coming would have in this connection, for any one going to the stairway must needs pass her door, and, what was more to the point, a party of gentlemen descending late from the mysterious turret might not be so quiet as they intended and the young lady sufficiently disturbed to inquire of her father what entertainment he provided that should keep his guests until 4 in the morning.

But at present it was with the opposite end of the house that the town was occupied, for there workmen were hammering and sawing and painting all day long, finishing the addition Mr. Carewe was building for his daughter's debut. This hammering disturbed Miss Betty, who had become almost as busy with the French revolution as with her mantua maker, for she had found in her father's library many books not for convent shelves, and she had become a Girondin.

She found memoirs, histories and tales of that delectable period, and for a week there was no meal in that house to which she sat down earlier than half an hour late. She had a rightful property interest in the revolution, her own great-uncle having been one of those who suffered, not, however, under the guillotine, for to Georges Meilhac appertained the rare distinction of death by accident on the day when the businesslike young Bonaparte played upon the mob with his cannon.

There were some yellow letters of this great-uncle's in a box which had belonged to her grandmother, a rich discovery for Miss Betty, who read and reread them with eager and excited eyes, living more in Paris with Georges and his friends than in Rouen with her father. Indeed, she had little else to do. Mr. Carewe was no comrade for her, by far the reverse. She seldom saw him, except at the table, when he sat with averted eyes and talked to her very little, and, while making elaborate preparation for her introduction to his friends (such was his phrase), he treated her with a perfunctory civility which made her wonder if her advent was altogether welcome to him, but when she noticed that his hair looked darker than usual about every fourth day she began to understand why he appeared ungrateful to her for growing up. He went out a great deal, though no visitors came to the house, for it was known that Mr. Carewe desired to present his daughter to no one until he presented her to all. Fanchon Bareaud, indeed, made one hurried and embarrassed call, evading Miss Betty's reference to the chevalier of the kitten with a dexterity too nimble to be thought unintentional. Miss Carewe was forbidden to return her friend's visit until after her debut, and Mr. Carewe explained that there were always some worthless young men hanging about Bareaud's, where, he did not add, they interfered with a worthy old one who desired to honor Fanchon's older sister, Virginia, with his attentions.

This was no great hardship for Miss Betty, as, since plunging into the revolution with her great-uncle, she had lost some curiosity concerning the men of today, doubting that they would show forth as heroic, as debonair, gay and tragic as he. He was the legendary hero of her childhood. She remembered her mother's stories of him perhaps more clearly than she remembered her mother, and one of the older sisters had known him in Paris and had talked of him at great length, giving the flavor of his dandyism and his beauty at first hand to his young relative.

In the library hung a small full length drawing of Georges, done in color by Miss Betty's grandmother, and this she carried to her own room and studied long and ardently until sometimes the man himself seemed to stand before her.

Miss Betty had an impression that her grandmother's art of portraiture would have been more sucessful with the profile than the "full face." Nevertheless, nothing could be more clearly indicated than that the hair of M. Meilhac was very yellow and his short, huge lapeled waistcoat white, striped with scarlet. An enormous cravat covered his chin; the heavy collar of his yellow coat rose behind his ears, while its tails fell to his ankles, and the tight trousers of white and yellow stripes were tied with white ribbons about the middle of the calf. He wore white stockings and gold buckled yellow shoes and on the back of his head a jauntily cocked black hat. Miss Betty innocently wondered why his letters did not speak of Petion, of Vergniaud or of Dumoriez, since in the historical novels which she read the hero's lot was inevitably linked with that of every one of importance in his generation. Yet Georges appeared to have been unacquainted with these personages, Robespierre being the only name of consequence mentioned in his letters, and then it appeared in much the same fashion practiced by her father in alluding to the governor of the state, who had the misfortune to be unpopular with Mr. Carewe. But this did not dim her great-uncle's luster in Miss Betty's eyes or lessen for her the pathetic romance of the smile he wore.

Beholding this smile, one remembered the end to which his light footsteps had led him, and it was unavoidable to picture him left lying in the empty street behind the heels of the flying crowd, carefully forming that same smile on his lips and taking much pride in passing with some small, cynical speech, murmured to himself, concerning the inutility of a gentleman's getting shot by his friends for merely being present to appland them. So, fancying him thus with his yellow hair, his scarlet striped waistcoat and his tragedy, the young girl felt a share of family greatness or at least of picturesqueness descend to her, and she smiled sadly back upon the smile in the picture and dreamed about its original night after night.

Whether or no another figure, that of a dark young man in a white hat, with a white kitten etching his wrist in red, found place in her dreams at this period it is impossible to determine. She did not see him again. It is quite another thing, hazardous to venture, to state that he did not see her. At all events, it is certain that many people who had never beheld her were talking of her; that Rouen was full of contention concerning her beauty and her gift of music, for a song can be heard through an open window. And how did it happen that Crailey Gray knew that it was Miss Carewe's habit to stroll in her garden for half an hour or so each evening before retiring and that she went to mass every morning soon after sunrise? Crailey Gray never rose at or near sunrise in his life, though he sometimes beheld it from another point of view, as the end of the evening. It appears that some one must have told him.

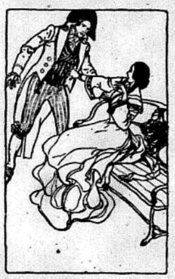
One night when the moon lay white on the trees and housetops Miss Betty paused in her evening promenade and seated herself upon a bench on the borders of the garden, wrought upon by the tender incentive to sighs and melancholy which youth in loneliness finds in a loveliness of the earth, for what reason she could not have told, since she was without care or sorrow that she knew except the French revolution, yet tears shone upon the long lashes. She shook them off and looked up with a sudden odd consciousness. The next second she sprang to her feet with a gasp and a choked outcry, her hands pressed to her breast.

Ten paces in front of her a gap in the shrubbery where tall trees rose left a small radiant area of illumination like that of a limelight in a theater, its brilliancy intensified by the dark foliage behind. It was open to view only from the bench by which she stood, and appeared, indeed, like the stage of a little theater, a stage occupied by a bizarre figure. For, in the center of this shining patch, with the light strong on his face, was standing a fair haired young man dressed in a yellow coat, a scarlet and white striped waistcoat, wearing a jauntily cocked black hat on his head. And even to the last detail, the ribbon laces above the ankle and the gold buckled shoes, he was the sketch of Georges Meilhac sprung into life.

About this slender figure there hung a wan sweetness like a fine mist, almost an ethereality in that light; yet in the pale face lurked something reckless, something of the actor, too; and, though his smile was gentle and wistful, there was a twinkle behind it not seen at first, something amused and impish; a small surprise underneath, like a flea in a rose jar.

Fixed to the spot by this apparition, Miss Betty stood wildly staring, her straining eyelids showing the white above and below the large brown iris. Her breath came faster and deeper until between her parted lips it became vocal in a quick sound like a sob. At that he spoke.

"Forgive me!" The voice was low, vibrant and so exceedingly musical that he might have been accused of coolly selecting his best tone; and it became only sweeter when, even more softly, in a semiwhisper of almost crucial pleading, he said, "Ah, don't go away!"



"Don't come near!" she gasped.

In truth she could not go. She had been too vitally stirred. She began to tremble excessively and sank back upon the bench, motioning him away with vague gestures of her shaking hands.

This was more than the incroyable had counted upon and far from his desires. He started forward, with an exclamation.

"Don't come near!" she gasped. "Who are you? Go away!"

"Give me one second to explain," he began, but with the instant reassurance of this beginning she cut him off short, her fears dispelled by his commonplace. Nay, indignation displaced them so quickly that she fairly flashed up before him to her full height.

"You did not come in by the gate!" she cried. "What do you mean by coming here in that dress? What right have you in my garden?"

"Just one word," he begged quickly, but very gently. "You'd allow a street beggar that much!"

She stood before him panting and, as he thought, glorious in her flush of youth and anger. Tom Vanrevel had painted her incoherently, but richly in spite of that, his whole heart being in the portrait, and Crailey Gray had smiled at what he deemed the exaggeration of an ordinarily unimpressionable man who had fallen in love "at first sight," yet in the presence of the reality the incroyable decided that Tom's colors had been gray and humble.

"If you have anything to say for yourself, say it quickly!" said Miss Betty.

"You were singing a while ago," he answered somewhat huskily, "and I stopped on the street to listen; then I came here to be nearer. The spell of your voice"— He broke off abruptly to change the word. "The spell of the song came over me—it is my dearest favorite—so that I stood afterward in a sort of trance, only hearing again in the silence 'The stolen heart, like the gathered rose, will bloom but for a day!' I did not see you until you came to the bench. You must believe me. I would not have frightened you for anything in the world."

"Why are you wearing that dress?"

He laughed and pointed to where, behind him on the ground, lay a long gray cloak, upon which had been tossed a white mask. "I'm on my way to the masquerade," he answered, with an airy gesture. "I'm an incroyable, you see, and I had the costume made from my recollection of a sketch of your great-uncle. I saw it a long time ago in your library."

Miss Carewe's accustomed poise was quite recovered—indeed, she was astonished to discover a distinct trace of disappointment that the brilliant apparition must offer so tame an explanation. What he said was palpably the truth. There was a masquerade that night, she knew, at the Madrillons', a little way up Carewe street, and her father had gone an hour earlier, a blue domino over his arm.

The incroyable was a person of almost magical perceptiveness. He felt the let-down immediately and feared a failure. This would not do. The attitude of tension between them must be renewed at once. "You'll forgive me?" he began in a quickly impassioned tone. "It was only after you sang a dream possessed me, and"—

"I cannot stay to talk with you," Miss Betty interrupted and added with a straightforwardness which made him afraid she would prove lamentably direct, "I do not know you."

She turned toward the house, whereupon he gave a little pathetic exclamation of pleading in a voice that was masterly, being as sincere as it was

FOR SICK CHILDREN

Mrs. Rose Hawthorne Lathrop, Who Has Done So Much Good Among Sick Children of New York, Recommends Vinol.

"In my work among the destitute sick I gave Vinol in many cases where it would be impossible to give cod liver oil in any other form, on account of the extreme weakness of the patient's stomach. I have known Vinol to restore appetite and infuse new life in many cases of sick women and children when everything else failed. Little children seem to delight in taking Vinol."

The reason Vinol is so far superior to old-fashioned cod liver oil and emulsions is because it contains all the medicinal, body building elements of cod liver oil actually taken from fresh cods' livers with the disagreeable oil eliminated and tonic iron added.

As a body builder and strength creator for old people, weak women, delicate children, after sickness and for all pulmonary troubles, Vinol is recommended by over 5,000 of the leading druggists of the United States. Your money will be returned on demand if Vinol fails to benefit.

Dillon made a business trip through this vicinity on Saturday.—Spearing suckers is the order of the day. Maggie Furlong is spending a few days with her friend, Lena Dowling.—A number from here attended the progressive euchre party on Wednesday night, in Chippewa, and all report an excellent time.—Mr. P. J. Dowling left on Tuesday for Amhie Harbor, where he intends to spend the summer months.—Miss E. H. Herrington spent Sunday afternoon the guest of Katie McMullen.

CONVINCING.

"You ought to marry. I know the girl."
"Want nothing to do with her."
"She is young."
"Then she is sly."
"Beautiful."
"The more dangerous."
"Of good family."
"Then she is proud."
"Tender hearted."
"Then she is jealous."
"She has talent."
"Then she is conceited."
"And a fortune."
"Introduce me at once."

ODD, INDEED.

A woman who visited the British Museum recently inquired of an attendant: "Have you no skull of Cromwell? I have been looking all around for a skull of Oliver Cromwell."

"No, madam," replied the attendant. "We've never had one."

"How very odd!" she exclaimed; "they have a fine one in the museum at Oxford!"

NEWS NOTES.

Luck is ever waiting for something to turn up, labor with keen eyes and strong will, will turn up something. Luck lies in bed and wishes the postman would bring him the news of a legacy; labor turns out at six o'clock and with busy pen or ringing hammer lays the foundation of a competence. Luck whines; labor whistles. Luck relies on chance, labor on character.—Cobden.

The wideawake fellow finds plenty of novelty around a store. In dull times he will make a double hustle for trade. In busy times he will keep on the jump to perfectly serve the trade that comes. He will welcome every interval between sales, because it gives him an opportunity to improve the arrangement of the stock. He will school himself to order and cheerfulness.—H. S. Collins.

Spring Suits For Men

Here's one of our favorite new models in our "Ready-to-wear" Suits. There's genuine style in every stitch. Just note the full chested effect of the Coat — the snug close-fitting collar — with slightly rolled liberal lapels — the natty clean cut hang of the trousers. It's a very popular spring suit style and the correct thing in young men's suits. The new shades for spring are greys, olive mixtures and browns, in a variety of patterns.

These suits were drafted, cut and tailored by the best clothing houses in Canada, and still are moderately priced at $10.00. We are showing some very neat patterns in grey and brown tweed, with the long front effect, with cuffs and fancy flaps, perfectly made and well trimmed. Of course we have lots of other suits in fancy pattern worsteds at $12.00, $14.00 and $15.00.

For the past two seasons it has been almost impossible to sell a good well made serge suit at $10.00. This spring we secured some extra values at this popular price. We have others ranging from $12.00 to $16.00.

Remember that it's always safe to buy here, for our permanent guarantee that goes without the saying is—"money back if you want it."

DAYS OF DIZZINESS

COME TO MANY NAPANEE PEOPLE.

There are days of dizziness, spells of drowsiness, headache, sideache, backache.

Sometimes rheumatic pain after urinary trouble.

You are plainly told that the Kidneys are sick.

Booth's Kidney Pills cure all Kidney ills.

Mrs. Benjamin Johnson, of Robert St., Napanee, Ont., says:

"Headaches were frequent and usually accompanied by spells of dizziness and spots before the eyes. I would be scarcely able to walk across the floor at times and would have to support myself to keep from falling. My back was weak and a dull, bearing down pain settled across the small of it, and in the region of the kidneys. I would be more tired and done out on waking than on going to bed as I was restless and would get but little sleep. Booth's Kidney Pills were recommended and procuring a box at Mr. Wallace's Pharmacy I commenced treatment. I soon found relief and it was but a short time until I was well and strong again and I have felt better in every way."

HE GOT HIS.

"Got any work this mornin', Mistah Boyd?" asked Billy Bulger, safe in the knowledge that no work would be entrusted to him.

"No," was the response; and then, before Billy could ask for the customary contribution, "but wait a minute. Lawyer Phillips has owed me $20 for 20 years. Collect it and I'll give you half." The merchant, knowing how bad was the debt, winked at a waiting customer.

The old man found the lawyer in the middle of a group of prospective clients and influential citizens. Thrusting through the group he called, in stentorian tones:

"Mistah Phillips, suh!"

"Well?" queried the lawyer, much annoyed.

"Mistah Boyd done tell me that you've owed him $20 for about a hundred years, and kin you pay him, suh?"

The lawyer hurried to Billy's side.

"You idiot," he said sotto voce, "do you want to ruin my business? Here!" and he thrust a $10 bill into the old man's hand.

Back to the old merchant toddled the old man.

"Well, Billy," said the merchant, "did you get it?"

The old man grinned.

"I got my half, all right," he chuckled; "but you'd better look out when you go back to get your half—he's right smart hot over it, suh!"

OBITUARY.

Mary Gertrude McNeill, beloved wife of Mr. John Arlington Grange, Selby, passed peacefully away on Sunday afternoon last, at the early age of twenty-four years and three months. Deceased had been ailing for some time, but the sudden and unexpected call was a great shock to her friends and relatives. She had only been married about a year and a half, and besides her sorrowing husband, she leaves an infant child to mourn her early demise. She was the only child of the late Neilly McNeill, and Mrs. William Penny, Hinch. The service was conducted by her pastor, Rev. Dr. Purdy, at the English church, Selby, and was very impressive. A large number of beautiful wreaths were donated by friends and acquaintances. The funeral took place on Tuesday afternoon last, and was attended by a large concourse of people from near and far, showing the high esteem in which deceased was held. The pall bearers were E. B. Wilson, E. Hinch, N. Cobourn, S. Lewis, R. Lucas and A. McKnight.

"AN ENGLISHMAN'S HOME."

No play in recent years has caused more talk than Major Guy du Maurier's drama 'An Englishman's Home' which has been almost the sole topic of conversation in London for the last three months, in fact ever since the night of its first production in that city. The management of the Grand Opera House, Kingston, have completed arrangements with Charles Frohman, whereby the same company which played this remarkable piece for eight weeks at the Criterion Theatre in New York, and which has just concluded record breaking weeks in Toronto and Montreal will be seen in Kingston, on Monday, May 17th, prior to its departure for Chicago, where the remarkable play is to be put on for a long run. No announcement made by Manager Branigan this season has so much importance to local theatre goers as this. It is the first time in several years that Charles Frohman, who is unquestionably the most important and best theatrical producer in America if not in the world to-day, has sent one of his companies to this city. The organization is almost entirely English in its make up, and the production of the play is an exact duplication of the English one.

SCHOOL BOARD.

At a meeting of the School Board on Monday evening, May 10th, 1909, the resignation of Miss Walsh was received and accepted. The Secretary was instructed to send a letter of sympathy to Miss Walsh, of which the following is a copy:

Napanee, May 12th, 1909.

Miss J. F. Walsh,
Napanee, Ont.

Dear Miss Walsh,—Your resignation of recent date has been received and accepted, to take effect at midsummer.

The members of the Board of Education desire to express to you their deepest sympathy in the affliction which has caused you to sever your relations with them. Your service has been a long and faithful one and they realize that yours has been an influence far reaching and helpful. All classes and creeds agree in this.

You have always been regarded by the Board as a loyal teacher who stood for the best interests of education during your long term in West Ward School.

The members feel how little they can say or do to convey to you their appreciation of your services and their regret on knowing that such services are ended.

Kindly accept this letter as the unanimous expression of their feelings.

Signed on behalf of the Board.

W. F. HALL,
Secretary-Treasurer.

We always notice whenever a house is painted nicely, with good style and pleasing color, it has been done with Ramsay's Paints. Anybody can see these fine colors at the store of T. B. Wallace.

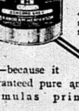
ENGLISH LIQUID PAINT

5 Good Reasons why you should use it



1—because it is made of 70% White Lead and 30% Zinc White—the ideal proportion.

2—because the only white lead used in it is Brandram's B. B. Genuine White Lead.

3—because it is the result of 31 years experience in mixing paints for the Canadian people.

4—because it is finer, more uniform, covers more surface, lasts longer and holds its colors longer, than any other—more economical to use.

5—because it is guaranteed pure and the formulas printed on every can.

MARK TWAIN'S DISCOUNT.

"Seventy-three is no joke," said Mark Twain on his 73d birthday. "You can't discount 73 the way you could discount books in book stores 30 or 40 years ago. In a book store back in the '80s, I saw a fat historical work one day.

"How much is this?" said I.

"Three fifty," said the clerk.

"And what discount does a publisher get?"

"Forty per cent. is the usual publishers discount, sir," the clerk replied, and he figured it out on a little pocket pad.

"I am an author as well as a publisher," I went on. "Do authors get a discount, too?"

"Certainly, sir. Forty per cent., the same as publishers." He did a little more figuring.

"Do you allow anything to preachers?"

"Twenty per cent.," said the clerk.

"Well, I am an itinerant Methodist preacher," I said.

"Very good," said the clerk gravely, and he put that down, too.

"Furthermore," I went on, "I am a member of the human race. Don't I get 10 per cent. for that?"

"The clerk nodded and put it down, and I tucked the book under my arm and started for the door.

"I have no money with me today," I said. "You know my address. Send round the bill in the morning."

"Bill?" said the clerk, as he finished his figuring. "Why, 55 cents are due you, sir."

All clergymen and teachers resident of the County.

The annual report of the President was then read.

Ladies and Gentlemen, Our Society is two years old to-night, and it is a great pleasure to know that we have been able to make a good start in the work of establishing a permanent organization during these two years. Since our last annual, we have held seven open meetings and have listened to the following papers and lectures:

Oct. 30th: "The Making of the Empire," by Prof. C. F. Lavell.

Nov. 27th: "Sir Walter Raleigh," by Prof. J. L. Morison.

Dec. 28th: "Ottawa, its Parliament and some of the Customs and Habits," by F. W. Grange.

Dec. 2[illegible]: "The Heroines of Canadian History," by W. S. Herrington, K.C.

Jan. [illegible]: "Some [illegible] Present [illegible]," by Prof. Alexander Laird.

Feb. 12th: "London at the [illegible] Century," by Prof. J. L. Morison.

Mar. 26th: "England in the days of King Alfred," by Prof. L. E. Horning, and [illegible]. The [illegible] by Prof. A. P. Coleman.

I am sure we are all very grateful to these gentlemen who have so kindly given time and taken the trouble to entertain us in such an excellent manner.

Some of [illegible] local papers [illegible] for this year. It is accounted for by the fact that it is extremely difficult to get local papers [illegible] when they are needed. However, there are several very interesting local papers in preparation, and we hope that most of them will be ready for our meetings next fall.

It is needless for me to tell you how proud I am of the collection which we have begun. During the year we have had donations from 31 different people, and there are several more who have promised their collections. Over two hundred separate articles have been presented this year. I would call special attention to the signed photographs which we have secured. The collection includes His Excellency Earl Grey, Governor General; Hon. J. M. Gibson, Lt. Gov. of Ontario; Sir Wilfrid Laurier, Hon. R. L. Borden, Hon. J. P. Whitney, Goldwin Smith, Esq., Sir Richard Cartwright and Sir Gilbert Parker.

In almost every case in addition to the signature on the photographs we have received autograph letters from those who have given the photographs.

From our Treasurer's Report, you will see that we are not overburdened with cash. However, we have one hundred dollars coming from the Provincial Government, and that will put us in pretty good shape. In securing this grant, we are indebted to our local member, T. G. Carscallen, Esq., for his aid. This grant was secured on our promise to use at least a fair portion of it in publishing some of our material, and your Committee has under consideration the publication of a volume of our Records and Papers as soon as possible.

We have received several articles which we hope to put on exhibition as soon as a suitable case can be built. This work should be completed before our first meeting next fall.

I wish to again thank you for the honor conferred when you elected me as President for the second term. The work has been very congenial, and if I have been able in any way to add to your pleasure by the work done in collecting material and providing programmes for our meetings, I am very thankful.

The annual election followed, with the following result:

Honorary Presidents—James Daly, Esq., Walter S. Herrington, K.C.

President—Clarance M. Warner.

Vice-President—Mrs. Alexander W. Grange.

Secretary-Treasurer — Ulysses J. Flach, Esq.

Committee—Mrs. H. T. Forward, Rev. A. Macdonald, Urish Wilson, M.P., George S. Hawley, Esq., Fred. Burrows, Esq.

After the business meeting a letter of regret was read from Mr. Barlow Cumberland, President of the Ontario Historical Society. Mr. Cumberland was unable to attend the meeting. He was very complimentary in his remarks about the work which the Society has done.

Mr. Fred. Burrows was introduced and read an original poem dedicated to that beautiful mountain outside of the City of Vancouver, B.C.

TO THE MOUNT OF LIONS, VANCOUVER.

We see thee when the wintry clouds uplift
With thy grim lions in the snowy drift,
Where oft they felt the angry tempest blast,
That swept thy ramparts o'er for ages past.
To these stout sentinels a new behest
To watch the banner City of the West,
Which stands where late a wilderness hath been,
And only Redmen's camp relieved the scene.
We wonder now what was thy pristine form
So changed by glacier, avalanche and storm,
Thro' aeons long, back to that misty time
When thou didst rise colossal, and sublime
Yet still when seen in golden sun lit glow
Thy cloud tipt, craggy heights, resplendant show,
Then diamonds, emeralds, and sapphires gleam,
And flash from icy pinnacle, and stream;
Not old Olympus e'en could grander be
Tho' fit abode for mythic deity.
And when we view thy age worn frosty head,
We fain would have thy wondrous story read,
For since thy advent this sublunar sphere
Has seen mutations strange in its career;
And doubtless here thou oft hast felt and seen
Convulsive strife of giants subterrene.
May be old Vulcan's forge has near thee glowed,
And Jove his thunderbolts on thee bestowed.
'Tis said thou comest from the restless sea,
To where thou dwellest in serenity.
If so, what Titan put thee where thou art?
Or say what mighty hand did force impart,
To lift to such a height thy cloud wreathed head
From ocean's floor where had'st thy natal bed?
Was thy upheaval to the glare of sun
'Mid wild commotion? Or was't gently done?
No man was here to witness the event
For thou wast old ere he from Eden went.
Can st tell when man first came to thy abode?
Or whence? Or how he came? Or [illegible] road?
Thou silent [illegible] high o'er the [illegible] sea.
[illegible]
[illegible]

Mr. Burrows received [illegible] and after the meeting [illegible] congratulated [illegible] delightful [illegible]. Prof. [illegible] of [illegible] University was to have attended and [illegible] entertaining lecture on the [illegible]. [illegible] The only regret [illegible] did not fall [illegible]. On motion [illegible] Mr. [illegible], seconded by [illegible], a vote of thanks was [illegible] tendered Professor Scott [illegible] coming to Napanee [illegible] the lecture.

LINKS MILLS.

[illegible] is the order of the day. A number from here attended the kitchen shower at Mr. [illegible] one evening last week. All reported a good time. Mr. J. Snider had the misfortune to break his leg by a log falling on it. Mr. Snider is gaining fine. Mr. W. Jaynes, we are pleased to say, is out again. Mrs. A. Hazelton is on our sick list. We hope for her speedy recovery. Mr. and Mrs. W. Thompson, Mr. and Mrs. I. Kellar, Mrs. R. Stone and Mrs. W. Kellar attended the funeral of their cousin, Mrs. John Dylan, at [illegible] on Friday last. A number from here attended the funeral of Miss Thomas at [illegible]. Miss Thomas lived the most of her days at this place. Mr. and Mrs. M. Shetler were guests of Mr. and Mrs. F. Amey on Sunday last. Mr. and Mrs. E. Johnston were the guests at Mr. and Mrs. Gummer's on Wednesday. Miss Mabel Sloane at Miss Keitha Gummer's on Sunday evening. Mr. W. Thompson and family at Mrs. W. Kellar's on Sunday last. Mr. and Mrs. Dan Lawlor and little daughter were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Joel Kellar. Mr. and Mrs. Milton Thompson and family at Mr. and Mrs. D. Thompson's, on Sunday last.

BEAVER LAKE.

The farmers are a little behind in their spring's work, owing to so much rain. Mr. Jacob Wood paid Mrs. Josephus a visit last week. Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Stinson spent Thursday evening at D. A. Reid's. Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Gonyou, of Chatham, are spending a month's honeymoon with friends at Tamworth, Erinsville and Napanee, and will, on their return visit Niagara Falls and other places. We wish them success and happiness in their new life. Mrs. Edwin Gonyou, of Chatham, is visiting her mother and other friends around here and in other places. Don't forget A. [illegible] [illegible] the year. [illegible] will be open [illegible] for the twenty fourth of May. [illegible] right.

TWO SHAVES.

In a Washington restaurant, during the harsh inauguration weather, a group of Virginians were telling campaign stories.

"Smith and Brown," said Judge Harvey O. Tyson, of Fredericksburg, "were running for office in Richmond. Smith wanted his barber's support, but the barber was a waverer. To steady the man, Smith visited his shop the day before election, got shaved, and handed out in payment a crisp $20.00 bill. At the polls the next morning, Smith was overwhelmed to see the braber vote openly for Brown, his rival. He could hardly believe his eyes. He roared:

"What do you mean there, Mr. Stropper? Didn't you shave me yesterday?"

"Oh, yes," said the barber; "but I shaved Mr. Brown this morning."

PENSIVE PONDERINGS.

A snob is a person who knows just when to be absent-minded about greeting acquaintances.

When the aeroplane has been perfected it will be more popular than ever to drop in on a man informally.

There are three grades of literature—the kind that has to bribe the reader by a good ending; the kind that is good enough to succeed with a bad ending, and the kind which is so good that it doesn't have to have any particular ending at all.

Diplomacy is a high-toned way of saying "Don't you think we had better agree with me?"

No boy over fifteen or no man under forty has time enough to go fishing except during vacation.

The annual game of "pussy wants a corner" has just been played in the United States. Sometimes over a million families have traded flats and although there has been some terrific hurrying and scurrying, almost every family now has a corner. The family which had no built-in buffet now has one displacing a family which wanted a fireplace, while the family which had a fireplace left in search of a south front and found it because of the family that had moved off in search of hot water heat. The man who stays in his flat and refuses to move out because he is contented is blocking the great American game on May 1st and is no patriot.

SUPERIOR WAY OF DYING.

He was excessively fond of dancing. Also he was very clumsy. Like a good many other people, he was fondest of doing the thing he did worst.

She, too, was excessively fond of dancing, with the difference that she was the personification of grace. But now she was suffering. Already he had torn her train with his ungovernable feet, and her dainty slippers bore the marks of his shoes. At last she could stand it no longer.

"Let us sit out the rest of the dance," she said. "I am tired."

He was reluctant. "I thought you said you could die waltzing," he said.

"So I could," she replied, "but there are more pleasant ways of dying than being trampled to death."

HAD ALL THE SYMPTOMS.

The learned hobo was dispensing knowledge for the benefit of his less enlightened companion.

"Have you ever been bitten by a dog?" he asked.

"Many's de time," replied the unenlightened one.

"Are you not afraid of hydrophobia?"

"Nix on de hydro."

"'Tis a curious disease. When a person contracts hydrophobia, the very thought of water makes him sick."

"Is dat on de level? Youse ain't stringin' me?"

"It is a scientific fact."

"Den I bet I've had it all me life, an' never knowed wot was de matter wid me!"

THE HERMIT'S ONE FEAR.

The beautiful young lady stood at the mouth of the cave in the mountain and addressed the ragged and long-haired hermit.

"So you are a real, live hermit! I have never seen a real hermit before, although I have read all about you many times. I suppose you had a very sad love affair in your youth and the loss of your beautiful sweetheart drove you to this wilderness to live alone. Was she so very beautiful? You have tomato cans filled with money hid in the ground, haven't you?"

"Not at all, not at all," interrupted the hermit. "I have no money buried—it is all in 4 per cent. government bonds. My first love affair was altogether too successful, that's the real reason I'm here. You didn't see a square-built, red-headed woman on the trail looking for a husband, did you? It's about time I moved again, anyhow, since so many people are coming here. 'Tain't safe to stay."

EXTREME.

Justice David J. Brewer was asked, not long ago, by a man: "Will you please tell me, sir, what is the extreme penalty of the law for bigamy?"

Justice Brewer smiled and answered: "Two mothers-in-law."

CURIOUS.

"Yes," said Mrs. Brown, "Mr. Greene died with the smallpox, and mind you he had it twice."

"He did!" gasped Mr. Smith, "don't think me inquisitive, but did he die with the first or second attack?"

VALUE OF FLIES.

"Yes, Bobby," said the minister, who was dining with the family, "everything has its use. Now, you wouldn't think that flies were good for anything, yet—"

"Oh, yes, I would," interrupted Bobby. "Pa says they are the only things what keeps him awake when you are preaching."

WATER.

A Methodist negro exorter shouted: "Come up en jine de army, ob de Lohd."

"I's done jined," replied one of the congregation.

"Whar'd yoh jine?" asked the exorter.

"In de Babtis' church."

"Why, chile," said the exorter, "yoh ain't in the army, yoh's in de navy."

CONDITIONAL.

A girl recently sent this extraordinary request to the editor of her church paper: "Do you think it is right for a girl to sit in a man's lap, even if she is engaged?"

The editor answered her question thus: "If it were our girl and our lap, yes; if it were another fellow's girl and our lap, yes, but if it were our girl and another fellow's lap, never! never! never!"

AN APPROPRIATE TEXT.

It was the custom in a minister's family to have each member repeat a verse from the Bible at the beginning of every meal. One day the five-year-old son had been naughty, and was put at a little table by himself by way of punishment. When it came time for his verse he said very solemnly, "Thou hast prepared a table before me in the presence of mine enemies."

A correspondent sends to a Paris journal an amusing contest of wit which he recently heard in a railway carriage on a journey between Compiegne and Roye. There were several passengers. One believed himself to possess a fund of humor which he intended to expend on a priest who got in at one of the intermediate stations. Bestowing a patronizing look on the clergyman, he said:

"Have you heard the news, Monsieur le cure?"

"No, my friend, I have not," was the reply: "I have been out all day, and have not had time to glance at the papers."

Then said the traveller: "It is something dreadful; the devil is dead."

"Indeed," replied the ecclesiastic, without the smallest surprise or displeasure. Then, seeming deeply touched, he added: "Monsieur, I have always taken the greatest interest in orphans. Will you accept these two sous?"

The wit, we are told, retired as gracefully and as quickly as he was able.

DENTISTS THERE.

An old-time revivalist was expounding the text: "There shall be weeping and wailing and gnashing of teeth."

"Yes," he shouted, pounding on his desk, "there shall be gnashing of teeth."

"But I ain't got any teeth," piped up an old lady who had been aroused by the denunciations of the preacher.

"Then, madam," yelled the preacher, turning in her direction, "they will be provided!"

THE DIFFERENCE.

An old darkey preacher was giving his congregation the definition of the words, "belief" and "knowledge."

"Now, sistahs and bruddahs, dat's Bruddah Jackson, Sister Jackson and da daughter. Now, Bruddah Jackson, you believe dat's your daughter."

"Yes, sah."

"Well, dat's belief. Now, Sistah Jackson, you know dat's your daughter?"

"Yes, sah, she be."

"Well, den, dat's knowledge."

MISUNDERSTOOD.

One evening last summer a young man and his best girl were sitting on the front piazza in our quiet little town. Just across the street a young lady was playing very beautifully on the piano, while in the top of the old oak tree the Katydid was singing merrily.

"Oh, how delightful," exclaimed the young lady, who was listening to the music.

"Yes, and they say she does it all with her hind legs," replied the young fellow, who had noticed only the chirping of the Katydid.

Tea grown at an elevation of 5,000 feet and upwards, where soil and climate combine to give that delightful fragrance and delicious flavor is used in "Salada." Its purity and strength make it much more economical to use than other teas.

A CERTAINTY.

A lady in a Southern town was approached by her colored maid.

"Well, Jenny?" she asked, seeing that something was in the air.

"Please, Mis' Mary, may I have the aft'noon off three weeks from Wednesday?" Then, noticing an undecided look in her mistress' face, she added hastily, "I want to go to my fiance's fun'ral."

"Goodness me," answered the lady, "your fiance's funeral! Why, you don't know that he's even going to die, let alone the date of his funeral. That is something we can't any of us be sure about—when we are going to die."

"Yes'm," said the girl, doubtfully. Then with a triumphant note in her voice, "I'se sure about him, Mis', 'cos he's goin' to be hung!"

The small boy was playing with the scissors, and his kindly old grandmother chided him.

"You mustn't play with the scissors, dear. I know a little boy like you who was playing with a pair of scissors just like that pair, and he put his eye out, and he could never see anything ever after."

The child listened patiently, and said, when she got through with the narrative:

"What was the matter with his other eye?"

THE UMPIRE.

An umpire is a man who consents to be hated by the whole world for $50 a week. It is his duty to decide which set of sympathizers at a baseball game shall be entitled to yell "Thief", "Robber", "Mutton-head", "Put him out!" "Lynch him!" and other pleasant things. There are always two sides in a baseball game, so an umpire has no difficulty in drawing out expressions of this kind with every decision.

Umpiring looks more dangerous than soldiering, coupling freight cars or looping the loop, but it is not. Very few umpires are killed, though there is an open season on them from April to October. This is because an umpire is so much more unhappy living than dead that no player would think of putting him out of his sufferings. An umpire does not need to be strong, but he must be a brave man. When fifteen players rush towards him with their bats, open their mouths to the tenth degree and yell, "What's that!" he must be able to look unflinchingly into that half acre of flannel red throats and say calmly, "That's it."

Umpires are never elected to public office, but they sometimes live to a great age after they stop umpiring. It is very hard to kill an umpire after he gets out of the business. Once in the old days an umpire resigned and went to work in a powder mill. Two days later the mill exploded and blew him 111 feet through the roof. The other employes rushed over with dust pans and tooth brushes to gather him up and found him brushing his clothes and saying: "There's no use of kicking about it. The man's out," I said. "Play ball."

During the Spanish-American war it was almost impossible to get umpires. They all joined the army for a vacation.

HAIR SLAUGHTER

KILLED BY NEGLIGENCE.

Hair must have nourishment or die. If it does not have proper nourishment it will loose its vitality, grow weak, and become an easy prey to the ravages of dandruff.

Parisian Sage is a hair nourisher; it is the result of sincere study and experiment by one of the world's leading scientists.

It should be used regularly as a hair dressing by everyone with healthy hair, because it never fails to prevent dandruff, falling hair, or any scalp disease.

But Parisian Sage is not only a preventive it is a certain cure for dandruff; it stops itching of the scalp instantly; it makes hair grow thick and luxuriant. It is expecially in demand by ladies, because it makes the hair beautiful, soft and fluffy. T. B. Wallace, the druggist, sells it under a positive guarantee to do all that is claimed for it, or money back, 50 cents for a large bottle.

musical, and he took a few leaning steps toward her, both hands outstretched.

"One moment more!" he cried as she turned again to him. "It may be the one chance of my life to speak with you. Don't deny me this. All the rest will meet you when the happy evening comes, will dance with you, talk with you, see you when they like, listen to you sing; I alone must hover about the gates or steal like a thief into your garden to hear you from a distance. Listen to me just this once for a moment."

"I cannot listen!" she said firmly, and with a whisk of her skirts and a footfall on the gravel path she was gone. He stood dumfounded, [illegible], having come to play the chief role, but to find the scene taken out of his hands.

CHAPTER III.

THOSE angels appointed to be guardians of the merry people of Rouen passing one night between earth and stars, discovered a single brilliant and resonant spot set in the midst of the dark, quiet town like a jeweled music box on a black cloth, for that night was the beginning of Miss Betty's famous career as the belle of Rouen and was the date from which strangers were to hear of her as "the beautiful Miss Carewe" [illegible]

[illegible] had been much discussion of [illegible] two had caught [illegible] most of the [illegible] agreed [illegible] with Crailey [illegible] in an evenly casual way at the little club on Main street. Mr. Gray held that [illegible] the daughter of a man as rich as [illegible] as a beauty [illegible] that she would prove [illegible] and, for his part, he was [illegible] interested enough to attend [illegible]. So he was going down the river [illegible] and preferred the [illegible] of [illegible] from the convent, he said. [illegible]

The early pair had [illegible] almost [illegible] monopoly by [illegible] worth the candle, and they were leaning effectively against the little railing about the musicians' platform when Mr. Carewe entered the room with his daughter on his arm.

She was in white touched with countless small lavender flowers. There were rows and rows of wonderful silk and lace flounces on her skirt, and her fan hung from a rope of great pearls. Ah, hideous, blue rough cloth of the convent, unforgotten, but laid aside forever, what a chrysalis you were!

Tappingham twitched his companion's sleeve, but the general was already posing, and neither heard the words of presentation, because Miss Betty gave each of them a quick look, then smiled upon them as they bowed. The slayers were prostrated before their prey. Never were lady killers more instantaneously tamed and subjugated by the power of the feminine eye. Will Cummings came in soon, and, almost upon his heels, Eugene Madrillon and young Frank Chenoweth. No others appeared for half an hour, and the five gentlemen looked at one another aside, each divining his own diplomacy in his fellow's eye, and each laboriously explaining to the others his own mistake in regard to the hour designated upon Mr. Carewe's cards of invitation. This small embarrassment, however, did not prevent General Trumble and young Mr. Chenoweth from coming to high words over Miss Carewe's little gilt filigree "programme" of dances.

It may be not untimely to remark also of these five redoubtable beaux that during the evening it occurred to every one of them to be glad that Crailey Gray was betrothed to Fanchon Bareaud, and that he was down on the Rouen river with a canoe, a rod and a tent. Nay, without more words, to declare the truth in regard to Crailey, they felt greater security in his absence from the field than in his betrothal. As Mr. Chenoweth, a youth as open as out of doors both in countenance and mind, observed plaintively to Tappingham Marsh in a corner, while they watched Miss Betty's lavender flowers miraculously swirling through a quadrille, "Crailey, you know—well, Crailey's been engaged before." It was not Mr. Chenoweth's habit to disguise his apprehensions, and Crailey Gray would not fish for bass forever.

The same Chenoweth was he who, maddened by the general's triumphantly familiar way of toying with Miss Betty's fan between two dances, attempted to propose to her during the sunrise waltz. Having sung "Oh, believe me!" in her ear as loudly as he could, he expressed the wish, quite as loudly, "that this waltz might last for always!"

That was the seventh time it had been said to Betty during the night, and, though Mr. Chenoweth's predecessors had revealed their desires in a guise lacking this prodigious artlessness, she already possessed no novel acquaintance with the exclamation, but she made no comment. Her partner's style was not a stimulant to repartee. "It would be heaven," he amplified earnestly; "it would be heaven to dance with you forever—on a desert isle where the others couldn't come!" he finished with sudden acerbity as his eye caught the general's.

He proceeded, and only the cessation of the music aided Miss Carewe in stopping the declaration before it was altogether out, and at that point Frank's own father came to her rescue, though in a fashion little saving of her confusion. The elder Chenoweth was one of the gallant and kindly southern colony that made it natural for Rouen always to speak of Miss Carewe as Miss Betty. He was a handsome old fellow, whose hair, long mustache and imperial were as white as he was proud of them, a Virginian with the admirable southern fearlessness of being thought sentimental. Mounting a chair with complete dignity, he proposed the health of his young hostess. He made a speech of some length, pronouncing himself quite as hopelessly in love with his old friend's daughter as all could see his own son was, and wishing her long life and prosperity, with many allusions to fragrant bowers and the muses.

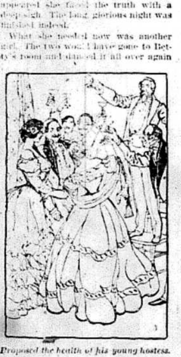
It made Miss Betty happy, but it was rather trying, too, for she could only stand with downcast eyes before them all, trembling a little, and receiving a mixed impression of Mr. Chenoweth's remarks, catching fragments here and there. As the old gentleman finished, Fanchon Bareaud, kissing her hand to Betty, began to sing, and they all joined in, lifting their glasses to the blushing and happy girl clinging to her father's arm:

"Thou wouldst still be adored as this moment thou art,
Let thy loveliness fade as it will,
And around the dear ruin each wish of my heart
Would entwine itself verdantly still."

They were happy people who had not learned to be self conscious enough to fear doing a pretty thing openly without mocking themselves for it, and it was a brave circle they made about Betty Carewe, the charming faces of the women and their fine furbelows, handsome men and tall, all so gay, so cheerily smiling and yet so earnest in their welcome to her. No one was afraid to "let out" his voice; their song went full and strong over the waking town, and when it was finished the ball was over too.

The veranda and the path to the gate became like tropic gardens, the fair colors of the women's dresses, ballooning in the early breeze, making the place seem strewn with giant blossoms. They all went away at the same time, those in carriages calling farewells to each other and to the little processions departing on foot in different directions to homes near by. The sound of the voices and laughter drew away, slowly died out altogether, and the silence of the street was strange and unfamiliar to Betty. She went to the hedge and watched the musicians, who were the last to go, until they passed from sight—little black toilsome figures, carrying grotesque black boxes. While she could still see them it seemed to her that her ball was not quite over, and she wished to hold the least speck of it as long as she could, but when they had disappeared she faced the truth with a deep sigh. The long glorious night was finished indeed.

What she needed now was another girl. The two would have gone to Betty's room and danced it all over again until noon, but she had only her father. She found him contentedly smoking a cigar upon the veranda, so she seated herself timidly, nevertheless with a hopeful glance at him, on the steps at his feet, and as she did so he looked down upon her with something more akin to geniality than anything she had ever seen in his eye before. They did not know each other very well, and she often doubted that they would ever become intimate. This morning, for the first time, she was conscious of a sense of warmth and gratitude toward him. The elaborate fashion in which he had introduced her to his friends made it appear possible that he liked her, for he had forgotten nothing, and to remember everything in this case was to be lavish, which has often the appearance of generosity.



Proposed the health of his young hostess.

And yet there had been a lack. Some small thing she had missed, though she was not entirely sure that she identified it. But the lack had not been in her father or in anything he had done. Then, too, there was something so unexpectedly human and pleasant in his not going to bed at once, but remaining to smoke on the veranda at this hour that she gave him credit for a little of her own excitement, innocently fancying that he also might feel the need of a companion with whom to talk over the brilliant passages of the night. And a moment ensued when she debated taking his hand. She was too soon glad that her intuition forbade the demonstration.

"It was all so beautiful, papa," she said timidly. "I have no way to tell you how I thank you."

"You may do that," he replied evenly, with no unkindness, with no kindness either, in the level of his tone, "by never dancing again more than twice with one man in one evening."

"I think I should much prefer not myself," she returned, lifting her head to face him gravely. "I believe if I cared to dance more than once with one I should like to dance all of them with him."

Mr. Carewe frowned. "I trust that you discovered none last night whom you wished to honor with your entire programme."

"No," she laughed, "not last night."

Her father took away his cigar abruptly. "Is it too much to hope," he inquired, "that when you discover a gentleman with whom you desire to waltz all night you will omit to mention the fact to him?"

There was a brief flash of her eye as she recalled her impulse to take his hand, but she immediately looked at him with such complete seriousness that he feared his irony had been thrown away.

"I'll remember not to mention it," she answered. "I'll tell him you told me not to."

"I think you may retire now," said Mr. Carewe sharply.

She rose from the steps, went to the door, then turned at the threshold. "Were all your friends here, papa?"

"Do you think that every ninny who gabbled in my house last night was my friend?" he said angrily. "There was one friend of mine, Mrs. Tanberry, who wasn't here because she is out of town, but I do not imagine that you are inquiring about women. You mean was every unmarried male idiot who could afford a swallowtailed coat and a clean pair of gloves cavorting about the place? Yes, miss, they were all here except two, and one of those is a fool, the other a knave."

"Can't I know the fool?" she asked eagerly.

"I rejoice to find them so rare in your experience!" he retorted. "This one is out of town, though I have no doubt you will see him sufficiently often when he returns. His name is Crailey Gray, and he is to marry Fanchon Bareaud—if he remembers!"

"And the knave?"

"Is one!" Carewe shut his teeth with a venomous snap, and his whole face reddened suddenly. "I'll mention this fellow once now," he said, speaking each word with emphasis. "His name is Vanrevel. You see that gate, you see the line of my property there. The man himself as well as every other person in the town remembers well that the last time I spoke to him it was to tell him that if he ever set foot on ground of mine I'd shoot him down, and he knows, and they all know, I shall keep my word! Elsewhere I told him that for the sake of public peace I should ignore him. I do. You will see him everywhere, but it will not be difficult. No one will have the hardihood to present him to my daughter. The quarrel between us"— Mr. Carewe broke off for a moment, his hands clinching the arms of his chair, while he swallowed with difficulty, as though he choked upon some acrid bolus, and he was so strongly agitated by his own mention of his enemy that he controlled himself by a painful effort of his will. "The quarrel between us is political—and personal. You will remember."

"I shall remember," she answered in a rather frightened voice.

It was long before she fell asleep. "I alone must hover about the gates or steal into your garden like a thief," the incroyable had said. "The last time I spoke to him it was to tell him that if he ever set foot on ground of mine I'd shoot him down!" had been her father's declaration. And Mr. Carewe had spoken with the most undeniable air of meaning what he said. Yet she knew that the incroyable would come again.

Also, with hot cheeks pressed into her pillow, Miss Betty had identified the young man in the white hat, that dark person whose hand she had far too impetuously seized in both of hers. Aha! It was this gentleman who looked into people's eyes and stammered so sincerely over a pretty speech that you almost believed him; it was he who was to marry Fanchon Bareaud, "if he remembers!" No wonder Fanchon had been in such a hurry to get him away. "If he remembers!" Such was that young man's character, was it? Miss Carewe laughed aloud to her pillow, for was one to guess the reason also of his not having come to her ball? Had the poor man been commanded to be "out of town?"

Then, remembering the piquant and generous face of Fanchon, Betty clinched her fingers tightly and crushed the imp who had suggested the unworthy thought, crushed him to a wretched pulp and threw him out of the window. He immediately sneaked in by the back way, for, in spite of her victory, she still felt a little sorry for poor Fanchon.

CHAPTER IV.

IF it be true that love is the great incentive to the useless arts, the number of gentlemen who became poets for the sake of Miss Betty Carewe need not be considered extraordinary. Of all that was written of her dancing, Tom Vanrevel's lines, "I Danced With Her Beneath the Lights" (which he certainly had not done when he wrote them), were perhaps next to Crailey Gray's in merit, though Tom burned his rhymes after reading them to Crailey.

As Crailey Gray never danced with Miss Carewe, it is somewhat singular that she should have been the inspiration of his swinging verses in waltz measure, "Heartstrings on a Violin," the sense of which was that when a violin had played for her dancing the instrument should be shattered as wineglasses are after a great toast. However, no one except the author himself knew that Betty was the subject, for Crailey certainly did not mention it to Miss Bareaud nor to his best friend, Vanrevel.

It was to some degree a strange comradeship between these two young men; their tastes led them so often in opposite directions. They had rooms together over their offices in the "Madrillon block" on Main street, and the lights shone late from their windows every night in the year. Sometimes that would mean only that the two friends were talking, for they never reached a silent intimacy, but, even after several years of companionship, were rarely seen together when not in interested, often eager, conversation, so that people wondered what in the world they still found to say to each other. But many a night the late shining lamp meant that Tom sat alone, with a brief or a book, or wooed the lorn hours with his magical guitar, for he never went to bed until the other came home. And if daylight came without Crailey, Vanrevel would go out, yawning mightily, to look for him, and when there was no finding him Tom would come back sleepless to the day's work.

To the vision of the lookers on in Rouen, quiet souls who hovered along the walls at merrymakings and cheerfully counted themselves spectators at the play, Crailey Gray held the center of the stage and was the chief comedian of the place. Wit, poet and scapegrace, the small society sometimes seemed the mere background set for his performances, spectacles which he also enjoyed, and from the best seat in the house, for he was not content as the actor, but must be the prince in the box as well.

His friendship for Tom Vanrevel was in a measure that of the vine for the oak. He was full of levities at Tom's expense, which the other bore with a grin of sympathetic comprehension or at long intervals returned upon Crailey with devastating effect. Vanrevel was the one steadying thing in his life and at the same time the only one of the young men upon whom he did not have an almost mesmeric influence. In good truth, Crailey was the ringleader in all the deviltries of the town and had been so long in the habit of following every impulse, no matter how mad, that he enjoyed an almost perfect immunity from condemnation, and, whatever his deeds, Rouen had learned to say with a chuckle that it was "only Crailey Gray again."

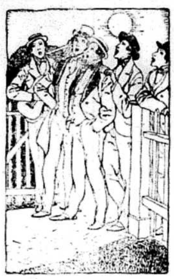
Now and then he would spend several days in the offices of Gray & Vanrevel, attorneys and counselors at law, wearing an air of indescribable virtue, though he did not overstate the case when he said, "Tom does all the work and gives me all the money not to bother him when he's getting up a case."

The working member of the firm got up cases to no little effect, and few lawyers in the state enjoyed having Tom Vanrevel on the other side. There was nothing about him of the floridity prevalent at that time; he withered "oratory" before the court; he was the foe of jury pathos, and, despising noise and the habitual voice dip at the end of a sentence, was nevertheless at times an almost fearfully effective orator. So by degrees the firm of Gray & Vanrevel, young as it was and in spite of the idle apprentice, had grown to be the most prosperous in the district. For this eminence Crailey was never accused of assuming the credit. Nor did he ever miss an opportunity of making known how much he owed to his partner. What he owed, in brief, was everything. How well Vanrevel worked was demonstrated every day, but how hard he worked only Crailey knew. The latter had grown to depend upon him for even his political beliefs and lightly followed his partner into abolitionism, though that was to risk unpopularity, bitter hatred and worse. Fortunately on certain occasions Vanrevel had made himself, if not his creed, respected, at least so far that there was no longer danger of mob violence for an abolitionist in Rouen. He was a cool headed young man ordinarily and possessed of an elusive forcefulness not to be trifled with, though he was a quiet man and had what they called a "fine manner," and, not in the latter, but in his dress, there was an echo of the beau, which afforded Mr. Gray a point of attack for sallies of wit.

These two young men were members of a cheerful band who feasted, laughed, wrangled over politics, danced, made love and sang terrible chords on summer evenings together, as young men will. Will Cummings, editor of the Rouen Journal, was one of these, a tall, sallow man, very thin, very awkward and very gentle. Mr. Cummings proved himself always ready with a loud and friendly laugh for the poorest joke in the world, his countenance shining with such kindness that no one ever had the heart to reproach him with the evils of his journalistic performances or for the things he broke when he danced. Another was Tappingham Marsh, an exceedingly handsome person, somewhat languid in appearance, dainty in manner with women, offhand with men, almost as reckless as Crailey and often the latter's companion and assistant in dissipation. Young Francis Chenoweth never failed to follow both into whatever they planned. He was short and pink, and the uptilt of his nose was coherent with the appealing earnestness which was habitual with him. Eugene Madrillon was the sixth of these intimates, a dark man, whose Latin eyes and color advertised his French ancestry as plainly as his emotionless mouth and lack of gesture betrayed the mingling of another strain.

All these and others of the town were wont to "talk politics" a great deal at the little club on Main street, and all were apt to fall foul of Tom Vanrevel or Crailey Gray before the end of any discussion. For those were the days when they twisted the lion's tail in vehement and bitter earnest, when the eagle screamed in mixed figures, when few men knew how to talk and many orated, when party strife was savagely personal, when tolerance was called the "pure fire of patriotism," when criticism of the existing order of things surely incurred fiery anathema and black invective, and brave was he, indeed, who dared to hint that his country as a whole and politically did lack some two or three particular virtues and that the first step toward obtaining them would be to help it to realize their absence.

This latter point of view was that of the firm of Gray & Vanrevel, which was a unit in such matters. Crailey did most of the talking, quite beautifully, too, and both had to stand against odds in many a warm argument, for they were not only abolitionists, but opposed the attitude of their country in [illegible] with Mexico, and, in common with all who held that view at the time, they had to grow accustomed to being called disloyal traitors, [illegible], malignants and [illegible] of the [illegible]. Tom had long [illegible] to epithets of this sort, suffering them [illegible] in quiet, and was glad when he could keep Crailey out of [illegible] rather than standing firm for an unpopular belief.



Sang terrible chords on summer evenings.

There was one place to which Vanrevel, seeking his friend and partner when the latter did not come home at night, could not go. This was the [illegible], and it was in that mysterious [illegible] of the Carewe cupola that Crailey was apt to be deeply occupied, [illegible] be retained away until [illegible]. Strange as it appears, Mr. [illegible] maintained peculiar relations of intimacy with Robert Carewe in spite of the feud between Carewe and his own best friend. This intimacy, which did not necessarily imply any mutual fondness, though Crailey seemed to dislike nobody, was beclouded by a [illegible] understanding of a sort between them. They held brief, earnest conversations on the street or in corners when they met at other people's houses, always speaking in voices too low to be overheard, and they exercised a mysterious sign language, somewhat in the manner of fellow members of a secret society. They had been observed to communicate across crowded rooms by lifted eyebrow, nod of head or a surreptitious turn of the wrist, so that those who observed them knew that a question had been asked and answered.

It was noticed also that there were five other initiates to this masonry—Eugene Madrillon, the elder Chenoweth, General Trumble, Tappingham Marsh and Jefferson Bareaud. Thus on the afternoon following Miss Betty's introduction to Rouen's favorite sons and daughters Mr. Carewe, driving down Main street, held up one forefinger to Madrillon as he saw the young man turning in at the club. Eugene nodded gravely and as he went in, discovering Marsh, the general and others listening to Mr. Gray's explanation of his return from the river with no fish, stealthily held up one finger in his turn. Trumble replied with a wink, Tappingham nodded, but Crailey slightly shook his head. Marsh and the general started with surprise and stared incredulously. That Crailey should shake his head! If the signal had been for a church meeting they might have understood.

Mr. Gray's conduct was surprising two other people at about the same time—Tom Vanrevel and Fanchon Bareaud; the former by his sudden devotion to the law; the latter by his sudden devotion to herself. In a breath he became almost a domestic character.

Miss Bareaud was even happier than she was astonished—and she was mightily astonished—to find her betrothed developing a taste for her society alone. Formerly she had counted upon the gayeties of her home to keep Crailey near her; now, however, he told her tenderly he wished to have her all to himself. This was not like him, but Fanchon did not question.

The effectiveness of housecleaning can be materially increased by the use of paints and varnishes. Your work will show results, the house will not only be cleaner but look cleaner.

SHERWIN-WILLIAMS
BRIGHTEN UP FINISHES

Perhaps there is a chair or two that should be varnished, some shelving to be painted, or a floor with worn spots that needs refinishing. It's the small things like these that in the aggregate make a house "spick and span and homey."

S-W. Brighten Up Finishes include a paint, varnish, stain and enamel finish for everything inside the house. Tell the Sherwin-Williams dealer what you want to finish and he will give you the Brighten Up Finish particularly adapted for your purpose. Write for booklet, B-60.

Lots of rain in these parts, but farmers are busy on the land.—Song service was largely attended on Sunday evening, in the Luthern church.—Mr. Blake Davenporte and bride, U. S. A., have been visiting friends here.—Mrs. Seymour Smith and daughter spent Tuesday in Odessa.—A number have been sick with la grippe. It has been in nearly every home in this locality.—Mr. W. Fitchett lost a horse this week.—Fire has again visited in our midst and removed from view Mr. Charles Brown's tenant house, occupied by Mr. Irvine Hunter. The fire originated from a defective chimney. The contents were saved. Owing to the heavy wind on Wednesday, it made a great blaze.—Mr. F. A. Perry is still busy at the factory.—Quite a number from here attended the social at Anderson on Friday evening last.—Mr. Lake Young has a very sick horse.

FIFTH LAKE.

(For last week.)

The snow storm on Sunday has left the roads in a bad condition.—Mr. Tom Snider is improving, after a long spell of sickness.—Miss G. Shane spent Friday last with Miss M. Wells.—Mr. W. Cousins is intending to move to his home this week, at Wagarville.—Mr. and Mrs. S. King called on Mr. T. Snider, on Saturday evening.—The whooping cough is raging around here at present.—Miss Gertie Shane called on Mrs. W. Keech, on Sunday.—Messrs. R. Shane and D. Keech spent Sunday evening at Mr. E. Wells'.—A few of the young people made a flying trip to Trafford on Saturday night, when they found the roads in a bad shape.—Mrs. W. Wells and son Silas called on Mr. T. Snider, on Saturday.

MOUNT PLEASANT.

The weather for the last few days has been lovely and spring like, and the farmers are in hopes of getting their spring's work done now.—No service in the church on Sunday, owing to quarterly meeting being held at Selby.—Mr. and Mrs. Abrams have moved into Mr. A. Oliver's house.—The rumble of the milk wagon is heard again.—Mr. and Mrs. O. S. Davis and Mr. and Mrs. El. Grooms and others attended the golden wedding of Mr. E. Smith, Napanee, held in honor of Mr. and Mrs. J. Smith, Pleasant Valley.—Some of the people of this vicinity attended the funeral of the late Mr. A. Airhart, Empey Hill.—Mr. D. Davis and family visited at Mr. O. S. Davis', on Sunday.—Mr. and Mrs. V. Oliver spent Friday at Roblin, visiting her mother, Mrs. N. Kimmett.

TISDALE, SASK.

April 28th, 1909.

There was a snow storm in this place on Sunday night, with terrible wind, followed by very cold weather. This is a backward spring. There is plenty of snow here yet. Seeding has not commenced yet.—W. E. Miller made a trip to Prince Albert last week, in company with several other men, to see about getting their pay from the Carrot River Lumber Co., for hauling lumber during the winter. They succeeded in getting part of it, but are doubtful of getting the rest.—Much sympathy is felt for Mr. F. Cummings, who lost a valuable horse last week. It means something to lose a horse in this country.—Mrs. Dafoe has returned to Tisdale, after spending a few days at Mr. George Miller's, Eilham Valley. Mrs. Tirman Doyle, of Silver Stream, spent a day with her mother, Mrs. W. D. Foster, Pleasant Point.—The people of the S. A. colony are busy drawing their seed grain from the station.

May 5th, 1909.

Mrs. A. Alport has returned here, after spending a week with Mrs. F. Cummings, New Osgoode.—Mr. Jas. Pickering and family were guests of Mr. W. E. Miller, on Sunday last.—Rev. Mr. Baillee gave an excellent temperance address on Sunday evening. He is a great worker in the temperance cause, and is not afraid to stand up for its rights.—The weather has taken a decided change, and we are having real summer weather. The snow is nearly gone, and farmers are looking more hopeful. If this weather continues, seeding will be general next week.—The train from the east arrives here three times a week, but there is talk of a daily train after June 1st.—James Pickering had the misfortune to lose one of his horses on Monday night.—Several parties have lost horses this spring in this district.—The roads are in a bad condition now, and some of the bridges are in danger of being washed away, owing to the high water.—Mr. Stanley Ball is leaving here to-day for the Red Deer Lumber Co.

KINGSFORD.

We regret to announce the death of Claude G. Sexsmith, who died on April 15th, 1909, whose death was due to inflammatory rheumatism and heart trouble. The deceased was a young man, clever and promising and was very popular amongst a large circle of friends. The expressions of sympathy and condolence with the sorrowing parents were unusually general. The funeral took place on Saturday morning to Selby Methodist church and thence to Napanee vault. He leaves to mourn his loss a mother and father, one brother and three sisters.

A precious one from us is gone,
A voice we loved is still;
A place is vacant in our home
Which never can be filled.
Dear Claud, we miss his smiling face
His fond and loving hand;
The home is vacant without him—
We miss him everywhere.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred. Hall, Plainfield, visited her father, Mr. James McCullough, this week.—Mr. Earl McCabe and mother, Napanee, visited at John Jaynes', Sunday.—Mollie and Jay Doyle visited at Selby on Sunday last.—Harry Dafoe and Grace Lott, Strathcona, at T. N. Dafoe's, Sunday.—Henry Sexsmith was at Point Ann, on Wednesday, on a business trip.—Mr. and Mrs. D. O'Hara spent Friday at Marysville, visiting.—Raymond Murphy and Ella Schermahorn, Napanee, spent Sunday in our midst.—Richard Nash is confined to the house with rheumatism.—Ray Farl is assistant in the factory with Mr. Anderson.—Mrs. Jas. Hewitt, of Lonsdale Road, died on April 21st, 1909, after a lingering illness of several months, aged 58 years. She had only lived here about a year, coming from Empey Hill. Her many friends here and at Empey Hill are sorry to lose such a kind friend and neighbor. She leaves behind to mourn her loss, her husband and one daughter. The funeral was conducted at the home by Rev. Purdy, her minister, and was largely attended, and thence to Lonsdale cemetery, where the remains were laid.

In the treatment of summer complaints, the most effective remedy that can be used is Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Dysentery Cordial. It is a standard preparation, and many people employ it in preference to other preparations. It is a highly concentrated medicine and its sedative and curative qualities are beyond question. It has been a popular medicine for many years and thousands can attest its superior qualities in overcoming dysentery and kindred complaints.

Dr. Beeman is in attendance.—Miss Milligan visited her brother last week. Mr. Finkle's motor car was late getting in the village last Friday evening.—Rev. Mr. Spencer preached an eloquent sermon in St. Luke's Church, last Sunday evening, to a large number of people.

Too Many Women Suffer in Silence

When the Blood is Weak or Out of Order Disease Is Inevitable.

Many women go through life suffering in silence—weak, ailing and unhappy. The languor and bloodlessness of girls and young women, with headaches, dizziness and fainting spells; the nervous ailments, back pains and failure of strength of wives and mothers; the trials that come to all women at the turn of life, are caused usually by impoverished watery blood. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People have helped more women to the joy of good health and robust strength than any other medicine in the world. These Pills actually make new, rich, red blood, which reaches every part of the body, feeds the starved nerves, strengthens every organ, and makes weak girls and women bright and well. Mrs. A. Eagles, Dundas, Ont., says:—"I am writing this letter out of gratitude to let you know the great benefit Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have been to me. From the time I was a girl I suffered from weakness and fainting spells—was always doctoring but it did not help me. As I grew older I seemed to grow worse. My blood seemed literally turned to water. Sometimes I would faint as often as twice in a day. I suffered from indigestion. I could not walk upstairs without stopping to rest on the way and my heart would palpitate so violently as to produce a smothering sensation. I grew so weak that people thought I was in consumption. I was in this dreadful condition when Dr. Williams' Pink Pills were brought to my attention and I began taking them. The first sign of benefit I noticed was an improvement in my appetite. Then I began to grow stronger; the color began to return to my face; the fainting spells disappeared and gradually I was brought to a condition of more perfect health than I had ever enjoyed before. This is what Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have done for me, and that they have been of lasting benefit is proved by the fact that it is several years since they restored my health, and I have remained strong and well ever since."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are a cure for all troubles due to impure or watery blood, such as anaemia, rheumatism, neuralgia, headache and backaches, indigestion, St. Vitus dance, paralysis, etc. Sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

THE BEST FLOUR
DAFOE'S NONESUCH
DAFOE'S MANITOBA PATENT

By numerous tests by the best bakers the above mentioned grades have been proven to be the best flours in the market.

When buying flour, ask for Dafoe's, and patronize your home mill, thereby procuring Bran and Shorts that you can purchase cheaper than the product of the western mills, which has to be transported thousands of miles at great expense, and usually when it reaches you is of inferior quality.

The grocer complains if the farmer or the mechanic sends to Toronto or to outside points for an article he can get at the home store just as good, but he does not hesitate to buy flour from mills hundreds of miles away, and sells you an inferior flour for more money than you can purchase the home product for, every bag of which is guaranteed.

Choice Cornmeal and Buckwheat Flour always on hand. Feed grinding a specialty, with the best feed mills known to the trade.

A full stock of the best Anthracite Coal; also in the market for the purchase of all kinds of grain.

Relation of the Liver and Kidneys

FUNCTIONS SUCH THAT EACH SUFFERS WHEN THE OTHER IS DERANGED.

COMPLICATED CASES CAN ONLY BE CURED BY COMBINED TREATMENT SUCH AS VITOL.

The liver filters poison from the blood. The kidneys also filter poisons from the blood. When the liver becomes sluggish and torpid in action, or is giving too much work by over eating, the kidneys have to help out with the work of filtration, therefore the kidneys are overtaxed. The result—Biliousness, indigestion and constipation, and after a time the kidneys are affected and you have a backache, urinary derangements and kidney disease. You feel drowsy, lazy, tired; skin becomes dry and hot. Fig Pills will put you right at once; they cleanse the liver and the kidneys and purify the blood. You feel like a new person. Take one at bedtime. Price 25c box. For sale by F. L. Hooper.

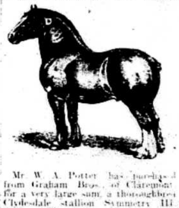
SYMMETRY III. No. 3933.



Mr. W. A. Potter has purchased from Graham Bros., of Claremont for a very large sum, a thoroughbred Clydesdale stallion Symmetry III 3933. This horse will stand for mares at Moscow, Enterprise, Tamworth, Centreville and Camden East. The farmers in this section should take advantage of this fine horse that has proved himself a sure foal getter of the very best stock. Mr. Potter deserves great credit for bringing such a grand bred horse in this county. 18d

"Our Boys" is good and for a good cause. Napanee Canoe Club.

"OUR BOYS."

This celebrated comedy of H. J. Byron's is to be given on Wednesday evening, May 19th, for the benefit of the Napanee Canoe Club. Twice since Easter it has been given in Belleville, for charitable objects, under the auspices of the A. Y. P. Association of St. Thomas' church, and it has met with the greatest possible success. At the urgent request of the Canoe Club, the Association has consented to repeat it in the Brisco Opera House, Napanee, on the above date. Prices, 15c, 25c, 35c and 50c.

The Belleville Intelligencer has the following to say of "Our Boys":

"The audience which witnessed "Our Boys" at the Carman last night was pleased, amused, and, truth to tell, perhaps a bit surprised at the decided talent shown by some of the amateur Thespians. As a general rule, amateur theatricals are not calculated to make one very enthusiastic; one has to make too many "allowances." But it was different last evening. The actresses and actors actually knew their parts; they spoke so that they could be heard; they actually seemed to know what to do with their hands; the bright lines of the play were treated cleverly—especially so by the ladies; in short, the entertainment gave sincere pleasure to the audience."

Our races are coming. Watch for them. But don't forget the Napanee Canoe Club entertainment on Wednesday, 19th inst.

DESERONTO.

Mrs. Cannon has moved to Toronto, her son Joe having accepted a lucrative position as stenographer for one of Toronto's leading lawyers. The town loses a good citizen, and an enterprising young woman, having held several important positions in different societies in town, and taking a very keen interest in education.

The steamer Alexandria did not arrive until 11 a.m. on Monday from Charlotte.

Mr. H. McMurrich Rathbun and Robt. Masters left Monday morning for Gow Ganda. They are to be joined by some others at Toronto, and the party are on a trip of discovery.

The executive of the Liberal Association held a meeting on Friday evening to select a candidate to recommend to the department at Ottawa for the position of postmaster, made vacant by the death of Mr. A. H. McGaughey. Mr. Jas. L. Gaulin, the assistant for a number of years, was unanimously chosen.

Mr. John Lennord, who died from injuries inflicted by a vicious horse in a camp near Cornwall, Mich., was a brother of Mrs. Ed. McKenny, Brant street.

Mr. Leo Hogan, of Madoc, spent Sunday in town.

The Deseronto Iron Co. expect a cargo of ore in some day this week. The schooner Jamieson is loading.

The moving picture show expect doing a rushing business for a time here.

The schooner Lizzie Metzner is loading boxes for South Bay.

Mrs. H. Vandusen returned to her home in Picton, after spending a week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Valleau.

Mrs. McGaughey and Mr. Geo. A. McGaughey were at Brockville on Monday to see Mrs. W. J. Johnston, who has been ill in the General Hospital there for some time.

Mr. Chalmers, of Gow Ganda, was in town for a few days.

The schooner Isabel Reed arrived here from Erie with 1012 tons of slack coal for Marlbank cement works.

Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Valleau intend spending the 24th in Picton.

The steamer Belleville on her way to Montreal at 4.30 Wednesday.

Mr. Joseph McDonald, the genial conductor of the Bay of Quinte Ry., intends severing his connection with that corporation on Monday next.

There was a small blaze at the Iron Works on Tuesday. The charcoal shed being the danger point, caused by spontaneous combustion. A number of watchmen were kept in readiness in fear of another outbreak in the night.

A merchant in town was putting his awning in place. He found the ladder too long to get up high enough.

The following was clipped from another paper:

"Victoria, April 1st.—British Columbia's first factory inspector has just been appointed by the provincial government, the attorney-general selecting Mr. C. R. Gordon, of Vancouver, for this new and important post. Mr. Gordon is one of the most capable machinists in the province, being one of the heads of the local mechanical department of the C.P.R., which regrets to lose his services. He also has a wide knowledge of the mechanical requirements of factories, which it will now be his duty to inspect from one end of the province to the other. That Mr. Gordon enjoys the confidence of all the unions was amply shown by their unanimous support of his application for the position. He will at once assume his duties. The appointment is made under the Factories act of 1908."

C. R. Gordon is a son of Mr. Geo. Gordon, a well known resident of Deseronto for many years, whose numerous friends will be pleased to learn of his success.

THE LATE MR. McGAUGHEY.

By the death of Mr. Alex. H. McGaughey, postmaster, which occurred on the evening of Tuesday, the 11th inst., the Town of Deseronto lost one of its oldest residents and most highly esteemed citizens. Although confined to his room for some weeks the news of his death came as a shock upon the community. For the past thirty-nine years Mr. McGaughey had been a resident here, and from the time of his arrival had proven himself a public spirited citizen, and given his best efforts and continuous support to every interest which promoted the welfare of the town and its institutions.

Born in Madoc on July 28th, 1848, receiving his education at the Public school there and later taking a business course at the famous Eastman Business College at Poughkeepsie, N.Y. In [illegible] entered the employ of M[illegible] H. B. Rathbun & Son, at [illegible] then known as Mill Point [illegible] within a few months [illegible] remained continuously in the employ of this Company and their successors, The Rathbun Company. During these years he filled many positions of responsibility and trust with credit to himself and to the satisfaction of the Company by whom he was engaged. In his later years the sales department of this Company was entirely under his control, and it was with keen regret that his resignation on account of failure of health was accepted in January last.

He was deeply interested in matters pertaining to education, and consequently took a lively interest in the progress of the schools. For many years Mr. McGaughey was a valued member of the Town Council and Public School Board, and in 1892 he was also appointed a member of the High School Board, and remained an enthusiastic worker on both Boards until 1906, when owing to physical inability he declined further nomination and appointment.

In politics, Mr. McGaughey was a staunch Liberal and an active member of the local Reform Association until his appointment as postmaster of the Town of Deseronto some six years ago, which office he held at the time of his death. During his ten-

NEWBURGH.

Seeding in this district has been much delayed by the recent wet weather.

Mr. Renault is visiting his sister, Mrs. M. I. Beeman.

Mrs. Walter Brisco entertained on Tuesday, it being the occasion of her 82d birthday.

The cemetery presents a very fine appearance now. Superintendent Sager has worked wonders there and plot holders will have every reason to feel proud of, the work now being done. The subscriptions are now coming in, but as the expenses are not light it is hoped those who have not attended to this part will do so at an early date.

A number from the 'burgh took in "Our Boys" at Napanee on Wednesday night.

Rev. S. F. Dixon, of Tamworth, occupied the pulpit of the Methodist church on Sunday evening.

Miss Vera Benn, Richmond, returned home on Sunday, after a two weeks' visit with her grandmother, Mrs. S. Shorey.

An epidemic of grippe is prevalent in the village.

The town team defeated the High School in an interesting game of baseball on Tuesday night by a score of 7-1. It was a remarkably good exhibition and was played in the fast time of 1.40. Both teams, while weak in hitting, pulled off some fast fielding stunts. Dunn and Reid served 'em up for the town with Fred. Shorts at the receiving end, while Paul and Shewell were on the firing line for the blue and pink with Day Spafford doing the backstopping.

Ross Dougan was in Kingston last week, trying his entrance examination to the Royal Military College.

Percy Patterson left on Wednesday to join the Str. North King, on which boat he has a lucrative position for the summer.

Dr. Beeman was in Enterprise on Wednesday.

The tennis court at the station is being put in shape this week.

McGillivary Aylesworth returned from Toronto on Tuesday, after completing his first year at 'Varsity.

Mr. G. A. Aylesworth was in Toronto last week.

Mrs. Winter is visiting her mother in Selby.

The theatrical event of the season is the presentation of the roaring farce comedy "The Doctor," by the Newburgh Dramatic Club, in Finkle's Hall tonight (Friday) May 21st. The play is being given under the auspices of St. John's church and is really the best the club has ever offered for the approval of a Newburgh audience. The stage settings are particularly pretty, the second act set for a picnic being a marvel of modern stage craft. The following strong cast will be seen in "The Doctor":

Dillington Hopper of New York...... .... H. M. Ryan
Tom Picton, his friend...... ... ... W. D. M. Shorey
Crumley Chuggs, after the widow... .... J. K. Fraser
Napoleon Plunker, also after the widow...... ...W. B. Dunn
Mrs. May Fair, a widow...... ....Mrs. H. M. Ryan
Mrs. Billowby, the widow...Mrs. W. ol
Mrs. Picton, Tom's wife...Miss Grose

Thirty-three reserved seats were sold within two hours after the plan opened on Monday, and the sale this week has been particularly gratifying to those in charge. There are choice seats left, however, and an evening of enjoyment is promised. If you have had the grippe, see "The Doctor." If you have worried over the backward spring—take this tip—"The Doctor" will cure you of the blues. It is not better than the best, but it is better than the rest, so come with the crowd that will fill Finkle's Hall to-night and see the prettiest comedy given here in years. Seat holders are requested to be seated by 7.50, as the curtain will rise at 8. Carriages may be ordered for 10.30.

A STRANGE VOW.

A farmer at Aisby, South Lincolnshire, has a stack of wheat which has been standing in his yard for thirty years. It is understood that he made a vow not to sell under 60s. a quarter, which wheat has never since attained. Although the stack is black with age, the grain is said to be in excellent condition.

DEATH OF J. S. LOCHHEAD

The death occurred on Monday afternoon at the General Hospital, Kingston, of James S. Lochhead, of Centreville, after several weeks' illness. It will be remembered that Mr. Lochhead had trouble with a corn on the outside of his foot and pared it too closely. Then blood-poisoning developed, and he was taken to the hospital, where it was seen that amputation would be necessary if the life of the patient was to be saved. This was done, but the disease had gained such headway that this did not prove successful, and gangrene set in, causing his death. Deceased was seventy-eight years of age, and was a very active man all his life. He was treasurer of the Township of Camden for almost twenty-one years, and before that he was prominent in municipal matters, and served in the Township Council for a number of years. He was also a prominent Orangeman. He was widely known and highly respected, and his hospitality was unbounded. As a neighbor he was kind and thoughtful; always willing to help in time of need and trouble; and will be missed for many a year by his friends and neighbors. Deceased leaves seven children: John A., Hamilton; J. Mortimer, Centreville; William M. O., Berlin; Miss Jennie, at home; Mrs. Craighead, Vancouver; Miss Clara, Berlin; and Miss Laura, Peterboro'. Mrs. Craighead arrived from Vancouver, but too late to see her father alive. The funeral took place yesterday afternoon from his late residence, Centreville, and was conducted by the Orange Order.

MARLBANK.

Our new barber, Mr. Albert Whiteman, is doing a rushing business.

Mr. H. J. Clarke, I.P.S., visited our school on Tuesday, and found everything in good condition.

Mr. Earl Bertram has returned to our village, and is attending school.

The second of the series of elocutionary contests will be held in Baker's Hall on the evening of Victoria Day. A concert is to be given in connection and a first-class program is being prepared. Everybody welcome. Admission 10c and 15c.

Mr. A. Turkington, of Trinity College, Toronto, has returned home for his vacation.

Mr. R. A. Allen and family, late of Yarker, have again taken up their residence here.

Mr. and Mrs. L. Deline attended the funeral of his mother in Enterprise on Friday.

Mr. R. Perry's ice cream parlor is again open for business.

SWITZERVILLE.

The farmers are beginning to feel discouraged, owing to the heavy rains.

Rev. S. F. Dixon, of Tamworth, preached here on Sunday morning, while Rev. M. E. Sexsmith took his service at Tamworth.

Miss Nina Wilson, who has about finished a course in the Belleville Business College, is visiting her mother.

Mr. and Mrs. Wiseman, Napanee, spent Sunday with her brother, Mr. Wm. Robson.

We are glad to see Miss Hazel Parrott again, after an attack of appendicitis.

Miss Pansy Spafford has been in Kingston, having her eyes treated.

We are sorry to say that a number of our people are suffering from la grippe.

Mrs. J. T. Empey entertained a few friends on Tuesday afternoon.

Miss Eva Smith, who has been very ill, is slightly improving.

Miss Olive Switzer, of Kingston Business College, is home for awhile.

Rumor says some weddings soon.

The C. P. R. and G. T. P. crop reports from Winnipeg give most encouraging news from the fields. The weather has been very favorable for growth, although the wet in some localities has hindered seeding somewhat. Wheat seeding is practically done. The bulk of the coarse grain is in, and much of the wheat is now showing above ground.

International Newspaper Bible Study Club

SUGGESTIVE QUESTIONS ON THE SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON BY REV. DR. LINSCOTT FOR THE INTERNATIONAL NEWSPAPER BIBLE STUDY CLUB FOR MAY 23d, 1909.

(Registered in accordance with the Copyright Act.)

The Council at Jerusalem. Acts xv: 1-35.

Golden Text.—We believe that through the grace of the Lord Jesus Christ we shall be saved, even as they. Acts xv: 11.

Verses 1-5.—Are good men liable to hold wrong opinions?

When good men differ in opinion what is the better way in order to reach an understanding?

When a professed Christian gets angry with another Christian, on a mere matter of opinion, has he or not backslidden from the love of God, and what spirit does it show? (This question must be answered in writing by members of the Club).

Circumcision no doubt originated from supposed purposes of health, and physical cleanliness, and afterwards became a national institution of the Jews. State when God first made circumcision the sign, or token, of the covenant between him and Abraham and his seed, and to whom the rite of circumcision and God's covenant extended. (See Gen. xvii.)

Is circumcision now essential to salvation?

Is the belief of any doctrine essential to salvation?

Verses 6-11.—Is experience of God and his dealings with us, conclusive proof of the will of God in the matters which the experience covers?

Is thorough discussion in church courts, a perfectly right way to arrive at the will of God on any matter?

Were those who taught that circumcision was essential to salvation, as well as being narrow, necessarily untrue men?

What is the difference between the "yoke" of the law and the "yoke" of Jesus? (v. 10.)

Verse 12.—Recall some of the wonders done through Paul and Barnabas, among the Gentiles, and say what bearing they had upon the dispute concerning circumcision?

Verses 13-21.—Who was James, who next addressed the council?

James, the brother of Jesus, was the president of this council; is it probable that his address was of the nature of the judgment of the council on this question?

Verses 22-29.—There seems to have been no formal motion passed by the council, but they appear to have reached an unanimous decision as outlined in the address of the president; say whether we are bound to take this decision as the voice of God.

In what particulars is the great wisdom of the council shown in settling this dispute?

Were each of the commandments given in verse 29 intended to be of lasting obligation, or were some of them only temporary?

From whom are Christians to get guidance on all matters in this day?

Verses 30-35.—There never will be a time when disputes may not occur, in the church and between individuals; how should they always be settled?

Did this trouble in the church help it or hurt it, and does God always over-rule trouble, whoever may be the cause of it, for the good of his children?

TOWNSHIP SABBATH SCHOOL CONVENTIONS, JUNE 27th TO JULY 2d, 1909.

Dear Editor,—Will you kindly give me space in your valuable paper to remind the ministers, officers and members of the Township Sabbath School Organizations of the resolution passed at the meeting of the County S. S. Executive, held in the Methodist church, Newburgh, April 23d, 1909. After due consideration it was resolved to ask the Township Organizations to unite in holding a series of Township Conventions on the following dates:

North Fredericksburgh, Sunday, June 27th, 1909.

Sheffield, Monday, June 28th, 1909.

Camden and Newburgh, Tuesday, June 29th, 1909.

Ernesttown and Bath, Wednesday, June 30th, 1909.

Richmond, Thursday, July 1st, 1909.

South Fredericksburgh and Adolphustown, Friday, July 2d, 1909.

This arrangement was agreed upon in order to secure the help of one of the Officers of the Provincial S. S. Association. We have succeeded in getting the help of Mr. J. A. Jackson, B.A., the General Secretary of the Provincial Sabbath School Association. He will remain with us for the whole week, speaking afternoon and evening at each Convention. Mr. Jackson is a very able organizer and speaker, and is brim full of everything we need to help us. We trust that all the friends of our S. S. work may be wide awake to the rare opportunity afforded our S. S. workers, and will leave no stone unturned to have a successful convention in each township. If our organization is to do the work it is intended to do and can do, and if our County Convention is to be a success, it is essential that the Township Conventions be held as above. The Presidents of the Township Organizations are:

North Fredericksburgh—Mr. J. M. Joyce.

Ernesttown and Bath—Mr. P. A. Mabee.

Sheffield—Mr. Smith Gilmour.

Richmond—Mr. C. H. Spencer.

Camden and Newburgh—Mr. Alex. Dickson.

Will these brethren and the ministers of South Fredericksburgh and Adolphustown do what they can towards making the above arrangement a success by calling, on the earliest possible date, a meeting of their several executives, and making full arrangements for holding the Conventions as arranged by the County Executive. Mr. Jackson is coming to us at a great sacrifice, let us not have a failure in a single township. The Township Executive consists of the officers of the organization, the ministers of the various denominations in the township, and all the S. S. superintendents.

As soon as arrangements have been made with the Secretaries, please let me know.

Comfort for Mothers; Health for Children.

Baby's Own Tablets will promptly cure indigestion, colic, constipation, diarrhoea and teething troubles, destroy worms, break up colds, and thus prevent deadly croup. This medicine contains no poisonous opiates or narcotics, and may be given with absolute safety to a new-born child. Mrs. C. L. Manery, Leamington, Ont., says: "My baby suffered from colic and constipation so badly that we did not know what it was to get a good night's rest. But since giving him Baby's Own Tablets the trouble has disappeared, and he now sleeps well. The action of the Tablets is gentle yet very effective." Sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

W. J. TAYLOR PURCHASES CURLER, BOWLER, GOLFER.

The Popular Sporting Paper Has Passed Into the Hands of a Woodstock Publisher.

The Toronto News on Saturday contained the following:

"The Curler, Bowler and Golfer Magazine, published under the patronage of the Ontario Bowling Association, the Western Ontario Bowling Association, the Dominion Bowling Association and the Ontario Curling Association, has changed hands, the purchaser being Mr. W. J. Taylor, of Woodstock, Ontario, the publisher of Canada's two leading sportsmen's magazines, The Rod and Gun Magazine and The Motor Magazine of Canada.

"The Curler, Bowler and Golfer will be published from Toronto as heretofore. Mr. Taylor's experience in magazine publishing will mean even a better monthly magazine for the curlers, bowlers and golfers of Canada. The magazine still retains the patronage of the various Bowling and Curling Associations. The office in future will be at 5 King Street, West, Toronto.

The insurance bill passed the Commons, but it is not expected to get through the Senate this session. The French treaty and Mr. Oliver's immigration act amendments are also likely to stand over.

TESTED RECIPES.

Sanders.—Mince cold mutton or veal with seasoning and enough gravy to moisten. Put into Patty-pans and cover with mashed potato to which a small amount of chopped onion has been added. Bake about twenty minutes or until well browned.

Prune and Cheese Salad.—Mix one-fourth pound of grated cheese with one cupful of chopped walnut meats and a small quantity of salad dressing. Remove seeds from plump stewed prunes, and fill cavities with the mixture. Serve with French dressing.

Ham and Cream Gravy.—Cut ham into pieces suitable for serving. Make in the saucepan in which the ham has been fried a cream gravy. Serve on platter with ham.

Cottage Cheese Salad.—Mix with the cottage cheese red pimentos cut fine and a little chopped parsley. Roll in balls; serve on a lettuce leaf with French dressing.

German Dressing.—Mix one-half teaspoon pepper, one-eighth teaspoon of paprika, two tablespoons of vinegar and four and one-half tablespoons of olive oil. When well blended, add one-half teaspoonful of finely chopped parsley, and one-half tablespoon of finely chopped green pepper.

Marshmallow and Violet Cream.—Cut half a pound of marshmellows in small pieces and soften in the double boiler. Whip one and one-half cups of cream, add one-half cups of powdered sugar, one cup of blanched almonds, minced, a dash of softened marshmellows and [illegible] spoons of cordial [illegible] Keep in cold place until [illegible] serve. Serve in glasses [illegible] with tiny pieces [illegible] candy.

The Bareaud house was the most hospitable in Rouen. Mrs. Bareaud, a southerner, loving to persuade the visitor that her home was his, not hers, lived only for her art, which was that of the table. Mr. Bareaud at fifty had lived so well that he gave up walking, which did not trouble him, but at sixty he gave up dancing, which did trouble him. His only hope, he declared, was in Crailey Gray's promise to invent for him a concave partner.

There was a thin, quizzing shank of a son, Jefferson, who lived upon quinine, ague and deviltry, and there were the two daughters, Fanchon and Virginia. The latter was three years older than Fanchon, as dark as Fanchon was fair, though not nearly so pretty, a small, good natured, romping sprite of a girl who had handed down the heart and hand of Crailey Gray to her sister with the best grace in the world. For she had been the heroine of one of Mr. Gray's half dozen or so most serious affairs, and after a furious rivalry with Mr. Carewe the victory was generally conceded to Crailey. His triumph had been of about a fortnight's duration when Fanchon returned from St. Mary's, and with the advent of the younger sister the elder, who had decided that Crailey was the incomparable she had dreamed of since infancy, was generously allowed to discover that he was not that vision; that she had fallen in love with her own idea of him, whereas Fanchon cared only that he was Crailey Gray.

To be in love with Crailey became Fanchon's vocation. She spent all her time at it and produced a blurred effect upon strangers. Nor was she alone in suspecting Mr. Gray of genius. In the first place, he was so odd; in the second, his poems were "already attracting more than local attention," as the Journal remarked generously, for Crailey had ceased to present his rhymes to that valuable paper. Aye, Boston no less was his mart.

He was rather radical in his literary preferences and hurt the elder Chenoweth's feelings by laughing heartily at some poems of the late Lord Byron, offended many people by disliking the style of Sir Edward Bulwer and even refused to admit that James Fenimore Cooper was the greatest novelist that ever lived. But these things were as nothing compared with his unpatriotic defense of Charles Dickens. Many Americans had fallen into a great rage over the vivacious assault upon the United States in "Martin Chuzzlewit." Nevertheless Crailey still boldly hailed him, as every one had heretofore agreed, the most dexterous writer of his day and the most notable humorist of any day. Of course the Englishman had not visited and thoroughly studied such a city as Rouen, Crailey confessed twinklingly; but, after all, wasn't there some truth in "Martin Chuzzlewit?" Mr. Dickens might have been far from a clear understanding of our people, but didn't it argue a pretty ticklish vanity in ourselves that we were so fiercely resentful of satire, and was not this very heat over "Martin Chuzzlewit" a confirmation of one of the points the book had presented against us? General Trumble replied to this suggestion with a personal one to the effect that a man capable of saying a good word for so monstrous a slander—that a man, sir, capable of declaring his native country to be vain or sensitive, ought to be horsewhipped, and at this Crailey laughed consumedly.

Trumble retorted with the names of Benedict Arnold and Aaron Burr. "And if it comes to a war with these greasers," he spluttered apoplectically, "and it is coming, mighty soon, we'll find Mr. Gray down in Mexico throwing mud on the stars and stripes and cheering for that one legged horse thief, Santa Anna! Anything to seek out something foolish among your own people!"

"Don't have to seek far sometimes, general," murmured Crailey from the depths of the best chair in the club, whereupon Trumble, not trusting himself to answer, went out to the street.

CHAPTER V.

MISS CAREWE was at her desk, writing to Sister Cecilia, whom she most loved of all the world, when the bells startled her with their sudden clangor. The quill dropped from her hand, she started to her feet, wide eyed, not understanding, while the whole town, drowsing peacefully a moment ago, resounded immediately with a loud confusion. She ran to the front door and looked out, her heart beating wildly.

The western sky was touched with a soft rose color, which quickly became a warm glow, fluctuating, and in the instant shot up like the coming of a full aurora. Then through the broken foliage of the treetops could be seen the orange curls of flame, three-quarters of a mile away though they were.

People calling loudly that "it was Carewe's warehouses" were running down the street. From the stable old Nelson on her father's best horse came galloping and, seeing the white figure in the doorway, cried out in a quavering voice without checking his steed:

"I gain' to tell yo' pa, Miss Betty. He in de kentry on lan' bus'ness. Go back in de house, missy!"

The other servants, like ragged sketches in the night, flitted by with excited ejaculations to join the runners, and Miss Betty followed them across the dew strewn turf in her light slippers, but at the gate she stopped.

From up the street came the sound of a bell smaller than those of the churches and courthouse, yet one that outdid all others in the madness of its appeal to clear the way. It was borne along by what seemed at first an indefinite black mass, but which—as the aurora grew keener, producing even here a faint yellow twilight—resolved itself into a mob of hoarsely shouting men and boys, who were running and tugging at ropes which drew along three extraordinary vehicles. They came rapidly down the street and passed Miss Betty with a hubbub and din beyond all understanding—one line of men, most of them in red shirts and oilcloth helmets, at a dead run with the hose cart, a second with the hand engine, the third dragging the ladder wagon. One man was riding, a tall, straight gentleman in evening clothes and without a hat, who stood precariously in the hose cart calling in an annoyed tone through a brazen trumpet. Miss Betty recognized him at once. It was he who caught her kitten, and she thought that if she had been Fanchon Bareaud she must have screamed a warning, for his balance appeared a thing of mere luck, and if he fell he would be trampled under foot and probably run over by the engine. But happily, she remembered, she was not Fanchon Bareaud.

Before, behind and beside the department raced a throng of boys, wild with the joy experienced by their species when property is being handsomely destroyed. After them came panting women, holding their sides and gasping with the effort to keep up with the flying procession.

Miss Betty trembled, for she had never seen the like in her life. She stood close to the hedge and let them go by. Then she turned in after them and ran like a fleet young deer. She was going to the fire.

Over all the uproar could be heard the angry voice through the trumpet calling the turns of the streets to the men in vain, upbraiding them and those of the other two companies impartially, and few of his hearers denied the chief his right to express some chagrin, since the department, organized a half year, hard drilled and this its first fire worth the name, was late on account of the refusal of the members to move until they had donned their new uniforms, for the uniforms had arrived from Philadelphia two months ago, and tonight offered the first opportunity to display them in public.

"Hail Vanrevel!" panted Tappingham Marsh to Eugene Madrillon as the two, running in the van of the "hose company," splattered through a mud puddle. "You'd think he was Carewe's only son and heir instead of his worst enemy. Hark to the man!"

"I'd let it burn if I were he," returned the other.

"It was all Crailey's fault," said Tappingham, swinging an arm free to wipe the spattered mud from his face. "He swore he wouldn't budge without his uniform, and the rest only backed him up, that was all. Crailey said Carewe could better afford to lose his shanties than the overworked department its first chance to look beautiful and earnest. Tom asked him why he didn't send for a fiddle," Marsh finished, with a chuckle.

"Carewe might afford to lose a little, even a warehouse or two, if only out of what he's taken from Crailey and the rest of us these three years."

"Taken from Vanrevel, you mean. Who doesn't know where Crailey's—Here's Main street. Look out for the turn."

They swung out of the thick shadows of Carewe street into full view of the fire, and their faces were illuminated as by sunrise.

The warehouses stood on the river bank, at the foot of the street, just south of the new "covered bridge." There were four of them, huge, bare sided buildings, the two nearer the bridge of brick, the others of wood and all of them rich with stores of every kind of river merchandise and costly freight—furniture that had voyaged from New England down the long coast, across the Mexican gulf, through the flat delta and had made the winding journey up the great river a thousand miles and almost a thousand more, following the greater and lesser tributaries; cloth from Connecticut that had been sold in Philadelphia, then carried over mountains and through forests by steam, by canal, by stage and six mule freight wagons to Pittsburg, down the Ohio and thence up to Rouen on the packet; Tennessee cotton, on its way to Massachusetts and Rhode Island spindles, lay there, beside huge mounds of raw wool from Illinois, ready to be fed to the Rouen mill; dates and nuts from the Caribbean sea, lemons from groves of the faraway tropics, cigars from the Antilles, tobacco from Virginia and Kentucky; most precious of all, the great granary of the farmers' wheat from the level fields at home; and all the rich stores and the houses that held them, as well as the wharfs upon which they had been landed and the steamers that brought them up the Rouen river, belonged to Robert Carewe.

That it was her father's property which was imperiled attested to the justification of Miss Betty in running to a fire, and as she followed the crowd into Main street she felt a not unpleasant proprietary interest in the spectacle. Very opposite sensations animated the breast of the man with the trumpet, who was more acutely conscious than any other that these were Robert Carewe's possessions which were burning so handsomely. Nor was he the only one among the firemen who ground his teeth over the folly of the uniforms, for now they could plainly see the ruin being wrought, the devastation threatened. The two upper stories of the southernmost warehouse had swathed themselves in one great flame, the building next on the north, also of frame, was smoking heavily, and there was a wind from the southwest which, continuing with the fire unchecked, threatened the town itself. There was work for the volunteer brigade that night.

They came down Main street with a rush, the figure of their chief swaying over them on his high perch, while their shouting was drowned in the louder roar of greeting from the crowd into which they plunged as a diver into the water, swirls and eddies of people marking the wake. A moment later a section of the roof of the burning warehouse fell in with a sonorous and reverberating crash.

The engine company ran the force pump out to the end of one of the lower wharfs, two lines of pipe were attached, two rows of men mounted the planks for the pumpers and at the word of command began the up and down of the hand machine with admirable vim. Nothing happened; the water did not come; something appeared to be wrong with the mechanism. As every one felt the crucial need of haste, nothing could have been more natural than that all the members of the engine company should simultaneously endeavor to repair the defect. Therefore ensued upon the spot a species of riot which put the engine out of its sphere of usefulness.

In the meantime fifty or sixty men and boys who ran with the machines, but who had no place in their operation, being the bucket brigade, had formed a line and were throwing large pails of water in the general direction of the southernmost warehouse, which it was now impossible to save, while the gentlemen of the hook and ladder company, abandoning their wagons and armed with axes, heroically assaulted the big door of the granary, the second building, whence they were driven by the exasperated chief, who informed them that the only way to save the wheat was to save the building. Crailey Gray, one of the berated axmen, remained by the shattered door after the others had gone and, struck by a sudden thought, set his hand upon the iron latch and opened the door by this simple process. It was not locked. Crailey leaned against the casement and laughed with his whole soul and body.

Meanwhile, by dint of shouting in men's ears when near them, through the trumpet when distant, tearing axes from their hands, imperiously gesticulating to subordinate commanders and lingering in no one spot for more than a second, Mr. Vanrevel reduced his forces to a semblance of order in a remarkably short time, considering the confusion into which they had fallen.

The space between the burning warehouse and that next it was not more than fifty feet in width, but fifty feet so hot no one took thought of entering there, an area as discomfiting in appearance as it was beautiful with the thick rain of sparks and firebrands that fell upon it. But the chief had decided that this space must be occupied and, more, must be held, since it was the only point of defense for the second warehouse. The roof of this building would burn, which would mean the destruction of the warehouse, unless it could be mounted, because the streams of water could not play upon it from the ground nor from the ladders do much more than wet the projecting eaves. It was a gable roof, the eaves twenty feet lower on the south side than on the north, where the ladders could not hope to reach. Vanrevel swung his line of bucketeers round to throw water not upon the flames, but upon the ladder men.

Miss Carewe stood in the crowd upon the opposite side of the broad street. Even there her cheeks were uncomfortably hot, and sometimes she had to brush a spark from her shoulder, though she was too much excited to mind this. She was watching the beautiful fiery furnace between the north wall of the burning warehouse and the south wall of its neighbor, the fifty feet brilliant and misty with vaporous rose color, dotted with the myriad red stars, her eyes shining with the reflection of their fierce beauty. She saw how the vapors moved there, like men walking in fire, and she was vaguely recalling Shadrach, Meshach and Abed-nego, when over the silhouetted heads of the crowd before her a long black ladder rose, wabbled, tilted crazily, then lamely advanced and ranged itself against the south wall of the second warehouse, its top rung striking ten feet short of the eaves. She hoped that no one had any notion of mounting that ladder.

A figure appeared upon it immediately, that of a gentleman, bareheaded and in evening dress, with a brass trumpet swinging from a cord about his shoulders. The noise grew less, the shouting died away, and the crowd became almost silent as the figure, climbing slowly, drew up above their heads.

Two or three rungs beneath came a second, a man in helmet and uniform. The clothes of both men, drenched by the bucketeers, clung to them, steaming. As the second figure mounted a third appeared, but this was the last, for the ladder was frail and sagged toward the smoking wall with the weight of the three.

LETTER FROM A FORTY-NINER.

Here is a simple, interesting and sincere letter from a rugged pioneer of '49, who braved the dangers and hardships of the overland trail to California. It should appeal to all catarrh victims.

Santa Rosa, Cal., May 5, 1906.
Booth's Hyomei Co., Buffalo, N.Y.

Dear Sirs:—I was afflicted with catarrh and tried a number of remedies, but received no relief. I purchased an outfit of Hyomei, and before I had used the bottle I noted a marked relief. I used it for a month or so, and thought I was cured, and stopped using it for a year or so. Thought I was getting catarrh again and started using it again. I use it every morning, and keep myself clear of catarrh. I consider it the best catarrh medicine that is used. I have often recommended it to my friends. I am 81 years old. I came to California in 1849, and of course am not as vigorous as I was 58 years ago. My address is 841 4th Street. Yours truly, W. Mock.

Hyomei (pronounced High-o-me) is guaranteed by T. B. Wallace, not only for catarrh, but for grip, coughs, colds, bronchitis and croup. A complete outfit, including inhaler, costs only $1.00; extra bottles of Hyomei, if afterwards needed, cost but 50 cents.

Doctors Prescribe It

A Medicine That Appeals to Physicians—They Recognize Its Value—Dr. J. E. Ennis of Atlanta, Ga., Tells the Truth About Vinol.

"I want people to know that I believe the most valuable cod liver oil preparation, the best body-builder, health-restorer and strength-creator known to medicine to-day is Vinol.

"I advise Vinol in my practice, and find it has no equal for healing coughs, colds, bronchial troubles and sore lungs.

"I have used Vinol in many cases of indigestion, mal-assimilation, and for patients who have no appetite, were anaemic and run down, with splendid results. I have also found Vinol to be a boon to the aged.

"I believe Vinol to be well worthy of any honest physician's endorsement."—J. E. Ennis, M.D.

For old people, delicate children, weak, run-down persons, after sickness, and for chronic coughs, colds, bronchitis, and all throat and lung troubles Vinol is unexcelled. Those who try Vinol and receive no benefit may have their money back. T. B. Wallace, Druggist, Napanee.

ALWAYS A GOOD FRIEND.—In health and happiness we need no friends but when pain and prostration come we look for friendly aid from sympathetic hands. These hands can serve us no better than in rubbing in Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil, for when the Oil is in the pain is out. It has brought relief to thousands who without it would be indeed friendless.

He—Well, I have no reason to doubt it. I know it is the nature of the fair sex to want the last word.

AN END TO BILIOUS HEADACHE.—Biliousness, which is caused by excessive bile in the stomach, has a marked effect upon the nerves, and often manifests itself by severe headache. This is the most distressing headache one can have. There are headaches from cold, from fever, and from other causes, but the most excruciating of all is the bilious headache. Parmelee's Vegetable Pills will cure it—cure it almost immediately. It will disappear as soon as the pills operate. There is nothing surer in the treatment of bilious headache.

"What would you do if a band of brigands should suddenly confront you?"

"Light the gas as if it was a dream, and talk to my neighbor as if it was a comic opera."

THEY ARE NOT VIOLENT IN ACTION.—Some persons, when they wish to cleanse the stomach, resort to Epsom and other purgative salts. These are speedy in their action, but serve no permanent good. Their use produces incipient chills, and if persisted in they injure the stomach. Nor do they act upon the intestines in a beneficial way. Parmelee's Vegetable Pills answer all purposes in this respect, and have no superior.

Wife (wearily, without glancing up)—I'm listening.

The change of dietary that comes with spring and summer has the effect in weak stomachs of setting up inflammation, resulting in dysentery and cholera morbus. The abnormal condition will continue if not attended to and will cause an exhaustive drain on the system. The best available medicine is Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Dysentery Cordial. It clears the stomach and bowels of irritants, counteracts the inflammation and restores the organs to healthy action.

"Let me kiss those tears away!" he begged, tenderly.

She fell in his arms and he was busy for the next few minutes. And yet the tears flowed on.

"Can nothing stop them?" he asked, breathlessly sad.

"No," she murmured; "it is hay fever, you know. But go on with the treatment."

ENTERPRISE.

House cleaning is the order of the day.—Mr. William Hamilton is the guest of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. Hamilton, after an absence of four years. Welcome home, Will.—We are pleased to say Miss Etta Kellar is convalescing, she having been ill for several weeks with bronchial trouble.—Work is progressing favorably on St. John's church, under the able management of Mr. H. Young, of Marlbank.—Mr. W. Bell's ice cream parlor is open for the season. He has had it thoroughly renovated, and it presents a very creditable appearance.—Mrs. S. B. Merrill and Master Victor intend leaving this week for Watertown to visit her sisters for several weeks.—The people of this community were grieved and shocked on Monday when they learned of the sudden death of Mrs. Chas. D. Wagar. Mrs. Wagar suffered a paralytic stroke on Friday night, from which she never rallied, and passed peacefully to her reward early Monday morning. She was a lady who endeared herself to all who had the pleasure of her acquaintance and her early demise will be keenly felt, both in social and church work, she being an active member of the Ladies' Aid, and all the different branches of work in the Methodist church. Her funeral on Wednesday was one of the largest ever held in the Methodist church here. Her pastor, Rev. Mr. Whyte, preached an impressive sermon from St. John, 8 and 12. Rev. Mr. Horton, of Morven, a former pastor, and Rev. W. H. Gimsley, of Napanee, also took part in the service. The sympathy of a large circle of friends and acquaintances is extended to Mr. Wagar in his hour of bereavement.—Miss Florence Wagar, of Newburgh High School, is at home this week on account of the death of her aunt, the late Mrs. C. D. Wagar.—We are sorry to say Miss Gertie Carscallen is very low at time of writing.—Mr. Hugh Hinchey has been on the sick list for the past two weeks.

A Sale of White Underwear Samples

Commencing To-morrow, Saturday, May 22nd, and Continuing One Week.

As intimated in last week's Beaver we announce a one week sale of Women's and Children's White Underwear. The Eclipse Whitewear Company of Toronto, who have one of the finest equipped factories in Canada, have let us have their samples of Whitewear. Every garment in the lot is beautifully made and are equal in quality to any we have had this season in our regular stock. Fact is these samples are the very sett from which we selected our stock. If you are our regular customer for Whitewear you will know just what to expect in quality. The saving to you will be at least twenty cents on the dollar. A good way to prove the unusualness of this sale is to compare the cost of materials with our price for the complete garment. Backed by our guarantee and standard of workmanship it discounts home sewing. Everything will be marked in plain figures.

The following items were picked at random, and are representative of what we have for you.

At the Foundation of This Business

Is the idea of good service for everybody. Perhaps nine stores out of ten are organized with the idea of supplying the person of average wants with average merchandise. Robinson's is the tenth store. Not one person in a thousand, if we can make it so, need go away from the Robinson Store without getting exactly what is wanted.

Of course we are not infallible. But we are persistent and experienced and have unusual facilities and no end of energy in working to get the right things. And along with the will to provide an unusual good service for everybody goes the will to tell the clear, plain, interesting truth about the merchandise both in the advertising and across the counters.

General Who Surrendered Port Arthur at Liberty.—Rear-Admiral Nebogatoff Also Released—Health of Both Men Greatly Affected by Confinement in Fortress of St. Peter and St. Paul.

St. Petersburg, May 18.—Lieutenant-General Anatole M. Stoessel and Rear Admiral Nebogatoff have been released from confinement in the fortress of St. Peter and St. Paul by order of Emperor Nicholas. The health of both men has been gravely affected by their confinement.

Gen. Stoessel was found guilty by court-martial of surrendering the fortress of Port Arthur to the Japanese and was serving a sentence of ten years' imprisonment. Nebohatoff was sentenced to be interred in a fortress for the same length of time for surrendering to the enemy at the battle of the Sea of Japan. Stoessel began his sentence March 20th, 1908, while Nebogatoff took up his quarters in the fortress April 15th, 1907.

FOUND FIFTY SKELETONS.

Gruesome Discovery Made in Niagara Peach Orchard.—Deep Burial Pit in Which Bodies Had Evidently Been Piled Without Order. — Doctor Thinks Skulls Not Those of White Men.

Buffalo, N.Y., May 18.—A gang of men at work in the peach orchard of Edward J. Sweeney of Orange Port, Niagara County, to-day uncovered the skeletons of about fifty human beings. Dr. C. F. Johnson, of Gasport, who was driving by, was called to the edge of the burial pit and thereafter directed the work until darkness put a stop to the men's actions. Dr. Johnson says: "The pit now excavated is about six feet long by four feet wide and as many deep. So far as we could see the bodies are piled in without order.

"The skulls that I have examined are progenithous; that is, they have low foreheads and heavy jaws, and seem not to have belonged to white men. On the other hand, although I am not an anthropologist nor an ethnologist, and have only the neighborhood lore in Indian history, I have never heard or read of an Indian burying ground where there was such a lack of system and ceremonial.

The excavation will be continued to-morrow.

OBITUARY

Mrs. Mary Fairbairn passed peacefully away at her home, North Fredericksburgh, after a short illness of bronchitis. Her maiden name was Mary Strain; her father and mother's name being John and Susan Strain. She had three brothers and two sisters, she being the last surviving one of the family. She was born in the County Down, Ireland, in the year 1821. In 1847 she sailed for America, where she has spent the remainder of her days. She led a very active life and was favorable to all who knew her. As to religion she was a Presbyterian. In 1856 she was married to James Fairbairn, of Camden, who predeceased her sixteen years ago. Their only child, Mrs. Thomas Gould, died twenty years ago.

DESERONTO.

ure of office the beautiful public building of which Deseronto is justly proud, was erected, and the postal service under his control was a model in system and convenience.

As a firm believer in "fraternity" he took a deep interest in the work of fraternal societies and entered heartily into their work, being a charter member of both Craig Lodge A. F. & A. M. and Deseronto Lodge I.O.O.F. He was ever ready to give a helping hand to the distressed His genial disposition and ready advice made him hosts of friends, and particularly was this the case in connection with those associated or brought in contact with him in his daily work. Immediately upon the news of his death flags at halfmast were flown from the public buildings, the schools and other institutions. He leaves to mourn his loss, a widow, two sons and three daughters. The funeral ceremonies on Thursday, the 13th inst., were largely attended, many of his old business associates coming from a distance to pay their last respects to his memory. After a private family service, his remains were conveyed from his late residence to St. Mark's church, where the beautiful burial service of the Church of England was rendered by the Rector, Rev. T. O'Connor Fenton, after which the procession slowly rendered its way to Deseronto cemetery, where the impressive Masonic burial service was rendered by Rt. Wor. Bro. R. J. Craig, and the departed brother laid to rest with Masonic honors. The funeral was conducted by Craig Lodge No. 401, A. F. & A. M., and in addition to a large attendance of the local members, a number of brethern from Sister Lodges were present. Many beautiful floral tributes of respect and sympathy were upon and around his casket. The pall-bearers were His Honor Judge Deroche, J. M. Herley, ex-M.P., S. Russell, ex-M.P.P., A. S. Valleau, Collector of Customs, Geo. W. Wright and D. L. Macfarlane, of the Rathbun Company's head office staff.

CHAPIN—KENNEDY.

On Wednesday afternoon, May 19th with lovely spring weather, Christ Church, Tamworth, was the scene of another pretty wedding, this time between Mr. F. W. Chapin, the popular teller and accountant of the Sterling Bank of this village, and Miss Harriet J. Kennedy. The pretty bride was daintily gowned in navy blue silk and wore a pretty tuscan hat, and was led to the altar by her uncle, a guardian, Mr. Herb. Kennedy. Mendelssohn's wedding march was delightfully rendered by Mr. Summons, F. G. O. (loud). Many friends were present, and the restor, the Rev. J. W. Jones, officiated. After the ceremony the happy pair and guests returned to the bride's home, where an elegant breakfast was served. Many pretty, useful and costly were the presents to the bride and groom, who purpose, after a short holiday, to take up residence in Toronto, followed by the good wishes of all the villagers.

WANTS FAMILY SEAT.

Sir Edward Gordon Johnston Taking Steps to Acquire His Estate.

The report is current that steps are being taken by Sir Edward Gordon Johnson and some friends, who are acting in his interests in the matter to acquire the old Johnson family manor house and grounds at Rougemont, near Chambly, Quebec, as a family residence.

The manor has historical and other associations which impart an interest to it that few buildings around Montreal possess. For generations it represented all that was left of the vast estates that were owned by the first Sir Wm. Johnson chiefly on the Mohawk River in New York State. The great domains that Sir William owned were confiscated by the United States Government at the close of the war of the American Revolution as a punishment for his loyalty to the British crown.

The Canadian patrimony was never great as compared with the huge Mohawk crown possessions, but it with the house that stood where the end of the Bonsecour market now is, once formed the city residence of the succeeding baronet, was the remnant that remained with the family of wealth that had it passed on intact with the title would probably have equalled even that of Rockefeller.

Sir Edward, who is still a clerk in the office of the auditor of agencies of the C.P.R., and looking as bright and cheerful as if he possessed all the millions that his ancestor might have had if he had taken the other side in the war, said recently, he was not yet in a position to state what action is being taken with a view to the recovery of the estate which the last baronet allowed to pass out of his hands; but he hopes the efforts now being made in that direction will be successful. A number of the family relics, including pictures and silver are in the Chateau Ramsey.

TOWN COUNCIL.

Council Chambers,
Napanee, May 17th, 1909.

Council met in regular session on Monday evening, Mayor Simpson in the chair.

Members present were Councillors Alexander, Bogart, Gibbard, Steacy, Burrows, Kimmerly.

Minutes of last session were read and confirmed.

COMMUNICATIONS.

From F. F. Miller, C.E., stating that he had examined the covered bridge and considered it unsafe. The trestle work had been carried away this spring by the ice flow, and at the present time it was in a dangerous condition, and unsafe for public travel.

Considerable time was taken up in reference to the safety of the covered bridge. Street Commissioner Lowry said it has been tested with very heavy loads, and as much as four tons had gone over it in one load, and showed no signs of weakening. Each cable under it is guaranteed to hold twelve tons, and he could not see any danger of a collapse, but as soon as the water went down, it would be fixed up with sufficient supports, which would make it positively safe for some time to come.

Moved by Reeve Ruttan, seconded by Coun. Gibbard, that the communication be filed. Carried.

From W. S. Herrington, stating that the Napanee Gas Co. were willing to have any nuisance, such as was caused last year, abated, and asked that if any person would point out where any nuisance was being caused at the present time, he was willing to have the same remedied at once. On motion ordered filed.

A communication was received, signed by a number of citizens of the town, asking that the sum of $100.00 be paid to the Napanee band for services tendered at weekly concerts in the Harvey Warner park, during the summer months. On motion the prayer of the petition was granted, same to be paid at end of season.

The report of the Streets Committee, re granolithic walk in front of S. C. Denison's property, was adopted, with the understanding that the Streets committee make a contract with him; that H. V. Fralick be allowed sufficient tile with which to cross the street, which was granted; that no poundkeeper had been appointed since last meeting; that different people in town were digging up the streets in different parts of the town and causing more or less annoyance. Report adopted.

Coun. Gibbard reported re Napanee Waterworks Co., which was adopted.

On motion the Fire, Water and Light Committee were instructed to negotiate for the purchase of 500 feet of hose.

Coun. Alexander reported as follows: That the tender of Samuel Howard, as caretaker of the Harvey Warner park, at a salary of $80.00, be accepted, he to furnish his own tools; also he would recommend payment of the account of M. S. Madole, of $9.50. Report adopted.

Coun. Steacy, Chairman of Poor and Sanitary Committee, reported that Mrs. Asselstine, living on Water street, had been taken to Kingston General Hospital.

The Chief of Police was appointed to look after the dog nuisance in town, and every dog not licensed or tagged by July 1st, 1909, will be impounded or destroyed.

Moved by Reeve Ruttan, seconded by Councillor Gibbard, that the sum of $4.00 be granted to Mrs. Hamilton as special relief. Carried.

Mr. J. Storms appeared before the Council, stating that the water had backed up and flooded his cellar, and thought he should be helped out in the matter. No action taken.

Moved by Coun. Alexander, seconded by Coun. Steacy, that the use of the Council Chamber be accorded to the Napanee Cheese Board for the season of 1909 on the same terms as previously. Carried.

Moved by Coun. Gibbard, seconded by Coun. Bogart, that the Solicitor be instructed to enter proceedings against R. J. Cartwright in the Division Court to test the tax by-law of 1408, in the First Division Court sitting. Lost.

THE NEWEST WINNIPEG

COCHRANE, ONT., IS ALREADY BOOMING AHEAD.

Town Lots Still In the Virgin Forest Are Sold to Long-Sighted Buyers Who Are Expecting a Great City Where Now the Wolves Bay at Nights—145 Lots Bring In More Than Fifty Thousand Dollars.

The people of Canada, and of Ontario in particular, have not yet realized the full significance of the event which took place recently, when 145 lots of the new townsite of Cochrane, the junction of the Temiskaming & Northern Ontario Railway and the National Transcontinental, were sold by public auction, the sale taking place on the surveyed site of the new town, says W. M. Scanlan in The Toronto Globe.

The event and the manner in which it was conducted were remarkable in more ways than one. To the superficial observer it would seem that the faith that would lead a man to purchase at a high price a town lot 66 feet by 132 on which virgin forest still stands, and which, though but a few blocks away, he can see only on the plan, the bush being too thick to allow of his penetrating to his prospective, or newly-acquired purchase, indicates either that the man is exceptionally foresighted or exceptionally foolhardy. The writer, after having accompanied the 600 pioneer buyers on their expedition into the far north—Cochrane is 500 miles nearer the north pole in a direct line than Toronto—is of the opinion that the surprising thing is not that so many went, but that so few of our Canadian business men, supposedly aggressive and alive to the opportunities of a new country, have realized what the signs of the times, as applying to Cochrane, portend.

The journey of the big train of twelve coaches from Toronto to Cochrane was of momentous significance. In the first place it signified the completion of the Ontario Government's railway, the Temiskaming & Northern. For three years or more this road has been pushing its way northward into the heart of an unknown wilderness, which is now revealing formerly undreamed-of riches in minerals and choice farming lands. The "Cochrane Special," as it was called, was the first train to make the complete journey from North Bay to the junction with the Transcontinental right-of-way, a distance of 255 miles.

The train itself was a most exceptional one. It consisted of two private cars, three Pullmans, a dining-car, five day coaches, and a baggage-car fitted with a lunch counter, 12 cars in all. To take a train like that over a newly-completed track, over muskeg and high trestles newly built, required considerable faith in the work of the contractor, but the journey was made without a hitch. Arrived at Cochrane, the buyers found themselves still three-quarters of a mile away from the town. As a result, a long line of growling, grumbling, slipping, sprawling men had to pick their way through the mud and over the corduroy to the freight shed in which the sale was to take place. These intrepid explorers on their quest for investment were, however, not balked by so small an item as mud.

The sale lasted two hours. The total price paid for the 145 lots was $50,425. Twenty-five per cent. of this was paid down in cash. The buyers, according to their agreement, will erect buildings on their lots within a year. Five banks purchased sites.

What does all this mean? It means that, here at the junction of two great railways, one extending across the continent, the other forming the outlet to the populous country to the south, are conditions such as no town ever before had at its birth to justify its being brought into existence. It means that here, in the centre of the great clay belt, which may prove to be the best hay, root and grain-producing country in the world, with an outlet to the markets of Great Britain which will bring them closer than they have ever been before, a town has been commenced, not haphazard, or at random, but by design, by men who have thought well of what they are about, and who know the situation thoroughly; and this town will, in all probability, within the next ten or fifteen years, show feats of rapid growth such as have never before been seen in this country.

And here is something which some, even of those who have invested in property in the new town, have not taken into consideration. East of Cochrane lies the Abitibi River, penetrating into the heart of a country which is known to possess immense quantities of pulpwood, as well as good timber, of which pine forms a large percentage. Some seven miles to the west of Cochrane lies the Frederick House River, which penetrates into another part of the same country. Hitherto, the timber resources of these northern woods have been untouched for want of an outlet for their products. Now, however, with these two waterways and their network of tributaries tapped by a railway which can carry their wealth either east to the Atlantic, west to the Pacific, or south to lower Ontario, and the United States, lumbering on a large scale will commence at once. And Cochrane will be the distributing point for this great timber wealth. Can Cochrane fail to become a metropolis?

NO HURRY-UP WAGON.

Big City of Winnipeg Is Without a Black Maria.

It is a remarkable fact that Winnipeg, now a city of over a hundred thousand people, has not a single police patrol wagon. When a drunken or disorderly person is arrested on the streets of the western metropolis, the policeman simply grabs the man and drags and hustles him along to the "coop," leaving his own beat unguarded in the meantime. One has only to recall some of the stirring arrests made in by-gone days in one's little old home village to realize the excitement of such a scene. The Winnipeg newspapers, however, say that the people there are disgusted with the degrading spectacle of helplessly intoxicated people being hauled along the sidewalks of the city, and an agitation is on foot for the inauguration of an urban police system. This is an excellent illustration of the fact that the west is growing so rapidly in a physical sense that conventional clothing can't be made fast enough to fit it from day to day. But the west needn't worry about that. As long as its sturdy growth continues—and nothing can stop it—it will have all the essentials of civilization, even if it has to do without a few of the frills for a while.

Wanted to Match Him.

An Englishwoman temporarily residing in Toronto assured the writer that such a thing as a debt on a church is unknown in England. He is not one of the sort who easily "rests assured," and has since learned from another Englishwoman, whose acquaintance with churches is probably more intimate, that upon the parish church which she attended in Lancashire, a debt, dating from the time of Oliver Cromwell, was only recently paid in full. Travelers' tales of the marvellous are more interesting when the narrator's imagination, rather than his innocence, is brought into play.

This recalls the story of a Canadian lawyer, who, while in England, consulted a celebrated specialist with the object of relieving the anxiety of his friends at home.

Having inquired the amount of the doctor's fee, he placed the gold coin on his palm, covered it with the other hand, and invited the physician to match him.

"But, I don't understand," gravely replied Sir Andrew, perhaps beginning to suspect that he had overlooked some symptom in the case.

"Oh, we always do that in Canada. Doubles or quits, you know. We'll match to see if you get two guineas or none."

No doubt Sir Andrew made a note of this extraordinary colonial custom, but he didn't choose to speculate.

Progressive British Columbia.

The energetic advertising campaign now being carried out by the British Columbian Government, not only in the press, but also by cinematograph exhibitions in connection with fruit displays throughout the country, has already reaped its harvest, and there is no doubt that the most striking feature of the emigration season next spring will be the number of well-to-do farmers, squires' sons, yeomen, and young fellows generally with $5,000 or more of capital, who will cross the Atlantic for the orchard lands of the Okanagan, Kamloops, Nelson, the Thompson and Fraser Valleys, Vancouver Island, and other fruit-growing districts opened up by the C.P.R. The Pacific slope has always been the most British part of Canada, and these emigrants, or rather "migrants," will find that they are transferring their energies to a portion of the Empire which is in sentiment and practice very similar to the Old Country.—Standard of Empire.

Prosperity In New Brunswick.

Business in New Brunswick has been brisk, and the year will prove to have been a most satisfactory one for farmers, merchants, and manufacturers, with the exception of the lumber operators, who report a dull season. The potatoe crop has been the best in many years, and farmers are selling for a dollar a barrel on a rising market.

In a Hurry.

A Chinese woman was fanning the corpse of her husband, and, being asked by the neighbors why she fanned a dead man in the middle of winter, she replied, "My husband's last words were, 'Wife, wait till I am cold before you marry again.'"—Scrap Book.

BAD LEG FOR 60 YEARS

ZAM-BUK WORKS A COMPLETE CURE.

Mrs. J. Miatt, of 192, Thurber Avenue, Providence, Rhode Island, has been cured by Zam-Buk of a bad leg, which had defied all remedies for sixty long years. She says:—"When a child of eight, I was bitten on the leg by a dog. A doctor cauterised the place, but it never healed up soundly, and I have suffered with an ulcerated leg for over sixty years. This occurred in England, and many English doctors tried in vain to heal the sore. At one time I was an in-patient at the East Suffolk Hospital for a long period, and for three years I was in and out of hospitals. I was continually in pain, and the sore would not heal, but continued to discharge. Twelve months ago I came out here to my daughter, and during the voyage I had to keep my bed. The ship's doctor examined my leg, and gave me a plaster, which I had to take off again, as it made the pain so intense. When I reached my daughter's house, she sent for a medical man, who said nothing could ever do it any good, and although I tried other American doctors, they did me no good. They said my leg would never be well.

"One day my youngest daughter brought home a box of Zam-Buk, and induced me to try it. With the first application I seemed to find ease, and further treatment with Zam-Buk did me so much good that I sent for a proper supply. I kept on with the Zam-Buk treatment, and soon saw that the wound was getting better. The discharge was reduced, and the pain was eased. I persevered with the Zam-Buk, and, to cut a long story short, it effected a cure. It is marvellous to think that, after suffering for sixty years, Zam-Buk has been able to make my leg perfectly sound."

Zam-Buk is a combination of power and purity. Purely herbal, it is superior to all known remedies for chronic sores and wounds, eczema, salt-rheum, ringworm, eruptions, varicose, ulcers, cuts, burns, bruises, skin diseases. It also cures piles. All Druggists and Stores sell at 50c. a box, or post-free from Zam-Buk Co., Toronto, for price. Three boxes for $1.25.

Christmas Excursions.

The good times following on a bumper harvest have enabled a large number of Canadians to go over to Britain for Christmas. The Old Country has the deepest fascination for the new countries overseas, and the homesteader in the Northwest, who may have gone from England in despair, still looks forward to the day when he can afford to revisit his old home. This year the Canadian Pacific experienced such heavy Christmas bookings that they arranged a special Christmas excursion direct from Canada to the port of London, by the steamer Montfort; and a thousand excursionists from the great Dominion should land at Millwall dock in time to see the pantomimes and do their Christmas shopping under the shadow of St. Paul's.

Battle River Bridge.

The big bridge over Battle river, which has prevented the Grand Trunk Pacific from entering Edmonton for so many months, is now ready. The weather has been most favorable for the work. Every effort will be made to complete the G.T.P. line to Edmonton as quickly as possible. Over 1,200 carloads of railway material have been assembled at Wainwright, Alberta, for use in the construction of the line west of that town. The contract for the new station at Wainwright, Alberta, has been let. The building will cost about $12,000. The Canadian Northern Railway has built more than 350 miles of road this season. The company has surveyed about 3,000 miles of extension, upon which construction work will begin next year.

Rush to Alberta.

The movement of homeseekers from the United States to Southern Alberta during the months of October and November has shown an astonishing increase over the same months of 1907. The entries for homesteads at the Calgary office alone shows an increase of 206 over 1907.

STOMACH COMFORT

WHEN THE STOMACH REBELS, HEADACHE, INDIGESTION AND NERVE PAIN FOLLOWS — MI-O-NA BRINGS RELIEF.

Just as soon as you are done eating the healthy stomach commences to churn the food around and mixes it thoroughly with the juices of the stomach.

If the food is not churned, it lays heavily on your stomach, turns sour and causes all kinds of distressing symptoms, such as headache, indigestion, stomach pain and dyspepsia. Mi-o-na helps the stomach to properly mix the food.

John S. May, of Isabella Street, Belleville, Ont., says: "For over seven months I was in constant agony with a case of nervous dyspepsia and indigestion that medical skill could not relieve. I was weak and had lost much weight through loss of appetite and suffering. My meals would fill me with gas and a feeling of oppression across the stomach and all up the left side, left me in a miserable condition. I was restless at night and as tired and unrefreshed in the morning as on going to bed. A choking sensation in my throat was always constant when lying down, and my heart seemed to flutter and pound as though it were coming out through my side. I was benefitted from the first two days' use of Mi-o-na. I began to feel like myself again, my appetite returned and the depressive feeling left me. I can enjoy my meals without the worry of after suffering. I have gained in weight and can sleep the nights through in comfort.

Go to T. B. Wallace, the druggist, and get a 50-cent box of Mi-o-na Tablets. Money back if Mi-o-na does not cure.

Need Young Priests.

The pioneer Roman Catholic missionaries, who have been working all their lives in Northern Canada, are now growing too old to endure the hardships of their mission fields, and fresh, younger blood is found to be needed to recruit the ranks. These soldiers of the cross are being drawn from the young French-Canadians, and, in order to prepare them for the missionary service, an endeavor is being made to raise a sufficient sum to establish a seminary at some suitable place in the Mackenzie Valley region, where the young priests may receive proper attention.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Cured Her.

Toronto, Canada.—"I shall [illegible] to describe to you how I felt before I began taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I scarcely knew what it was to be well. I had awful bearing-down pains and usually before my monthly periods I suffered terribly and had to go to bed. I was not able to walk across the floor [illegible] was so bad I suffered for a long time but the doctor's treatment did not do me any good. I gave up all hope of ever being well again until one day my husband saw the Compound advertised in the paper. He decided to get me a bottle and I am thankful he did. I had not taken one bottle before I began to feel better, and I kept on taking it until now I am a different woman. It also helped me during maternity and childbirth. I can thoroughly recommend your Vegetable Compound to any woman who is afflicted with female troubles."—Mrs. J. M. TWEEDALE, 158 Nassau St., Toronto, Canada.

The success of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, is unparalleled. It may be used with perfect confidence by women who suffer from displacements, inflammation, ulceration, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, bearing-down feeling, flatulency, indigestion, dizziness, or nervous prostration.

CREAM OF THE WEST FLOUR

You are always safe in buying "Cream of the West" flour. Never varying in quality, the contents of one bag are exactly like the contents of every other bag—always up to the standard.

"Cream of the West" flour is made from only the hardest of hard Manitoba wheat, by the full Hungarian process. It fairly exhales the essence of prairie strength and purity.

"Cream of the West" is a home flour—nourishing, toothsome, and the standard for the housewife who prides herself on her baking. That's the reason why grocers recommend it.

MORVEN.

The farmers are very busy seeding, owing to the frequent showers they have been delayed.—Mr. Fred Perry's cheese factory will soon be completed. He expects to open it about the 1st of June.—The ladies are looking somewhat brighter. House-cleaning is almost done.—Miss Opha Funnell returned on Monday last from Frontenac Business College, Kingston.—Mrs. J. A. Clute is still on our sick list. We hope soon to see her out with us again.—Mr. James Frink is busy tearing down his barn. He intends replacing it with a new one.—Mr. James Mills is sporting a new buggy. Girls, who is to have the first drive?—Mr. Fred Perry had the misfortune to lose a good horse last week.—Mr. John Funnell returned home on Monday, after spending a couple of months on a hunting expedition.

CHAMBERS.

Farmers are busy these fine days, putting in their crops. Meadows and fall grain look fine in these parts.—Mr. Dingman has purchased Mr. S. Close's old house which has stood here for many years, and is removing it farther down the road.—House cleaning is the order of the day; fishing by night.—Mr. Harry Woodruff, Sydenham, has the wall up for his new mill. We wish him every success.—Mr. Willie O. Chambers has taken unto himself a wife, and is residing in our midst. Congratulations, Willie.—Mr. J. R. Fraser is on the sick list.—Mr. Michael Twambley was taken suddenly ill on Sunday, and was removed to the Hotel Dieu, Kingston, on Tuesday for treatment.—Mr. F. A. Perry is still rushing the factory along.—On Tuesday evening the sound of guns, horns and bells could be heard quite distinct. I wonder why?—Messrs. F. A. Perry and L. Young each lost a horse last week.

FOREST MILLS.

Very little spring's work is done around here on account of the incessant rains.—The Ladies' Aid held a meeting on Tuesday evening, and purpose having a lawn social on Wednesday evening, May 26th, on J. R. Ackerman's lawn. Admission 15c.—Quarterly meeting will be held in the Methodist church here on Sunday afternoon, at 2.30.—We are sorry to hear Master Frank McFarlane is not improving as fast as expected. He has been troubled with rheumatism.—Mr. and Mrs. Fred. Weese and little son, of Selby, spent Sunday at J. R. CENTREVILLE.

We were all much grieved to hear of the sudden death of Mrs. C. D. Wagar, Enterprise. She was well known in this vicinity, having lived here for a number of years.—Mr. Jas. Lochhead sr. is very low in the General Hospital, Kingston. No hope is given of his recovery. He will be sadly missed, and his family have our sincere sympathy.—Our Sabbath School is progressing very favorably with Mr. R. Milligan as superintendent, and Rev. J. White as Bible Class teacher.—The correspondent for last week spoke rather slightingly of the work done by our school trustees up to the present. Perhaps he is not aware that last year the school house received a thorough renovating. It was freshly papered and painted, and a hard maple floor was added, as well as all the equipment prescribed by the Educational Department, so that the levelling of the yard and building of a fence to which he refers, only completes the plans made by our faithful trustees in the past.—Miss Nellie McKeown, Erinsville, has been visiting her aunt, Mrs. Jas. O'Ray.—Mrs. Allen Peters and children are visiting relatives in Odessa.—Mr. and Mrs. J. Reid and daughter spent Sunday at her father's, Mr. Wm. J. Hinchey.—Mr. T. E. McGill has a fresh stock of pineapples, bananas, oranges and lemons. Now is the time to buy.—Mr. and Mrs. M. Shannon visited Mrs. Wm. McGill, recently.

CHURCH STREET.

Mr. Thomas Snider continues very low.—Mr. William Wagar had the misfortune to lose a horse by getting its leg broken.—The Government dam at Fifth Lake was badly damaged on Monday morning. It is unknown how it happened.—Mr. I. Wells has returned home, after spending a few weeks at Croghan, N.Y.—Miss Ruth Kellar spent Sunday with Miss G. Shane.—Mr. Emerson Snider, of Moscow, at his father's.—Mr. D. Keech is spending a few weeks at G. Wagar's, Ballahac.—Mr. H. Davy, of Enterprise, at S. King's, on Thursday evening.—J. Shane called on A. King, on Tuesday.—Mr. A. King and Miss E. Oderkirk took dinner at Mr. F. Hawley's, Enterprise, on Thursday last.—E. Baker and sister Ida at G. King's, on Sunday.—Mr. Elivi Snider, of Ahmic Harbor and sister, Minnie, of Napanee, arrived home to see their father, who is very low.—Mrs. Samuson King and Miss Ella Oderkirk dined at River Street, on Friday last.—Misses G. Shane and G. Cousins at W. Keech's, on Sunday.—Mr. Isaac Oderkirk died on Wednesday, after a severe cancer in his cheek. We extend our sympathy to his many friends.

DORLAND.

The Woman's Institute met at Mrs L. P. Trumpour's, on Friday, 14th, for the first time under the management of the new officers, viz., President, Mrs. (Dr.) Dorland; Vice-President, Mrs. W. D. Roblin; Secretary-Treasurer, Miss Carr.—Mrs. Reynolds is improving, after a very serious illness for the last ten days.—Mrs. Marsh Mallory and Mrs. W. T. Hollis spent a day recently in Picton.—Mr. J. F. Roblin has not been as well as usual for the past few days.—Miss Maggie Wright and Miss Gurren, of Sandhurst, visited Mrs. Luke Trumpour, on Friday and Saturday.—Mr. Gilbert Bogart we are pleased to see with us again for the warm weather.—Mrs. (Dr.) Allison, of Williamsport, N.Y., and Miss Roberts, of Toronto, have been spending the last two weeks with their parents, Canon and Mrs. Roberts.—Mrs. Harry Balfour, of Glen Ross, is with Mrs. Arthur Allison and Mrs. Harry Chalmers, of Parma, this week.—After spending the winter in New York City with her son, E. H. Curlette, Mrs. C. J. Curlette returned to her farm home on Wednesday. Welcome back.—There is quite a lot of talk of a new telephone line throughout this locality. If it ever materializes it will be very much appreciated by the residents.—Word has been received by Mr. John Roblin that his youngest son, Ernest, is in a very critical state of health and the worst is feared.

A Question Of Health.

Without Rich, Red Blood You Cannot be Healthy —How to Obtain This Blessing.

If every woman and young girl would realize the danger of allowing blood to become thin and poor, would understand that the majority of common diseases are caused by an anaemic (or bloodless) condition, that persistent pallor means that the blood is not furnishing the organs with the required amount of nourishment, there would be awakened interest in the tonic treatment with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Thin blood means starved nerves, weakened digestion, frequently neuralgia, sciatica and even partial paralysis. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills build up the blood, repair waste and prevent and check disease. They fill the system with rich, red blood which means good health and life.

Miss Marie Dionne, St. Angele, Que., says:—"I am deeply grateful for what Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have done for me. My blood had almost turned to water. I was pale, had no appetite, suffered from pains in the back and side, and had a feeling of constant depression. The smallest exertion would leave me breathless, and I was reduced in flesh until I weighed only 98 pounds. I got nothing to help me until I began the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. They began helping me after the first couple of weeks, and in a few weeks more I was again perfectly well. The color returned to my cheeks, the pains left me, and I gained in weight until now I weigh 130 pounds. I feel so happy for what Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have done for me that I hope some other ailing, miserable girl will profit by my experience and obtain new health."

These Pills are sold by all medicine dealers or you can get them by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

MARYSVILLE.

The farmers throughout this vicinity are busy again at their spring's work, and there will be a great deal of seeding done by the last of this week, if it stays fine.—Messrs. P. Alexander and G. Exley have gone on the section with Mr. G. McCambridge, on the G. T. R., for the summer.—Mr. James McFarlane, jr., of the Second Concession, had a very sick horse last week.—Mrs. Jas. Hearns returned home to Roslin on Thursday last, after visiting friends throughout Marysville and Deseronto.—We are glad to hear that Mr. Edmond McNeill has recovered from his illness of heart trouble again.

CENTREVILLE.

Owing to the wet spring seeding has been prolonged.—Mr. J. S. Lochhead, one of our old and most respected citizens, was called to his eternal rest on Monday afternoon, at 4.30. Deceased was born near Centreville on May 25th, in the year 1831 and has always been a resident of this place. Mr. Lochhead was a member of the Methodist church, and will be greatly missed. Three sons and four daughters are left to mourn the loss of a kind and affectionate father. The funeral took place to the Methodist cemetery at 2.30 p.m. on Thursday.—Mr. and Mrs. Matthew Shannon were the guests of Mrs. F. C. Gerow, on Sunday last.—A number of our young men have left for the east for the summer.—Mr. George Milligan was the guest of Mr. Bruce Fairbairn one evening last week.—Miss Jennie Long spent Sunday evening at home.—We were surprised to see the fine array of millinery last week.—R. E. Milligan at George Milligan's.—Don't forget the ice cream parlor at T. E. McGill's. Opens to-morrow night.

The cheapest tea to use is not the lowest priced. You can buy tea a few cents a pound cheaper that will make a drink, but if you want an absolutely pure, healthful, cleanly-prepared tea use "Salada." It is infinitely more delicious and decidedly more economical than other teas, because it goes farther.

SELBY.

Mr. Jonas Sedore has returned home to Flinton, after spending a few weeks with his sister, Mrs. Stephen Davis, and other friends.—We are glad to see Miss E. McCoy's smiling face again.—Mrs. J. W. Hall and Miss Mabel McFarlane are visiting at Alex. Davis', and with other friends.—Our cheese factory is doing a rushing business.—Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Lockwood spent Sunday at Mr. Peter Davis', and also at Alex. Davis'.—Mr. Fred Wood is improving his buildings.—Mr. and Mrs. Albert Davis spent Sunday with his mother, Mrs. Stephen Davis.

THE BEST FLOUR:
DAFOE'S NONESUCH,
DAFOE'S MANITOBA PATENT.

By numerous tests by the best bakers the above mentioned grades have been proven to be the best flours in the market.

When buying flour, ask for Dafoe's, and patronize your home mill, thereby producing Bran and Shorts that you can purchase cheaper than the product of the Western mills, which has to be transported thousands of miles at great expense, and usually when it reaches you is of inferior quality.

The grocer complains if the farmer or the mechanic sends to Toronto or to outside points for an article he can get at the home store just as good, but he does not hesitate to buy flour from mills hundreds of miles away, and sells you an inferior flour for more money than you can purchase the home product for, every bag of which is guaranteed.

Choice Cornmeal and Buckwheat Flour always on hand. Feed grinding a specialty, with the best feed mills known to the trade.

A full stock of the best Anthracite Coal; also in the market for the purchase of all kinds of grain.

Ask for prices at the Big Mill before purchasing your Flour, Feed or Coal.

Stomach Derangement

Her Limbs Ached
Worn Out—Tired
Headaches, Dizziness

Vitol Cured Her.

For years I have been a great sufferer. Life to me was a burden, my limbs ached, I always felt tired and worn out, had no ambition. People could not sympathize with me. In fact at times they imagined it was put on, or a matter of fancy with me, but one who suffered the same as I did knows exactly what it means. I would work when I should be in bed. I was weak, seemed to be void of strength; life seemed to have left me to a certain extent. I have often felt as if I would give the world if I could feel buoyant and cheerful, really so. I often had to force what little cheerfulness I did have. I was urged to try Vitol, and my what a change; to-day I am the woman I used to try and picture. I am happy, cheerful and strong; it seems as if I had new nerves, in fact new life. Mrs. R. Simms, Newcastle, Ont. You may be strong and healthy, and buoyant if you will take Vitol. DEATH OF MR. JOS. TAYLOR.

Mr. Joseph Taylor, for forty years a successful bookseller and stationer at 288 Queen street west, Toronto, passed away on Tuesday, after a long illness. The late Mr. Taylor, prior to going to Toronto, lived in Hamilton. For the past year he had lived retired, but continued to manifest a deep interest in the affairs of the city. He was sixty-nine years of age, and besides Mrs. Taylor, leaves one son, Mr. Harry Taylor, proprietor of the Campbell House, Napanee. The late Mr. Taylor was a member of the Methodist Church.

About $3,800 was collected from Cobalt violators of the liquor law in fines.

Whalen, of Tamworth, made a flying trip through here one evening recently.

ROBLIN

On May 24th a brilliant game of baseball was played here between Strathcona and Roblin teams. Although Roblin had met their Waterloo at the end of the third innings, when the score stood 8-3, the boys buckled in with a will and the result showed in the final score 10-4, a total of 3 runs in the last six innings. Roblin did exceptionally strong work in the field, but could not connect on to Dunlop's curves. An error in base throwing gave Strathcona two runs in the 8th innings. It was a grand spectator's game. Dunlop and Darlington served up the balls for Strathcona, while Spencer, Morgan and Hunt attended to the Roblin end. Mr. Jas. Herrington made a perfectly impartial umpire, not one of his rulings being questioned. Roblinites in general will be glad to see the Strathcona boys here again, as it is a pleasure to witness so quiet and gentlemanly a game.

Miss K. F. Price was in town for the 24th.—Miss Margaret Lockridge is spending the week at Mrs. H. B. Paul's.—We are sorry to part with Mr. Wm. Cornwall's family, they having removed to Napanee. We hope they may be able to return soon. Their daughter, Mrs. B. D. Shannon, left on Tuesday for Pierson, Man., where she will reside in future. Mrs. Sol. Shrank and daughter Janet, of Port Elgin, spent the holiday week end at her mother's, Mrs. Wm. M. Paul.

CAMDEN EAST.

The 24th of May was a fine day and several went on the train to different places. A good many went to Kingston. The boys went to Tamworth and played the Tamworth boys in a game of baseball, and won the game with great honors, beating by 17-1. The Camden East boys are a jolly lot of good fellows. At night they had quite a celebration here in foot races and a good display of fireworks. A large crowd was in the village from different places.—Mr. Will Hamilton, of Winnipeg, visited his brother, Mr. Sam. Hamilton, last week.—Mr. Will. Saul and wife and two children, Toronto, are visiting his father and sisters, Mrs. Stewart, Mrs. Robinson, and other relatives.—Miss Skinner, of Watertown, made a flying visit home last Monday, returning Tuesday.—Mr. David Saul shipped a carload of potatoes to Kingston last week, which brought him the sum of over five hundred dollars cash.—The automobiles are getting very plentiful in this vicinity. They think that they own the road, and expect people who are driving to get out of the road for them. We think it is time the Government took it in hand and passed stricter laws, as it is not safe to travel the roads. They are so independent they will not stop for any person travelling on the highway.—Mr. Haydon left last Monday for New York to spend a month with his daughter.—Mrs. Greenway and Miss Helen Hamilton spent last Monday at Enterprise.—Mr. John T. Grange, of Napanee, and Mrs. Harvey, nee Miss Lily Bicknell, of Chicago, called on friends in Camden East last Friday.—Mr. Parrott, of Dresden, is visiting his grandparents and other relatives in the village for a week.—Miss Caton, of Napanee, spent last Friday evening and Saturday with Miss Bertie Parrott.—Mr. and Mrs. Votrem and two children are visiting Mrs. Hooper for a few days.—Miss Annie Sproule has returned to her home, after spending several months visiting relatives.—Mr. Hale and brother, of Toronto, were calling on his old friends last week. The former was teller in the Farmers Bank for several months, and his old friends were pleased to welcome him back again.

WESTBROOK.

Word reached here on Saturday from the far west of the serious illness of Mr. Jacob Gardiner, a former resident here.—A goodly number of our young people and old ones too spent Victoria day in Kingston.—Mr. John Morley is giving the interior of his house a fresh coat of paint.—Miss Mary Dalzell, Kingston, is spending a few days with her aunt, Mrs. J. Mundell.—Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm McDonald, Odessa, recently visited Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Sproul.—Miss Florence Smith and Miss Edith Saundercook, accompanied by lady friends, picnicked on Victoria day in a very pretty grove near Westbrook.—The non-appearance of C. H. Finkle's motor car on Victoria day, disappointed many.—Walter Bush, Lapum, and Harold Snook spent Sunday with Edwin Bell, and took in Victoria day in Kingston.—The little son of Mr. George Reid lost on Tuesday evening, a small sum of money between the postoffice and the blacksmith shop. Finder please leave at postoffice.—Mr. Wm. Hyland and granddaughter, Miss Jennie Hyland, are visiting friends in the lime stone city.—Mr. and Mrs. Joe Howie called on Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Smith, on Saturday evening.—Mrs. Jemima Gates is spending a few days with Miss Katie Sheehan.—Miss Addie Snook and sister Leah spent Sunday evening with Mrs. B. Rose.—The most of the farmers here are through seeding, and some have already commenced planting.

WILTON.

The teacher and pupils of the Public school gave a picnic on Victoria Day in Miller's grove, over seventy-five being in attendance.—Miss Lena Storms, daughter of Orange Storms, was married in Montreal a couple of weeks ago, to Mr. Lirley Griggs, of Montreal. Congratulations and best wishes of her many Wilton friends.—Miss Pearl Switzer, Odessa, is spending a few days at home here.—Miss Flossie Caton, Odessa, spent last week the guest of Mrs. K. N. Storms.—Albert Walker, of Fredericksburgh, was quietly married at his son's here on Saturday evening last, by Rev. D. Williams, to Miss Pearl Hill, of Fredericksburgh.—The Holiness Movement church ministers are preparing to hold an eight days campmeeting in Wallace's woods here, starting on Sunday next.—The cemetery is a place of beauty at present, the plots being so well mowed and cared for.—The seeding is about completed in this vicinity and planting is being done.—Mr. John Clow, Sydenham, spent Saturday last at James Lewis'.—Mr. H. Mills and son are having their house repainted. N. Stimmons is doing the work.

CONWAY.

The farmers are nearly through seeding, and road work is the order of the day.—A stone crusher from Kingston passed through this vicinity last week and is operating on No. 11 road. They intend doing some work for F. VanDyck.—Mrs. Edward Morrow passed away peacefully last evening, after a lingering illness from consumption. Much sympathy is felt for the bereaved father and three little children.—The Ladies' Aid met at the home of Mrs. F. VanDyck, on Thursday afternoon. A very successful meeting was held. The Ladies contemplate selling ice cream in the basement of their church every Saturday evening this summer, the 5th of June being the first evening. Come boys and bring your lady friends; everyone has a desire for ice cream and all are welcome.—Mr. Fraser Bell, of New York, conducted the service in the Methodist church on Sunday evening. A large congregation gathered and special music was given by the choir. Miss Pearl Moon and Mr. Miller sang a beautiful alto and tenor duet with Mrs. J. W. Spearing presiding at the organ. We are all glad to have Mrs. Spearing resume her duty again.—Mr. Geo. Switzer entertained his gentlemen friends to a bee on Saturday last, pulling down his barn. He intends rebuilding again upon a concrete wall.—Rumor says we are to have new cement steps in front of the church, and are to have an increase in our taxes as we are to have a new school. Great excitement has been created over the erection of the school, but finally a settlement has been reached. Mr. Harvey, of Deseronto, has been given the contract for building.—Mr. Fletcher Young and Company are busily engaged in erecting Frost wire fences in our neighborhood. — The many friends of Mrs. Conrad Sills will be pleased to learn of her recovery from her recent illness.—Louisa Chalmers at her home in Adolphustown.—John Moon with friends in Parma.—Edward Hegeboom with friends in Adolphustown.—Geo. Chalmers at Alex. Sills'.—Rev. and Mrs. Fraser Bell at James Hogaboom's, spending their vacation.—Miss Preston, Bath, at Geo. A. Slater boots are leaders. Floyd & Co.

ODESSA

The "World's fair" building is being built on Mr. S. J. Sproule's farm, which promises to be all that can be desired.—The village is somewhat deserted these days, as the farmers are busy and their wives, oh dear me, we men do suffer from housecleaning. We can't find our pipes, and we have to do penance in stepping on tacks, and the chairs are so filled we can't get a place to sit down on unless the bed, and perhaps that is even down for painting or varnishing, and mayhap we have to sleep on the floor. Say, my brothers a little dirt is not too bad in comparison, and then when the cleaning is over, it is, "now are your feet clean? Don't sit on that chair, and a hundred other orders, which make us glad to go to the store or farm or shop till peace is restored. And all this comes not once but twice a year. Such, though is life. The 24th passed off quite pleasantly. Quite a number went fishing to Parrotts Bay, and had a splendid time. A good many went to Kingston to see the sights and spend the evening. A couple of cab loads passed through the village from Newburgh as the car did not go through and will not until an engine is obtained which will be able to take loads on the fly. Mr. John Timmerman is spending a week in Kingston. Mr. and Mrs. Jenkins, Napanee, spent the 24th at Mr. Geo. Watts'. Mrs. Allen Peters and children at Mr. E. H. Peters. Baker and Mr. and Mrs. Darius Smith spent a day with friends at Marysville. Mr. John McCamus is home from College. Mrs. Charlie Emmons, who has been quite ill, is better, we are glad to say.

NEWBURGH.

The concert given in Finkle's hall on Friday evening, was a decided success. A shower at 7 p.m. no doubt kept down the attendance, but those who did go were entertained to the limit by "the Doctor" and his company of capable assistants. Many thought it was the best piece ever put on by the local club. A gramophone furnished music between the acts.

SPRING WEARINESS

Are you feeling languid and all run down—is it hard for you to pull yourself together, and does everything seem too much trouble for you? Are you feeling irritable and bad tempered? No wonder if you are. The months of winter have tried you sorely and robbed you of more vitality than your system has been able to replenish. You are in need of a good tonic which will revive you and bring back that old-time vim and energy. PSYCHINE will do this.

Mr. James Stoliker, of Ridgetown, says:—"THERE IS LIFE IN EVERY DOSE. I cannot speak too highly of PSYCHINE, for it is the greatest medicine I ever used. I was just about 'All in' when I began the treatment, and in 3 months I was as well as ever. It is a great tonic for weak and run down people. There seems to be new life in every dose." You cannot do without PSYCHINE at this time of the year. It is a necessity, and will banish that run-down feeling, languor, etc., and give you new life. Send to DR. T. A. SLOCUM, Limited, Spadina Ave., Toronto, for a sample to-day, or purchase a bottle from your local Druggists or Dealer.

PSYCHINE is sold everywhere at 50c. and $1.00 per bottle.

IMMORTAL ROSES.

By May Stansbury.

If there was a sufficient sadness about the gaunt old house whose broad-railed gallery echoed only the limp steps of the negro, Sam, there was a greater pathos in the garden, for here not even a slow footfall invaded the solitude. Veiled in sombre moss, the live oaks soughed in the summer wind and the gentle old roses seemed to brood with memories.

Everything about the place breathed neglect—everything, from Sam's shredding shirt to the headless weathercock on the cupola. But the roses, trailing unchecked over the crumbling walls, seemed to cry it, for in times past were they not the pride of the Runnel garden, bedded, pruned and sprayed, then the choicest blooms gathered each day and carried to the latticed door of the red cottage over the way, and presented with Master George's compliments to Miss Barbara?

But not so now. No, not since the day that Miss Barbara had bidden her Mammy Chloe tell Sam to take the roses back to his master, and to say that he had better send them to Nancy Pierce, since he seemed to care so much for her.

The roses went back to the big house, but not to Miss Nancy. Sam set them in his master's room and tried to tell him gently. But when Sam picked up the bits of the crystal vase he sighed deeply: "Things will be different, I reckon."

Sam was right. Next morning the first post rider brought the news that Miss Nancy and Master George had gone to Beverly; were married.

So things were different, indeed. Although Mistress Runnell came to live at the big house and often walked in the garden, she never, after the first day, looked at the roses, for her young husband had said that he detested roses, and would have Sam dig them up in the spring.

He said the last words in a low voice and when his bride was not looking set his heel on the bud which she had dropped, and looked hard toward the tight-closed shutters of the deserted cottage across the way.

Sam did not dig up the roses Master George told him to, but before the next spring Mistress Runnel went away. There was something about a Confederate officer; then she died in Paris. Master Runnel went to see and left Sam all alone in the big house.

One day in a June long after that, when the great fluff heads of the roses were drooping pensively under the glare of the sun a firm tread accompanied by a tap-tap sounded on the flag walk that led from the gate to the garden.

Sam heard them from the arbor house, where he had been dozing fitfully. The steps and the tapping paused now and then as if their owner were standing still here and there; then they started, went straight up to the rose bed and stopped short.

It was a trembling hand that slowly raised a bud to a face framed in gray hair.

When the plushed petals touched the lips of Master George, somewhere a bird called to its mate and the summer wind sighed far away like an echoing sorrow.

The next day and for several days after a great gray veil hung over the sun so that Master George's visits to the garden became a more prolonged communion. He had Sam bring a settee from the gallery and one day he picked a beautiful wan rose bud and laid it on his knee beside the unopened paper, while he looked and looked not at the red cottage, with its fast closed shutters. From the very first he had turned his defiant back to the lonely house.

The stillness about the place haunted him. Miss Barbara had gone long ago, on the night after his return from Beverly, and now the Virginia creeper climbed the casement as if shielding its mistress' home from the gazing world, while the shrub and berry vine tangled caressingly over the paths which she had trod.

Word of Miss Barbara's triumphs and adulations had reached the garden, but by that time its master was upon the high seas and the remnant of town folk only shook its head sagely. When in after years it was rumored that she had a world of suitors at her feet, but that none was accepted, its aging head nodded significantly.

June melted into autumn and the mist continued to lift and lower over the blazing sun and Master George continued to sit in the garden while the roses swayed and smiled companionably. Sam had captured the truant branches and pulled the ghostly stalks that had long threatened the tender shoots, and now each flower seemed to bloom for the master's praise and touch, each seemed to rival the other in recalling a time long ago.

Into that long-gone time Master George had entered, all unwitting. It was the roses—they had brought lights of tenderness back into his eyes; helped him to forget the broken vase; the mad ride to Beverly and the bitter aftermath. Now in their midst he was strolling with Barbara. These very paths echoed her song; Barbara in white muslins, buoyant and happy; Barbara, with a rose in her hair.

One morning Master George tarried long beside the roses. His face was drawn and ashen, for when he had reached for a tempting bud near the wall his eye caught the white of a curtain that fluttered out of the casement of the red cottage.

Barbara's cottage. He looked intently, misbelieving his wondering eyes. Yet there beside the open window sat Mammy Chloe, red-coifed and sad.

Master George opened his book hat that could not hide the stooping figure of the old colored woman; he started to read aloud, but that could not drown the crooning of her mournful song.

Then the eyes in the garden suddenly dimmed and Master George leaned hard upon his cane as he went toward home.

In his room he sought from the folds of his wallet a rose long withered. Sam found him in the twilight with the flower crushed in his hand.

He went early to the garden the next morning, but when he reached the settee Mammy Chloe was gone from her place by the window—the shutters were closed and the cottage had resumed its former aspect of pathetic silence.

He walked the path, stopping now and then to peer through the hedge. "It is early," he argued; "she is resting; she has come a long way." But the sun said noon and after and still the blinds were drawn.

Twilight came, and with it a feeble light streaked through the slanting bars. Master George still sat in the garden. A book lay unread beside him and his head was low bent.

"Barbara!" his lips moved. Could it be that Mammy Chloe had returned to the cottage alone.

Young men and girls strolled past the iron gate in the leafy distance; he could hear snatches of their gay chatter, and now and then some plaintive chords on a guitar down the street.

The gate hasp lifted, dropped. Someone was treading the long disused path. He did not heed nor hear, for back through a vista of exile, life again stretched in unending years—years weighted with the wrong-doing of that fitful night—years now bitter, now lonely. Tears lay mute in his eyes as he watched the flickering candle light in the cottage window, and thought of the garden days just ended. Days so full of thought—days wherein he had grown to know that it was love that had led him home—home to wait for Barbara—but now! Oh, God! Had she gone on to that land of eternal roses? His heart stilled in answer.

Not till the ambling figure stopped near the rose bed did he know. He started, trembling with uncertainty, then with outstretched hands rushed to meet her.

"Tell me—has Barbara—. Where is she?" he could say no more.

The red-coifed head bowed low and in the darkness she pointed in mute appeal to the cottage window.

"She's there, Mars George, most sick an' wearin' her heart out for roses—jes' roses."

MOTORING AS A FINE ART

Really Great Drivers the Most Prudent of All on the Road.

Max Pemberton, well known as a writer of novels, is also an ardent automobilist, and the motor editor of the London Sphere. He has recently published a book called "The Amateur Motorist", in which he unburdens his soul on the subject of reckless driving.

"I was talking to the managing director of a famous company the other day," says Mr. Pemberton, "and he offered me a lift in his car.

"'My driver,' said he, 'is one of the cleverest in traffic I have ever come across.'

"This was good news and I entered the car with confidence. But lo and behold, we had not gone a mile when the driver in question had shaved a motor bus by an inch, cut in between a big car and a van, and generally convinced me that we were destined for an early if honorable grave.

"Such men I have met before, and I have also heard them praised, but that the eulogy should come from the manager of a great business, one with long experience, astonished me not a little.

"Now, this sort of thing is a thousand miles removed from the fine art of driving. The really great driver never causes his passengers to clutch the cushions with frenzied fingers, never makes their hearts beat faster, and never permits them to remember the dangers of the pursuit.

"Nothing has impressed me so much in a long experience of motoring as the very fact that the really great driver is the most prudent person you will find upon the road. Men such as Henri Fournier, Lancia, Jenatzy and, above all, Charles Jarrott, take no risks whatever unless they are racing.

"I have had the privilege of sitting by Mr. Jarrott's side and I can bear emphatic witness to the really amazing caution he displayed at all times. The wild chauffeur both astonishes and dismays him.

"'I don't know how the fellows do it', he once said to me; 'I tell them they must be cleverer drivers than I am.'

"The real truth is, of course, that such daredevils have not a hundredth part of Mr. Jarrott's skill. They are mere road hogs, doing 'stunts' for the benefit of admiring housemaids.

"There are two phases of driving to be considered, and the same man is not always successful at both. I have known men who are all nerve and skill in traffic absolutely helpless when out in the open country. It is not that they do not possess the necessary nerve. For some inexplicable reason they never acquire the habit of fine driving in the country, are inept in coaxing their engines to do its best, unskillful upon hills and clumsy when negotiating other vehicles.

"On the other hand, many a fine driver who has learned all his skill in the country is never at home in London—the traffic appals him; he is afraid even of safe openings; he allows his engine to race and boil. The men will remain, it may be, incurable. But the beginner must strive to acquit himself well under all circumstances, and he must make the fine art of driving a study from the beginning."

RESPONSE.

Have you known [illegible] in magic mood
Take a slim branch all winter-worn and bare
And breathe on it, till notes that were not there
Seemed to steal out through the enchanted wood?

Have you seen Spring in luring, roseate guise
Gaze on some meadow desolate and wan
Until, like softest footsteps of the morn,
Pink buds responded to those questing eyes?

Then you have felt the stirring in my heart
O Gazer on a life bereft and cold
God yield to you the promise you unfold
And let me go, awakened, yet apart.

RAILROAD COMPETITION IN CANADA WEST.

Winnipeg, Man., May 25.—With four transcontinentals, and a number of smaller railroads, rushing construction in Western Canada, the situation to-day is extremely interesting.

James J. Hill is one of the aggressors and it appears as though he will have control of the general traffic from some of the best districts before the end of 1910, for he is engaged in building a trunk line from Winnipeg to the Pacific Coast. Under the name of Great Northern his operations are practically nil, but there are at least a dozen subsidary companies actively building short lines which, when connected up, will form a formidable rival to existing lines, for seven or eight of them give direct connection between the main line in Canada and the main line south of the "line", making outlets for Canadian wheat which, of course, will be taken direct to Minneapolis mills, depriving Eastern Canada of one of its chief sources of income from the west.

The Canadian Pacific is by no means idle, and in addition to improving its roadbed and building cut-offs to shorten lines, will build a number of important branches during the summer, realizing it must work hard this year to retain its business.

The Canadian Northern will build 600 miles this summer between the Great Lakes and the Rocky Mountains, in addition to improving its lines now in operation; the intention of this company is to connect up its various lines to make a trunk system from coast to coast, and with the exception of west of the Rocky Mountains but little work has to be done to accomplish this end.

The Grand Trunk Pacific is another of the transcontinentals which is losing no time, and already work is being rushed as fast as the latest machinery and human ingenuity will allow. Less than 300 miles of the main line remain to be put under contract, so the company is now giving attention to its branches.

A number of divisional points will have branch lines in the immediate future, and E. J. Chamberlain, Vice-President of the company, promises to have two of the branches from Melville, Sask., in operation this year, and it is probable work will be started on the third before the snow falls.

The Two Vanrevels

By BOOTH TARKINGTON,

Author of "The Gentleman From Indiana" and "Monsieur Beaucaire"

Copyright, 1902, by S. S. McClure Co.

The chief, three-fourths of the way to the top, shouted down a stifled command, and a short grappling ladder, fitted at one end with a pair of spiked iron hooks, was passed to him. Then he toiled upward until his feet rested on the third rung from the top. Here he turned, setting his back to the wall, lifted the grappling ladder high over his head so that it rested against the eaves above him and brought it down sharply, fastening the spiked hooks in the roof. As the eaves projected fully three feet, this left the grappling ladder hanging that distance out from the wall, its lowest rung a little above the level of the chief's shoulders.

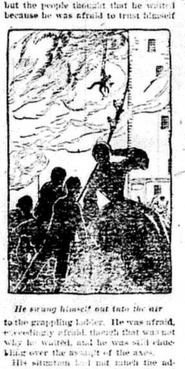
Miss Betty drew in her breath with a little choked cry. There was a small terraced hill of piled up packing boxes near her, possession of which had been taken by a company of ragamuffinish boys; and she found herself standing on the highest box and sharing the summit with these questionable youths, almost without noting her action in mounting thither, so strained was the concentration of her attention upon the figure high up in the rose glow against the warehouse wall. The man, surely, surely, was not going to trust himself to that bit of wooden web hanging from the roof! Where was Miss Bareaud that she permitted it? Ah, if Betty had been Fanchon, and mad woman enough to have accepted this madman, she would have compelled him to come down at once, and thereafter would lock him up in the house whenever the bells rang!

But the roof was to be mounted or Robert Carewe's property lost. Already little flames were dancing up from the shingles, where firebrands had fallen, their number increasing with each second. So Vanrevel raised his arms, took a hard grip upon the lowest rung of the grappling ladder and tried it with his weight. The iron hooks bit deeper into the roof; they held. He swung himself out into the air, with nothing beneath him, caught the rung under his knee, and for a moment hung there, while the crowd withheld from breathing. Then a cloud of smoke swirling that way made him the more ghostly nucleus of itself, blotted him out altogether, and, as it rose slowly upward, showed the ladder free and empty, so that at first there was an instant when they thought that he had fallen, but, as the smoke cleared, there was the tall figure on the roof.

It was an agile and a daring thing to do, and the man who did it was mightily applauded. The cheering bothered him, however, for he was trying to make them understand below what would happen to the engine company in case the water was not sent through the lines directly, and what he said should be done to the engineers included things that would have blanched the cheek of the most inventive Spanish inquisitor that ever lived.

Miss Betty made a gesture as if to a person within whispering distance. "Your coat is on fire," she said in an ordinary conversational tone without knowing she had spoken aloud, and Mr. Vanrevel, more than a hundred feet away, seemed particularly conscious of the pertinence of her remark. He removed the garment with alacrity, and for the lack of the tardy water began to use it as a flail upon the firebrands and little flames about him, the sheer desperate best of a man in a rage doing what he could when others failed him. Showers of sparks fell upon him. The smoke was rising everywhere from the roof and the walls below and, growing denser and denser, shrouded him in heavy veils, so that as he ran hither and thither, now visible, now unseen, stamping and beating and sweeping away the brands that fell, he seemed but the red and ghostly caricature of a Xerxes ineffectually lashing the sea. They were calling to him imploringly to come down, in heaven's name to come down!

The second man had followed to the top of the ladder against the wall, and there he paused, waiting to pass up the line of hose when the word should come that the force pump had been repaired, but the people thought that he waited because he was afraid to trust himself to the grappling ladder. He was afraid, exceedingly afraid, though that was not why he waited, and he was still chuckling over the assault of the axes.



He swung himself out into the air

His situation had not much the advantage of that of the chief. His red shirt might have been set with orange jewels, so studded it was with the flying sparks, and, a large brand dropping upon his helmet, he threw up his hand to dislodge it and lost the helmet. The great light fell upon his fair hair and smiling face, and it was then that Miss Betty recognized the incroyable of her garden.

CHAPTER VI.

It was an investigating negro child of tender years who, possessed of a petty sense of cause and effect, brought an illuminative simplicity to bear upon the problem of the force pump, and a multitudinous agitation greeted his discovery that the engineers had forgotten to connect their pipes with the river.

This naive omission was fatal to the second warehouse. The wall burst into flame below Cralley Gray, who clung to the top of the ladder, choking, stifled and dizzily fighting the sparks that covered him, yet still clutching the nozzle of the hose line they had passed to him. When the stream at last leaped forth, making the nozzle fight in his grasp, he sent it straight up into the air and let the cataract fall back upon himself and upon the two men beneath him on the ladder.

There came a moment of blessed relief, and he looked out over the broad rosy blur of faces in the street, where no one wondered more than he how the water was to reach the roof. Suddenly he started, wiped his eyes with his wet sleeve and peered intently down from under the shading arm. His roving glance crossed the smoke and flame to rest upon a tall, white figure that stood full length above the heads of the people upon a pedestal wrought with the grotesque images of boys; a girl's figure, still as noon, enrapt, like the statue of some young goddess for whom were made these sacrificial pyres. Mr. Gray recognized his opportunity.

A blackened and unrecognizable face peered down from the eaves, and the voice belonging to it said angrily:

"Why didn't they send up that line before they put the water through it?"

"Never mind, Tom," answered Cralley cheerfully, "I'll bring it up."

"You can't. I'll come down for it. Don't be every kind of a fool!"

"You want a monopoly, do you?" And Cralley, calling to Tappingham Marsh, next below him, to come higher, left the writhing nozzle in the latter's possession, swung himself out upon the grappling ladder, imitating the chief's gymnastics, and immediately, one hand grasping the second rung, one knee crooked over the lowest, leaned head down and took the nozzle from Marsh. It was a heavy weight, and, though Marsh supported the line beneath it, the great stream hurtling forth made it a difficult thing to manage, for it wriggled, recoiled and struggled as if it had been alive. Cralley made three attempts to draw himself up, but the strain was too much for his grip, and on the third attempt his fingers melted from the rung, and he swung down fearfully, hanging by his knee, but still clinging to the nozzle.

"Give it up, Cralley. It isn't worth it," Vanrevel called from overhead, not daring the weight of both on the light grappling ladder.

But though Cralley cared no more for the saving of Robert Carewe's property than for a butterfly's wing in China, he could not give up now, any more than as a lad he could have forborne to turn somersaults when the prettiest little girl looked out of the schoolhouse window. He passed the nozzle to Tappingham, caught the second rung with his left hand, and, once more dangling head downward, seized the nozzle; then, with his knee hooked tight, as the gushing water described a huge semicircle upon the smoke and hot vapor, he made a mad lurch through the air, while women shrieked, but he landed upright, half sitting on the lowest rung. He climbed the grappling ladder swiftly, in spite of the weight and contortions of the unmanageable beast he carried with him. Tom leaned far down and took it from him, and Cralley, passing the eaves, fell exhausted upon the roof. Just as he reached this temporary security a lady was borne, fainting, out of the acclaiming crowd. Fanchon was there.

Word had been passed to the gentlemen of the engine company to shut off the water in order to allow the line to be carried up the ladder, and they received the command at the moment Tom lifted the nozzle, so that the stream dried up in his hands. This was the last straw, and the blackened, singed and scarred chief, setting the trumpet to his lips, gave himself entirely to wrath.

It struck Cralley, even as he lay coughing and weeping with smoke, that there was something splendid and large in the other's rage. Vanrevel was ordinarily so steady and cool that this was worth seeing, this berserker gesture; worth hearing, this wonderful profanity, like Washington's one fit of cursing, and Cralley, knowing Tom, knew, too, that it had not come upon him because Carewe had a daughter into whose eyes Tom had looked; nor did he rage because he believed that Cralley's life and his were in the greater hazard for the lack of every drop of water that should have issued from the empty nozzle.

Their lungs were burdened with smoke, while the intolerable smarting of throat, eyes and nostrils was like the incision of a thousand needles in the membranes. Their clothes were luminous with glowing circles where the sparks were eating. The blaze widened on the wall beneath them, and Marsh was shouting hoarsely that he could no longer hold his position on the ladder, yet Cralley knew that none of this was in Tom's mind as he stood, scorched, blistered and haggard, on the edge of the roof, shaking his fist at the world. It was because his chance of saving the property of a man he despised was being endangered.

Cralley stretched forth a hand and touched his friend's knee. "Your side of the conversation is a trifle loud, Tom," he said. "Miss Carewe is down there across the street on a pile of boxes."

Tom stopped in the middle of a word, for which he may have received but half a black stroke from the recording angel. He wheeled toward the street and, shielding his inflamed eyes with his hand, gazed downward in a stricken silence. From that moment Mr. Vanrevel's instructions to his followers were of a decorum at which not the meekest Sunday school scholar dare have cavilled.

The three men now on the long ladder—Marsh, Eugene Madrillon and Will Cummings—found their position untenable, for the flames, reaching all along the wall, were licking at the ladder it-

Left on Her Doorstep For This Mother

Mrs. A. G. Teson, of Livermore, Cal., writes: "I picked up from my doorstep one day a little book in which I soon became very much interested. My little girl of five years of age had been troubled for a long time with loss of appetite, extreme nervousness and undue fatigue. She was all rundown and in a very delicate condition.

"This little book was very comprehensively written, and told of the new method of extracting the medicinal elements of the cod's liver from the oil, eliminating the obnoxious oil which is so hard for children to take.

"Just the thing," said I, "for my little daughter," and I immediately went for a bottle of Vinol. It helped her wonderfully. She has gained rapidly in flesh and strength, and she does not take cold half so easily.

"I am extremely grateful for the good it has done her, and I hope other mothers who have weak, delicate or ailing children will be benefited by my experience and just give Vinol a trial."

VINOL is sold in Napanee by T. B. Wallace, Druggist.

KEEP THE KIDNEYS WELL

HEALTH SAVING EXPLAINED BY A NAPANEE CITIZEN WHO KNOWS FROM EXPERIENCE.

Many Napanee people take their lives in their hands by neglecting the kidneys when they know these organs need help.

Sick kidneys are responsible for a great amount of suffering and ill health.

The reason so many use Booth's Kidney Pills is their quick relief for all Kidney weakness. Here is what a Napanee citizen says:—

Mrs. P. O'Neill, of West st., Napanee, Ont., says:—

"Many painful and annoying symptoms of kidney trouble had caused Mr. O'Neill almost constant suffering. He was unable to straighten himself up from the sharp pains that would come across his back, in the kidney region. He would take cold very easily and it would always settle in his back. The urine would become highly colored and the kidney secretions would be very irregular and frequent. He had tried a number of remedies without relief. Booth's Kidney Pills were recommended and procuring a box at Mr. Wallace's Pharmacy, he soon found relief. His back strengthened and the urinary disorders were quickly regulated."

ZAM-BUK CURED A FACE SORE WHICH DEFIED ALL OTHER REMEDIES FOR TWO YEARS.

Rev. Charles E. Stafford, of Bridgeburg, Ont., says:—

"I had been much troubled for over two years with a sore on my left cheek. I tried all kinds of salves and lotions, but nothing I procured seemed to have the least bit of effect towards healing the sore. Hearing of Zam-Buk, I decided to give it a trial, and see if it would bring about a cure, as so many other things had failed. I purchased a supply, and commenced with the treatment. After several applications, to my great joy, Zam-Buk has effected what for two years I tried in vain to bring about—a complete cure."

Case after case could be quoted in which, as in the above instance, Zam-Buk has worked cures when everything else tried had failed. There is a reason for this. Zam-Buk is the ideal remedy because of its unique ingredients for all skin injuries and diseases.

Away back in the days of the Roman gladiators, secret balms were used for the healing of cuts and injuries sustained in the arena and in battle. Then came a period during which external balms were neglected, followed by a period in which all the salves and embrocations had as their base animal fats and oils. Zam-Buk marks a new epoch. It is absolutely devoid of all animal fats, all mineral colouring matters, and is composed entirely of rich medicinal herbal extracts. Zam-Buk is a combination of Nature's rich healing herbal juices by the most modern scientific methods, and the result is a balm which cures when others fail.

Skin diseases, such as eczema, ringworm, salt rheum, and prairie itch, are speedily overcome by it. For piles it is fine!—easing the pain and inflammation, and hastening a cure. It also cures burns, scalds, cuts, ulcers, children's sores and eruptions, blood-poisoning, scratches, old wounds, varicose ulcers, &c. All Druggists and Stores sell at 50c a box, or post-free for price from Zam-Buk Co., Toronto. Refuse harmful and cheap imitations, sometimes represented as "just as good".

A British Farm Colony.

The Earl of Stanhope visited British Columbia recently. He says the western provinces are full of undeveloped resources, and will some day prove to have immense value. The fruit which was produced in the valleys of Southern British Columbia was unsurpassed by any that he had tasted from any part of the world. One of the matters into which Lord Stanhope was looking during his trip was the practicability of the establishment in Canada by the British Government of an extensive farm colony, in which large parties of British people could be placed. It was the idea of the visitor that large numbers of British unemployed might be brought to Canada in vessels owned by the Government, and that the Government would be responsible for them. As they were able, these colonists could leave the farm of the Government and begin to work for the farmers of the country or go on land of their own. If they were wholly unsuitable they could be taken back to the Mother Country. This plan, if tried at all, the earl said, ought to be tested on a large scale. It would cost a large sum, but the resulting advantage would be great.

Dog Days In Westmount.

Long after dark the Westmount man sat on his front step listening to the dismal howls of a restless canine.

"Awful racket," commented the town police force, as he sauntered up the avenue.

"Terrible," agreed the man on the steps.

"Those howls are enough to raise the dead."

"Well, I should say so."

"Make the cold shivers creep up and down your spine."

"They are fierce."

"Wonder why you don't make a complaint?"

"Well, I am just waiting."

"May I ask you what you are waiting for?"

"Sure! I am waiting to find out if that is my dog or my neighbor's dog. If it is my dog—well, you know we all have to put up with unseemly noises these fall evenings, but if it is my neighbor's dog—blamed if I don't shoot him myself."—Montreal Herald.

WISE AND OTHERWISE.

He was a nervous, fidgety young man, and he looked with considerable apprehension at the woman next him who held a baby, its face covered with a thick veil. The baby gave now and then a sharp cry, which the woman evidently tried to suppress.

At last, after many anxious glances, the young man spoke.

"Has—has that baby any—anything contagious?" he asked.

The woman looked at him with a mixture of scorn and pity.

"Twouldn't be for most folks," she said in a clear, carrying tone, "but maybe 'twould be for you. He's teething."

Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Dysentery Cordial is compounded specially to combat dysentery, cholera morbus and all inflammatory disorders that change of food or water may set up in the stomach and intestines. These complaints are more frequent in summer than in winter, but they are not confined to the warm months, as undue laxness of the bowels may seize a man at any time. Such a sufferer will find speedy relief in this Cordial.

FOR THE OVERWORKED.—What are the causes of despondency and melancholy? A disordered liver is one cause and a prime one. A disordered liver means a disordered stomach, and a disordered stomach means disturbance of the nervous system. This brings the whole body into subjection and the victim feels sick all over. Parmelee's Vegetable Pills are a recognized remedy in this state and relief will follow their use.

"Is it true," asked the philanthropic foreign lady of the New Yorker, "that a great deal of the money of your wealthy upper class goes into the slums?"

"Yes. Oh, my, yes!" earnestly rejoined the New Yorker.

"Ah, it is fine to know that philanthropy is in the hearts of so many of your rich ones! And, pray, do they leave their money in the right places?"

"Well-er-they usually know where the sights are!"

SOMETHING MORE THAN A PURGATIVE.—To purge is the only effect of many pills now on the market. Parmelee's Vegetable Pills are more than a purgative. They strengthen the stomach, where other pills weaken it. They cleanse the blood by regulating the liver and kidneys, and they stimulate where other pill compounds depress. Nothing of an injurious nature, used for merely purgative powers, enter into their composition.

But she remembered, and when she contracted a weak back there was another customer for Eclectric Oil.

MILLINERY AT HALF PRICE

We have secured a lot of Hats and Flowers, all this season's new goods, at a sensational price. We will give our customers the benefit. Commencing on Saturday morning, May 29th, we will sell all these goods at half price.

SATURDAY NIGHT SALE

OF CORSETS

DOLLAR FOR 79 CENTS

To-morrow night's after supper sale will be 5 dozen of the new Long Corsets, Made from French coutil, seventeen eyelet length, hose supporters attached, lace and silk ribbon trimming. These corsets, if sold under the maker's name, would be recognized as dollar corsets. Sizes 18 to 30; white; time 7.30; Satureay night, May 29th. Out-of-town customers may order by mail.

Trimmed Millinery---Hats at $3 to $10.

A Hat for every face—a diversity of style that spells becomingness for every woman who buys Hat or Bonnet or Toque at Robinson's.

Summery styles in black and colors—yes, black hats not at all somber, but quite the reverse. $3.00 to $10.00.

For matron or elderly woman, well-chosen styles, light in weight and effective. $4.00 to $7.00.

There is a reason for our Millinery Show Room to be the busiest in town.

The Best $5.00 Separate Coat and Separate Skirt in Canada.

We have good reason to believe that our Fawn Covert Coats at $5 for quality of material and style are the best in Canadian trade. Our Separate Skirts are just as good a value. Those who are in a position to judge admit that there are none better. If you are interested, let us have your verdict.

Hosiery Bargains for Women and Children.

Hermsdorf Hosiery Week was a splendid selling achievement in stocking selling. The result was a great many broken lines, incomplete size ranges. The light colors and white became soiled. We've condensed and grouped the odd lines, placed them out on tables in boxed lots. Ten cent box contains mostly children's sizes. Nineteen cent box contains mostly women's sizes, regular value up to 25c. a pair. Twenty-five cent box has lots of stockings worth 35c.; some were even 45c. and 50c.

A Bargain For The Men

On Thursday, June 3d, we will place on sale 15 dozen Men's Double Thread Hygean Balbriggan Underwear. Regular price [illegible] Suit.

Galatias and small shaped linen hats for children's wear in a number of stylish shapes.

Clothes For Young Men

MONTREAL CANADA
PROGRESS

Young men have voted this store the store for nifty clothes.

We pay special attention to the wants of young men, and always have "up-to-date suits." Our young men's suits have a pedigree. They come from makers that "know how."

The twists and turns of fashion are all honored —the fabrics are smart and the suits are dashing—distinctive and different.

Prices for smart suits run from $10 to $16.

Should you desire something special made—different in pattern and style to anything shown in the "Ready-to-wear" Department," we can surely meet your ideas in every particular in our well equipped tailoring department.

If you want good clothes come to us.

We can "satisfy you."

—Mr. F. S. Scott this week sold his gasoline launch and boat house to Mr. J. F. Robinson. This boat was only built last season, and is one of the most up-to-date and commodious crafts among Napanee's fleet, and will comfortably carry fifteen or twenty people.

—If some business men were judged by the printed matter they send out they would do mighty little business. A business man or a business house not thoroughly known is often judged this way. Can you afford to take chances with poor printing when good work in this line costs little, if any, more?

—Victoria Day passed off very quietly in Napanee, many of our citizens taking in the sports in outside places. The stores were all closed. The weather was ideal, and large numbers went to Picton on the strs. Brockville and Reindeer. At noon a large crowd went to Kingston.

The death of Mr. Harlowe McCabe occurred at the General Hospital, Kingston, on Monday, after a short illness of typhoid fever, aged 26 years. A particularly sad feature is that his wife and little daughter are also in the hospital suffering from the same disease. The funeral took place on Wednesday afternoon at 4 o'clock, the remains being placed in Riverside cemetery.

—At Picton, on Monday, May 24th a quiet wedding was solemnized at the Methodist parsonage, when Mr. Joseph Huff was united in wedlock to Miss Annie M. Brooks, only daughter of Mrs. Minnie Brooks, of Adolphustown. The bride was attired in a suit of blue cashmere trimmed with white braid and blue ribbon, with hat to match, and carried lilies of the valley. All join in wishing them a long, happy and prosperous life.

—It will soon be six years since Mr. J. R. Conn was inducted pastor of the St. Andrew's Presbyterian church. Special Anniversary services will be held on Sunday, June 13th. Rev. Gordon, Principal of Queen's University, will conduct both services. Monday evening following there will be held in the church a sacred concert. The following take part in the programme: Mrs. Burritt, Mrs. Lockridge, Miss Cairns, Miss Luella Hall, Miss Horten, Messrs. Fitzgerald, White, Collins and Mr. Craig, of Kingston. 22a Messrs. F. M. Wilson, Jas. Pringle and J. N. Osborne, representatives to the District meeting.

WRESTLING MATCH.

Those who attended the wrestling match in the Opera House, on 22d March, will be pleased to learn that Messrs. Hawkes and Hurtubies, heavyweight wrestlers, have been matched again for next Tuesday night, June 1st, in the Brisco Opera House, under the auspices of the Napanee Amateur Athletic Association. Both contestants have been training faithfully, and a good fast match is assured. The purse is $75.00, best two in three falls, catch-as-catch-can style. Sergt.-Major McGowan, of Ottawa, will referee. Doors open at 7.30. Bell rings at 8.15. Admission, 25c, 35c and 50c. Ringside seats, $1.00.

CARMANVILLE.

The weather is becoming fine and the farmers are busy seeding.—Miss Lizzie Byrnes spent Sunday with Miss Detta Kennedy.—Miss Gertie Tompkins and Mr. and Mrs. T. Dunn spent Sunday at John Kelly's.—Misses Stasia Kenny and Kate Campbell spent Thursday at Max Perault's.—Messrs. Joseph Kenny and Patrick Kelly spent Thursday at Chamault.—Mr. Pat. Killoran was the guest of Edward Dillon on Saturday evening.—Rev. Father O'Rielly called on Mr. Michael Kennedy and Mr. John Kelly, Sunday afternoon.—Mr. and Mrs. Lawlor and daughter Eileen spent Sunday afternoon at John Rush's.—A number from here went gathering May flowers on Sunday afternoon.

GRAVEL ROAD.

We are enjoying beautiful weather now, and the farmers are busy putting in their crops, as they have been delayed owing to the wet weather.—Mr. James Darcey had the misfortune of losing a valuable cow.—Miss Flossie Mowbray and Miss Lila Munds spent Thursday last with Miss Mabel Sexsmith.—We are pleased to hear that Mr. Edmond McNeil and Mr. W. J. Martin are able to be out again, after their recent illness.—Miss Nellie Davis and Miss Mabel Sexsmith, of Richmond, and Miss Maggie Bartley, of Macdonald, were recent visitors of Miss Flossie Mowbray, one day last week.—Mrs. Eugene McCarty and son John spent Tuesday at Melrose.—Mr. T. Dowling and Mr. Turnbull are getting along nicely building their new houses.—Mrs. William J. Martin and children spent one day last week with Mrs. Albert Mowbray.—We are sorry to lose our friend, Miss Mabel Sexsmith, who intends leaving for Chicago on Saturday next.—Mr. Frank Donnelly, fireman of the Bay of Quinte, spent Sunday last with Mr. Fred Mowbray.

MOUNTAIN GROVE.

Some of the farmers have nearly finished seeding, while others are very busy owing to the wet weather.—On the 11th inst., the Rev. Whyte, of Enterprise, gave a very interesting address on Home. The Ladies' Aid held their tea in the parsonage. A very nice sum was realized to aid in the belfry fund.—On the 9th inst., at the home of her daughters, there passed peacefully to rest Mrs. Mattie Beverly. She was a faithful member of the Methodist church for years, having selected her own text, from which the Rev. G. Kirkwood preached an excellent memorial.—[illegible] McDonald has an assistant clerk, Miss England, Sharbot Lake.—Miss Evelena Price spent the 24th in Kingston. Some attended the picnic at Long Lake, and report a grand time, the day being beautiful for the occasion.—Mr. James Parker, sr., is able to be around again, after a severe attack of la grippe.—Also Mr. J. Stinecombe is gaining slowly.—The cheese factory is running with a goodly supply of milk; also the one at Elm Dale.—Miss Flo. McKevout spent the 24th at her home at Sharbot Lake, accompanied by Miss Gladys Clark.—Mrs. Edward Flynn, who was so dangerously ill from the effects of eating can salmon, is somewhat better, and has gone to Sharbot Lake for treatment.

Hang up your fur coat in a "Bell's Moth-Proof Fibre Bag." No creases to care, safe from the enemy. Sold at The Medical Hall—Fred. L. Hooper.

STRATHCONA.

For nearly one month our baseball team have tried, begged and pleaded with the Newburgh High School team for a game of ball on Victoria Day, but all to no purpose. The "Lords of Creation" of that worthy institution are afraid to play ball with Strathcona ever since their noted spouter did all his spouting through the local paper last year, for fear they will get licked and that is surely their fate as soon as they enter a ball diamond with the Cons. On being unable to arrange a game with the N. H. S. they journeyed out to Roblin on the 24th, and there met and defeated the gamy little team of that village. Roblin boys play a smart game in the field, but were unable to do much with Dunlop's curves. They treated the visiting team very hospitably, especially at the house of Mr. Chas. Storr, where they served them with a tempting supper very daintily arranged. The arrangement of teams was as follows:

Roblin.		Strathcona.
Bradshaw, s.s.	0	Dunlop, p.	1
Kimmett, 1b	1	Darlington, c	1
Hunt, c.	0	Lott, 1b	3
Morgan, p.	0	Mills, 2b	0
Richardson, l.f.	0	B. Asselstine, 3b	2
Lasher, r.f.	1	T. Asselstine, s.s.	1
Spencer, 2b	1	Sutton, r.f.	2
Anderson, 3b	1	Rook, l.f.	0
	4		10

Score by innings:

Roblin...	1	2	0	0	0	0	0	1	0	—4
Strathcona ...	1	3	2	3	0	0	0	1	x	—10

Both teams were short one man.

CENTREVILLE.

Owing to the fine weather the farmers are nearly through seeding.—We are glad to see again the smiling face of "Sun" Dunn, in our midst.—The Camden East baseball team went through here on Monday evening, rejoicing after their victory. Mr. Harold Sweet was the guest of Mr. J. B. Weese last Sunday night.—Mr. Lochhead's funeral was largely attended last Thursday afternoon.—Mr. E. Reynolds called in the village last Saturday evening.—Rumor says that Lake street is turning into a lovers' lane.—Peter Romtough spent Sunday evening at Mr. Wesley Kelly's.—Miss M. Husband spent her holidays at home.—Mr. J. B. Weese is erecting a fine residence in the centre of the town.—Mr. Herb. Milligan was in Napanee on Sunday.—Irvine Wilson spent Sunday at Ross Milligan's.—Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Boyle, Napanee, came out on Thursday for Mr. Lochhead's funeral, and took tea at J. R. Lochhead's.—Mr. J. R. Lochhead is spending this week in Denbigh.—Mr. John Lochhead visited relatives here last week.—Mr. and Mrs Frank VandeBogart called on the Lochhead Bros., on Monday.—Mr. Bert. Lochhead was calling around town last Sunday evening.—Mr. W. J. Fitzgerald is sporting a new fence.—Don't forget the best ice cream is to be had at Mr. T. E. McGill's, Saturday evening.

GIVES LIFE TO INDIANS.

Father Lecorre, After 39 Years In the North, is Back to Civilization.

Rev. A. Lecorre, O.M.I., who for 39 years has been doing missionary work among the Esquimaux and Indians of northern Canada, returned to civilization about three weeks ago, and will remain in the east until he is able to collect sufficient funds to establish a Catholic seminary in the heart of the Northern Canadian forests. Although 67 years old, he is still a strong, robust man, despite his two-score years' battle with the northern wilds.

After each address a collection will be taken, and Father Lecorre hopes to raise $10,000. He intends to visit the large Canadian cities, including Ottawa, Montreal, and Quebec, in an effort to fulfill his long-cherished hopes.

Father Lecorre is a French-Canadian. The first fifteen years of his work was spent in endeavoring to convert the people inhabiting the region near the polar circles. With the Esquimaux he met with but little success, being the first missionary among them.

"Most people have a wrong conception of the Esquimaux," said Father Lecorre. "They are horribly cruel and barbarous—that is, most of them were when I first went among them. They killed all their old men. The aged and feeble were compelled to kneel on the mat of death, and the younger members of the tribe pierced them through and through with spears until they were dead. I did, however, baptize about 300 babies. This made their medicine men jealous, and they made many attempts to kill me, both with knife and gun. But, you see, they were unsuccessful.

While carrying on his work of conversion in the far north, Father Lecorre has had many narrow escapes from starvation and death in other ways.

"Even when I was permanently settled at my little monastery, Lady of Good Hope, 100 miles south of the Arctic circle, I did not taste a piece of bread for three years," he said.

Dr. Lecorre, described a peculiar custom of the Esquimaux women, that of cutting a large hole in each cheek, in which they wear precious stones. These are removed during meal hours.

With the Indians of the far north Father Lecorre met with far greater success, and, while he has been at work among the missions of Providence, as the monasteries are called, he has had the satisfaction of seeing the Indians of the entire valley of the Mackenzie river embrace the Catholic faith. The first mission established in this region was at Edmonton, and consisted of two huts.

Twenty-five years ago, when Father Lecorre took an active part in converting the Slavian Indians, the Dog tribes, so-called because they eat dog flesh, and the Mountain Indians, his little hut was just 900 miles south of the Arctic circle, and 900 miles north of the nearest civilization, with missions at an interval of 180 miles. There were but thirty-two priests in the entire region at the time.

He Lost His Temper.

Toronto people who have occasion to talk over the telephone with a certain down-town business man, whose name it would not do to give away, frequently find great difficulty in understanding him because of an impediment in his speech. This stuttering makes it particularly awkward for those who call at his office to transact business.

Sometimes when the rush of words becomes unintelligible Mr. B. seizes a sheet of paper and uses a pencil to express his thoughts. Not long ago he adopted this plan with a caller whose business he did not know. To his surprise the visitor replied in the same way, writing a long and laborious reply on paper. Thinking he was the object of some kind of rude joke, B. "went off the handle," and used his talking apparatus to the limit in "calling down" the stranger.

When the atmosphere had cleared away he found that he had been wasting his energy on a man who was both deaf and dumb. Then business was resumed.

Alexander Mackenzie's Idea.

Mr. T. C. Irving of Toronto, while responding to a toast at the St. Andrew's night, told a characteristic story of Hon. Alexander Mackenzie, whose election agent he had been for many years before the death of the Liberal leader.

In his quaint pawky Scotch style Mr. Mackenzie said: "Mr. Irving, I have never as yet had a protest and I have no fault to find with the judges of the land, but if I ever have a protest I think I would just a little prefer that it be tried by judges who had been Reformers in their day."

FIRES REDUCE TIMBER.

Fernie Conflagration Destroyed 165 Square Miles of Forest.

Mr. H. R. Macmillan of the Forestry branch of the Department of the Interior has written as follows to Saturday Night from Ottawa:

I have just returned from the western slope of the Rockies, where particularly in the region of the Crow's Nest Pass, I have been investigating forest conditions for the Forestry branch. The supply of merchantable timber on the east slope of the Rockies has been greatly reduced by fire. In the valley of the Crow's Nest River, of an original total forest area of 204 square miles, only 39 remain unburned. What does remain, being that at higher elevations in the smaller creeks, is of a quality somewhat inferior to the timber which occupied the main valleys. Of the burned timber some 30 square miles remain standing, sound and fit for use. This dead timber is being used at the rate of over 2,000,000 lineal feet annually by the Crow's Nest coal mines for props and mining timbers. When it is known that 2,000,000 feet is the annual growth upon 34,000 acres of that mountain land, it can readily be understood why the mine owners are now wondering where they are going to get their future supply of props. Salvation lies in the fact that the burned overland is rapidly coming up to young timber, which will, if protected from fire, constitute the next timber supply. To protect this young timber is now the problem confronting the Forestry Department.

Eight men are said to have been killed by hailstones in Texas.

Oliver Asselin, who assaulted Hon. L. A. Taschereau at the Quebec Parliament buildings, is held without bail for trial.

W. L. M. KING AND THE COW.

One of Prospective Labor Minister's Adventures During Campaign.

Have you heard the story of the recent encounter between W. L. M. King, M.P., and the auctioneer? If not, it is a good one. It seems that in the course of the campaign in North Waterloo the presumptive Minister of Labor and his friends had a series of adventures. First they met a crowd of men who were putting up telephone or telegraph poles, and, of course, the candidate had to get out of his buggy and give a hand. Next the party ran up against a barn-raising, and, of course, nothing would do but that the Boy Who Had Been Raised on a Farm should turn to and give a hand. These two experiences ought to have been enough for one day, but as the tour proceeded fortune brought them to a farmhouse where there was an auction sale of cattle. And pretty cattle they were—almost on a par with the farm itself. Just as soon as the new arrivals loomed in sight the worst animal in the barnyard was being brought up for disposal.

"Now," said the auctioneer, seizing his opportunity, "we have an unexpected and a most valued addition to our audience. We have now with us the next member of Parliament for North Waterloo, and we are going to give him the first chance at this most valuable animal."

And, seizing opportunity by the ears, he at once put the cow on parade.

"How much am I offered?" said the auctioneer.

Mr. King, not wishing to appear mean, after it was apparent that no one else would bid, presumably because they did not wish to forestall the politician, bid "Five dollars."

And the auctioneer, without waiting for further bids, at once knocked down the animal to Mr. King for five dollars. It was a case of "Going, going, gone," at once.

And you ought to hear Mackenzie King tell of his troubles in finding a widow, who had no family, and therefore no vote attached to her household, to whom, without arousing suspicion of bribery and corruption, he could hand over the wretched animal.

Goodness knows what would have happened had woman suffrage been in force in Canada. Mr King might have had to take the cow to China with him!

Cowboy Not Dead.

As the Canadian west is such an enormous country, its settling is no matter of a decade or two. The United States has been settling its west for over half a century, yet millions of cattle still roam on its ranges, and thousands of cowboys whirl their lasso ropes and control their fiery steeds. The tendency has indeed ever been of late towards smaller ranches, and fences are supplanting free grass, and the same will apply to Canada. But we must not say that the cowboy is disappearing because he is beginning to call himself a rancher, and because his legs are not forever encased in the leather "chaps."

The cowboy will tell you that the real [illegible] of the best type neither more or less than any expert at handling [illegible] cattle, and there are still to be found in the west, clad though they be not in buckskin shirts and [illegible] leggings, but in overalls and [illegible] vests. Men whose skill in handling a lasso rope, or in managing a herd of wild frightened cattle or a [illegible] horse, is an unceasing wonder to the eastern eye.

It will be to the great advantage of the Dominion to number among its citizens men of the fearless, generous, hardworking and altogether heroic mould in which the average cowpuncher is cast.—Calgary Herald.

A Wonderful Harbor.

Churchill harbor is simply a land locked lake of eight miles in length running northeast and southwest by about four miles in breadth, in area approximately two townships in extent. The Churchill or English River feeds into the harbor on its southwest corner. An outlet of about one-quarter of a mile wide at Fort Prince of Wales, leads to the open sea and to deep water.

This channel at low waters in its shallowest spot is 27 feet deep. It has an average tide of two fathoms. The sheltered harbor requires dredging and the removing of large boulders, stones and other impediments. Its deepest and best ship anchorage gives 45 feet, opposite the present whaling station. A powerful ice-breaker could keep the channel leading to the open sea serviceable the whole year round. As time will prove, suitable tugs, aided by lighthouses, fishing stations, improved charts and the all important wireless telegraphy, will simply pick up and lead in a transatlantic vessel with ease, as soon as it enters the straits at the Button islands.

Dogs Prevent Accidents.

Superintendent Stinson, of the Ontario Provincial Department of Game and Fisheries, declares that that province has had this year the smallest number of serious accidents from hunting with hounds. He argues that still hunting requires the expert, the man who knows woodcraft, and that among the thousands who go to the woods not half a dozen could bring home a deer if it depended on woodcraft. Nearly all the deer are shot along the water paths with the hounds in pursuit. The use of hounds in hunting, he holds, is a preventive of accidents, for there is no mistaking the approach of an animal when chased by dogs. Moreover, in the northern districts, with their second growth of timber, still-hunting would be almost impossible.

THE LATE JUDGE M'CALLUM.

After Hot Political Meeting He Changed Before Those Who Stayed Late.

Archie McCallum was stumping South Grey for the late Senator Landerkin, and the place of meeting was Drewery's school-house. As is well known Archie was always chosen to stump the constituencies where the Highlanders were numerous, and at this meeting were the McQueens, McNeils, McEachrens, McFadyens, McDonalds, McDougalls, McPhees, Camerons, Campbells, Keiths, and Robertsons.

Gaelic and English political oratory poured forth as it could only when McCallum was the medium. No reporters were present, and so many unprintable arguments were set forth. After the meeting the crowd tarried long, as is the custom after any rural gathering. It was a cold night, and it was a long drive to Durham. For a space Archie felt a little uneasy, but after a while, turning to the writer, demanded:

"Are these people going to stay here all night? If they are I may as well do it first as last."

So opening his valise he took out a heavy undershirt which he changed right there in the small auditorium for the wringing wet one he had on.

This is vouched for by W. T. Rogers, now principal of Brockville Business College, who was the teacher of the school at that time, and acted as chairman at the meeting.

OUR HERITAGE.

Some of our days to come may show
of strife,
Others perchance would be suffused
with light,
If panoramic view of future life
Would but unfold itself to mortal sight.

Coming catastrophies and burdens great,
Mountains of pain and hardship
that we'd see,
Would tend to darken all our present state
If such prophetic thing should ever be.

Over the one who gives up in despair,
Unknown or known, these hardships
ever lay,
Like lowering clouds over a landscape
fair,
That hide the beauty of the present day.

Mountains seem mole-hills to our strengthened feet,
And pitfalls but a shortened step if we
To our guide and amulet will truly keep,
Shedding sunshine through Faith,
Hope and Charity.

THE PRAIRIE CHICKEN.

Something About the Game Bird of the Western Plains.

One of the most familiar denizens of the vast prairies of Northwest Canada is the prairie chicken, which provides at the same time sport and food for the settler and his family. Though their numbers must have been very appreciably thinned of late years, prairie chicken are still to be found in their thousands all over the park-like lands of the Territories. This sporting bird, when fully matured, is of about the same size as our domestic hen, but his contour is somewhat different. His legs are shorter, and he has a more squat appearance. The plumage is quite thick, of a greyish brown hue on the back, and approaching white on the breast. Male and female are very similar in appearance, but the former has a small tuft on his head. Legally, one is not allowed to shoot chicken save between Sept. 15 and Dec. 15, and, in addition, the law says that not more than twenty may be killed in one day by the individual, nor above a hundred during the whole season. These birds have considerable powers of flight, and the "gunner" must discharge at once, for in a few seconds the chicken will have whirred speedily a quarter of a mile away into the next section, and may never be seen again. The old birds rear half a dozen or so of downy chicks, which later on prove dainty eating when properly cooked. May the day be far distant when we have to count the prairie chicken as one of the things that have been!

WORTH MOUNTAINS OF GOLD

During Change of Life, says Mrs. Chas. Barclay

Graniteville, Vt.—"I was passing through the Change of Life and suffered from nervousness and other [illegible] symptoms, and I can truly say that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has proved worth mountains of gold to me, as it restored my health and strength. I never forget to tell my friends what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me during this trying period. Complete restoration to health means so much to me that for the sake of other suffering women I am willing to make my trouble public so you may publish this letter."—Mrs. Chas. Barclay, R.F.D., Graniteville, Vt.

No other medicine for woman's ills has received such wide-spread and unqualified endorsement. No other medicine we know of has such a record of cures of female ills as has Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

For more than 30 years it has been curing female complaints such as inflammation, ulceration, local weaknesses, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, indigestion, and nervous prostration, and it is unequalled for carrying women safely through the period of change of life. It costs but little to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and, as Mrs. Barclay says, it is "worth mountains of gold" to suffering women.

Boy—I don't even know how to whistle.

Merchant—Hang up your hat.

ADVICE TO A POET.

"Ik Marvel," the author of the graceful and tender Reveries of a Bachelor, was all his life opposed to the modern commercial spirit.

A young disciple from the west once visited the aged writer in his New England home. The youth, a poet, said he thought he would put away his verses and write magazine love stories, so as to be able to save money. But Mr. Mitchell frowned and shook his head.

"Saving", he said, "is the mania for depriving yourself of things which you want now, for fear you may not have things which you won't possibly want 40 years hence."

FAVORITISM WANTED.

George Gould, his father's worthy successor in finance, spoke of railway difficulties at a recent board meeting

"A railway finds it impossible, by being just, to please all hands," Mr. Gould concluded. "There is truth in the story of the commuter who entered a railway superintendent's office with a black frown.

"Well, what next?" the superintendent said to the man impatiently.

"By our new time table don't three additional trains stop at your station now?"

"Yes, but," growled the commuter, "they stop at all the other little stations, too."

DIRECTIONS FOR A HAND-MADE HAT.

This is the banner year for a woman of resource but no bank account. If she cannot buy a new hat, let her by no means despair. Effective hats which are the first word in style and shape can be made as follows:

Take a large hammered brass jardiniere. Line with wool for comfort's sake. Cover with satin and decorate with a pompom and nine ostrich feathers.

Line a large wicker work basket with blue satin and tie a large blue ribbon around its middle. Trim with daisies.

Select the deepest milk pan you can find and kick it seven times. This will give it a charming irregularity, after which it will be easy to line it. Cover it and trim with cauliflower.

Remove the handle from an ordinary coal skuttle. Cleanse thoroughly, line and cover to suit complexion. Trimmed with mignonette this makes a most impressive hat of the 1909 model.

EXCELLENT BREED TO KEEP.

The Earl of Warwick, at a banquet in Washington, was quizzed about the hunting yarns he had swapped with the President whilst dining at the White House.

"Oh, yes," Lord Warwick said playfully, "they were tall yarns—tall on my side, I mean. I told the wandering hen. A hen, you know, set out to see the world, and met a crow in a distant wood.

"But," said the crow, "are you not afraid, without wings, of losing your way in all this tangle?"

"Afraid? Not I," scoffed the hen. "Every little while I lay an egg to guide myself back by."

A SEA TALK.

Dr. Harvey W. Wiley, the government's famous food expert, complimented the other day the purity of the nation's food products.

"Pure foods are now the rule," he said. "They seemed in the past to be almost the exception. You remember the dialogue of the codfish and the whale? A cod, encountering a whale in the bay of Biscay, sneered:

"Since they have found substitutes for whalebone, blubber and spermaceti, it really seems, my friend, that there is no longer any good reason for your existence."

The whale sighed.

"True, true," said he. "I'm good for nothing now except to furnish the pure cod liver oil of commerce."

QUITE CORRECT.

Mary Garden, the well-known singer, has become a suffragette, and at a luncheon of debutantes given in her honor in New York she said:

"You should all take up this fight for the vote. It would rid your minds of vanity. Debutantes, you know, are apt to be vain—they are so pretty—they get so many compliments. But put two debutantes together, and it isn't always compliments that fly. Two were talking at a tea at Sherry's the other day.

"Reggie," said the first, "when I accepted him, vowed he was in the seventh heaven."

"The other's red lip curled.

"How very apposite!" she said. "He's already been engaged, you know, to six girls this season."

RESIGNATION.

Paul Wilstach, playwright and biographer of Richard Mansfield, discussed, at the Players' Club in New York, a farce that had failed.

"It wasn't worth much," said Mr. Wilstach, "and I suppose its author minds its failure no more than old Jethro Higgins, of my native Lafayette, minded the decease of his third wife. The minister visited Jethro to condole with him; but the old man puffing on his pipe, said:

"Thank ye, parson, fur the visit and kind words; but as fur Hannah Maria, she wuz a cross-grained critter, and the Lord's welcome to her."

HIS CHIEF DUTY

Employer—Mr. you're the new office boy. Has the cashier instructed you as to your duties?

Boy—Yes, sir, I'm to wake him up when I see you coming.

NOT HIS WORK.

Judge Frederick E. Crane, the young and brilliant jurist, who presided over the Jenkins-Hains trial, has a way of illuminating, with an apt anecdote, a point he wishes to make. In one of the early cases that he so brilliantly conducted before his elevation to the bench, Mr. Crane said to a very obstinately reticent witness:

"You seem bent on giving the court all possible trouble. You are like the man who sat in the dock one Sunday morning with a bandaged head.

"Prisoner," said the magistrate to this man, "you are charged with having been drunk and disorderly. What say you—guilty or not guilty?"

"That's wot you're paid to find out," growled the prisoner. "I ain't got no call to help ye do yer work."

THE LAST CHANCE.

Dorando Pietri, defending at an Italian banquet his canny course in wearing a cigarette advertisement in the race with Hayes, told an apposite story of an Italian gravedigger.

"I must accumulate all I can while I am here," he said, "for over there in Italy money is scarce. It is with me, in fact, as it was with a gravedigger. This gravedigger, after digging a certain grave, put in a bill that was exorbitant. When complaint of the overcharge was made to him, he said:

"Well, the corpse and I had a row five years ago over a cart I sold him and I could never make him pay me what he owed. So, seeing this was my last chance, I thought I'd better take it."

THE POOR OLD SENATE.

Speaker Cannon, at the recent Grid-iron Club dinner in Washington, stood up for the Senate.

"You'd think, the way the Senate is blamed for everything," he said, "that it had supernatural powers. A crowd of farmers were knocking the Senate one market day last month when an old fellow of only one-horse power brain bustled into their midst.

"Well, byes," said he, "what's the Senate up to now?"

"Why, ain't ye heerd, Zachary?" said a young farmer, winking at the others. "The senate's went and passed a bill addin' two extra months to the winter."

Zachary struck his forehead with his red-mittened fist.

"Do tell!" he groaned. "Gosh durn the luck! An' here am I clean out o' fodder."

ONLY AN EXCUSE.

"The late Claus Spreckles", said a San Franciscan, "had one weakness of which he was a little ashamed. He could not resist the appeal of a beggar. Yet he knew that the charity societies are right, and that most beggars are impostors.

"Have the moral courage of your convictions," I said one day, as I saw him give a beggar a quarter. "Send these fellows to the charity specialists for investigation."

"Moral courage!" Mr. Spreckles murmured. "That is what we call on when we contemplate a mean action. A school teacher once told her class that the courage which makes us do what we think right, regardless of the sneers of others, was moral courage, the best kind."

"Then, if a boy has a box of candy like me yesterday," said a lad, "and if he eats it all himself, without giving any to people that have no right to it, no matter how much they call him mean and stingy—that there's moral courage, ain't it, teacher?"

CERTAINLY MYSTERIOUS

Some time ago a congressman was visiting "Fighting Bob" Evans. Having run out of his favorite brand of whisky, the admiral had procured an unfamiliar kind which he had never used. After exhausting matters, "Fighting Bob" said:

"Here, however, is some brandy that I've kept untouched for a good deal more than 20 years."

"Hand me over the whisky decanter," was the rejoinder.

"Why?" asked the admiral. "What is the matter with the brandy?"

"That's what I want to know, Bob," said the guest, "but if you have had it untouched in your possession for more than 20 years, there must be something pretty bad the matter with it."

ALL SHE POSSESSED

Mrs. Taylor was away and Mary Ann was ill. Therefore upon Mr. Taylor devolved the duty of dressing 5-year-old Marjorie.

For two hours he wrestled with the toughest problem he had ever been up against. "Going" was slow and arduous. By the time he reached the shoe stage he had become exasperated.

"Those," he commanded, "you shall put on yourself."

Of course she promptly endeavored to put the left shoe onto her right foot.

"Marjorie," he roared, "don't you know any better than that? You're putting your shoes on the wrong feet!"

Then the tiny child burst into a flood of tears.

"I tan't help it, daddy!" she cried. "Dey's all de foots I dot!"

self between Marsh and Eugene. "I can't stand this any longer," gasped Tappingham, "but I can't leave those two up there either."

"Not alone," shouted Cummings from beneath Madrillon. "Let's go up."

Thus it happened that when the water came again and Vanrevel let it fall in a grateful cascade upon Crailey and himself three manly voices were heard singing as three men toiled through the billows of rosy gray below the beleaguered pair:

"Oh, the noble Duke of York,
He had ten thousand men;
He marched them up the side of a house
And marched them down again!"

A head appeared above the eaves, and Marsh, then Eugene, then Cummings, came crawling over the cornice in turn to join their comrades. They were a gallant band, those young gentlemen of Rouen, and they came with the ironical song on their lips and, looking at one another, ragged and scorched, burst into hoarse but indomitable laughter.

Two others made an attempt to follow and would not be restrained. It was noticed that parts of the lower ladder had been charring, and the ladder men were preparing to remove it to a less dangerous point when old General Trumble and young Jefferson Bareaud made a rush to mount it and were well upon their upward way before the ladder, weakened at the middle, sagged, splintered and broke, Trumble and Bareaud falling with it. And there was the grappling ladder dangling forty feet above the ground, and there were the five upon the roof.

The department had no other ladder of more than half the length of the shattered one. Not only the department, but every soul in Rouen, knew that, and there rose the thick, low sigh of a multitude, a sound frightful to hear. It became a groan, then swelled into a deep cry of alarm and lamentation.

And now almost simultaneously the west wall of the building and the south wall and all the southwestern portions of the roof covered themselves with triumphant mantles of flame, which increased so hugely and with such savage rapidity that the one stream on the roof was seen to be but a ridiculous and useless opposition.

Everybody began to shout advice to his neighbor, and nobody listened even to himself. The firemen were in as great a turmoil as was the crowd, while women covered their eyes. Young Frank Chenoweth was sobbing curses upon the bruised and shaking Trumble and Jefferson Bareaud, who could only stand remorseful, impotently groaning, and made no answer.

The walls of the southernmost warehouse followed the roof, crashing in one after the other, a sacrifice pyre with its purpose consummated, and in the seeth and flare of its passing Tom Vanrevel again shaded his eyes with his hand and looked down across the upturned faces. The pedestal with the grotesque carvings was still there, but the crowning figure had disappeared—the young goddess was gone. For she, of all that throng, had an idea in her head, and, after screaming it to every man within reach, only to discover the impossibility of making herself understood in that babel, she was struggling to make her way toward the second warehouse, through the swaying jam of people. It was a difficult task, as the farther in she managed to go the denser became the press and the more tightly she found the people wedged, until she received involuntary aid from the firemen. In turning their second stream to play ineffectually upon the lower strata of flame they accidentally deflected it toward the crowd, who separated wildly, leaving a big gap, of which Miss Bett, took instant advantage. She darted across, and the next moment, unnoticed, had entered the building through the door which Crailey Gray had opened.

The five young men on the roof were well aware that there was little to do but to wait, and soon they would see which was to win, they or the fire, so they shifted their line of hose to the eastern front of the building, out of harm's way for a time at least, and held the muzzle steady, watching its work. And in truth it was not long before they understood which would conquer. The southern and western portions of the building had flung out great flames that fluttered and flared on the breeze like titanic flags, and steadily, slowly at first, then faster as the seconds flew, the five were driven backward, up the low slope of the roof toward the gable ridge. Tom Vanrevel held the first joint of the nozzle, and he retreated with a sulky face, lifting his feet grudgingly at each step. They were all silent now, and no one spoke until Will Cummings faltered:

"Surely they'll get a rope up to us some way?"

Will knew as well as did the others that there was no way, but his speech stirred the sullen heart of the chief with remorse. He turned. "I hope you'll all forgive me for getting you up here."

A sound, half sob, half giggle, came from the parched lips of Eugene Madrillon as he patted Tom on the shoulder without speaking, and Crailey nodded quietly, then left the group and went to the eastern edge of the roof and looked out upon the crowd. Cummings dropped the line and sat down, burying his hot face in his arms, for they all saw that Vanrevel thought "it was no use," but a question of a few minutes, and they would retreat across the gable and either jump or go down with the roof.

Since the world began idle and industrious philosophers have speculated much upon the thoughts of men about to die, yet it cannot be too ingenuous to believe that such thoughts vary as the men, their characters and conditions of life vary. Nevertheless, pursuant with the traditions of minstrelsy and romance, it is conceivable that young unmarried men called upon to face desperate situations might, at the crucial moment, rush to a common experience of summoning the vision, each of his heart's desire, and to meet, each his doom, with her name upon his lips.

An extraordinary thing occurred in the present instance, for, by means of some fragmentary remarks let fall at the time and afterward recalled, such as Tappingham Marsh's gasping, "At least it will be on her father's roof!" and from other things later overheard, an inevitable deduction has been reached that four of the five gentlemen in the perilous case herein described were occupied with the vision of the same person, to wit, Miss Elizabeth Carewe, "the last, the prettiest, to come to town!"

Crailey Gray, alone, spoke not at all, but why did he strain and strain his eyes toward that empty pedestal with the grotesque carvings? Did he seek Fanchon there, or was Miss Carewe the last sweet apparition in the fancies of all five of the unhappy young men?

The coincidence of the actual appearance of the lady among them therefore seemed the more miraculous when, wan and hopeless, staggering desperately backward to the gable ridge, they heard a clear contralto voice behind them:

"Hadn't you better all come down now?" it said. "The stairway will be on fire before long."

Only one thing could have been more shockingly unexpected to the five than that there should be a sixth person on the roof, and this was that the sixth person should be Miss Betty Carewe.

They turned, aghast, agape, chopfallen with astonishment, stunned and incredulous.

She stood just behind the gable ridge, smiling amiably, a most incongruous little pink fan in her hand, the smoke wreaths partly obscuring her and curling between the five and her white dress, like mists floating across the new moon.

Was it but a kindly phantasm of the brain? Was it the incarnation of the last vision of the lost volunteers? Was it a Valkyrie assuming that lovely likeness to perch upon this eyrie, waiting to bear their heroic souls to Valhalla, or was it Miss Betty Carewe?

To the chief she spoke—all of them agreed to that afterward—but it was Crailey who answered, while Tom could only stare and stand wagging his head at the lovely phantom like a mandarin on a shelf.

"My mother in heaven!" gasped Crailey. "How did you come up here?"

"There's a trap in the roof on the other side of the ridge," she said, and she began to fan herself with the pink fan. "A stairway runs all the way down—old Nelson showed me through these buildings yesterday—and that side isn't on fire yet. I'm so sorry I didn't think of it until a moment ago, because you could have brought the water up that way. But don't you think you'd better come down now?"

CHAPTER VII.

NOT savage Hun nor "barbarous Vandyke" nor demon Apache could wish to dwell upon the state of mind of the chief of the Rouen volunteer fire department; therefore let the curtain of mercy descend. Without a word he turned and dragged the nozzle to the eastern eaves, whence, after a warning gesture to those below, he dropped it to the ground, and, out of compassion, it should be little more than hinted that the gesture of warning was very slight.

When the rescued band reached the foot of the last flight of stairs they beheld the open doorway as a frame for a great press of intent and contorted faces, every eye still strained to watch the roof, none of the harrowed spectators comprehending the appearance of the girl's figure there, nor able to see whither she had led the five young men, until Tappingham Marsh raised a shout as he leaped out of the door and danced upon the solid earth again.

Then, indeed, there was a mighty uproar. Cheer after cheer ascended to the red vault of heaven. Women wept, men whooped and the people rushed for the heroes with wide open, welcoming arms. Jefferson Bareaud and Frank Chenoweth and General Trumble dashed at Tom Vanrevel with incoherent cries of thanksgiving, shaking his hands and beating him hysterically upon the back. He greeted them with bitter laughter.

"Help get the water into the next warehouse. This one is beyond control, but we can save the other two. Take the lines in—through the door!" He brushed the rejoicing friends off abruptly, and went on in a queer, hollow voice: "There are stairs—and I'm so sorry I didn't think of it until a moment ago, because you could have brought the water up that way!"

A remarkable case of desertion had occurred the previous instant under his eyes. As the party emerged from the warehouse into the street Tom heard Crailey say hurriedly to Miss Carewe: "Let me get you away—come quickly!" saw him suddenly seize her hand and, fleeing the oncoming crowd, run with her round the corner of the building. And somehow, through what inspiration or through what knowledge of his partner's "temperament," heaven knows, the prophetic soul of the chief was unhappily assured that Crailey would offer himself as escort to her home and find acceptance. But why not? Was it Crailey who had publicly called his fellow man fool, idiot, imbecile, at the top of his lungs only to find himself the proven numskull of the universe! Tom stood for a moment staring after the vanishing pair, while over his face stole the strangest expression that ever man saw there; then, with meekly bowed shoulders, he turned again to his work.

At the corner of the warehouse Miss Carewe detached her hand from Crailey's, yet still followed him as he made a quick detour round the next building. A minute or two later they found themselves, undetected, upon Main street in the rear of the crowd. There Crailey paused.

"Forgive me," he said breathlessly, "for taking your hand. I thought you would like to get away."

She regarded him gravely, so that he found it difficult to read her look, except that it was seriously questioning, but whether the interrogation was addressed to him or to herself he could not determine. After a silence she said:

"I don't know why I followed you. I believe it must have been because you didn't give me time to think."

This, of course, made him even quicker with her than before. "It's all over," he said briskly. "The first warehouse is gone, the second will go, but they'll save the others easily enough now that you have pointed out that the lines may be utilized otherwise than as adjuncts of performances on the high trapeze." They were standing by a picket fence, and he leaned against it, overcome by mirth in which she did not join. Her gravity reacted upon him at once, and his laughter was stopped short. "Will you not accept me as an escort to your home?" he said formally.

"I do not know," she returned simply, the sort of honest trouble in her glance that is seen only in very young eyes.

"What reason in the world?" he returned, with a crafty sharpness of astonishment.

She continued to gaze upon him thoughtfully, while he tried to look into her eyes, but was baffled because the radiant beams from the lady's orbs, as the elder Chenoweth might have said, rested somewhere dangerously near his chin, which worried him, for, though his chin made no retreat and was far from ill looking, it was nevertheless that feature which he most distrusted. "Won't you tell me why not?" he repeated uneasily.

"Because," she answered at last, speaking hesitatingly—"because it isn't so easy a matter for me as you seem to think. You have not been introduced to me, and I know you never will be, and that what you told me was true."

"Which part of what I told you?" The question escaped from him instanter.

"That the others might come when they liked, but that you could not."

"Oh, yes, yes." His expression altered to a sincere dejection, his shoulders drooped and his voice indicated supreme annoyance. "I might have known some one would tell you. Who was it? Did they say why I"—

"On account of your quarrel with my father."

"My quarrel with your father!" he exclaimed, and his face lit with an elated surprise. His shoulders straightened. He took a step nearer her and asked eagerly, "Who told you that?"

"My father himself. He spoke of a Mr. Vanrevel whom he disliked and whom I must not meet, and, remembering what you had said, of course I knew that you were he."

"Oh!" Crailey's lips began to form a smile of such appealing and inimitable sweetness that Voltaire would have trusted him, a smile altogether rose leaves. "Then I lose you," he said, "for my only chance to know you was in keeping it hidden from you. And now you understand."

"No," she answered gravely, "I don't understand. That is what troubles me. If I did and believed you had the right of the difference I could believe it no sin that you should speak to me, should take me home now. I think it is wrong not to act from your own understanding of things."

The young man set his expression as one indomitably fixed upon the course of honor, cost what it might, and in the very action his lurking pleasure in doing it hopped out in the flicker of a twinkle in his eyes and as instantly sought cover again—the flea in the rose jar.

"Then you must ask some other," he said firmly. "A disinterested person should tell you. The difference was political in the beginning, but became personal afterward, and it is now a quarrel which can never be patched up, though, for my part, I wish that it could be. I can say no more, because a party to it should not speak."

She met his level look squarely at last, and no man ever had a more truthful pair of eyes than Crailey Gray, for it was his great accomplishment that he could adjust his emotion, his reason and something that might be called his faith to fit any situation in any character.

"You may take me home," she answered. "I may be wrong and even disloyal, but I do not feel it so now. You did a very brave thing tonight to save him from loss, and I think that what you have said was just what you should have said."

So they went down the street, the hubbub and confusion of the fire growing more and more indistinct behind them. They walked slowly, and for a time neither spoke, yet the silence was of a kind which the adept rejoiced to have produced thus soon—their second meeting. He waited until they passed into the shadows of the deserted Carewe street before he spoke. There he stopped abruptly, at which she turned, astonished.

"Now that you have saved my life," he said in a low, tremulous tone, "what are you going to do with it?"

Her eyes opened almost as widely as they had at her first sight of him in her garden. There was a long pause before she replied, and when she did it was to his considerable surprise.

"I have never seen a play except the funny little ones we acted at the convent," she said. "But isn't that the way they speak on the stage?"

Crailey realized that his judgment of the silence had been mistaken, and yet it was with a thrill of delight that he recognized her clear reading of him. He had been too florid again.

"Let us go." His voice was soft with restrained forgiveness. "You mocked me once before."

"Mocked you?" she repeated as they went on.

"Mocked me," he said firmly. "Mocked me for seeming theatrical, and yet you have learned that what I said was true, as you will again."

She mused upon this, then, as in whimsical indulgence to an importunate child:

"Well, tell me what you mean when you say I saved your life."

"You came alone," he began hastily, "to stand upon that burning roof"—

"Whence all but him had fled!" Her laughter rang out, interrupting him. "My room was on the fourth floor at St. Mary's, and I didn't mind climbing three flights this evening."

Crailey's good nature was always perfect. "You mock me, and you mock me!" he cried, and made her laughter but part of a gay duet. "I know I have gone too fast, have said things I should have waited to say; but, ah, remember the small chance I have against the others who can see you when they like. Don't flout me because I try to make the most of a rare, stolen moment with you."

"Do!" she exclaimed, grave upon the instant. "Do make the most of it! I have nothing but inexperience. Make the most by treating me seriously, won't you? I know you can, and I—I"— She faltered to a full stop. She was earnest and quiet, and there had been something in her tone, too, as very often there was, that showed how young she was. "Oh," she began again, turning to him impulsively, "I have thought about you since that evening in the garden, and I have wished I could know you. I can't be quite clear how it happened, but even those few minutes left a number of strong impressions about you. And the strongest was that you were one with whom I could talk of a great many things, if you would only be real with me. I believe, though I'm not sure why I do, that it is very difficult for you to be real. Perhaps because you are so different at different times that you aren't sure yourself which the real you is. But the person that you are beginning to be for my benefit must be the most trifling of all your selves, lighter and easier to put on than the little mask you carried the other night. If there were nothing better underneath the mask, I might play too."

"Did you learn this at the convent?" gasped Crailey.

"There was a world there in miniature," she answered, speaking very quickly. "I think all people are made of the same materials, only in such different proportions. I think a little world might hold as much as the largest, if you thought it all out hard enough, and your experience might be just as broad and deep in a small corner of the earth as anywhere else, but I don't know! I want to understand—I want to understand everything! I read books, and there are people, but no one who tells me what I want—I"—

"Stop!" He lifted his hand. A singular exaltation rose in him, together with the reckless impulse to speak from the mood her vehement confidence had inspired. He gave way to it.

"I know, I know," he said huskily. "I understand all you mean, all you feel, all you wish. It is all echoing here and here and here!" He touched his breast, his eyes and his forehead with the fingers of his long and slender hand. "We sigh and strain our eyes and stretch out our arms in the dark, groping always for the strange blessing that is just beyond our grasp, seeking for the precious unknown that lies just over the horizon! It's what they meant by the pot of gold where the rainbow ends—only, it may be there, after all!"

They stopped unconsciously and remained standing at the lower end of the Carewe hedge. The western glow had faded, and she was gazing at him through the darkness, leaning forward, never dreaming that her tight grasp had broken the sticks of the little pink fan.

"Yes," she whispered eagerly. "You are right; you understand!"

He went on, the words coming faster and faster: "We are haunted, you and I, by the wish to know all things, and by the question that lies under every thought we have, the agonizing Whither? Isn't it like that? It is really death that makes us think."

She shivered slightly, but her steadfast eyes did not shift from him. He threw back his head, and his face, uplifted to the jeweled sky of the moonless night, was beatific in its peacefulness as he continued in an altered tone, gentle and low:

"I think all questions are answered there. The stars tell it all. When you look at them you know. Do you see the constellations swinging above us, such unimaginable vastnesses, not roving or crashing through the illimitable at haphazard, but moving in more excellent measure and to a finer rhythm than the most delicate clockwork man ever made? Ah, when you wonder look above you—look above you in the night, I say," he cried, his hand upraised like his transfigured face. "Look above you and you will never fear that a sparrow's fall could go unmarked."

It was not to the stars that she looked, but to the orator, as long as he held that pose, which lasted until a hard ridden horse came galloping down the street. As it dashed by, though the rider looked neither to right nor left, Miss Betty unconsciously made a feverish clutch at her companion's sleeve, drawing him closer to the hedge.

"It is my father," she said hurriedly in a low voice. "He must not see you. You must never come here. Perhaps"—She paused, then quickly whispered: "You have been very kind to me. Good night."

He did not speak again, but, taking a step backward, smiled faintly, bent his head in humble acquiescence and made a slight gesture of his hand for her to leave him. She waved him an uncertain farewell and ran into the garden, both palms against her burning cheeks.

CHAPTER VIII.

MR. CAREWE was already at the breakfast table, but the light of his countenance, hidden behind the Rouen Journal, was not vouchsafed to his daughter when she took her place opposite him, nor did he see fit to return her morning greeting, from which she generously concluded that the burning of the two warehouses had meant a severe loss to him.

"I am so sorry, father," she said gently. (She had not called him "papa" since the morning after her ball.) "I hope it isn't to be a great trouble to you." There was no response, and after waiting for some time she spoke again rather tremulously, yet not timidly, "Father?"

He rose, and upon his brow were marked the blackest lines of anger she had ever seen, so that she leaned back from him, startled, but he threw down the open paper before her on the table and struck it with his clinched fist.

"Read that!" he said, and he stood over her while she read.

There were some grandiloquent headlines: "Miss Elizabeth Carewe an Angel of Mercy!" Charming Belle Saves the Lives of Five Prominent Citizens! Her Presence of Mind Prevents Conflagration From Wiping Out the City!" It may be noted that Will Cummings, editor and proprietor of the Journal, had written these tributes as well as the whole account of the evening's transactions, and Miss Betty loomed as large in Will's narrative as in his good and lovelorn heart. There was very little concerning the fire in the Journal. It was nearly all about Betty. That is one of the misfortunes which pursue a lady who allows an editor to fall in love with her.

However, there was a scant mention of the arrival of the volunteers "upon the scene," though none at all at the cause of their delay, and an eloquent paragraph was devoted to their handsome appearance, Mr. Cummings having been one of those who insisted that the new uniforms should be worn. "Soon," said the Journal, "through the daring of the chief of the department and the captain of the hook and ladder company, one of whom placed and mounted the grappling ladder, over which he was immediately followed by the other carrying the hose, a stream was sent to play upon the devouring element, a feat of derring-do personally witnessed by a majority of our readers. Mr. Vanrevel and Mr. Gray were joined by Eugene Madrillon, Tappingham Marsh and the editor of this paper, after which occurred the unfortunate accident to the long ladder, leaving the five named gentlemen in their terrible predicament, face to face with death in its most awful form. At this frightful moment"— And all the rest was about Miss Carewe.

As Will himself admitted, he had "laid himself out on that description." One paragraph was composed of short sentences, each beginning with the word "alone." "Alone she entered the shattered door! Alone she set foot upon the first flight of stairs! Alone she ascended the second! Alone she mounted the third! Alone she lifted her hand to the trap! Alone she opened it!" She was declared to have made her appearance to the unfortunate prisoners on the roof, even as "the palm laden dove to the despairing Noah," and Will also asserted repeatedly that she was the "heroine of the hour."

Miss Betty blushed to see her name so blazoned forth in print, but she lacked one kind of vanity and failed to find good reason for more than a somewhat troubled laughter, the writer's purpose was so manifestly kind in spite of the bizarre result.

"Oh, I wish Mr. Cummings hadn't!" she exclaimed. "It would have been better not to speak of me at all, of course. But I can't see that there is anything to resent. It is so funny!"

"Funny!" Mr. Carewe repeated the word in a cracked falsetto, with the evident intention of mocking her, and at the same time hideously contorted his face into a grotesque idiocy of expression, pursing his lips so extremely and setting his brows so awry that his other features were carried out of all familiar likeness, effecting an alteration as shocking to behold in a man of his severe cast of countenance as was his falsetto mimicry to hear. She rose in a kind of terror, perceiving that this contortion was produced in burlesque of her own expression, and as he pressed nearer her stepped back, overturning her chair. She had little recollection of her father during her childhood, and as long as she could remember no one had spoken to her angrily or even roughly.

As she retreated from him he leaned forward, thrusting the hideous mask closer to her white and horror stricken face.

"You can't see anything to resent in that!" he gibbered. "It's so funny, is it? Funny! Funny! Funny! I'll show you whether it's funny or not! I'll show you!" His voice rose almost to a shriek. "You hang around fires, do you, on the public streets at night? You're a nice one for me to leave in charge of my house while I'm away, you trollop! What did you mean by going up on that roof? You knew that rascal Vanrevel was there! You did, I say, you knew it!"

She ran toward the door with a frightened cry. But he got between it and her, menacing her with his upraised open hands, shaking them over her.

"You're a lovely daughter, aren't you?" he shouted hoarsely. "You knew perfectly well who was on that roof, and you went. Didn't you go? Answer me that! If I'd had arms about me when I got there I'd have shot that man dead! He was on my property giving orders, the black hound! And when I ordered him out he told me if I interfered with his work before it was finished he'd have me thrown out—me that owned the whole place—and there wasn't a man that would lend me a pistol! 'Rescue!' You'd better rescue him from me, you palm laden dove, for I'll shoot him, I will! I'll kill that dog, and he knows it. He can bluster in a crowd, but he'll hide now! He's a coward and"—

Not only does it take longer to put poor paint on your building than good paint, but you have to do it oftener. Divide the cost of painting your building into three parts and two of them go to the painter. The third part pays for the paint. If you get paint that will last 6 years you can afford to pay more for it than for paint that lasts but 2.

Sherwin-Williams Paint is the highest quality and most satisfactory paint made. We control the most important raw materials from which it is manufactured, make and refine our own linseed oil, and in many other ways safeguard the quality of all S-W. Products. CREAM OF THE WEST FLOUR

When your neighbor tells you of her "wonderful" luck on baking-day don't imagine it's a "fairy-tale." More than likely she uses "Cream of the West" flour—and "good fortune" is certain to follow the use of this superior flour.

"Cream of the West" may cost you a few cents more per bag—but it is made of the highest grade of hard wheat—and is more expensive to mill than the usual grades of Manitoba flour. For better biscuits and bread, better baking-day luck, use "Cream of the West" flour.

The Long Way Around.

By Zelia Walters.

The fact that Madge was crying was too plain to be ignored.

"Oh, Jim!" she said in answer to his startled look, "I've lost my place."

At the first moment Jim was glad of it. If she had lost her place might she not look with more favor on that little cottage on the hill? But some good angel of lovers warned him back from the unpropitious moment, and he said, "That's too bad. What's the trouble?"

"She sent for her nephew to come out and help her in the store, and they don't need me any more. If I could have kept it just a month longer I shouldn't have cared so much."

"I don't believe they can keep that store without you," said Jim.

"Yes, they can," mourned Madge. "I'm not indispensable anywhere. That wooden youth, with the speaking perfume on his handkerchiefs, will fill my place perfectly."

Jim offered what comfort he could the rest of the way home, out it was a sadly cast down Madge that said "goodnight" at the gate.

"Since she wants it so much—" said Jim on the way down town. So he circulated industriously among the citizens of Silver Cliff who were on the streets that night. Most of them laughed and said, "sure thing!" most affably.

The next morning Mrs. Miner's general store opened in charge of the wooden youth. It looked as if it were going to be a good day for business. The store filled almost immediately. The men were in buying their week's supplies.

"I'd like to have Miss Ellis wait on me," said one customer. "She always sort of helps me pick out things."

Mrs. Miner regretted very much that Miss Ellis was not in that morning.

"Guess I'll wait till she is in," said the man, and lounged out.

The next man wanted Miss Ellis to select neckties for him, and was quite unable to settle on anything without her advice.

Then Ab Jones, who spent money with a liberal hand, came in seeking for gifts to send his folks back home. He, too, was unable to make his purchase without the help of Miss Ellis.

"She will be here in half an hour," Mrs. Miner promised him, when he started out. She hurried out to the kitchen, and seizing her son, Tommy, ordered him to run for Miss Ellis instantly.

When she returned to the store two more people were asking for Miss Ellis.

The next was the wife of the mine boss, and it developed that she always relied on Miss Ellis' taste in selecting her dress goods. Mrs. Miner made a hasty trip to the kitchen and sent her second son after Miss Ellis. At intervals in the next fifteen minutes she sent the rest of the family each with a most urgent message, and still people came into the store and asked for the absent clerk.

Madge, pensively mending gloves on her cousin's front porch, was startled when Tommy burst in with desperate haste, and said that "ma" wanted her down to the store right away. She hurried upstairs to get ready, and before she could pin her hat on the second messenger was crying up the stairway that "ma" wanted her to hurry. On the way to the store they met the other three young Miners, each of whom begged her to hurry, for "ma wanted her awful bad."

"I should think this would mean that my salary would be raised," said Madge wisely.

With her entrance into the store all went well again. Most of the customers returned, and bought liberally. The wooden youth was lost in admiration of her popularity. That evening Mrs. Miner took pains to remind her that she was expected on Monday.

So Madge worked on happily until the end of the month. Then Jim, recalling what she had said about wanting her place for at least a month, thought he would like to know what her plans for the future were. He waited and again met her as she was bright with smiles.

"I noticed you got that job back again," said Jim. "I told you they couldn't run the store without you."

"And I wouldn't believe it," said Madge. "But I was more necessary than I thought. Some people asked for me that next morning, and she sent for me."

"You've kept it that month you were talking about," suggested Jim.

"Yes," she said thoughtfully. "You see I wanted to earn enough to go back to my uncle in Pennsylvania and I needed that month's earnings. I thought I might like it better back there. It's pretty hard to tell where I belong. No one seems very near when you haven't anyone of your very own."

Jim had grown pale as his tan would allow. He had never thought of such a possibility as that.

"Don't go," he begged. "Your cousin couldn't get on without you."

"Minnie wouldn't care the least bit," asserted Madge.

"Silver Cliff wouldn't seem like the same place without you," pleaded Jim huskily.

"They have been lovely to me here," she admitted. "Maybe it would seem more like home than anywhere else. But perhaps I would have a better chance in Pennsylvania and the people here would not miss me much. You see they all have some one else."

"I'd miss you," said Jim. "I—I don't believe I could live here if you went away." And then he took his fleeting courage in both hands and told her how very much he would miss her.

She blushed charmingly, and she did not say "no" at once, which made him a little bolder.

"The little house," he said, "it isn't much. I'm half afraid to ask you to come to it, but if you would—I'd have something to work for then, and I guess I could do anything if you were home waiting for me."

"I think I'll go to the little house, Jim," she said—"I'd like it better than the east, and you would really belong to me."

"Yes, I would," he said fervently, and he wondered that he dared hold her hands.

COLEBROOK.

The death of James Shangraw occurred on May 15th. He was taken sick on Feb. 11th with Bright's disease. Under the kind and skillful treatment of Dr. Lockhart he improved so that he was able to be out driving. On Thursday night previous to his death he was taken with a severe stroke which caused his death. Deceased was 70 years of age, was well known and highly respected. As a neighbor he was always kind, and ever ready to help in time of need. He will be missed for many years in the neighborhood in which he resided. The funeral was held on Monday afternoon from his late residence to Colebrook Methodist church, of which he was a member. The sermon was preached by Rev. Mr. Batstone, and the remains placed in Harrowsmith vault. The sorrowing family have the sympathy of the whole community in their sad bereavement.

Fortified at Fifty.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills Bring Health and Strength to Women at a Critical Time.

Few women reach the age of fifty without enduring much suffering and anxiety. Between the years of forty five and fifty health becomes fickle, and acute weaknesses arise with rheumatic attacks, pains in the back and sides, frequent headaches, nervous ailments and depression of spirits.

The secret of good health between forty five and fifty depends upon the blood supply. If it is kept rich, red and pure, good health will be the result, and women will pass this critical stage in safety. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills help women of mature years as no other medicine can, for they make the rich, red blood that means good health, and brings relief from suffering. Mrs. C. Donavon, Newcastle, N.B., says: "About two years ago I was greatly run down and very miserable. I did not know what was wrong with me. I was hardly able to drag myself about, had severe headaches and no appetite. I felt so wretched that I hardly cared whether I lived or not. I had often read of what Dr. Williams' Pink Pills had done for others and I decided to try them, and I can now truthfully say I found them all they are recommended to be. Under their use my health gradually came back; I could eat better, sleep better and felt stronger in every way, and before long I was enjoying as good health as ever I had done."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills cure by going to the root of the trouble in the blood. They actually make new blood. That is why they cure such troubles as rheumatism, neuralgia, indigestion, kidney troubles, headaches, sideaches and backaches, and the ailments of growing girls and women of mature years. Sold by all medicine dealers or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

MOUNT PLEASANT.

The weather is beautiful and more summer like since the continued rains have ceased, and the farmers are busy rushing their spring's work.

Miss Essie Alexander was the guest of Miss Grace Rikely on Tuesday.

Mrs. Morgan Abrams visited at Mrs. Isaac Warner's on Thursday.

Mrs. Ira Alkenbrack, Gretna, is a visitor in our midst for a week.

Mrs. W. Alkenbrack is visiting at her mother's, Mrs. Reid, Centreville.

DENBIGH.

Mrs. Ephraim Sallans, who had the misfortune of dislocating her shoulder, is suffering very much. Dr. Adams is attending her.

Mr. Alg. Lane has his factory almost completed, and it will open on the first of June.

Miss Elsie Fritsch is better, after being ill for some time.

Arbor Day was observed at the school, and the yard and surroundings very much improved. Great credit is due Mr. Wagar.

Mr. John Kerr, Arnprior, is in town.

Most of our farmers are all done seeding for this year, and it is now beautiful growing weather, after the severe cold.

Rev. J. Reble has taken a trip to Arnprior, and will return with his bride next week.

Mr. Edward Petzold, jr., has sold his farm to Wm. Thompson, of Slate Falls.

Miss Ada Vilnef and Mr. G. James of Plevna, were married on the 26th. We wish them every happiness.

We understand that Mr. William Blakely is the man to lay out the money on Denbigh and Snake Creek road. Mr. Blakely is just the man for the work, and will do it satisfactorily to all.

Mr. Cy. Kenyon has moved on Mr. H. Cranshaw's farm on the other street.

Miss Wanda Glaser, after an absence of four years in New York City, is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. Glaser.

Mr. Eathel Bebee and Rev. Mr. Huyck spent Wednesday in Vennachar.

MARYSVILLE.

The weather stays very fine and warm, but the land does not seem to dry very fast. The farmers can only seed the high places, for in the low places it is too wet.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Russell spent Sunday last with Mr. and Mrs. Ashley, Empey Hill.

Miss Mary Traynor spent Sunday last with friends in Lonsdale.

Miss Mary McGuiness spent Sunday last with Miss Darcey, Maple Lane.

Messrs. J. Fahey and B. McGuiness spent Sunday afternoon at Lonsdale.

Seeding and planting is the order of the day.

LIME LAKE.

A very pretty, but quiet wedding was solemnized at the home of the bride's father, Mr. J. W. Henderson, when his third daughter, Mary Ann, was united in the holy bonds of matrimony to Victor Alexander Ferguson, of Ottawa. The ceremony was performed by Rev. G. McConnell. The bride was assisted by her younger sister, Emma T. Henderson, while Mr. Hugh D. Ferguson, brother of the groom, did the honors of best man. After the ceremony the wedding party assembled in the dining-room, where a sumptuous breakfast awaited them. The happy couple left on the 10.30 train, amidst showers of rice, for their future home in Ottawa. They have the good wishes of many friends.

MAPLE ISLAND.

(For last week.)

The weather still continues very wet. Farmers have done some of their seeding.

Mr. Levi Snider has been called home to the bedside of his father, Mr. Thos. Snider, Fifth Lake, who is dangerously ill.

Mrs. M. O'Connor is much improved in health.

Mr. John Bottrell has moved into his new house.

Miss Maude Johnston spent Sunday at the parental abode.

Miss Eveline Porter has gone to Whitestone, where she has secured a position.

Mr. and Mrs. O. C. Wagar spent Sunday at Mr. Wilson Wagar's.

Mrs. Levi Snider was the guest of Mrs. D. Cousins and Mrs. Leslie Wagar on Sunday.

Mrs. G. Stone has returned home, after spending a couple of weeks with her daughter, Mrs. G. Healy, of Dunchurch, who has been ill.

Messrs. James and Archie Wagar passed through here enroute to Goose Neck Lake.

Mrs. W. Wagar and Mrs. Levi Snider took tea with Mrs. M. O'Connor on Saturday.

Mrs. W. E. Labrash and Miss May Hanlan visited at Mr. Frank Bosley's on Sunday last.

H. King made a business trip to Ahmic Harbor on Tuesday.

H. Wagar visited his aunt, Mrs. J. Hunter, on Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. G. Hall, of Burk's Falls, are visiting at Mr. J. Brears.

Mr. W. Wagar intends moving to the Bucanan farm next week.

Wilson Wagar and his men are getting along fine with the drive of logs and will be finished this week.

Mr. and Mrs. M. O'Connor visited at J. Ladd's on Tuesday.

Rumor says a wedding soon. Guess the lucky couple.

John McDonald fell forty feet off a derrick at Murphy's stone quarry in Tweed and received very serious injuries.

The French postal employees have issued an appeal for a general strike, but the response has not been widespread.

Workmen digging in a peach orchard in Niagara County, N.Y., found a pit containing about fifty human skeletons.

Four rivermen were drowned and a number of others had narrow escapes while running the rapids in Petawawa River.

A man locked up in the police cells at Moncton, N.B., for violating the Scott act, found a hundred-dollar pearl in a dish of clams.

WHY ECZEMA PATIENTS SUFFER.

NO WONDER THEY DESPAIR—BUT CURE HAS NOW BEEN FOUND.

It is a strange thing about eczema. After wasting money on nostrums, dosing the stomach or smearing on greasy salves for years, many a skin sufferer gives up in despair. He says:

"What is the use, some may be cured, but my case is hopeless."

But a trial of the simplest remedy—just a little oil of wintergreen properly compounded (as in D.D.D. Prescription) will wash away that itch, in fact, it will take away the itch IMMEDIATELY, the instant D.D.D. is applied.

Read this letter from Mrs. G. J. Hutton, of Renfrew, Ont.:

"Jan. 15, 1909.

"Since I was a child nine years old (and I am to-day thirty years old) I have suffered with Eczema in my hands. I have spent money on all kinds of medicines and ointments, but I find nothing equal to D.D.D. I have used five bottles and to-day my hands are perfectly healed. I shall never be without it in my house and will always recommend it to my many friends and neighbors who suffer from this awful torture, Eczema."

Now if there is anyone in your town suffering with eczema, ringworm, tetter, psoriasis or poison ivy tell this sufferer not to sit back and say, "I have tried everything, there is no cure for me." Tell him to write for free sample bottle of D.D.D. Prescription to The D.D.D. Laboratory, Department N. B., 23 Jordan St., Toronto.

THE BEST FLOUR:
DAFOE'S NONESUCH.
DAFOE'S MANITOBA PATENT.

By numerous tests by the best bakers the above mentioned grades have been proven to be the best flours in the market.

When buying flour, ask for Dafoe's, and patronize your home mill, thereby procuring Bran and Shorts that you can purchase cheaper than the product of the Western mills, which has to be transported thousands of miles at great expense, and usually when it reaches you is of inferior quality.

The grocer complains if the farmer or the mechanic sends to Toronto or to outside points for an article he can get at the home store just as good, but he does not hesitate to buy flour from mills hundreds of miles away, and sells you an inferior flour for more money than you can purchase the home product for, every bag of which is guaranteed.

Choice Cornmeal and Buckwheat Flour always on hand. Feed grinding a specialty, with the best feed mills known to the trade.

CALL OF DEATH.

A very sad and unexpected death occurred at St. Joseph's Hospital, Chatham, on Tuesday, 11th May, when Wm. Fingland passed peacefully away into the great beyond. The deceased had been ill but a few days. He leaves one sister in New York City. His funeral took place on Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock, to Maple Leaf cemetery, and was conducted by the Masonic order, of which deceased was a valued member.

MISSION AT ST. PATRICK'S.

Next Sunday (Pentecost Sunday) the services in St. Patrick's Church begin for the summer months an half hour earlier. Mass will be celebrated next Sunday and every Sunday during summer at 10 o'clock sharp. The Rev. Father Ethelbert, who arrives here Saturday next, 29th May, will preach the opening sermon of the Mission at the close of the celebration of Mass Sunday following the 30th May and will announce the regular order of exercises for each day and evening of the week. It is expected that His Grace the Archbishop will be present at the close of the Mission, Trinity Sunday following June 6th.

ANNUAL MEETING.

The annual meeting of the Napanee District of the Methodist Church was held in Enterprise on Tuesday and Wednesday last, Rev. W. H. Emsley, Chairman of the District, presiding. The ministerial session was held on Tuesday, Rev. W. S. Boyce, B.D., acting as secretary.

On Wednesday, Rev. Geo. McConnell, of Roblin, was elected secretary. Lay delegates were in attendance and the financial condition of the District was under review. Some changes in circuit boundaries affecting Bath and Roblin were submitted to the Stationing Committee of the Conference to assemble next week in Belleville. The Rev. J. A. McCamus, of Odessa, was elected to represent the District on the Stationing Committee.

A very interesting open session of the District was held on Tuesday evening, when Rev. Marquis E. Sexsmith, B.D., of Newburgh, opened a discussion on our Missionary work, followed by Rev. C. L. Thompson, C. M. Huyck, G. E. Richmond and Mr. Gilbert, after which Rev. G. W. McCall B.D., of Napanee, presented the Educational problem of the Church in a thoughtful and earnest address. The choir furnished admirable musical selections.

The thanks of the District meeting were tendered to the friends of Enterprise for their lavish and kindly entertainment.

John Graham, of Kirkland, N.B., said to be the oldest man in Canada, died, aged 109.

EXECUTORS' NOTICE TO CREDITORS.

In the Estate of Deborah Mullett, deceased.

Notice is hereby given pursuant to Chapter 129, of the Revised Statutes of Ontario, section 38, and amending acts, that all persons having any claims or demands against the estate of Deborah Mullett, late of the Township of North Fredericksburgh, in the County of Lennox and Addington, deceased, who died on or about the 18th day of April, A.D. 1909, are required to deliver or send by post prepaid to T. B. German, Napanee, Ontario, Solicitor for W. R. Sills and W. R. Leavens, Executors of the last will and testament of the said Deborah Mullett, deceased, on or before the 23d day of June, A.D. 1909, their christian and surnames, addresses and descriptions, with full particulars of their claims or demands duly verified, and the nature of the security (if any) held by them.

And further take notice that after the said 23d day of June, A.D. 1909, the said executors will proceed to distribute the assets of the said estate amongst the parties entitled thereto, having regard only to the claims or demands of which they shall then have received notice, and will not be responsible for the said assets of any part thereof to any person or persons of whose claims or demands they have not received notice at the time of the distribution thereof.

T. B. GERMAN,
Solicitor for the Executors.

Dated the 22d day of May, 1909. 22d

ASSIGNEE'S NOTICE TO CREDITORS

In the matter of the estate of Charles Wellington Keech, of the Village of Enterprise, in the County of Lennox and Addington, harness maker, insolvent.

Notice is hereby given that the above named insolvent has made an assignment of his estate to me for the benefit of his creditors by deed dated the 31st day of May, 1909, under R.S.O. 1897, and amending acts thereto.

A meeting of creditors will be held at my office, in the Court House, in the Town of Napanee, on Monday, the 14th day of June, 1909, at two o'clock in the afternoon, for the purpose of receiving a statement of his affairs, appointing inspectors and fixing their remuneration, and that of the Assignee, and for the ordering of the affairs of the estate generally.

Creditors are requested to file their claims duly proven by affidavit on or before the day of meeting, and after the 30th day of June, 1909, the Assignee will proceed to distribute the assets of the estate, having regard only to the claims of which he shall then have had notice.

GEO. D. HAWLEY,
Sheriff, Assignee.

Napanee, 3d June, 1909. 23b

CENTREVILLE.

Service in the Methodist church next Sunday evening at 7.30.

A fine fence is being built around the school yard, which adds greatly to its appearance.

Mr. James Kavanaugh lost a valuable horse last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Irvine Bell spent Sunday at Mr. Wm. Haynes', Wilson's Crossing.

Mr. Harold Sweet spent Sunday at Mr. J. Weese's.

Lie Road still retains its name, and rumor has not changed it to Lover's Lane, as stated by our correspondent last week.

Mr. Roy Milligan anticipates taking a trip to Violet to visit friends in the near future.

Mr. W. J. Hinchey called on friends in the village recently.

Rumor states a wedding soon.

TAMWORTH.

Rev. S. F. Dixon, County Chaplain, will preach to the Orange Association in Tamworth Methodist church on July 4th, at 11 o'clock a.m. All are welcome.

Mrs. Styty, of Toledo, O., and mother, Mrs. Lasher, of Sillsville, are visiting at Mr. A. J. Robinson's.

The Methodist church will hold their annual picnic in Coxall's grove on Thursday, July 2st. Miss Kilpatrick and Miss Hattie York have the tickets on hand to sell.

Messrs. Kellery and Denison were in town on Wednesday last in the interests of the Gillett estate.

S. J. Kilpatrick has just placed some very fine monuments in Christ church cemetery.

There will be no service next Sunday in the Methodist church, Rev. Mr. Dixon is attending Conference.

Fresh new stock ready-made clothing just in at Floyd & Co.'s.

SWITZERVILLE.

Miss Eva Smith, who has been ill for some time, died last Monday in Kingston Hospital, where she underwent an operation. The funeral was held here in the church on Thursday and was largely attended.

We were all very sorry to hear of the sudden death of Mr. Nelson Amey on Tuesday last. He was well known in the neighborhood, and will be greatly missed by his many friends.

Mr. and Mrs. James A. Dawson and son, of Napanee, spent Sunday with his father, Mr. Wesley Dawson.

We are glad to see the automobiles passing through here.

Mr. and Mrs. James Frink, Morven, and Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Wales spent Thursday with Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Wales.

Miss Mildred McKim spent Sunday with her friend Miss Pansy Spafford.

Mr. Calvin Lake and mother, of Harrowsmith, are visiting Mr. and Mrs. P. E. R. Miller.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Parrott and daughter spent Sunday with her mother, Mrs. James Empey.

Mr. Empey, Napanee, is visiting his son Mr. Michael Empey.

SANDHURST.

The farmers of this section are through seeding, and are now busy planting.—Mr. R. Ruttan and sister Bella, accompanied by their friend, Mr. Weren, arrived from Detroit last week.—Mr. C. C. Young is making marked improvements in his barn. Mr. F. E. Miller, of Napanee, is the carpenter in charge.—Miss Josie Dener has resumed her duties at the school, after her recent illness. Mr. P. McCaugherty, of Bath, having taken her work during her necessitated absence.—Baseball is the order of the day. The young men have organized, and will soon be ready to challenge any other teams.—Mr. F. G. Young, the popular agent for Frost wire fence, of this locality, is doing a rushing business this spring, keeping two extra men busy. Mr. L. Brown and Mr. Clark Peters are his worthy assistants.—Mrs. L. P. Trumpour and Miss Marjorie, of 3d Concession, are visiting at Mr. T. Gurren's.—Mr. Robinson, the Presbyterian minister, called through our neighborhood last week.—Miss Edna MacDonald, of Kingston, visited her aunts, the Misses Cadman, recently.—On Tuesday, Mr. Richard Ruttan was quietly married in Napanee, and returned to Detroit with his bride.—A special meeting of the Woman's Institute will be held at Conway on June 16th. Every lady, young and old, are cordially invited to attend. Particulars later.

MISCELLANEOUS.

SPLENDID INVESTMENT. — ONE HUNdred thousand American farmers are crossing the line into Canada this year. Most of them are settling in Southern Alberta. "Stirling" is a new townsite in the heart of this wonderful wheat-growing Province. It is at the junction of three railroads, two of which are in operation. To purchase lots in "Stirling" is to make a guaranteed investment with remarkable profits. Write today for particulars, maps, etc. GOULDING & HAMILTON, Confederation Life Building, Toronto. 23b

OVERSTOCKED SALE.

During June I will give 10 per cent. off all Dry Goods to clear out some lines. My stock is all new. I have also a full stock in Boots and Shoes, Hardware, Groceries, etc.

If you need a new Buggy, I can furnish you with the best in the market at $75.00, cash or notes.

Timothy and Clover Seed, Western Corn, Millet and Buckwheat.

I handle Bran, Shorts, Flour and Feed for accommodation. When buying these do not forget the balance of your order.

J. M. HUGHS, Roblin.

NOTICE.

The annual meeting of Addington Farmers' Institute will be held in the Town Hall, Centreville, on Saturday, June 12th, 1909 at 2 p.m. The Auditors' Report and that of the Treasurer will be presented. Officers will be elected. Places selected for holding public meetings during the year, and other business transacted. A full attendance is desired.

SMITH GILMOUR, President. J. B. AYLESWORTH, President.

COURT OF REVISION.

Notice is hereby given that the Court of Revision for the Town of Deseronto, in the County of Hastings, will hold its first sitting for the current year, at the Court Room, in the Town Hall, in the said Town of Deseronto, on Thursday, the 17th day of June, instant, at 8 o'clock p.m., for the revision of the assessment roll. All persons having business at said Court are hereby required to attend.

HENRY R. BEDFORD,
Town Clerk.

23a
Deseronto, 2d June, 1909.

FOR SALE AT JAMES SKINNER'S, CAMDEN EAST.

Prices are right. Would take a one-horse Lumber Wagon in exchange for goods in stock. 23c

ODESSA.

Court of Revision met in the Town Hall on Monday, where business detained them until quite late, with Judge Madden in the chair. Of course, court and council could not do business together, so perforce our councillors hied away to the Dominion House, where they had free course to express their views.

On Monday Rev. J. McCamus, being on the Stationing Committee, went before the general conference began. Mr. Peter Mabee with others, went the usual time.

Rev. McCamus will leave this year, as he has been here four years. We hope Odessa will not lose by the change which might easily be.

We were somewhat taken by surprise when we heard that our former pastor, Rev. G. W. McCall, united in marriage one of our most popular young ladies, Miss Florence May Murphy, to Mr. E. Turney. We are safe in saying that the young couple have the best wishes of one and all. Floss was a general favorite with her village friends and the travelling public.

Mr. Nelson Booth, of Brooklyn, is on his annual visit to friends and acquaintances.

Mr. R. Cooke, of Cobourg, spent a day or two in the village.

Miss Joy, of Napanee, is paying friendly visits at Mr. Mancare's and other places.

We were very sorry to hear of the drowning of Mr. Robert Playfair, brother of our former townsman of the bank. We extend sympathy.

Mr. Wilfred Day, of the bank, after spending his holidays, has returned.

Miss Jessie Wilson, of Norwood, has come for a few weeks' visit to her sister, Miss Wilson, Principal of the school.

Word was received that Mr. Matthew Clarke, formerly of this place, but lately of Cherry Valley, is dead.

Mrs. G. McGowan and Mrs. (Dr.) Somerville, of Kingston, spent some time calling on friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Well. Clark spent a day at Mr. Byron Caton's.

Mrs. Mark Fraser at Mrs. Calder's.

Mr. Donaldson, Miss Pearl Sproule and Miss Hazel Morrison spent Sunday at Mr. John Graham's.

We are sorry that Miss Gladys Calder is home from school, suffering from quinsy.

For a wedding present, a birthday gift to your wife, or a casual donation to the home, there is nothing more acceptable than a properly decorated hanging or stand lamp. The finest assortment of oil and electric lamps we have ever displayed, at prices to suit all purchasers. The Medical Hall. Fred L. Hooper.

MORVEN.

The question of the day is, "are we to have a minister for the coming year, or are we not?"—Mr. M. Horton, of Varsity University, Toronto, is spending his holidays at the parsonage.—Mr. Fred Perry has his new cheese factory almost completed. It is in running order now and progressing fine under the able management of J. A. Clute. Mrs. Walter Perry, of Port Hope, is spending a few weeks visiting at Mr. R. Perry's and Mr. Lasher's. Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Rombough spent Sunday under the parental roof.—Mr. Marsh Rombough spent the past week visiting her husband in Oswego.—Mr. Will Perry and children, of Deseronto, spent the past week at Mr. Marsh Rombough's.—Some of our young men are taking great sport practising baseball. Mr. Jas. Frink is very busy, building his new barn.—Some of our young boys are getting sporty. They ran a Marathon race on Saturday, and spectators report some fine running. Try again, boys.—Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Fralick, Miss Guess, Miss Maxwell, Mr. Gibson, of Mervale, Miss Opha Funnell, Mr. Spergs Fraser and Mr. Ed. Wales, of Switzerville, spent Sunday at Mr. Curran's.—Mrs. J. A. Clute, we are pleased to see, is able to be out again. She has been ill for the past few weeks with a heavy attack of la grippe.—One of our fair young ladies was married this week. Rumor states more to follow in the near future.

ERNESTTOWN STATION.

Planting is the order of the day.—James Doyle had the misfortune to lose a valuable horse a few days ago.—Mr. R. Sloane and family moved to Kingston yesterday. Their departure is much regretted.—Mrs. A. Amey entertained a few of the S. S. scholars and friends on Saturday last.—F. Laidley bought up what hogs he could find for shipment yesterday.—Mr. W. Cummings took a trip to Kaladar last week.—H. Gummer spent a few days with friends at Norham.—E. P. Amey and family, Miles City, Montana, re-visited his old home, after an absence of four years. Mrs. Amey and little son will remain for the summer with friends. — Haldane Vanalstine and bride were the guests of his sister, Mrs. Henry Hogle, last week.—Other recent visitors—Miss Annie Tracey, Belleville, at her aunt's, Mrs. O. Amey; W. Amey and little daughters at Stephen Amey's, Sunday; Miss Estella Amey and Miss Huff, of Napanee, at Elmore Amey's; Mrs. Lee, Kingston, at J. Milligan's; Mr. Smith, Westbrook, at his daughter's, Mrs. J. H. Doyle; Mrs. C. D. Smythe, Toronto, at her father's, N. B. Hamm; Mr. and Mrs. Hooper, Toronto, at F. Hamm's; Mrs. Amey, Cobourg, at M. Hogle's; F. Wemp and family, Millhaven, spent Sunday last at F. Amey's; Mr. and Mrs. J. Doyle and daughter at W. Hinch's.

When it is anything in "drugs" you get the right thing and the right price at The Medical Hall. If you think it is not right come back and get your money. Fred. L. Hooper.

DESERONTO.

Mrs. Geo. E. Snider paid a visit to friends in Cleveland last week.

Schooner Isabel Reid arrived from Erie with 1000 tons slack bit. coal for Marlbank Cement Co.

The steamer Aletha was released from the ways on Thursday of last week, the necessary repairs being completed.

Mr. Thos. Fox is spending some time in town.

Mr. John Burns has returned to his position in Rochester, via str. North King.

The steamer North King was 1½ hours late on Sunday morning, but on time on the return trip.

Str. Alexandria did not arrive until 11 a.m. on Monday from Charlotte, large consignments of cheese being responsible for the delay.

Schooner Winnie Wing loaded and cleared for Oswego with lumber on Tuesday.

A lady on Wednesday morning called at McMaster's drug store, and purchased 60 cents worth of goods, and tendered a fifty-dollar bill in payment. The cashier nearly collapsed when he realized the denomination of the bill.

The verdict on the drowning case should be a clear one, the jury being composed mostly of shrewd business men.

Mr. Thos. Fox left Tuesday morning for Tweed, where he spends a few days before going to Maynooth, where he will spend the balance of the season.

You can shake now,—congratulations are in order. James L. Gaulin received his appointment from Ottawa of postmaster for the Town of Deseronto, a just promotion for 42 years of faithful and efficient service to an exacting public, and the fact that the same public is almost unanimous in the approval of the appointment, must be a source of pleasure and gratification to the appointee and will be an incentive for higher achievements.

The 5th field Battery will go to camp full strength this year, the same N. C. Officers as last year with addition of Percy J. Johnson as signaling Sargeant. It is rumored that Lieut. W. H. Barker will go in Corpse reserve, and will be replaced by A. O. Roblin, of Adolphustown. They will be fitted out with naval pattern caps, replacing the much abused but comfortable pill box. Inspection of horses and fitting of harness at Kingston on June 5th, and at Deseronto June 14th.

Lieut.-Col. Young, D.A.A.G., was in town on Monday, the guest of H. Howard, of the Bank of Montreal, on his way to Northport to transfer stores there.

Lieut.-Col. Rathbun was in Gananoque and Kingston on Tuesday.

The Public Library Board handed over to the corpse a lot of magazines for camp use.

James Crawford, an old and familiar figure in town, committed suicide by drowning in the bay, off the steamboat dock about 2 o'clock on Monday afternoon. Despondency is supposed to be responsible for the rash act. His eye-sight has been failing for a long time, and at the time he was almost totally blind, making it very hard for him to get around, and having no friends or money and unable to work, he was in a very helpless condition. The town had the necessary papers prepared and were going to send him to the Home for the Aged, at Belleville, but the ponderous machinery of those institutions are so slow in moving that in this case it came too late. The unfortunate man was about 65 years of age and was for many years the stableman in the Rathbun Co's stable. He was a first class horseman, having spent the greater part of his life in attending to them. His clothing was noticed first by H. Howard, who with some others and a grappling hook, soon recovered the body which was conveyed to Allums' undertaking rooms, and Coroner Dr. Pasmore ordered an inquest, which was held on Thursday. The jurors were R. Geddis, foreman; J. Frost, J. Dalton, P. Slaven, W. McMicking, R. Miller, E. Armitage, R. Dewer, R. N. Irving, W. Irving, H. Thomson, E. Cole, A. Gracey, and P. Fairbairn. On Tuesday the body was taken from Allums' undertaking rooms to the Deseronto cemetery and interred.

Mr. James Garrison, of Deseronto, and Miss Emma Donovan, a popular young lady of Belleville, formerly of Deseronto, were united in marriage by the Rev. Father M. J. Spratt, in St. Michael's church, Belleville, on Tuesday morning, May 25th. The happy couple have taken up their residence in that city.

Principal J. C. Clark has been confined to his home for some time through illness.

The steamer Belleville passed through on her way east at 3.30 p.m. Wednesday.

The schooner Theo Voges cleared for Oswego light.

The Deseronto Iron Works is running full blast, turning out from 40 to 50 tons of iron daily.

MAPLE AVENUE

Planting corn and potatoes is the latest thing out.—A large number from here attended the camp meeting at Wilton on Sunday.—Mr. Orlo Snider and sister, Effie, with Miss Freeman, spent last Saturday in Napanee.—Mr. and Mrs. Levi Snider spent last Monday with Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Hartman, Camden East.—Mr. Frank O'Neill and Mr. Roy Rose have each purchased new buggies, but Mr. James Hogle takes the lead with his new rubber tire.—Mr. and Mrs. Roy Storms spent Sunday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Benson Snider.—Mr. and Mrs. David Snider and Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Burgess at Mr. Enoch Snider's on Sunday.—Mrs. Jas. McGaughey and daughter, Grace, spent last Tuesday with Mrs. I. H. Snider, Thorpe.—Mrs. Baker, Odessa, at Mrs. James Hogle's on Wednesday.

NEWBURGH.

The infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Kelley died on Thursday, after a short illness. The funeral service was held at the house on Saturday, being conducted by Rev. M. E. Sexsmith.

The remains of the late Mrs. Lanfear, of Melrose, were interred here on Monday last. The late Mrs. Lanfear was 82 years of age, and until 20 years ago, was a resident of Newburgh. A large number of friends from the village were at the cemetery when the interment took place.

Miss Helen Finkle returned from Bishop Strachan School, Toronto, on Saturday.

Harry Beeman returned to Toronto on Wednesday of last week, having secured a lucrative position in that city for the summer.

Main street was in a lovely condition last week after the rain. It will probably be a week before the gravel for the road will be ready.

The Epworth League on Monday evening began a very interesting Missionary study, Mr. J. M. Denyes having charge of the meeting. The subject this year is "Strangers within our Gates", and will cover thoroughly during the year the question of immigration in Canada.

Mr. Thos. Winters showed your scribe some very fine sample photos of the village, which were taken last week by Mr. Galbraith, and which will be on sale shortly in the shape of postals. They are the finest cuts we have yet seen.

T. D. Scriver has secured a position in Canifton.

Ross Dougan left for Winnipeg on Monday, where he has secured a position for the summer.

Dr. Renault, of Fosston, Minn., brother of Mrs. Beeman, died at the residence of Dr. Beeman, on Monday evening. Deceased came here a few weeks ago in the hope that a change of climate would help him. The funeral took place on Wednesday afternoon, interment being made at the cemetery here.

The remains of the late Mrs. Cronk, nee Jennie Whelan, formerly of Newburgh, were brought from Watertown on Thursday, and buried in the family plot at Centreville.

Dr. Clement, Kingston, attended the funeral of the late Dr. Renault, on Wednesday.

Mrs. Brisco and Miss Brisco left on Wednesday for an extended visit to Mr. R. A. Brisco, Galt.

Mrs. Nesbit is visiting her son, Dr. H. A. Nesbit, Lindsay.

Rev. J. Gandier left on Wednesday for a trip to Toronto and Hamilton.

Rev. M. Sexsmith and Mr. J. B. Aylesworth are attending Conference in Belleville, this week.

New books were added to the Public Library on Wednesday.

Mr. J. W. Courtney is having a well drilled on his premises.

An expert from Pontiac, Mich., is here superintending repairs to the auto stage.

The baseball scribe from Strathcona must feel much better after the outburst of enthusiasm in last week's Beaver. There is no truth in the rumor, however, that that had anything to do with the muddy condition of main street. That was hot air, and hot air doesn't make muddy roads.

CAMDEN EAST.

A gloom was cast over our village last week, when we heard of the death of Mr. N. H. Amey, of Ernesttown. He was well known here and highly respected. The funeral services were conducted by Rev. Mr. Sexsmith, of Newburgh, at the house, where a large crowd assembled to pay their respect to the sorrowing family. We sympathize with them in their loss of a kind father and a loving husband.—Our village is looking fine just now, so many improving their places. Painting is the order of the day, and white is the color. White means purity. The trees are looking fine. It must be a pleasure for those men who planted these trees to look at them now full grown. What would you think of a party for the sake of a little ground who would be so small as to cut the trees down opposite his property. This has been done in Camden East and no one had backbone enough in him to stop the party from doing it. Excuse: they shaded my ground. These trees were on the road too.—A. Alkenbrack is putting an addition to his house.—Mr. Hartman's house looks fine and dandy. Hope others will follow suit.—Mrs. Patterson is not much better at time of writing.—Glad to see Mrs. Amey out again.—Miss Martin has her house ready for the painter. It is a credit to the village.—Mr. McGinniss has moved to his new house, and Mr. Longmore has moved in the house purchased from Miss Bush.—Mr. and Mrs. and Miss Wager, also Mrs. Walker, of Deseronto, at C. Hysted's, on Sunday.—Mr. and Mrs. Hartman, Odessa, at L. Hartman's, on Tuesday.—We are going to have a bell in the Methodist church, and don't you forget it.—A large crowd at St. Luke's church last Sunday evening.—Hope our pathmaster will look after the walk from Mr. Mowbray's down to the parsonage.

BATH.

Rev. M. J. Bates, also Dr. S. L. Nash are in Belleville, this week, attending the Methodist Conference.—Dr. C. C. Nash and wife, of Kingston, visited on Sunday last at P. C. Purvis'.—The Presbyterian church is being painted this week, which greatly improves its appearance.—Roderick Johnson and wife and Miss Lottie Collins, of Rochester, N.Y., spent Sunday last at Mrs. John Johnson's.—Thos. Clifford left here on Thursday by steamer Empress of Ireland on a visit to his relatives in Killarney, Ireland.—Mr. Oliver Robinson, of Portsmouth, visited his uncle, Maxwell Robinson, on Sunday last.—Our village boasts of quite a fleet of motor boats, quite a number of our citizens having installed some.

URIAH WILSON'S SPEECH IN THE HOUSE OF COMMONS, ON 18th MAY, 1909.

Exposing N. B. Miller's Dishonesty as a Government Immigration Agent.

Immigration—Salaries of agents and employees in Canada, Great Britain and foreign countries, $200,000.

Mr. Uriah Wilson.—Every session I have been disappointed at the estimates for immigration being brought down in such large sums and with no details given. This vote covers the agents in Great Britain, on the continent, in the United States and in Canada. At this late date in the session it is impossible to go into the general question of immigration at all; but I want to call attention to a particular matter. We have in Ontario about 150 local agents. One of these was in the County of Lennox, and I wish to call the attention of the minister and the committee to his actions. Every agent when appointed is furnished with instructions as to his duties. Clause 5 of those instructions is as follows:

> The commission allowed agents for placing immigrants is $2 per capita on persons (men, women and children) placed at farm work, and the same amount on women placed in domestic service; no commission will be allowed on immigrants placed in any other occupation than farm help or domestic service.

Clause 7 distinctly forbids the agents to assist in locating immigrants for any other employment than farm work and domestic service. A gentleman of the name of Miller was appointed by this government to locate immigrants in the County of Lennox. I have known Mr. Miller for a great many years. He seems to have gone very much astray. I will just read his first report, and will make some explanations which I think will show the minister that he has entirely forgotten that he is responsible to the government for his actions and that he might be called on at some time to give an account for the reports he has been making to the government:

CLAIM FOR COMMISSION.

May 29th, 1907.

> This is to certify that I have this day placed Wm. Spinks, wife and children, Aleck, Walter, George, Arthur, Albert, Mabel, Nellie, who landed at the port of Quebec, on the 25th day of May, 1907, ex-ss. Canada, as a farm labourer (farm labourer or domestic) with Mr. C. Denison, of Napanee P.O., Province of Ontario, to work on his farm.
> The following are the terms of engagement: $25 per month for five months.
> Commission claimed $18.
> (Sgd.) NATHAN B. MILLER,
> Superintendent of Immigration.
> Napanee P.O.

I call the minister's attention to the fact that Mr. Miller states that he located this man as a farm labourer, because he knew he could not get the commission if he did not, which shows that he was familiar with the instructions. Mr. Scott, the Commissioner of Immigration, sent a circular letter to all the men who were reported to him as having received immigrants to work on their farms. I believe Mr. Scott did this for the reason he gave in the committee, that he was anxious to find out how the immigrants were getting along with the farmers with whom they were placed. This is the letter written Mr. Denison:

> Ottawa, February 26th, 1908.
> Immigration branch,
> Department of the Interior.
> Sir, It has been reported to me that Wm. Spinks, wife and seven children, an immigrant who arrived in Canada some time ago, engaged with you as a farm labourer. I would be pleased if you would let me know if such is the case, stating if he is still with you, what kind of satisfaction he is giving, and what wages he is receiving. I desire this information in order to form a fair opinion as to the satisfaction immigrants are giving to Ontario farmers. Please reply on space underneath and use inclosed envelope (upon which no postage is required) in mailing your answer to me.
> Your obedient servant,
> W. D. SCOTT,
> Superintendent of Immigration.

I want the minister to take particular notice to what Mr. Denison says. He is the man with whom Mr. Miller states he located Mr. Spinks, and with whom he states that he made a bargain that Spinks was to get $25 per month for five months as a farm labourer on Mr. Denison's farm. This is Mr. Denison's letter, written nearly a year after Mr. Miller reported that he had located this man as a farm laborer:

> Napanee, February 29th, 1908.
> Dear Sir,—I received this note from you today. I am in the grocery business and not a farmer. In regard to Wm. Spinks and family I just happened to meet him at the station the day he arrived here with his family and helped him to find a house to move in, he is a carpenter by trade, he is a clever fellow and is doing well. The older boys are at work learning trades and the smaller ones are going to school. He and family like it here very much and from what I have heard him say he has no desire to go back to England. In my opinion such families as Mr. Spinks are welcome here.
> Yours truly,
> (Sgd.) S. CASEY DENISON,
> Box 167, Napanee, Ontario.

I know Mr. Denison well, he is a very respectable man belonging to one of the old Liberal families of that riding, who never gave a Conservative vote. Mr. Denison told me precisely the same thing as he states in this letter before I used the letter in my last campaign, for I used it and said stronger things in my riding than I am saying here tonight.

Mr. Miller did not appear on any platform to combat my statements. It looks to me as if Mr. Miller thought to himself that he was a government agent, here was a newcomer to the town, an Englishman settling in our midst with his wife and children and that he might just as well report these people to the department and get $18 without any person being the wiser. He drew the money and it was not discovered for a year because it was a year from the time he reported that he had located this man before this circular was sent to Mr. Denison.

I have here another case. The report being:

> This is to certify that I have this day placed Arthur Wood and wife, who landed at the port of Halifax on the 28th day of April, 1907, by steamship 'Ottawa', as a farm labourer and domestic with Mr. G. Deshane, of Napanee postoffice, Province of Ontario, to work on his farm. The following are the terms of engagement: Seven months at $25 per month; commission claimed, $4.
> (Sgd.) N. B. MILLER.

I shall not read Mr. Scott's circular as it is in the same words as the other one. Mr. Deshane is section boss on the Grand Trunk Railway, in the town of Napanee. I have known him for years as a hard-working honest man. He answers Mr. Scott's letter on February 14th as follows:

> Dear Sir,—The person who reported to you that Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Wood came out here from England as immigrants notified you wrongly; they came here last May but came out on their own hook, that is paid their own way independent of everybody. When they landed here at the depot the night operator, Mr. Geroux, informed him that I (foreman of the Grand Trunk Railway) was in need of a man, so he came to me and I hired him and he has been in my service ever since with the exception of a few months, and I find him to be an honest, upright, and industrious man, and he is not working for a farmer nor hasn't been.
> (Sgd.) JOSEPH DESHANE.

I had a talk with Mr. Deshane about this man. Mr. Deshane says that Mr. Miller had nothing to do with him and you can see by his letter that Mr. Wood met Mr. Geroux, the night operator of the Grand Trunk, and Mr. Geroux told him that Mr. Deshane, the section boss on the railway wanted a man and he went to Mr. Deshane himself and made the arrangement. Mr. Miller having nothing to do with him. But Mr. Miller reported to the department that he had located this man on a farm and went so far as to give the terms of his engagement. Would any man suppose that was a mistake, that he did not know what he was doing? Do you think he did not know the difference between a section boss on a railway and a farmer? Do you not think that he knew whether Deshane wanted the man to work on the farm or the railway. In fact Mr. Miller had nothing whatever to do with this man, but apparently, as in the other case, he felt he could make that report to the department and as he was an official of the government and probably would not be questioned he could make $4 more and make it easily. I have another case. Here is a report dated July 1st, 1907:

> This is to certify that I have this day placed Alfred Sandell and wife and children, Emily, Annie, Flora and Alfred who landed at the port of Quebec on the 29th day of June, 1907, by the steamship 'Canada', as a farm labourer and domestic with Mr. M. Jones, Napanee postoffice, to work on his farm. The following are the terms of engagement, $20 per month; commission claimed, $12.
> (Sgd.) N. B. MILLER.

We will now see what Mr. Jones says. Mr. Jones has been a member of the township council of Richmond for many years. He is a very respectable man, not very decided in his politics. He rather votes for the man who suits him than for the party. His reply to Mr. Scott's letter is:

> You have been misinformed, I know nothing of the above named persons.
> (Sgd.) M. JONES.

I know very well that Mr. Miller has been dismissed, and also that he has to refund the money that he wrongfully obtained, but what I would like to know from the minister is whether he thinks that is adequate punishment for a man who will deliberately misrepresent to the department his actions and in that way obtain money. I would ask the minister if he will act in this case as he did with Mr. Waugh, of Chatham. I understand that Mr. Waugh who was a defaulter in a similar way was arrested and tried in the criminal courts. What reason is there why Mr. Miller should be allowed to go scot free while Mr. Waugh had to stand his trial before a criminal court? I think this is a case which cannot be disputed.

I would go into this question at greater length were it not that we are approaching the end of the session. It is true that I am not to blame for these estimates coming on at this late stage, and I felt that the proper time to discuss the subject was upon the immigration estimates although I might have brought it up on any motion to go into Supply. I do not ask that this man should be persecuted, all I ask is that he should be dealt with fairly and should be called on to give an account of his actions. If he cannot give such reasons as would satisfy a court then he should be punished.

I have another report dated August 5th, 1907:

> This is to certify that I have this day placed Thomas Seaman, who landed at the port of Montreal on the 2d day of August, 1907, as a farm labourer with D. A. Roblin, Adolphustown postoffice, Ontario, to work on his farm. The following are the terms of the engagement: $12 per month.
> (Sgd.) N. B. MILLER.

Again he was particular to give the terms of the arrangement. He got $2 for settling that immigrant. I have good reason to know Mr. Roblin because I have not a stronger opponent in the township of Adolphustown than he, but I have not the slightest objection to him. I have not a stronger opponent in the township but, I have not the slightest feeling against him or fault to find with him. Mr. Roblin says:

> Thos. Seaman has not been working for me. He stayed with my hired man, B. Zanoli. He was a baker by trade and was offered a situation at $10 per week, but would not take less than $25, so could get no employment about here at this figure. The fact of the matter was he would not work. He returned to England last autumn.

That is another clear case where Mr. Miller drew the commission for placing a man he did not place at all. He said he had made an arrangement for him to work at $12, but Mr. Roblin says he refused $25 per week. Here is another certificate:

> July 1st, 1907.
> This is to certify that I have this day placed Benjamin Hoder and wife and children, Violet, Harold, Joe, who landed at the port of Quebec on the 29th of June, 1907, ex. SS. 'Canada', as a farm labourer and domestic with Mr. A. Briscoe, of Hawley, Ontario, to work on his farm, at $12 per month.

And the commission was $10. Mr. Briscoe wrote to the department, in reply to its circular:

> Said man never reached us. Altogether likely some person had hired him before he reached us.

I could give many more such cases, but it would take too much time. It does look to me as though Mr. Miller had made up his mind that he was the government agent, that he had sole control, and could report such cases as he liked to the government, and no questions would be asked and he would get the commission. Here is another case:

> April 20th, 1907.
> This is to certify that I have this day placed Fred. Stockwell and wife and children, Elizabeth, Catherine, Edward, William and Beatrice, who landed at the port of Portland on the 14th of April, 1907, ex. SS. 'Kensington', as a farm labourer and domestic with Mr. George Clement, of Deseronto, Ontario, to work on his farm at $20 per month.

The commission claimed was $14. Mr. Clement, in reply to the circular, wrote:

> Deseronto, February 9th, 1908.
> Re Fred. Stockwell, he worked for me about three months after his arrival here, but not at farming. I am in the contracting and building. Stockwell gave me excellent satisfaction and is a sober, honest and industrious man. I paid him $9 per week as helper; he has worked the balance of the season for Wm. H. Harvey, a cement contractor of this town, and received from $1.75 to $2 per day.

The only parties on whom the department pays commission are farm labourers and domestics, but here is a case in which Mr. Miller reported having placed a man on a farm and did not do so. Still he reported to the government that he had, and drew the commission. Mr. Miller, as a matter of course, wrote a letter during the campaign, but when that came to the knowledge of Mr. Scott, he wrote Mr. Miller. I forget exactly what Mr. Scott said, but I presume he wanted Mr. Miller to explain why he reported this man as being located on a farm. Thereupon, one would suppose that Mr. Miller replied, but I cannot find any answer to that letter until the 24th of October, 1908, just two days before the polling, when he denied that he owed the government a cent and said that the government always held back enough to cover any mistakes or indebtedness of the agent. I will be able to show that that is not true. Here is the letter he wrote, just two days before the polling:

> Napanee, October 24th, 1908.
> In my reply to your statement of March 25th, 1908, I withdrew claims No. 1970 and 5328 as they had been sent through mistake. If these claims are not deducted, kindly deduct amount from my next cheque.

When I came here I spoke to the minister about this matter. All I wanted was that this man should be dealt with as one honest man should deal with another. I wanted Mr. Miller to account for his acts. It would be a great mistake on the part of the minister to allow this to be added to all the other troubles we have had with reference to these frauds and dishonest acts of government officials. I asked for a return showing how matters stood, and this is the return furnished me by Mr. Scott, dated 22d January, 1909. Mr. Scott claims that Miller owes $72, the refund asked for on 36 persons who did not come within the regulations. What is the minister going to do about it? I have evidence given by Mr. Scott himself, which I shall not read at present, but I can prove what I have said from Mr. Scott and other witnesses.

After Hon. Oliver's speech refusing to proceed criminally against Miller, Mr. Wilson said as follows:

Mr. Uriah Wilson.—Is it any wonder, after the speech we have listened to tonight, that Mr. Miller is telling many of his friends that he is going to be reappointed? I have read from the reports furnished me from his own office, showing that this man deliberately misrepresented facts. If he were an ignorant man, I could understand there might be room for doubt, but a man who is intelligent enough to be the clerk of a municipality in an old part of the country must have known what he was doing. He was dishonest and deliberately dishonest, taking these commissions when he knew he was not entitled to them. I used as strong language as this on the platform, and I have not been served with any writ, and if I were I would not wait for the minister to make an excuse for the gentleman. I would bring him before the courts. The superintendent of immigration says: Mr. Wilson, if you will write a letter to me I will lay it before the minister. Well, judging from the speech the minister had made tonight, it would be of little use. He wants to make excuses for a man who, deliberately, with malice afore thought, has defrauded the public revenue, and because he refunds the money the minister lets him go. Is that not condoning a felony? Is that straight business? Is that the policy of a man who prides himself on being honest? Now, the Minister of the Interior has a good reputation, people generally think he is honest, and I have no reason to think anything else of him, except the speech he has made tonight. I think he has done himself a great injustice when he comes forward as the defender of a man who has deliberately defrauded his own department, and he has evidence of it.

WORTH ITS WEIGHT IN GOLD.

MI-O-NA HAS REACHED A GOLD STANDARD, SAYS HARRY ELLIS OF FERGUS, FOR STOMACH TROUBLE.

Harry Ellis, of Fergus, Ont., says: "I believe that Mi-o-na for the cure of stomach trouble, is worth its weight in gold. It cured me from a stomach difficulty that seemed to puzzle all other prescriptions and remedies. I was unable to eat, the food would ferment and form gas and make a serious pressure on my heart. There were terrible pains in the pit of my stomach, I became weak, drowsy, discouraged and later I got nervous and could not sleep or rest. This disease makes one feel like not wanting to see any human being and produces melancholy and forebodings. I was told to try Mi-o-na, and when I commenced on the first box I had hardly any faith in it, but the first two days' treatment made the pain in my stomach cease, and to make a long story short, the upshot of my using Mi-o-na was that it cured me wholly, and I now can eat what I like and when I am hungry. I am an ardent advocate of the use of Mi-o-na."

T. B. Wallace sells Mi-o-na Tablets, the dyspepsia remedy that is making such surprising cures throughout Canada, for 50 cents a box, guarantees them to cure, or money back.

COW TESTING ASSOCIATIONS.

Now that the factory season is getting into full swing, [illegible] wondering how the cows [illegible] year. Cows are expected [illegible] some profit. Great expectations are not always realized, and [illegible] poor, how is the milk [illegible] kept up? Happy the man who has provided for a supply of [illegible] and who has a silo [illegible] feeding.

Some check should be kept on the yield of each cow. If the milk is weighed on only 3 days a month and samples tested once a month, the owner will know [illegible] which are the heaviest producers. If weights are taken at [illegible] any sudden variation will be immediately observed, steps can then be taken to remove the cause. If record is kept of the feed, the most profitable cows can be detected, and some that might produce more [illegible] better will be given the opportunity.

This is what members of the cow testing associations are doing; checking each individual in the herd so as to make sure that each [illegible] kept gives a profit. This is [illegible] of good business management. No one wants to harbour a cow that is incapable of making a good profit. Does each one of your cows pay? Do you know that she does? Guess work won't do these days.

Record blanks are supplied free on application to the Dairy Commissioner, Ottawa. Many men since commencing to record are now receiving $60 per cow, who [illegible] used to get but $40, because they know which are the economical producers. It certainly does pay to test cows.

The Two Vanrevels

By BOOTH TARKINGTON,

Author of "The Gentleman From Indiana" and "Monsieur Beaucaire"

Copyright, 1902, by S. S. McClure Co.

"He came home with me. He brought me home last night!" Her voice rang out in the room like that of some other person, and she hardly knew that it was herself who spoke.

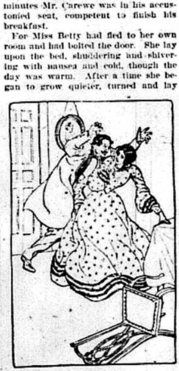
"You lie!" he screamed, and fell back from her, his face working as though under the dominance of some physical disorder, the flesh of it plastic beyond conception, so that she cried out and covered her face with her arm. "You lie! I saw you at the hedge with Cralley Gray, though you thought I didn't. What do you want to lie like that for? Vanrevel didn't even speak to you. I asked Madrillon. You lie!"

He choked upon the words. A racking cough shook him from head to foot. He staggered back and dropped upon her overturned chair, his arms beating the table in front of him, his head jerking spasmodically backward and forward as he gasped for breath.

"Ring the bell!" he panted thickly, with an incoherent gesture. "Nelson knows! Ring!"

Nelson evidently knew. He brought brandy and water from the sideboard with no stinting hand, and within ten minutes Mr. Carewe was in his accustomed seat, competent to finish his breakfast.

For Miss Betty had fled to her own room and had bolted the door. She lay upon the bed, shuddering and shivering with nausea and cold, though the day was warm. After a time she began to grow quieter, turned and lay with wet eyes staring unseeingly at the wall, her underlip quivering with the deep intake of each broken sigh.



"You're a lovely daughter, aren't you?"

"Missy!" There came a soft knock upon the door and the clink of silver upon china. "Missy!"

"What is it?"

So quick was Miss Betty that, although she answered almost at once, the tears were washed away and she was passing a cool, wet towel over her eyes at the moment she spoke.

"Jass me. I brung yo' breakfas', honey."

Old Nelson's voice was always low and gentle, with a quaver and hesitancy in the utterance. Now it was tender and comforting with the comprehension of one in suffering, the extraordinary tact which the old of his race nearly all come to possess. "Li'l chicken wing on piece brown toast, honey."

KEEP THE KIDNEYS WELL

HEALTH SAVING EXPLAINED BY A NAPANEE CITIZEN WHO KNOWS FROM EXPERIENCE.

Many Napanee people take their lives in their hands by neglecting the kidneys when they know these organs need help.

Sick kidneys are responsible for a great amount of suffering and ill health.

The reason so many use Booth's Kidney Pills is their quick relief for all Kidney weakness. Here is what a Napanee citizen says:—

Mrs. P. O'Neill, of West st., Napanee, Ont., says:

"Many painful and annoying symptoms of kidney trouble had caused Mr. O'Neill almost constant suffering. He was unable to straighten himself up from the sharp pains that would come across his back, in the kidney region. He would take cold very easily and it would always settle in his back. The urine would become highly colored and the kidney secretions would be very irregular and frequent. He had tried a number of remedies without relief. Booth's Kidney Pills were recommended and procuring a box at Mr. Wallace's Pharmacy, he soon found relief. His back strengthened and the urinary disorders were quickly regulated."

SIMPLE WASH CURES ECZEMA.

WHY SALVES FAIL WHILE A SIMPLE LIQUID HAS ACCOMPLISHED THOUSANDS OF CURES.

It is now thoroughly established among the best medical authorities that eczema is purely a skin disease, due to a germ, and curable only through the skin. It is not a blood disease at all; in fact, thousands of people suffer with skin disease and are perfectly healthy otherwise, and thereby prove they have no diseased blood.

Smeary salves cannot reach the germs because they do not penetrate the skin. The only way to reach the germs is by means of a penetrating liquid.

Such a liquid can be obtained by simply mixing ordinary oil of wintergreen with thymol, glycerine and other healing agents. This compound, known as D. D. D. Prescription, stops the itch instantly—and the cures all appear to be permanent. In fact, it took thousands of cures, case after case, before the best scientific authorities were convinced of the absolute merit of this remedy. D. D. D. Prescription kills the germs in the itching skin. Its effect is seen within one minute after the first application. The cure is even quicker if D. D. D. Soap is used in connection with the treatment.

When she opened the door he came in, bending attentively over his tray, and without a glance toward his young mistress made some show of fuss and bustle as he placed it upon a table near the window and drew up a chair for her so that she could sit with her back to the light.

"Dah, now!" he exclaimed softly, removing the white napkin and displaying other dainties besides the chicken wing. "Dass de way! Dat ole Mamie in de kitchen, she got her failin's an' her grievin' sins, but de way she do han'le chicken an' biscuit sutney ain't none on 'em. She plead fo' me to ax you how you like dem biscuit."

He kept his head bent low over the table, setting a fork closer to Betty's hand; arranging the plates, then rearranging them, but never turning his eyes in her direction.

"Has father gone out, Nelson?" asked Betty in a low voice.

"Yes'm; he uptown." The old man's tone sank at once to the level of her own; became confidential, as one speaks to another in a room where somebody is ill. "He mekkin' perpetration to go down de rivuh dis aft'noon. He say he done broke de news to you dat he goin' 'way. Dey goin' buil' dem wa'house righ up an' yo' pa he necsistate go way 'count de contrack. He be gone two week, honey." Nelson finished without too much the air of imparting cheery tidings, but with just enough.

"I am to stay here alone?"

"Law', no, missy! Dat big Miz Tanberry, dass de bes' frien' we all got, she home ag'in, an' yo' pa goin' invite her visit at de house whiles he gone, an' to stay a mont' aftuh he git back, too, soze she kin go to all de doin's an' junketin's wid you and talk wid de young mens dat you don' like whiles you talks wid dem you does like."

"What time will father come home?"

"Home? He be gone two week, honey!"

"No: I mean today."

"Law', he ain' comin' back! Bid me pack de trunk an' ca'y um down to de boat at noon. Den he bid me say far'-ye-well an' a kine goodby fo' him, honey. Say he thinks you ain't feelin' too well, soze he won't 'sturb ye hisself, an' dat he unestly do hope you goin' have splen'id time whiles he trabblin'." (Nelson's imagination covered many deficits in his master's courtesy.) "Say he reckon you an' ole Miz Tanberry goin' git 'long mighty nice wid one'nurr. An' dass what me an' Mamie reckon 'spechually boun' to take place, 'case dat a mighty gay lady, dat big Miz Tanberry, an' ole frien' 'er owah fambly. She 'uz a frien' er yo' momma's, honey."

Miss Betty had begun by making a pretense to eat only to please the old man, but the vain woman's cookery had not been unduly extolled, and Nelson laughed with pleasure to see the fluffy biscuits and the chicken wing not nibbled at, but actually eaten. He was an old house servant; therefore he had seen many young ladies go through unhappy hours, and he admired Miss Betty the more because she was the first who had indulged in strong weeping and did not snuffle at intervals afterward. He understood perfectly everything that had passed between father and daughter that morning.

When her breakfast was finished she turned slowly to the window, and, while her eyes did not refill, a slight twitching of the upper lids made him believe that she was going over the whole scene again in her mind, whereupon he began to move briskly about the room with a busy air, picking up her napkin, dusting a chair with his hand, exchanging the position of the andirons in the fireplace, and, apparently discovering that the portrait of Georges Meilhac was out of line, he set it awry, then straight again, the while he hummed an old "spiritual" of which only the words "Chain de lion down" were allowed to be quite audible. They were repeated often, and at each repetition of them he seemed profoundly, though decorously, amused in a way which might have led to a conjecture that the refrain bore some distant reference to his master's eccentricity of temper. At first he chuckled softly, but at the final iteration of "Chain de lion down" burst into outright laughter.

"Honey, my Law'," he exclaimed, "but yo' pa de 'ceivin'dest man! He mighty proud er you!"

"Proud of me!" She turned to him in astonishment.

Nelson's laughter increased. "Hain't he jass de 'ceivin'dest man? Yessuh, he de sot uppest man in dis town 'coant what you done last night. What he say dis mawn', dat jass his way!"

"Ah, no!" said Miss Betty sadly.

"Yes'm! He proud er you, but he teahbul mad at dat man. He hain't mad at you, but he gotter cuss somebody. Jass reach out fo' de nighes' he kin lay han's on, an' dis mawn' it happen soze it were you, honey. Uhuh! You oughter hearn him las' night when he come home. Den it were me. Bless God, I ain't keerin'. He weren't mad at me, no mo'n he were at you. He jass mad."

Miss Betty looked at the old fellow keenly. He remained, however, apparently unconscious of her scrutiny and occupied himself with preparations for removing the tray.

"Nelson, what is the quarrel between my father and Mr. Vanrevel?"

He had lifted the tray, but set it down precipitately, bending upon her a surprised and sobered countenance.

"Missy," he said gravely, "dey big trouble 'twix dem two."

"I know," she returned quietly. "What is it?"

"Wha' fo' you ax me, missy?"

"Because you're the only one I can ask. I don't know any one here well enough except you."

Nelson's lips puckered solemnly. "Mist' Vanrevel vote Whig, but he ag'in Texas."

"Well, what if he is?"

"Yo' pa mighty strong fo' Texas."

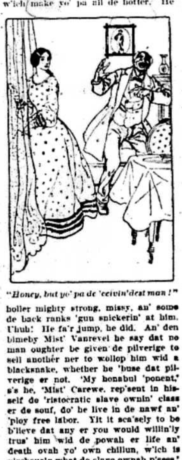
"Is that all?"

"No'm, dat ain't hardly de beginnin'. Mist' Vanrevel he a ab'litionist."

"Well? Won't you tell me?"

"Honey, folks roun' heah mos' on 'em like Mist' Vanrevel so well dey ain't hole it up ag'in' him; but, missy, ef dey one thing topper God's worl' yo' pa do despitly and contestably despise, hate, cuss an' outrageously 'bominate wuss'n a yaller August spiduh it are a ab'litionist. He want stomple 'em evey las' one under he boot heel 'cep'n dat one Mist' Cralley Gray. Dey's a considabul sprinklin' er dem ab'litionist 'bout de keutry, honey. Dey's mo' dat don' know w'ich dey is, an' dey's mo' still dat don' keer. Soze dat why dey go git up a quo'l 'twix yo' pa an' dat man, an' 'range to have 'er on a platfawm de yeah 'fo' de las' campaign, an', suh, dey call de quo'l a debate, an' all de folks come in f'um de keutry, an' all de folks in town come too. De whole possetucky on 'em sit an' listen.

"Fus' yo' pa talk. Den Mist' Vanrevel, bofe on 'em mighty cole an' civilized. Den yo' pa git wo'm up, missy, like he do, 'case he so useter have his own way. 'Tain't his fault, he jass cain't help hollerin' an' cussin' if anybody 'pose him. But Mist' Vanrevel he jass as suvvige, but he stay cole, w'ich make yo' pa all de hotter. He holler mighty strong, missy, an' some de back ranks 'gun snickerin' at him. Uhuh! He fa'r jump, he did. An' den bimeby Mist' Vanrevel he say dat no man oughter be given de pilverige to sell another ner to wollop him wid a blacksnake, whether he 'buse dat pilverige er not. 'My honabul 'ponent,' s's he, 'Mist' Carewe, rep'sent in hisself de 'ristocratic slave ownin' class er de souf, do' he live in de nawf an' 'ploy free labor. Yit it sca'sely to be b'lieve dat any er you would willin'ly trus' him wid de powah er life an' death ovah yo' own chillun, w'ich is virchously what de slave ownah p'sess.'



"Honey, but yo' pa de 'ceivin'dest man!"

"Missy, you jass oughter see yo' pa den! He blue in de face an' dance de quadrille on de boa'ds. He leave his cha'h, git up an' run 'cross to de odder side de platfawm an' shake he fis' ovah dat man's head an' screech out how it all lies dat de slaves evah 'ceive sich treatments. 'Dat all lies, yo' pu'-juh!' he holler. 'All lies, you misabul thief!' he holler. 'All lies, an' yo' know it, yo' low bawn slandah' an' scoun'le!'

"An' wid dat Mist' Vanrevel he laff in yo' pa face an' tuhn to de crowd, he did, an' say, 'You reckon dat if dish yuh man a slave ownah an' a slave had anguhed him as I have anguhed him tonight, does any er you b'lieve dat dat slave wouldn' be tied up an' whipped tell de blood run an' den sole down de rivuh tomorrer?'

"Well, suh, 'co'se mos' on 'em b'lieve same as yo' pa, but dat sutney fotch 'em, an' win de debate, 'case dey jass natchully lay back an' roah, dey did, missy. Dey laff an' stomp an' holler tell you could 'a' hearn 'em a mild away. An', honey, yo' pa'd a millyum times druther Mist' Vanrevel a kilt him 'dan tuhn de laff on him. He'd shoot a man, honey, ef he jass s'picion him to grin out de cornder his eye at him, an' to stan' up dah wid de whole county fa'r roahin' at him—it's de God's mussy he didn' have no ahms wid him dat night. Ole Mist' Chen'eth done brung him home, an' yo' pa reach out an' kick me squah out'n de liberry winder soon's he ketch sight er me." The old man's gravity gave way to his enjoyment of the recollection, and he threw back his head to laugh. "He sho' did, honey! Uhuh! Ho, ho, ho! He sho' did, honey; he sho' did!"

Nevertheless, as he lifted the tray again and crossed the room to go, his solemnity returned. "Missy," he said earnestly, "ef dat young gelmun fall in love wid you, w'ich I knows he will ef he ketch sight er you, lemme say dis, an' please fo' to ba'h in mine—better have nuttin' do wid him 'tall fo' he own sake, an' 'bove all keep him fur 'way f'um dese p'emises. Don' let him come in a mild er dis house."

"Nelson, was that all the quarrel between them?"

"Blessed mussy, ain' dat 'nough? Ef dey's any mo' I ain' hearn what dat part were," he answered quickly, but with a dogged tightening of the lips which convinced Miss Betty that he knew very well.

"Nelson, what was the rest of it?"

"Please, missy, I got pack yo' pa trunk, an' it time long ago fer me to be at my wu'k." He was half out of the door.

"What was the rest of it?" she repeated quietly.

"Now, honey," he returned, with a deprecatory shake of his head, "I got my own wu'k 'tend to, an' I ain't nevah ax nobody what 'twas, an' I ain't goin' ax 'em. An' lemme jass beg you foller de ole man's advice. You do de same, 'case nobody ain't goin' tell you. All I know is dat it come later and were somep'n 'bout dat riprarin Cralley Gray. Yo' pa he sent a channelge to Mist' Vanrevel, an' Mist' Vanrevel 'fuse to fight him 'case he say he don' b'lieve shootin' yo' pa goin' do ye' pa any good, an' he still got hope mekkin' good citizen outer him. Dat brung de laff on yo' pa ag'in, an' he 'clare to God ef he ketch Vanrevel on any groun' er his'n he shoot him like a mad dog. 'Pon my livin' soul, he mean dem wuds, missy! Dey had hard 'nough time las' night keepin' him fum teahin' dat man to pieces at de fish. You mus' keep dat young gelmun 'way fum heah!"

"He came home with me last night, Nelson. I told father so."

"Yes'm. Yo' pa tole me you say dat, but he reckon you done it to mek him madder, 'case you mad too. He say he done see dat Cralley Gray comin' 'long de hedge wid you."

"He was mistaken. It was Mr. Vanrevel."

MARGARET R. CLOSE.

It is astonishing how much happier we are when our homes are bright and cheerful. They can be made so pretty with Ramsay's Paints. A little goes so far, and it lasts so long. We advise everybody to go and see T. B. Wallace about Ramsay's Paints.

FOREST MILLS.

The social under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid of the Methodist church, held on J. R. Ackerman's lawn on Wednesday evening, was a decided success. Refreshments were served and a good programme rendered.

A number of friends gathered together on the 24th of May and held a picnic at Mr. Scott's, on Salmon river. A most enjoyable day was spent and many sports indulged in. Ice cream was served in the afternoon, and then all went home, hoping to meet again on the next 24th.

Mr. and Mrs. T. Jones spent Saturday and Sunday at Tamworth.

Miss J. Thompson and Miss E. Rook, of Strathcona, at J. R. Ackerman's on Thursday.

Miss Dunwoody, of Ebenezer, returned home on Sunday, after spending the week with Miss Jones.

A young daughter has come to brighten the home of Mr. and Mrs. G. McFarlane. Mrs. McFarlane is not very well at time of writing.

Mr. Frank Perry is building a new barn; also Mr. John Armstrong.

Mrs. L. Schermehorn spent Sunday with her son at Roblin.

Mr. Frank Breeze, of Napanee, spent Saturday and Sunday with his family here.

Mr. and Mrs. Allan Jones and baby, of Empey Hill, at T. Jones' on Monday.

PAINTING BARNS.

Commonwealth Barn Red made by the Sherwin-Williams Co., will cover more surface, look better, and is therefore cheaper than any other kind of barn paint. The Medical Hall. Fred. L. Hooper, Agent, Napanee.

SAFETY IN TRAVEL.

The sinking of an ocean steamer with its accompanying loss of life attracts the attention of the world. The wrecking of a railway train, where, perhaps, death of many comes in harrowing form, startles everybody. But no one thinks of the steamers that make their regular runs on schedule time delivering passengers and cargoes in safety month in and month out. No one notices the thousands of trains that reach their destinations daily throughout the year, bringing their annual aggregate of millions of passengers. There is plenty of blame for accident. There is a minimum of praise when things go well. In fact, this latter condition is taken as a matter of course.

The safety of modern travel is indicated by the report of the Pennsylvania railroad system for 1908. The figures tell their own story. There were 111,659,511 passengers handled. Not one was killed. There were 162 people injured enough to require medical or surgical attention. Out of each 1,288,819 carried there was one injured in a train accident. The same general fact of safety is shown by the Pullman report of 18,001,067 passengers carried in standard Pullman sleeping cars, of which great number one only was killed. Other statistics, if at hand, would add testimony. The accident in travel is the exception. As a rule, there is no safer place for the individual than on a modern railroad train or steamboat.

A keg of gunpowder was exploded in the streets of Selkirk, Man., by an enthusiastic citizen on Victoria Day, and about thirty panes of glass in nearby buildings were broken.

Sewing Machines

We Announce a New Department of Extreme Importance

WE HAVE LONG BEEN CONVINCED THAT BETTER VALUES WERE POSSIBLE IN SEWING MACHINES. WITH THIS CONVICTION WE HAVE BROUGHT TO BEAR EVERY FACILITY OF OUR GREAT BUYING ORGANIZATION IN ORDER TO SEE WHAT COULD BE ACCOMPLISHED, AND NOW, AS A RESULT, WE ANNOUNCE ONE OF THE MOST NOTABLE MERCHANDISING ACHIEVEMENTS OF RECENT YEARS.

FROM THIS TIME ON, POSITIVELY THE FINEST SEWING MACHINE VALUES KNOWN IN THE DOMINION CAN BE SECURED FROM THIS HOUSE.

WE KNOW THAT, NO MATTER WHERE YOU HAVE BOUGHT SEWING MACHINES BEFORE, YOU WILL FIND EVERY ONE OF OUR THREE LINES BETTER AT THE PRICE—NONE EXCEPTED. COMPARISON ONLY IS NECESSARY.

NO ELEMENT OF CHANCE ENTERS THE CONSTRUCTION OF THESE MACHINES THEY ARE MADE BY MANUFACTURERS OF THE VERY HIGHEST STANDING, WHOSE BUSINESS IS WIDELY KNOWN TO HAVE BEEN BUILT STRICTLY UPON MERIT.

THE MATERIAL THROUGHOUT IS BEYOND QUESTION. THE MECHANISM IS OF THE MOST APPROVED TYPE. THE WORKMANSHIP IS SUCH AS CAN ONLY BE SECURED IN A FACTORY OF THE MOST MODERN EQUIPMENT WITH A FAULTLESS SYSTEM OF RIGID INSPECTION.

EVERY MACHINE IS GUARANTEED FOR TEN YEARS. PROTECTION IS ABSOLUTE IF, FOR ANY REASON, THEY ARE UNSATISFACTORY UPON RECEIPT, THEY CAN BE RETURNED

The Robinson No. 1, $19.75

Without this Machine as indisputable evidence, every experienced person would say—"impossible.

Such a Machine at such a price once WAS impossible; but we have set a new standard.

This splendid Machine is designed for GENERAL SEWING IN THE HOUSEHOLD WILLING TO INVEST ONLY A SMALL PRICE. It can be safely trusted to do good work on either light weight or heavy material. It has our ten-year guarantee against all imperfections.

It has a vibrating shuttle and makes the two-thread lock-stitch. It is quiet and easy running. Made and tested under the same strict supervision attending the making of our higher grade machines. We furnish with the Robinson No. 1 a full set of attachments and instruction book.

PRICE (including all attachments) $19.75.

The Robinson No. 2, $32.50

The Robinson No. 2 is a Machine which is a model of efficiency. It is made in one of the best factories in the world—an establishment known for twenty-five years to produce the most accurately constructed product.

Our enthusiasm—your enthusiasm is inevitable with a Machine of such sterling character. It has ball bearings and all other modern improvements. Its wood work is exceedingly handsome and all metal work is finely finished, fully in keeping with its high quality.

The automatic magic lifting device is new and novel in action, consisting of tested steel cable guides and tracks which bring the head up into sewing position automatically when the table leaf is raised. When closing, the head goes down several inches, travels toward the back of the Machine in upright position, and then lays over toward you.

For general work—the work required by the average family—the Robinson No. 2 will be found thoroughly adaptable. It can be operated with slight effort and turns out uniformly satisfactory sewing.

WITH THE UNQUALIFIED TEN YEAR GUARANTEE ACCOMPANYING THE MACHINE IT PRESENTS AN EXCEEDINGLY ATTRACTIVE PROPOSITION.

PRICE (including all attachments) $32.50.

To advertise this new department of ours we have formed a Sewing Machine Club. The membership is limited to 25 members. If you wish to join send in your application at once.

You Buy Your Sewing Machine in the Easiest Way by joining our

SEWING MACHINE CLUB

$2.00 TO JOIN. A Splendid Plan. $1.00 PER WEEK.

On payment of $2.00 admission fee into our Club we will deliver a DEFIANCE SEWING MACHINE to your home; thereafter $1.00 a week until you have paid $26.75 for a machine you would not part with for $50.00. By forming this Club we are able to cut the price low in order to sell a number of Machines in a short time and offer special Club terms as well. This same machine purchased under its real name would cost you very much more. We have named it the DEFIANCE but that is not its real name. If we published the real name that would have a tendency to injure the Company and the agent's business, because everybody would want to buy the Machine from us in order to get the same thing at nearly half price.

CHANGING THE NAME DOES NOT CHANGE THE QUALITY

The Defiance is acknowledged by thousands of women who have already purchased it under its own name to be superior to any vibrating shuttle Machine they have ever used. It does perfect work from the most delicate to the heaviest fabric.

—"Billie" Appleby, a well known resident of Napanee, died in Kingston on Thursday of last week, aged about 85 years. The remains were brought to Napanee and placed in Riverview vault on Saturday.

—Mr. Walter Exley has been appointed License Inspector for Lennox in place of Mr. W. A. Rose, resigned. The latter has filled that office very efficiently for over twenty-three years, and credit is due him for the present state of affairs in Napanee and the County.

—David Kellar, of Deseronto, on Friday night, while under the influence of liquor, drove a horse to death, the property of Joseph Brant, of Belleville. Chief Graham arrested him, and he was up before Magistrate Rankin, on Wednesday, on a charge of cruelty to dumb animals, to which he pleaded guilty. He was remanded until Saturday.

—All the printing we do is a proof of our ability. We watch the very important little things which put such excellence into the work. We know printing and do it to your satisfaction. We like to give estimates and tell you whatever we can about the printing you want done.

—On Tuesday, May 25th, 1909, in the Sydenham St. Methodist church, Kingston, Ont., occurred the marriage of Myrtle Mae Skinner, of Watertown, N.Y., formerly of Camden East, Ont., to Chas. S. Davidson, of Brownville, N.Y. The wedding was a very quiet affair, only the immediate friends of the contracting parties being present.

Making people "see" correctly is an important part of our business. We carry the very best in spectacle-wares. Your eyes tested free and satisfaction guaranteed, at The Medical Hall.—Fred. L. Hooper.

Word was received here of the death of Mrs. Clarke Ashton, at her home in Rochester, N.Y., aged about 65 years. Deceased will be remembered by the older residents, as Mr. Ashton was Governor of the Gaol here over twenty-five years ago. After his death, Mrs. Ashton moved to Rochester, where she has resided ever since. She leaves four daughters and one son to mourn her loss: Mrs. B. F. Dickens, Vancouver, B.C.; Mrs. Geo. Allen, Mrs. Chas. Pearson, Mrs. Calder, Rochester, N.Y., and Mr. Harry Ashton, Syracuse, N.Y. Her many friends in Napanee will regret to learn of her death.

On Thursday morning, May 27th, as Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Bates, Bath, were coming to Napanee, their horse became frightened at a newly-painted sign on the G.T.R., near the Hamburg road, and turned so quickly as to throw Mrs. Bates out of the buggy. Mr. Bates held on and managed to stop the animal. Mrs. Bates was carried to a neighbor's house, suffering from the fall, and a cut on the head. Later in the afternoon she was brought to Napanee to her father's, Thomas Empey, Bridge street. The doctors say no bones are broken, but she is suffering from nervous shock.

WHY WE RECOMMEND YOU TO USE VERANDAH WHITE.

Verandah White is Painter's Peerless White, and is so prepared as to remain white longer than any other paint we know of. It wears better and looks better. It is not a mixed paint. T. B. Wallace, Red Cross Drug Store.

W. M. CHURCH.

The choir committee have engaged Madame Cochrane to take charge and lead the choir. The management have been fortunate in securing the services of so distinguished a leader for their choir. She will be in charge of the services on Sunday next, and will sing one of her popular solos at the evening service. Rev. Mr. Moore, of Little Britain, will preach both morning and evening.

COURT OF GENERAL SESSIONS.

The Court of General Sessions of the Peace for the County of Lennox and Addington will open at the Court House on Tuesday next, June 8th, before His Honor Judge Price. There is only one criminal case to be tried. Rex vs. Arthur Boyd Johnston.—The prisoner is being tried on a charge of criminal negligence arising out of the accident on the Canadian Pacific Railway near Kaladar Station on 9th April last. H. M. Deroche, K.C., County Crown Attorney, will conduct the case for the Crown, and the prisoner will be defended by W. S. Herrington, K.C.

MARRIED AT YARKER.

A quiet wedding took place in St. Anthony's church, Yarker, on June 2d, when Florence Gertrude, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Connoly, Yarker, was married to William Crawford Burpe, son of Mr. and Mrs. T. R. Burpe, Ottawa. The ceremony was performed by Rev. R. W. Spencer. Mr. and Mrs. Burpe left for a trip to Lake Champlain and Lake George, going from there to New York. After their return they will reside in Kemptville, where Mr. Burpe is connected with the Bank of Ottawa.

NAVIGATION RULES FOR MOTOR BOATS.

For the benefit of owners of motor boats and other small craft the following from the Canadian navigation of a motor boat should familiarize himself, are given.

Any boat propelled by machinery comes under the designation of a steam vessel. Boats driven by gasoline, kerosene, naptha and electric launches rank as steam vessels under the laws of navigation.

The starboard side of a vessel is the right-hand side looking forward.

The port side is the left-hand side looking forward.

The weather side of a vessel is the side on which the wind blows.

The lee side is the side furthest from the wind.

Right of Way.

Right of way is the custom of allowing one class of vessel the privilege of holding a course while another class has to give way.

Steam vessels (which include motor boats) must give way to sailing craft and row boats.

Two steam vessels (or motor boats) meeting head on shall steer to the right and pass to the right.

If two steam vessels are approaching each other in an oblique direction the vessel which has the other on her starboard (right) side shall keep out of the way.

If two vessels are pursuing the same course the one overtaking the other must keep clear.

When a steam vessel and a sailing vessel are proceeding in such directions as to involve the risk of a collision, the steam vessel shall keep out of the way of the sailing vessel.

When by any of these rules, one of two vessels shall keep out of the way the other shall keep her course and speed.

Every boat which is directed by these rules to keep out of the way of another boat, shall on approaching her, if necessary, slacken her speed, or stop, or reverse.

Lights.

Every boat must be equipped with lights at night. This applies as much to a row boat and canoes as to larger craft and must never be neglected. Failure to carry the required lights, make the boats, even down to the canoe and row boat liable to seizure and confiscation. The Canadian customs authorities have received orders to enforce the law rigidly.

Power boats must show a green light on the starboard (right) side, a red light on the port (left) side and a white light at the bow. These may be in the form of a combined lantern showing a red, a green and a white light.

Row boats and canoes must carry and show a white light.

Whistles and Signals.

All power boats must be equipped with a whistle, or at least with a horn that can be heard at a distance.

Whistle signals consist of one, two and three short blasts.

One blast indicates the vessel is steering to starboard. Two blasts that she is steering to port. Three blasts that the vessel is going Eastern.

A danger signal, or signal of distress is given by four short quick blasts of the whistle.

Buoys and Their Significance.

In passing buoys marking shoals, if going up the river keep a red buoy on starboard (right hand) side, and a black buoy on the port (left) side. A buoy painted red and black indicates that it may be safely passed on either side. When entering a buoyed harbor keep red buoys to starboard, black buoys to port side.

A white buoy merely indicates a shoal, and if the navigator is in strange water he should proceed cautiously until he has ascertained the channel.

It is the duty of every navigator of a power boat to familiarize himself with the rules of navigation, and to observe them at all times. By doing so, he not only gets a greater pleasure from this exhilarating sport, but also reduces to a minimum the possibility of accidents.

Use "Prism Brand" Floor Paint. It dries hard quickly, wears well, and has a varnish gloss. The Medical Hall.—Fred. L. Hooper, Agent, Napanee.

MARY WALSH.

Beloved wife of John Walsh, Camden, departed this life on Saturday, May 29th. Seldom has a death been recorded under more sorrowing circumstances. The deceased was in her seventy-fifth year, and was highly respected in this vicinity. She leaves a husband to mourn her loss. The remains were taken to Centreville, where a solemn requiem mass was sung by Rev. Father McCarthy. Much sympathy is extended to the bereaved husband.

GOLF.

WEDDED AT KENORA.

On Saturday, May 22d, at Kenora, Ont., Miss Jennie Davy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Davy, formerly of Napanee, was united in the holy bonds of matrimony to ex-Capt. Oldford, who for over a year was in charge of the Salvation Army work in Napanee. The ceremony was performed at the parsonage, by the Rev. Mr. Spence, the bride being assisted by her sister, Mrs. Wm. Hicks, while Mr. Wm. Hicks did the duties of best man. After the ceremony, the bridal party spent the day enjoying the many beautiful sights on the Winnipeg river, after which they repaired to the home of the bride's parents, where they sat down to a sumptuous wedding supper. Mr. Oldford purchased a farm at Kenora some time ago and erected thereon a beautiful home where the happy couple have gone to live. Their many friends in Napanee will wish them long life and happiness.

HIGH COURT

The non jury sittings of the High Court of Justice was opened at the Court House, on Tuesday, May 25th, before his Lordship, Mr. Justice McMann. The following cases were tried:

Vautrin vs. Wettlaufer—This was an action brought by C. A. Vautrin, of Camden East, against Wettlaufer Bros., of Mitchell and Stratford, to recover damages. The defendant sold a cement brick making machine to the plaintiff, for the sum of three hundred dollars, which the plaintiff claimed was worthless and not capable of manufacturing good merchantable cement bricks. Judgment for defendent dismissing the action with costs, and judgment for their counter claim for ninety-two dollars and thirty-three cents. U. M. Wilson, for plaintiff, W. H. Gregory, Stratford, for defendant.

Wood vs. Detlor—An action brought by Milo N. Wood, of the Township of Ernesttown, against Percy A. Detlor, of Kennebec. The plaintiff gave a chattel mortgage to defendant in June, 1908, for seven hundred and fifty dollars, and on the 28th of July the defendant issued a distress warrant under his mortgage and seized all the defendant's goods and chattels and growing crop and sold the same on the 31st of July. The plaintiff claimed damages for the loss occasioned by reason of the improper and improvident sale of his property. Judgment reserved. D. H. Preston, K.C., for plaintiff; W. G. Wilson, for defendant.

THE WALL PAPER MAN.

WRESTLING.

The Opera House was packed to its utmost capacity on Tuesday evening to see the wrestling match between the heavyweights, Gene Hurtubies, of Peterboro', and J. T. Hawkey, of Glenvale. It will be remembered that in March these two met here, and the match ended in a dispute after a short bout.

The first on the programme was a bout—2 in 3—between McQuaig, of Watertown, N.Y., and Jackson, of Kingston, welterweights. They put up a first-class exhibition. McQuaig won the first fall in 9 minutes, Jackson winning the second and third in 8½ and 7 minutes respectively.

Next came the heavyweights. As each man appeared on the mat they were given a rousing reception by the audience. It was quite plain from the start that Hurtubies was Hawkey's master, and the Peterboro' man won the first fall in 3 minutes and 15 seconds. He also won the second in 8½ minutes, thus winning the match. Hawkey looked to be out of his class entirely and was never dangerous. Hurtubies is a gentlemanly looking fellow, well built and was considerably heavier than his adversary. His victory was very popular with the audience.

Sergt.-Major McGowan, of Kingston made a very efficient referee, and Mr. Con. Millan, of the Iroquois Hotel, Kingston, acted as timekeeper.

The Athletic Association, under whose auspices the bouts were held, are to be complimented on the success of their undertaking, as we understand the funds are augmented by nearly $50.00. The sport was clean in every way, no unsportsmanlike tactics being allowed by the referee, who was "onto" his job.

After the bout, Mr. Chris. Graham, Hurtubies' manager, announced that he would bring him to Napanee and throw Hawkey three times inside of an hour. A great deal of money changed hands on the result.

TISDALE, SASK.

The weather has been all that could be desired since 1st May, and the farmers have been very busy getting their crops in the ground, and a large percentage of the grain is now sown.—Seed oats are very scarce and are commanding a high price.—Everybody is nearly through garden making, and some planting has been done. Potatoes are very scarce, and people are glad to get them at any price.—The water has been very high, and several bridges have been swept away, which makes it very inconvenient for people who live in the country.—There was a wash-out on the C. N. R., about five miles above here. A large gang of men were put on, and in a day or two it was repaired. Passengers and freight were conveyed over on handcars, and taken on to Prince Albert.—Owing to bad roads Rev. Mr. Baillie's did not get out to his appointments in the country for two weeks.—Mr. Purdy, of Tisdale, and Mr. Mallard, Regina, spent Wednesday night at W. D. Foster's, Pleasant Point.—A little girl has come to gladden the home of Mr. and Mrs. Aubrey Miller.—There has been some nice showers of rain during the last few days, and the grass is growing nicely. This is the first rain we have had since last October. We get most of our rain in June.—The wind on Monday and Tuesday gave the farmers a grand opportunity to burn the old grass and brush off their farms, and many of them took advantage of it. Fires were to be seen in every direction.—On Thursday morning as the C. N. R. passenger train was approaching town it struck and killed a cow, the property of Mr. F. Williams, and on Saturday a cow belonging to W. E. Miller was struck and badly hurt but not killed. The advance guard of a party of Germans who intend to locate in this district, arrived here on Thursday last. We have been unable to secure full information, but we understand that there is to be, between forty and fifty families in the party when they all arrive. This party will be welcomed, as they are all good farmers with plenty of money and will be sure to make a success of farming, if it is possible for any one to do so. We also understand that they are not going to homestead, but will purchase land near town. Mr. Otto Engel has already purchased what is known as the Standing farm, and has gone to work with a will to get his crop in. This party came out under the care of Mr. J. F. Hanson, London, Eng., who visited this district last year, and was well pleased with it.—On Saturday evening about 9 o'clock the citizens of the town were startled by a very pronounced earthquake shock. There seemed to be two shocks with an interval of a few seconds between them, and so strong were they that they made the dishes rattle in the cupboards. It was also felt at W. D. Foster's, Pleasant Point, and at F. Cummings', New Osgoode. On Sunday evening between seven and eight, another phenomenon occurred, which resembled the explosion of a cannon. People seated in the Methodist church thought that something had hit the church. It was heard for miles throughout the country. Several people saw a meteor, and it is said that it exploded a short distance northeast of Tisdale.—Mr. Firman E. Boyle, Silver Stream, spent Sunday here, the guest of his sister, Mrs. W. Buxton.—Mr. W. D. Foster was the guest of W. Miller, on Sunday.—Mr. Fred Cummings is assisting his brother Frank to get his crop in.—Mr. Charlie Gilbert, of New York, called on Mr. Foster on Tuesday last.—Miss Estella Salsbury expects to go east next week. She will attend Business College at Belleville, Ont.—Finley Meeks visited at F. Cummings', on Sunday, and attended the Sunday School at New Osgoode.—Percy Foster is ploughing for Mr. Otto Engel with two teams.—Mrs. Alport had the misfortune to lose one of her cows yesterday.—Mr. F. Cummings purchased a fine yoke of oxen last week, and after working them a few days sold them again. Oxen are too slow for Frank.—Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Cummings returned here from Crooked River, where he was employed. They intend going east soon to their old home.—Mrs. Bates is recovering from a severe attack of sick headache.

GLENVALE.

Most every one on this part of the country is nearly through seeding.—A large number of people from this place spent the 24th in Kingston.—Mr. George McGowan of Kingston Business College, spent Sunday in Glenvale, renewing old acquaintances.—Miss Celeste Shertineau, Kingston, visited a few days last week at John Clark's.—Mr. M. Ward, Harrowsmith, spent Sunday at Mr. John Clark's.—Miss Jessie Blair, of Westport, at Hosea Campsall's; also Mrs. Purdy, Kingston.—Mr. Joseph Hawkey went to Napanee on Tuesday.—Miss L. Ellerbeck has returned home, after spending the past few months in Kingston.—Mr. Edward Vanorder has returned home.—Mr. W. Amey and daughters, Kingston, at Mr. J. Ellerbeck's.

BALLAHAC.

The weather continues dry and warm, which is very good for the farmers. Most farmers are through seeding, and those who are not are making good use of their time.—Miss Lena Keatns spent Sunday and Monday at home. A large number of her friends called on her on Sunday.—Mr. John Tyner is improving his house by having it painted on the outside. Mr. Enoch Murphy is doing a complete job. Mr. Fred. Simpkins has taken up a new branch of business, in company with Pat. McGrath, the carpenter trade. Having completed their job at Mr. M. Cassidy's, they are now employed at Mr. Mike Keatns'.—Mr. and Mrs. Jim Burd and Miss Meggie Crafford, Marlbank, called on Miss Clara B. Tyner, on Sunday.

BICKNELL'S CORNERS.

Crops look fine since the recent rain, and farmers are nearly through seeding. Mr. Sexsmith fell the other day and hurt himself quite badly. It is believed he had some ribs broken. We hope for a speedy recovery. Mr. John Simmons at Wilton on Wednesday evening. A sad gloom has been cast over this neighborhood owing to the death of Mr. Nelson Amey, which occurred on Tuesday night. He was apparently in good health on Saturday, when he lifted something too heavy, and burst a blood vessel. And all that medical help could do seemed of no avail. His funeral took place at his house on Friday at 4 o'clock. He leaves to mourn his loss a loving wife and three children. We all extend our sympathy to the bereaved family in the loss of their departed one. His remains were placed in the vault at Camden East.

Baby's Own Tablets Cure all Minor Troubles

The stomach, the bowels, or cutting teeth is responsible for most of the ills and suffering that afflicts babyhood. Baby's Own Tablets will keep your child well because it is the best medicine in the world for these troubles, and at the same time it is the safest. The mother has the guarantee of a Government analyst that this medicine contains no opiate or poisonous "soothing" stuff. Mrs. Jos. Bernard, St. Emile, Que., says: "Baby's Own Tablets are really a marvellous medicine. My baby was thin, peevish and sickly until I began giving him this medicine. Since then he has thrived and grown splendidly." Sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

MOUNT PLEASANT.

The fine summer-like weather of the past two weeks, was followed by a grand rain on Thursday, which was very welcome.—Mr. and Mrs. M. Hudson were visiting friends here on Sunday last.—The school was closed on Monday, the 24th, and the day was loyally observed.—Mr. W. Henderson, Montreal, spent a few days under the parental roof.—Mr. Wm. Sexsmith arrived home on Saturday, after a three months' sojourn in Chicago. — Miss May Sexsmith started on Saturday for Chicago, where she will visit friends for a few months.

TWO WARNINGS.

Losing flesh is one and a hacking cough is another. If they come together the warning is a loud and hard one. Scott's Emulsion does some of its best work in just these cases. It prevents consumption. 22b

SAFETY IN MURDER.

In view of many miscarriages of justice during the past few years, there is a good deal of truth in what Wm. W. Bryant, an eminent New York lawyer, says, that murder in the United States is a safe occupation. In an address a few evenings ago before the Society of Medical Jurisprudence, he produced statistics which he contended proved that the death penalty does deter murderers, and argued on scientific grounds for the continuation of capital punishment. It was remarkable that the United States murderers are given the death sentence, only now and then, in order that the people may relieve their own feelings. If criminals are neither wealthy nor good looking, and have no relatives who are wealthy or good looking, they are sometimes electrocuted; but in the majority of notable instances there are always plenty of alienists ready to testify to the murderer's insanity. Of none of these is it recorded, although personally acquainted for years with those who afterwards become murderers, that they have complained of the insanity of their friends.

Mr. Bryant by criminal statistics showed that only 10 per cent. of the murderers in the United States are punished by the death penalty. He believed, however, that while this sentence should not be abolished, it should be suspended in some cases. The extreme of the law should not be invoked when the crime is committed through passion inspired by a great love, but in all cases a rational view should be taken of the crime and the farcical application of ridiculous defense abolished.

When in need of a good hair cut or shave, call on L. A. SCOTT, at the Campbell House Barber Shop. None but first class workmen employed.

ENTERPRISE.

The weather is fine this week and the farmers are busy seeding and planting. The grass and meadows are looking fine.—Quite a number are on the sick list with la grippe.—Howard Smith is improving nicely.—Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Simmons, of Camden East, spent Sunday at her father's, Mr. Jacob Loucks.—The work is progressing nicely on the English church.—The Free Methodists will hold their quarterly meeting in C. W. Keech's hall, commencing to-night (Friday), June 4th. Rev. A. H. Norrington, travelling elder, of the Kingston and Havelock districts, will take charge, assisted by Rev. Geo. Steenburgh, pastor of the circuit. The order of service will be as follows: 7.30 Friday evening, preaching; 7.30 Saturday evening, preaching; 9.30 Sunday morning love-feast; 10.30, preaching. Sunday p.m. 2.30, preaching, also at 7.30. Everybody welcome.—Mrs. S. B. Merrill and son Victor, are visiting in Uncle Sam's domains.—W. S. Fenwick is rushing the lumber mill, as he has a lot of logs to cut.

ROD AND GUN FOR JUNE.

The winter campaign against the wolves in Northern Ontario, suggestions for thinning out these pests in the Algonquin National Park and the need for some further action in that portion of the Province bordering on Manitoba, are prominent features of the June number of Rod and Gun in Canada, published by W. J. Taylor, Woodstock, Ont. Sportsmen everywhere are deeply interested in this wolf campaign because it is felt that the future of our big game depends to a considerable extent upon keeping down the numbers of their relentless and ever vigorous foes. What has been done and what is proposed applies to a much wider field than Ontario and the lessons learned will no doubt be put to use in several of the other Provinces. Even where the wolf is not a pest and a trouble sportsmen will read with sympathetic interest of the good work done and of the proposals for renewing it with increased zest next winter. Fishing, including a fine illustrated paper showing how anglers may, with much pleasure and profit to themselves, mount the best of their specimens, occupies the next place, seven stories being given up to topics of which the fisherman is never weary.

AN APOLOGY.

To the Public of Napanee:—

Publicity having been given to certain disgraceful conduct by me on the evening of Monday, 31st May, I desire to give further publicity to same in order that the townspeople may know that I conceive the enormity of my offence and that I alone am blameable.

I [illegible] the [illegible] premises of a gentleman and grossly insulted him and behaved in such a manner that the gentleman on the day following quite properly instituted proceedings against me in the Police Court for abusive language and assault, and the same would have doubtless been seen to a finish by him had I not humbly apologized and given him my promise that I would in the most open way admit to the public my wrong doing.

It is not a pleasant task to do so, but it is only right that I should. Regretting sincerely my folly and thanking you, Mr. Editor, for insertion hereof, I am

Yours sorrowfully,
J. G. LOUCKS.

BICKNELL CORNERS.

The recent rain did a great deal of good to the meadows.—Mr. John Judge is doing a rushing business putting in Mr. E. Hamilson's farm.—Mrs. James Cairns, of Morven, spent Friday with her parents, Mr and Mrs. James Sewell.—Misses Flossie and Grace Clancy spent Sunday with their cousin, Miss May Macdonald.—Mr. Frank Sweeney is on the sick list.—Miss Edith and Harry Amey, of Switzerville, and Miss Fannie and John McKnight, of Tamworth, spent Sunday with Olive Emberley.—Mr. Henry Salisbury and daughter Ida visited his daughter, Mrs. Wagar, at Enterprise.—Mr. Ed. McKnight, of Toronto, visited Mr. George Scott.—Mr. and Mrs. Cames Hawley spent Sunday at Mr. Albert Williamson's.—Mrs. J. Yeomans, of Collins Bay, visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Amey.—Mr. Elmer Clyde, of Odessa, spent Sunday evening at Mr. Robert Blakely's.

INGLE.

Farmers are taking every advantage of the fine weather, finishing their seeding.—Mr. Frank McLaughlin is making extensive preparation for the building of his new barn.—Mr. J. Killoran has taken possession of the Clark property, the latter having removed to Flinton.—Miss Belcanquel is visiting her sister, Mrs. Robt. McLaughlin.—Mrs. J. F. McKnight, Croydon, is visiting at Mr. John McKnight's.—Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Wurphy, Croydon, spent Sunday at Mr. John Crawford's.—Mr. and Mrs. Richmond at Mr. Okel McKnight's, on Monday.

BARRETT.

The farmers are very busy trying to finish seeding between showers.—We are sorry to announce the death of Mr. Edward Dowdle, an old and much respected resident.—Mr. W. G. Richmond and wife were calling on old friends on Monday evening.—Miss Price, our school teacher, has resumed her duties, after an attack of la grippe.—Mr. Lewis Fox had his foot badly hurt by a horse stepping on it, but we are glad to say he is able to be around again.—We are glad to say Mr. Thomas Hughs is improving. — Mr. Herbert Armstrong is working on Mr. Frank Perry's new barn.—The football match between the Shamrocks and the Maple Leafs came off on Monday, May 31st. It was an interesting game and the Shamrocks worked hard, but the game ended 4 to 0 in favor of the Maple Leafs. Mr. Wm. Richmond, who played with the Shamrocks, worked hard, but could not compete with the Maple Leafs.

CROYDON.

On Saturday afternoon last Roblin and Croydon baseball teams met on the latter's diamond, for a friendly game. The teams were evenly matched and played a splendid game up to the sixth innings, each scoring 5 runs. Morgan and Hunt were on the firing line for Roblin, while Wells and Hannah did likewise for Croydon. Wells' pitching was the feature of the game, and had the heavy hitting Roblin team at his mercy at all stages, blanking them in six innings. Roblin scored 2 runs in the first innings, 3 in the fourth and 2 more in the 8th, the last 2 on errors. Croydon won the game in the sixth, when they walloped the ball for 7 runs. Will. Galbraith was again at the front with the willow, always driving in a run when called upon. Dwyer played a fine game at short nipping runners at first by some sensational throwing. Although Roblin were easily defeated, the game was not so lobsided as the score of 16-7 reads. Their team is a good one; but good teams will have their off days. Morgan twirled a good game, but poor fielding mixed with a little hard luck ran the score probably half a dozen runs higher than it should have been. Both pitchers filled their positions in grand style. Mr. Geo. Paul umpired the game satisfactory to both teams. George has always a way of his own in sending both teams off the field at the close of the game perfectly satisfied with his work. After the game Manager Hughes, of the Croydon team, treated the visitors to a bountiful repast, at M. A. Williams', and the Roblin boys went home satisfied with their afternoon sport. The teams lined up as follows:

Roblin, 7.	Croydon, 16
Bradshaw s.s.	H. Galbraith c.f
McCutcheon c.f.	Dwyer s.s.
Kimmett 1b.	Craig 3b
Hunt c.	Quinn 1b
Morgan p.	Deline r.f
Wagar 3b.	Doupe l.f
Spencer 2b.	Williams 3b
Hughes r.f.	W. Galbraith 2b
Anderson l.f.	Wells p
	Hannah c

Score by innings—

Roblin	2	0	0	3	0	0	0	2	—7
Croydon	2	1	1	1	0	7	2	2	—16

CURE IT IN ONE DAY.

COUGHS AND COLDS DISAPPEAR LIKE MAGIC WHEN HYOMEI IS USED.

If the thousands of people who suffer from hacking coughs and agonizing colds would arouse themselves sufficiently to follow this advice, they would cease to complain within 24 hours.

Here is the advice, if you take it and you are afterwards sorry that you did, it won't cost you a penny.

Go to T. B. Wallace, the druggist, and purchase from him a Hyomei (pronounced High-o-me) outfit. It will only cost you $1.00. Take it home; use it according to directions and if it does not cure your cough or cold, take it back and T. B. Wallace will refund the purchase price.

Mrs. I. Cyon, of John Street, Acton, Ont., says: "I had a swelling come near my eyes which was caused by the catarrhal condition. I had to cough up the bad impurities that dropped into my throat, and it felt as if a hard cold had attacked me, right in my head, nose and glands near. A week's treatment of Hyomei overcame my trouble. I am glad to endorse Hyomei."

When you use Hyomei you don't swallow nauseating drugs. You simply breathe in the soothing, pleasant and antiseptic Hyomei air through the little pocket inhaler that comes with each outfit. As this medicated air passes over the inflamed parts, relief comes almost at once and cure follows.

Hyomei is also guaranteed by T. B. Wallace to cure catarrh, croup, grip and asthma.

Seven men have already met death since the commencement of the lake seamen's strike.

The Wright brothers have received an order for an aeroplane from the Shah of Persia.

Six Italian peasants were killed in an attack on the Town Hall at Sinopoli in Calabria.

Dr. Mason, Conservative, was elected to the Legislature in East Victoria by a large majority.

Omer Legault, aged 11 years, was swept off a flooded bridge over Brewery Creek at Hull and drowned.

The Canadian Northern crop report says the growth is in advance of that of two years ago at this season.

AFTER SUFFERING TEN YEARS

Cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

MARLTON, N.J.—I feel that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has given me new life. I suffered for ten years with serious female troubles, inflammation, ulceration, indigestion, nervousness, and could not sleep. Doctors gave me up, as they said my troubles were chronic. I was in despair, and did not care whether I lived or died, when I read about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound; so I began to take it, and am well again and relieved of all my suffering." — Mrs. GEORGE JORDY, Box 40, Marlton, N.J.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from native roots and herbs, contains no narcotics or harmful drugs, and to-day holds the record for the largest number of actual cures of female diseases we know of, and thousands of voluntary testimonials are on file in the Pinkham laboratory at Lynn, Mass., from women who have been cured from almost every form of female complaints, inflammation, ulceration, displacements, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, indigestion and nervous prostration. Every suffering woman owes it to herself to give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial.

If you would like special advice about your case write a confidential letter to Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass. Her advice is free, and always helpful.

ST. OLA.

The weather is now ideal, and the country is looking beautiful.—An old pioneer resident, in the person of Mrs. George Lawrence, died on Thursday, May 20th. And on Saturday, May 22d, Mrs. George Wilson passed away. Both were buried by the Methodist church.—Rev. W. H. Adams, of Norwood, visited at the Methodist parsonage on May 24th. In the evening he gave his illustrated lecture on London and Windsor Castle, in the Methodist church, which was attended by people from all parts of the mission. Mr. Adams was pastor of this mission some sixteen years ago. — Mr. Schriver Clark, of Maynooth, spent Sunday with his parents.—A mammoth picnic will be held on the church and parsonage grounds, at St. Ola, on Dominion Day. The proceeds are to go to repair the parsonage property. —Rev. A. C. Huffman was called to Coe Hill this week to tie a nuptial knot.—Mrs. Shuttleworth, Toronto, visited relatives in Cashel, recently. —Mr. Thomas Green has purchased the Gilbert Solmes homestead. Mr. Solmes has come to the village to live.—Mr. Wm. Embury has moved his family to Bessemer.—A large stamp mill is in the course of erection at the mine owned by the Gilmour Mining Company.—Addison Haggarty and Charlie Jones have gone to Gow Ganda, having secured work with Mr. G. M. Colvocoresses Mining engineer for the Anglo-American Company.—Miles Rutledge is taking a course in the Ontario Business College, Belleville.—Messrs. ROBLIN.

Our Roblin boys journeyed to Croydon on Saturday last to play their locals a friendly game of baseball. But on arriving at the field of fate they found to their surprise that wonderful Croydon were playing a Tamworth pitcher, catcher and short stop. We want it thoroughly understood they were not playing the regular Tamworth pitcher, he being on the shelf; they were forced to get a second hand man who did his best to pitch a game of ball. He was weak and the good natured Roblin boys shortened the distance to pitch to the extent of ten feet.

The Roblin boys were up against hard luck. They of course played their own men, while Croydon had three outside men. But with outside men and all they had no method to their game. They played a nice game of ball by hard work and ignorance. Once in a while the Tamworth man, who pitched for Croydon would take an ignorant fit and run from his box to the home plate to try to knock the base runner down or spike him. Think of playing ball in a civilized world in a field where the hay is over a foot high, where you couldn't see a base or find the ball after it struck the ground. Roblin boys, not being of the grasshopper nature, could not do justice to themselves in the long grass. But there is where those Croydon wonders did shine, and also those three cast offs from Tamworth, who tried to help them out. The Roblin boys always play their own men, and when they win a game they win it fair. The umpire was also from Tamworth, and he did well as far as he knew, but he is quite ignorant of a game of baseball. He might know the game called marbles, but it is doubtful. The teams were as follows:

Roblin.	Croydon
Morgan p	Craig c
Hunt c	Wells p
Kimmett 1b	Quinn 1b
Spencer 2b	W. Galbraith 2b
Wagar 3b	Hannah 3b
Anderson r.f	H. Galbraith r.f
McCutcheon c.f	Deline c.f
Hughes l.f	Doupe l.f
Bradshaw s.s	Dwyre s.s.

Umpire, George Paul, of Tamworth. Score 17-7, favor of Croydon.

A MONTREAL MAN

Run-down, Sick and Despondent Because He Had Failed to Get Help.

RESTORED TO HEALTH BY VINOL.

"I was in a very run-down condition. Abscesses broke out on my body and my digestion was seriously impaired. I lost flesh and strength and was in a very bad way altogether. I was under different doctors' care but did not derive any material benefit from their treatment.

"This state of affairs went on for several months and I became very despondent and thought I would never be well again. My attention was then drawn to Vinol and I purchased a bottle from Bryson's drug store. The first bottle did me good so I continued its use, and am today as well as ever I was. I also find Vinol a splendid remedy for colds." Alfred J. Linn, 1987 Delorimier Avenue, Montreal, Quebec.

This is because Vinol is a genuine tonic and body-builder which contains peptonate of iron together with every one of the body-building medicinal elements of cod liver oil, but without one drop of oil to upset the stomach and retard its work. Vinol acts directly upon the stomach, creates a healthy appetite, and enables the digestive organs to obtain the necessary elements from the food eaten to make rich, red blood, healthy flesh and muscle tissue and create strength.

Your money back if Vinol fails to benefit. T. B. Wallace, Druggist, Napanee, Ont.

Overtaxed Nerves A Distress Signal

The Trouble Can Only Be Cured by Enriching the Blood Supply.

When your nervous system is exhausted the trouble makes itself evident in many ways. You feel always fatigued and unfit for work. Severe headaches distract you; your back is weak; you sleep badly; your appetite is uncertain; you are nervous and irritable and after any exercise you tremble and perspire excessively. If the trouble is not checked your case goes from bad to worse until you feel that your condition is hopeless and that insanity is threatened.

Your nerves are calling for help. They are starved because they demand from the blood more nourishment than it can supply. New rich blood is the secret of nerve strength and Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People cure nervous disorders because they feed the weak, exhausted nerves with rich, red blood. The case of Mrs. Emma Hall, of Hamilton, Ont., furnishes proof that Dr. Williams Pink Pills will cure even the most stubborn cases of nerve exhaustion. Mrs. Hall was left a widow and was forced to work in a mill to maintain herself and her two little children. She bravely faced the battle of life, though she had never had to conform to such conditions before. Notwithstanding the splendid spirit she displayed the work played havoc with a delicate constitution, and some years ago Mrs. Hall noticed signs in herself of a nervous collapse. She consulted a doctor who gave her some medicine and told her she "would be all right in a few days." But relief did not come and it was finally a daily occurrence for her to faint at her work. These fainting spells quickly developed into pronounced hysteria and chronic irritability, and Mrs. Hall says that death would have been a relief. She consulted several doctors but got no help, and she felt that she was almost bordering on insanity. In this condition she was advised to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Grasping at even the possibility of help she decided to do so. After taking three boxes she actually found some improvement, and from that time on this improvement was steady and increasing daily until after a few months she felt the cure was complete. She says:—"Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have done what doctors failed to do and what I myself thought was impossible. They have freed me from the terrible trouble I suffered and my old joy in life has been renewed." When Mrs. Hall began taking Dr. Williams' Pink Pills she weighed only one hundred pounds while under her renewed health her weight has increased to one hundred and thirty pounds.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills can be had from any dealer in medicine or will be sent by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50, by The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

PILES FOR FOUR YEARS

Only those who suffer from Piles can know the agony, the burning, throbbing, shooting, stabbing pains which the ailment causes, and the way it wrecks the sufferer's life.

Zam-Buk is blessed by thousands who used to suffer from piles, but whom it has cured. One such grateful person is Mrs. Elizabeth Taylor, of Greenwood Avenue, Toronto. She says:—"For four long years I suffered acutely from bleeding piles. During that time I spent an immense amount of money on 'remedies' and doctor's prescriptions but got no ease. Zam-Buk was different to everything else I had tried, and it cured me. I am grateful for the cure, and as I have never had piles once since, I know the cure is permanent."

Another thankful woman is Mrs. E. A. Gardiner, of Catalina, Trinity Bay. She says:—"In my case Zam-Buk effected a wonderful cure. For twelve years I had been troubled with blind, bleeding, and protruding piles. I had been using various kinds of ointments, etc., but never came across anything to do me good until I tried Zam-Buk, which cured me. That this may be the means of helping some sufferers from piles to try Zam-Buk, is the wish of one who has found great relief."

Zam-Buk is a purely herbal balm and should be in every home. Cures cuts, burns, bruises, eczema, ulcers, blood-poisoning, prairie itch, sunburn, blisters, sore feet, summer sores, and all diseases and injuries of the skin, etc. All druggists and stores at 50c. box, or from Zam-Buk Co., Toronto, for price.

Zam-Buk

THERE'S STRENGTH IN OUR BREAD, as well as fine flavor. It contains all the nutritious qualities of the grain baked so they assume the most digestible form.

DYSPEPTICS CAN EAT IT with safety. The healthy people eat it with eagerness. Try one loaf and you'll keep on trying another every day. Give it to the children, the adults, the old folks. They'll all like it and thrive on it amazingly.

THE BEST FLOUR:
DAFOE'S NONESUCH,
DAFOE'S MANITOBA PATENT.

By numerous tests by the best bakers the above mentioned grades have been proven to be the best flours in the market.

When buying flour, ask for Dafoe's, and patronize your home mill, thereby producing Bran and Shorts that you can purchase cheaper than the product of the Western mills, which has to be transported thousands of miles at great expense, and usually when it reaches you is of inferior quality.

The grocer complains if the farmer or the mechanic sends to Toronto or to outside points for an article he can get at the home store just as good, but he does not hesitate to buy flour from mills hundreds of miles away, and sells you an inferior flour for more money than you can purchase the home product for, every bag of which is guaranteed.

Choice Cornmeal and Buckwheat Flour always on hand. Feed grinding a specialty, with the best feed mills known to the trade.

A full stock of the best Anthracite Coal; also in the market for the purchase of all kinds of grain.

Ask for prices at the Big Mill before purchasing your Flour, Feed or Coal.

SAD DROWNING.

On Monday morning Master William Kinkley, aged 10 years, son of William Kinkley, Kingston Road, was drowned. While walking on a flat stone along the edge of the falls, he slipped and was carried by the strong current into the deep hole at the foot of the falls. Several boys were with him and gave the alarm, and in a few minutes men were there, but it was about half an hour before the body was recovered. Drs. Leonard and Stratton worked with him to try and restore life but to no avail.

THE ANNIVERSARY SERVICES

JUNE BRIDE.

A very pleasant event took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. Kelly, Napanee, on the evening of the 1st inst., when their second daughter, Grace Ellma, was united in marriage to Mr. R. J. Ruttan, of Detroit, Mich. The ceremony was performed by Rev. G. S. White at 9.30 o'clock. The bride looked sweet in a gown of white silk organdie with lace trimmings. A friend of the bride, Miss Myrtle Thompson, acted as bridesmaid, while Mr. R. Kelly, brother of the bride, ably performed the duties of best man. After congratulations the guests retired to the dining room, where a dainty wedding supper was served, after which Mr. and Mrs. Ruttan, the latter attired in a grey suit with brown hat, left amid showers of rice, for Detroit, where they will reside. The many friends of both bride and groom join in wishing the happy couple many years of wedded happiness.

Provincial Loan of $3,500,000

THE GOVERNMENT OF THE PROVINCE OF ONTARIO, under the authority of Chapter 8, of the Statutes of Ontario, 1909, invites subscriptions from the public for a loan of $3,500,000 on bonds of the Province of Ontario or "Ontario Government Stock."

The bonds will be dated 1st June, 1909, and payable on the 1st June, 1939, in denominations of $1,000 each, with coupons attached for interest at the rate of four per cent. per annum, payable half-yearly on the 1st June and 1st December in each year at the office of the Provincial Treasurer, Toronto, or at the offices of the Bank of Montreal, in Montreal, Canada, and in New York, N.Y., at the holder's option. Bonds will be made payable to bearer, but on request will be registered in the office of the Provincial Treasurer and endorsed as payable only to the order of certain persons or corporations, and on request of holders will be exchanged for "Ontario Government Stock" at any time.

"Ontario Government Stock" will bear interest from the 1st day of June, 1909, principal payable on the 1st day of June, 1939, and interest at the rate of four per cent. per annum will be paid half-yearly by cheque on the 1st day of June and 1st day of December in each year. "Ontario Government Stock" may be subscribed for in sums of $50 or multiples thereof, and will be transferable in the books of the Treasury Department only by the holder or his attorney in similar manner to transfers of bank stock.

The issue price during the month of June, 1909, will be 102 for each $100, and after the 30th day of June, 1909, the issue price will be 102 and interest accrued from the 1st June, 1909.

ALL BONDS AND INSCRIBED STOCK ISSUED UNDER THE AUTHORITY OF THE SAID ACT ARE FREE FROM ALL ONTARIO PROVINCIAL TAXES, CHARGES, SUCCESSION DUTY AND IMPOSITIONS WHATEVER.

Purchasers of Stocks or Bonds will be required to send certified cheque with the application, payable to the order of the "Provincial Treasurer of Ontario."

This loan is raised upon the credit of the Consolidated Revenue Fund of Ontario, and is chargeable thereupon.

Subscribers should state whether they desire bonds or "Ontario Government Stock."

Example: A subscriber for $1,000 will have the option of taking either a bond or "Ontario Government Stock." A subscriber for $750 will be given "Ontario Government Stock," as bonds are only in the denomination of $1,000.

A. J. MATHESON,
Provincial Treasurer.

Treasury Department, Parliament Buildings, Toronto, 3rd June, 1909.

MOUNT PLEASANT.

The friends and neighbors of Miss May Sexsmith gathered at her home on the evening of the 31st May, to say good bye before she took her departure for the west, where she intends to make her future home. The following address was read by Mrs. M. S. Abrams:

To Miss Sexsmith:—

Dear Mable,—As we learn you are about to take your departure from our midst, we, your neighbors and friends, have assembled here to-night to say good-bye. As this is your last evening among us, we feel that we cannot let you leave us without some expression of regret. You have been among us for a number of years and we have found you a helper in every time of need. In the Sabbath School and in the church you have worked faithfully. It may be truly said of you, "she hath done what she could". And now we ask you to accept this clock as a token of our regard for you, and hope that as it rings out the hours of the day you will be reminded of your old friends you are leaving behind and that you will realize that as the golden days go by that life is short, and that you will try and improve them, and that you may be endowed in your future home with all the blessings and comforts of this life. And that we will all endeavor to live so that if we are never permitted to meet on this earth again, we may all meet where there will be no more partings or sad farewells.

Signed on behalf of your Mount Pleasant friends.

MRS. M. S. ABRAMS
MRS. S. HICKERSON.

MOSCOW.

Rev. Batstone attended Conference at Belleville last week.—The Ladies' Aid met at the home of Mrs. M. I. Huffman, on Thursday last. After the business part of the programme was over, the ladies present were served to a delicious and refreshing lunch.—On Friday evening last the Aid served ice cream on Mr. VanLuven's lawn. During the evening there was an abundant display of fire works which afforded an enjoyable amusement.—We are very sorry to hear of the illness of Mrs. T. Burgess, a former resident of this place.—Mr. and Mrs. J. Garrison, of Morven, spent Sunday at Mr. G. W. Lampkin's.—Mr. Frank Storms, of Wiarton, is spending his holidays at his home here.—Mr. A. A. Asselstine and family spent Sunday at Sydenham.—Mrs. W. Cairns and son Gerald spent last week in Odessa.—A large number from here attended the camp meeting in Wilton, last Sunday.—Mr. J. Kerr is rebuilding his house this summer.—The rural mail delivery is now in working order on Princess st., and proving very satisfactory.—The auto cars are very plentiful this season on these level roads.—Mrs. Foster is spending a few weeks at her sister's, who is very ill in Kingston.—Mr. H. Wood, of Newburgh, spent Monday in our village on business.—On June 26th a merry-making picnic will be held in Mr. H. A. Baker's grove, where not only appetible dinners will be served but during the day contests, games, and other sports, are counted on for the chief amusements. A band will be in attendance. Everybody welcome. Come and enjoy the season's treat.

ENTERPRISE.

We have been enjoying beautiful summer weather for the past few weeks.—Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Harkness and little Jean Wagar, of Tweed, spent Sunday with Mrs. Harkness' parents.—Mr. J. M. Whyte is in Belleville this week, attending Conference. Mrs. Whyte and infant son are visiting her parents in Trenton, Scarboro' and Richardson's.—The Dog Show is in town this week and has a fair patronage.—The Woman's Guild of St. John's church has opened an ice cream parlor in the old Lochhead stand, and are prepared to supply the public with first class ice cream, every Saturday afternoon and evening. Proceeds in aid of the new church fund.—Mrs. Geo. Cooper, of Brownville, N.Y., is visiting Mrs. Ed. Lockwood.—Mr. W. S. Fenwick's saw mill whistle may be heard every morning, arousing people to their daily task, at 6 o'clock.—Mr. Henry Milligan and daughter, Miss Cora, of St. Louis, are spending the summer months at their home here.—Mrs. S. Burgess and Mrs. S. Graham spent Wednesday in Yarker, at Mrs. Thos. Burgess', who is dangerously ill. Mr. and Mrs. Burgess were former residents of our town, and we hope for her speedy recovery.—Mr. S. Wagar, of Tamworth, was in town on Tuesday.—Miss Gertie Carscallen, who has been ill for the past eighteen weeks, passed peacefully away on Tuesday morning. Gertie was a general favorite with old and young, having been born and spent all her life in Enterprise, excepting when pursuing her study of music. She was an accomplished musician and singer and always ready and willing to render her services when called upon in both church and social functions, and her loss will be keenly felt. Besides her sorrowing father, Dr. A. B. Carscallen, she leaves an only brother, Allan, her mother having predeceased her twenty-three years ago. She also leaves to mourn her loss her faithful and loving cousin, Miss Blanche Husband, who for the past four years has made her home with her uncle, and who watched over and cared for her during her long illness, together with her faithful nurse, Miss Annie Hinchey. The sympathy of the whole community goes out to the bereaved father and brother in the loss of an only daughter and sister. May God be very near and comfort them in this their hour of trial. May they indeed be able to say "God moves in a mysterious way His wonders to perform, but His will be done." The funeral was held on Thursday at 10 o'clock, in the Methodist church, and was very largely attended.

NEWBURGH.

The auto stage resumed its run this week, and is now in fine working order. On Wednesday Conductor Laidley took 19 passengers into Kingston and brought 20 out at night.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Wilson and family, Winnipeg, are spending a few weeks with his parents here.

Rev. M. E. Sexsmith returned from Conference on Wednesday. Contrary to expectations, the Stationing Committee refused to honor invitations, and consequently Mr. Sexsmith will again be stationed here. No minister in recent years has won such a place in the hearts of his people as has Rev. Sexsmith during the year he has been here, and his people will give him a hearty welcome home.

Look out for the League excursion to the Islands in July.

A number from the village attended the Hornerite camp meeting at Wilton on Sunday.

Gypsies pitched their tents on the island this week.

The many friends in Newburgh of Miss Gertie Carscallen will be sorry to hear of her death in Enterprise, on Tuesday.

Those who have their dressmaking wants supplied by Mrs. Hamilton will please attend to this before 6 p.m.

Harvey Wood has had a new cement walk and verandah placed at the north side of his house.

The Woman's Missionary Society have charge of the League in the Methodist church on Monday evening.

The Consecration meeting of the League last Monday evening was led by Miss Vera York. Miss Florence Wagar read a very fine paper on "Life lessons for me from the Gospel of St. Luke." The paper was well written and showed much thought and careful study.

Mrs. Swayne and children, of Oxford Mills, are visiting at G. A. Aylesworth's.

Congratulations are offered to Dr. J. C. Gandier who successfully passed his final year exams. in medicine at 'Varsity this year.

There was no service in the Presbyterian church on Sunday evening, owing to the absence of Rev. Gandier in Hamilton.

Mr. J. M. Denyes, B.A., preached to a large congregation in the Methodist church on Sunday evening. Miss Mary Nesbit sang very sweetly during the offertory.

The Bridge Committee of the County Council was in the village on Thursday, looking over the little bridge.

WESTBROOK.

There was no service in the church on Sunday, as Rev. R. Stillwell is attending Conference at Pembroke.—It was a great shock to the people here when a telegram from Gladys, Alberta, reached here on Friday, breaking the sad news of the death of Mrs. Norman Bradshaw, nee Miss Maggie Sproule, eldest daughter of James A. Sproule. She was a favorite amongst her many friends here who extend sympathy to the bereaved family, who are mourning the loss of a loving wife, daughter and sister.—Mr. and Mrs. Milton Clokey, of Hartington, were visiting friends in the village on Sunday.—Harold Snook has accepted a position as cheese maker in Collins Bay factory.—Miss Edith Graves, of Kingston, spent Saturday and Sunday the guest of Miss Myrtle Stevens.—Mr. Mack Redden lost his fine hunting dog on Sunday. Smith and Miss Martin, Kingston, spent Friday afternoon with Mr. and Mrs. George Keil.—Mr. and Mrs. John Morley and little daughter Carrie spent last Sunday at Mrs. Morley's parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Smith, Woodbine.—Mrs. Maggie Kenny called on Mrs. B. Rose, Monday afternoon.—Mrs. Jemima Gates is spending a few days with Mrs. Henry Alport.

For a wedding present, a birthday gift to your wife, or a casual donation to the home, there is nothing more acceptable than a properly decorated hanging or stand lamp. The finest assortment of oil and electric lamps we have ever displayed, at prices to suit all purchasers. The Medical Hall.—Fred. L. Hooper.

DESERONTO.

Watch Deseronto grow, the gypsies have come to town, and are occupying a field in the extreme west end, and following the usual vocation of these wandering people, telling fortunes, past and future, and it is surprising the number of people who allow themselves to become accomplices in keeping up those absurdities.

The Bible Christians are making it interesting for the residents on Green and Brant streets these nights. They are converting a few, but discouraging the many.

Mr. and Mrs. Michael Nealon, of Oswego, are in town, attending the funeral of Joseph Gaulin, who is a nephew. Oswego seems to agree with Mike as he is in A 1 condition.

His Grace Archbishop Gauthier paid Father Hartigan a short visit on Sunday.

Ed. Burns arrived home from Oshawa on Saturday.

Messrs. E. Houle and Chas. Gaulin came up from the Limestone City to attend the funeral of Joseph Gaulin.

The 5th Field leaves for Kingston on Tuesday, 15th, via Bay of Quinte.

Major Malley is fortunate in having to refuse men and horses, thereby having his pick, and he is a competent judge in both cases.

James T. Marrigan has gone to Rochester, to see what Uncle Sam's domain is like.

The Public School report will appear in next week's Beaver.

What a change a few days can make. Last week Mr. Jas. L. Gaulin was receiving the hearty congratulations of the citizens in general on his appointment of postmaster of Deseronto. This week he is receiving on all sides sincere expressions of sympathy for the irreparable loss that he and Mrs. Gaulin have sustained by the death of their beloved son, Michael Joseph, at the very early age of 13 years. Joe was a general favorite with all, young and old, and an exceptionally bright boy. Always in the front at school and at sports his decision was as that of an umpire, of a firm and determined though kindly disposition he surely would have made his mark had mature age been alloted his portion. He had been ailing about 6 weeks, but nothing serious was anticipated until about 2 weeks ago when alarming symptoms became apparent, and everything possible was done for him, the doctors holding out hope until the last. He struggled on bravely and uncomplainingly until 1 a.m. on Tuesday, when he peacefully passed away. The funeral which was very largely attended, unite testimony of the respect for the dead boy and deep sympathy for the bereaved parents and family, was held on Thursday, 10th, from the residence, College st., to St. Vincent de Paul's, of whose choir he was a valued member, where a requiem mass was celebrated by Rev. Father Hartigan, and thence to Deseronto cemetery, where in the family plot the remains were laid to rest.

Signs of hay time, the crop of the park on Main st. has been gathered in. The improvement is noticeable, making it look something like a well tended farm.

The verdict of the jurors in the inquest on the drowning of James Crawford was what everyone expected. County Crown Attorney P. J. M. Anderson was down from Belleville in connection with the inquest.

Mr. Henry Corbien, of Lowell, Mass., whose family was turned back by the U. S. Emmigration Agent, at the frontier, arrived in town on Saturday, and left on Monday again for the above place, having procured the necessary credentials to allow him and family to go through. The family have the sympathy of the community, where he is favorably known, for the trouble and expense he has been subjected to.

The str. North King was on time on Sunday morning on her way to 1000 Islands, and also on the return trip west.

The str. Belleville went by on Sunday, not calling at this port, leaving a lot of freight for Hamilton, and incidentally leaving some one in an undesirable position, as it was household goods.

ECZEMA CURABLE? PROVEN!

ATTORNEY AT MOLINE, ILL., CONVINCED BY OIL OF WINTERGREEN COMPOUND.

There is nothing that will convince a lawyer except evidence.

Now here is some rather startling evidence of a simple home cure for eczema which convinced one lawyer, F. C. Enitken, attorney at Moline, Ill. He tells how oil of wintergreen compound mixed with thymol and glycerine as in D. D. D. Prescription, cured him in thirty days after thirty-two years of suffering.

"For 32 years," writes Attorney Enitken, "I was troubled with eczema, scales all over my face, body and head. I could run a hair brush over my body and the floor would be covered with scales enough to fill a basket. I tried everything—salves, internal medicine, X-Ray—all without result.

"Just a month ago I was advised to try D. D. D. Prescription. The itch was relieved instantly, so I continued. It is just a month now and I am completely cured. I have not a particle of itch and the scales have dropped off.

"I can only say again, CURE DISCOVERED. I am now starting all eczema sufferers on the right track."

For free sample bottle write to The D. D. D. Laboratory, Department N.B., 23 Jordan St., Toronto. For sale by all druggists.

THE JUNE BUSY MAN'S

The jolly vacation period is again at hand. In accordance with the spirit of the season Busy Man's Magazine for June is a splendidly illustrated Outing Number. It is brimful of bright, breezy contributions on the timely subject of a holiday. "The Proper Way to Spend a Vacation" and "Suburban Life for City People" will be perused with much interest. Another clever sketch is on "Canada the Summer Playground of America." Canadian articles of merit and instruction by such entertaining writers are "The Interpreter of Dr. Drummond's Poems," "The New Era of the Intercolonial Railway" and "A Day with Canada's Premier." There are half a dozen short, snappy stories, and the best selections from the leading publications of the world on home and business interests, which make the June edition of Busy Man's a welcome Summer guest. It is readable and diverting from cover to cover.

A JAPANESE STRAWBERRY OMELET

"A Japanese cook taught me the other day how to make a strawberry omelet," says Fannie Merritt Farmer in Woman's Home Companion for June. "Wash and pick over one pint of strawberries. Cut in halves, put in an earthen bowl, and add one third of a cupful of powdered sugar, one-half teaspoonful of vanilla, one tablespoonful of water and a few grains of salt. Let stand in a warm place fifteen minutes. Beat eight eggs slightly and add one half cupful of cream, two tablespoonfuls of sugar and one half teaspoonful of salt.

Put 1½ tablespoonfuls of butter in a hot omelet pan, and when melted pour in the egg mixture. As it cooks, prick and pick up with a fork until the whole is of a creamy consistency. Place on a hotter part of the range that it may brown quickly underneath. Before folding and turning on a hot platter add one half the prepared strawberries, sprinkle with two tablespoonfuls of powdered sugar and pour around the remaining strawberries. The strawberries may also be used with your ordinary French omelet recipe."

COW TESTING ASSOCIATIONS

Cow Progress.

The records of the cow testing associations show a large increase in the number of cows whose production, both as regards weight of milk and butterfat, is being noted regularly. It is no wonder that the plan appeals to the progressive dairymen of Canada, because record work must mean substantial improvement, and the improved herd is the herd that produces economically.

Since commencing records many farmers have been enabled to increase the yield of milk and fat per cow considerably, because instead of contentedly saying "so many cows so much milk", each individual is studied, and each member of the herd brought up to a good profit earning capacity. Herds that used to produce only 187 lbs. fat are now up to 220 lbs.; milk production has gone up from 4,850 lbs. to 6,380 lbs. In 1905 one herd averaged 5,374 lbs. milk, but in 1908 the owner had brought all up to 7,240 lbs. milk per cow. One member in 1903 keeping 9 cows obtained only 4,300 lbs. from each, but in 1908 with 11 cows he had an average yield of 7,000 lbs. milk. Cash receipts have increased with another member from $52 per cow in 1905, to $76 in 1908.

Instances might be multiplied, these few indicate what it means to the real dairy farmer who seeks improvement. Time spent in weighing and sampling is well spent; definite knowledge is obtained.

Keeping Children Well.

Every mother should be able to recognize and cure the minor ills that attack her little ones. Prompt action may prevent serious illness—perhaps save a little life. A simple, safe remedy in the home is therefore a necessity, and for this purpose there is nothing else so good as Baby's Own Tablets. They promptly cure all stomach and bowel troubles, destroy worms, break up colds, make teething easy and keep children healthy and cheerful. Mrs. Jos. Levesque, Casselman, Ont., says:—"I have used Baby's Own Tablets and have always found them satisfactory. My child has grown splendidly and is always good natured since I began using this medicine." Sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

CANADIAN FLEET AS AUXILIARY TO BRITISH NAVY.

The Dominion of Canada has finally decided to show her Imperial spirit by building a navy of her own, to act, should the occasion arise, as an auxiliary force to Great Britain's fleet. Her contribution to the forces of the Empire will consist of five first-class cruisers, ten torpedo boat destroyers and ten torpedo boats. The Government is prepared to pay one-fifth of the cost for laying down the whole fleet immediately, the other four-fifths to be guaranteed paid within the next five years. All the contracts for building the vessels will be made with British firms, and arrangements have already been made for building several of the torpedo boats and destroyers with the well-known firm of Hawthorn, Leslie and Coote, of Newcastle-on-Tyne. Mr. Arthur Coote, one of the directors of the firm, has been in Canada for the past few weeks going over specifications for different classes of vessels with the Hon. L. P. Brodeur, Minister of Marine and Fisheries, and the number, type, cost, speed, armament, draught and other details have been decided upon. The larger vessels will be built on the Tyne, but for the construction of the smaller craft a shipyard will be opened on the Great Lakes, probably at Collingwood, Ont. It is not stated positively how much the Government is prepared to spend, although Mr. Coote seems to think that between $2,000,000 and $3,000,000 a year for five years is a fair estimate.

Has Arguments Ready.

When the Hon. L. P. Brodeur leaves for England to represent the Dominion at the Imperial Defence Conference to be held in London in July, he will be accompanied by Rear-Admiral Kingsmill, of the Royal Navy, who is at present in command of Canadian Government revenue, lighthouse and buoy fleet, but who previously, was one of Britain's foremost officers of the line, and has a long well prepared argument showing reasons why Canada should have a navy of her own and why she should not contribute a Dreadnought or the funds for building one, to British's navy.

The First Vessels.

The first vessels will be built entirely in England, manned and armed there and brought to Canada. By that time it is intended that a Canadian Naval Reserve, drawn from the fishermen of Nova Scotia and New Brunswick will have been organized, which will go aboard these vessels and eventually receive sufficient training to man them with a nucleus crew of citizens and experts from the old country.

All Canada Navy.

Experienced workmen from the old country will also be brought out to give the shipbuilding yard on the lakes a start but these also will eventually be turned over altogether to Canadians.

The Hon. Mr. Brodeur expects to meet with considerable opposition to his plans when he arrives in the old country, but he is well prepared to show that what Canada requires is not a Dreadnought in the English Channel but a naval force devoted to coastal defence, a fleet which will guard the mouth of the St. Lawrence so well that no enemy's cruiser would care to haunt those waters, and that ships sailing to and from Canada could gain the blue water without molestation.

Mr. Coote's Opinion.

Mr. Coote, who is an experienced naval and shipbuilding man of more than ordinary ability, for he has sailed the sea of practical experience as well as labored over plans and designs of war vessels and guns, has just returned from Ottawa, where he had a long conference with the Minister of Marine. He thus describes his sentiments and intentions: "If Canada is to have a navy it must be one of her own. The proposal that we pay a cash contribution to the Royal Navy—let our defence out to contract, hire Englishmen to do our maritime fighting for us—has been discussed. The sense of the nation has turned decisively against it. There are 20,000 trained sailors on our Atlantic coast. Why should we not make use of some of them by raising a naval militia of several thousand? Let us start with the British nucleus but let us eventually have an all Canadian navy."

Beware of Ointments for Catarrh that Contain Mercury, as mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and completely derange the whole system when entering it through the mucous surfaces. One Pioneer Left.

Ninety-six years ago last August there landed on the banks of the Red river a little band of Scotch Highlanders, the vanguard of the Selkirk settlers. Other shiploads followed during the next few years. Many explorers, missionaries, hunters and adventurers had entered the country before them, but these were the earliest settlers, the very first white men that came to what is now Western Canada to establish homes, to possess the land and till the soil. The death in Toronto a few days ago of John Mackay, at the age of ninety-four, leaves one survivor of the original Selkirk settlers now living, Miss Matheson, the aunt of the Archbishop. This venerable lady, who resides near St. Andrews, was born on the Atlantic, during the four months' voyage of the Haddow, the ship which in 1815 brought out one of the parties of the Selkirk settlers. How important an event the founding of the Selkirk settlement was, the world is only now beginning to realize; and as years go on, the memory of those heroic pioneers will be held in ever greater honor.—Manitoba Free Press.

Haunts of Bruin.

As a big game district the Squamish Valley in British Columbia is getting a reputation this fall and winter that bids fair to outclass even that of the Kootenay and Atlin districts—at least for bear and deer-shooting. To many people the fact that there are grizzly bears in the Squamish Valley will come as a surprise. But it is true, nevertheless, and the hides of two grizzlies are in Vancouver right now as proof. One is of a she bear that weighed over 500 pounds, the other one of her cubs, and tipped the scales at 220 pounds. The cub's coat is in fine condition, but there was a lot of long, unshed, last season's hair on the older bear. The nimrods who got these two intend organizing a party soon and going back to the same locality, where it is believed several other grizzly cubs and the mate of the she bear may be secured.

Since last fall considerably over one hundred black bear have been killed in the comparatively limited area of the lower Squamish Valley. This is no "bear story," but a statement that well-known Squamish residents say can be proved by actual figures.

TOWN COUNCIL.

Council Chambers.
Napanee, June 7th, 1909.

Council met in regular session on Monday evening, Mayor Simpson presiding.

Members present—Reeve Ruttan, Councillors Gibbard, Bogart, Burrows and Steacy.

The minutes of the last regular meeting were read and confirmed.

COMMUNICATIONS.

From Mr. Arthur Plumley, complaining of the open drain running past his house, and agreeing to cover same if the town would furnish old plank. Referred to the Street Committee with power to act.

From Mrs. L. E. Forward, asking the Council for a cement walk in front of her property. As the property is in Richmond, she is willing to pay the full cost of same.

On motion the request was granted on condition that Mrs. Forward pay the full amount for the walk in front of her property on Piety Hill, and she to pay half of the amount of the four or five feet inside the corporation.

PETITIONS.

From A. W. Grange, R. C. Cartwright, J. F. Walsh, T. Jamieson, Thos. Symington, A. J. Dunbar, F. E. VanLuven, Electa B. Grange, T. S. Henry, G. H. Cowan, L. J. Lockwood, A. Price, M. N. Hawley, F. S. Boyes, Alex. Lafferty, H. Warner, F. S. Richardson, Mary Ann Wheeler: We do hereby petition the Municipal Council of the Town of Napanee to construct a ten-inch tile sewer on John Street in the Town of Napanee, along the centre of said street, and extending from the premises of the Grand Trunk Railway System on the north to connect with the tile sewer on said John street already constructed to the corner of Thomas street, to be in accordance with the McLean Plan, and your petitioners do severally agree with the said Municipal Council to pay such portion of the two-thirds cost of the said sewer as their respective frontage upon said street opposite said sewer bears to the total length of said sewer, the Corporation of the Town of Napanee to pay the balance of said cost, and your petitioners do further severally agree that the said cost of said sewer so payable by them be specially assessed against the said lands fronting the said sewer so to be constructed and to be payable by them in the same manner as taxes, and to be due and payable forthwith upon completion of said sewer. Your petitioners do hereby further certify that for the purpose of the assessment as aforesaid the lands owned by us fronting on said street extend along said street the length set opposite our respective names.

And your petitioners as in duty bound will ever pray.

Laid on table.

From John W. Hambly, D. L. Greene and Mrs. L. M. Vandewater, asking for a cement walk in front of their property on Centre St., on the usual terms. Laid on the table.

REPORTS.

The Finance Committee presented the Treasurer's Report for the month of May, as follows:

Committee	Appropriation 1909	Amount expended	Balance on hand
Streets	$7,100 00	$1393 15	$5706 85
Fire, Water and Light	6,400 00	1267 31	5132 69

Councillor Gibbard, Chairman of the Fire, Water and Light Committee, spoke regarding the advantages of exchanging the steam fire engine for a chemical engine. He asked the members of the Council to think the matter over seriously, as it would likely come up before long.

A communication was received from Mr. Frank H. Perry, asking to be appointed Collector of Taxes for the ensuing year. Ordered filed.

A by-law regarding the licensing of dogs, and running at large of same, was given its second and third readings, signed, sealed, numbered and finally passed.

A deputation was present from The Napanee Canoe Club, asking that an electric light be placed on VanLuven's dock. On motion the matter was referred to the Electric Light Commissioners, with a recommendation that they comply with the request.

Coun. Burrows, Chairman of the Streets Committee, reported that Chief-of-Police J. J. Graham told him that out of a list of twenty-one persons owing for cement walks, that only one offered to pay.

Moved by Coun. Gibbard, seconded by Coun. Burrows, that the list be handed to the Town Solicitor for collection. Carried.

Moved by Reeve Ruttan, seconded by Coun. Burrows, that no granolithic walks be built until the proper contract is signed and brought before the Council. Carried.

Moved by Coun. Bogart, seconded by Coun. Gibbard, that the Collector be instructed to return the Collector's Roll of 1908 to the Clerk on or before the 17th inst., and that the Solicitor proceed to collect at once all arrears of taxes so that the Collector's Roll for 1909 will be placed in the hands of the Collector before the first day of July, 1909. Cd.

HEALTHY PLANTS

Require the Most Careful Attention as Well as Good Soil.

Did you ever see a rosebush which—despite the most beneficent environment of soil—of sunshine—and of atmosphere,—seemed never to achieve a healthy growth.

A ton of manure will not help a plant that has a canker eating out its heart.

You must destroy the cause before you can remove the effect.

You cannot cure Dandruff and Baldness by rubbing on hair lotions, and rubbing in vaseline, etc.

You must look to the cause of the trouble—it's a germ at the roots of your hair which causes it to fall out.

JUNE WEDDINGS.

When we think of weddings, of course we immediately think of flowers. The Dale Estate, Florists, are making special prices for this month, in their fine assortment of Orchids. The Medical Hall.—Fred. L. Hooper, Agent, Napanee.

If a debt is due to any Canadian soldiers for service rendered in the Boer war, let it be paid. Let valour receive its due reward and honours. But as a community, in putting up a public monument to the war we do ourselves a wrong. The war was made by intrigue for a sinister purpose. The statement of its cause on our Parliamentary record is a falsehood. This the authors of the war have never dared to deny. Let us put up what monument we will, history will write the inscription. Besides, the Boers are now our fellow-citizens, and entitled to the protection of the noble old Roman adage that over fellow-citizens there can be no triumph.

LENNOX AND ADDINGTON FIRE INSURANCE COMPANY

Change in the Office of the Lennox and Addington Mutual Fire Insurance Company

Mr. M. C. Bogart, who has been intimately connected with and served the Company so acceptably for a long period, having decided to make a trip to Europe this summer and expects to be away for some time, has, very much to the regret of the Directors and policyholders, tendered his resignation as Secretary. Mr. F. C. Bogart has also resigned the office of Treasurer.

While the Directors are sorry to lose such efficient officers, they consider it very necessary in the interests of the Company to keep the office open as usual for the accommodation of the policyholders and others, who may have business with the Company. Therefore, under the circumstances, they could not do otherwise than accept the resignations.

The Directors have therefore combined the two offices of Secretary and Treasurer, and appointed Mr. Manly Jones to the position.

The street entrance to the office will be the same as heretofore and policy-holders and others having business with the Company on ascending the stairs will take the right hand door to the office, where they will find Mr. Jones who will attend to them the same courtesy and attention as has been done heretofore.

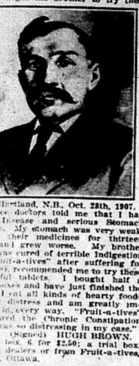
BROTHER TOLD BROTHER

One Suffered for Fifteen Years, the Other for Thirteen.

The convincing powers of a testimonial were never more clearly shown than in the case of Mr. Hugh Brown. A brother, Lemuel Brown, of Avondale, N.B., read in the paper about Hon. John Costigan being cured by "Fruit-a-tives." Knowing the Senator would only endorse a medicine which had cured him, Mr. Lemuel Brown tried "Fruit-a-tives." They cured him of Chronic Indigestion and Constipation, and he urged his brother to try them.



Hartland, N.B., Oct. 28th, 1907.

"Three doctors told me that I had Liver Disease and serious Stomach Trouble. My stomach was very weak. I took their medicines for thirteen years and I grew worse. My brother (who was cured of terrible Indigestion by "Fruit-a-tives" after suffering for 15 years), recommended me to try these wonderful tablets. I bought half a dozen boxes and have just finished the sixth. I eat all kinds of hearty foods without distress and am greatly improved in every way. "Fruit-a-tives" also cured the Chronic Constipation which was so distressing in my case."

The Two Vanrevels

By BOOTH TARKINGTON,

Author of "The Gentleman From Indiana" and "Monsieur Beaucaire"

Copyright, 1902, by S. S. McClure Co.

Nelson rolled his eyes fervently to heaven. "Dess dat young man run pintedly on' he death! Ef you want keep us all dis side er de Jawdan rivuh don' let him set foot in dis neighbo'hood when yo' pa come back! An', honey"—his voice sank to a penetrating whisper—"'fo' I do a lick er wu'k I goin' out in de stable an' git down on my knees an' retu'n thanksgivin' to de good God 'case he hole Carewe street in de dahkness las' night!"

This was the speech he chose for his exit, but after closing the door behind him he opened it again and said cheerfully:

"Soon's I git de trunk fix f' yo' pa I bring 'roun' dat bay colt wid de sidesaddle. Yo' better set 'bout gittin' on yo' ridin' habit, missy. De roads is mighty good dis sunshiny wedduh."

"Nelson."

"Yes'm."

"Do you think such an attack as father had this morning—is—dangerous?"

He had hoped for another chance to laugh violently before he left her, and this completely fitted his desire. "Ho, ho, ho!" he shouted. "No'm; no, no, honey! He jass git so mad it mek him sick! You couldn't kill dat man wid a broadax, missy!"

And he went down the hall leaving the reverberations of his hilarity behind him. The purpose of his visit had been effected, for when Miss Betty appeared upon the horse block in her green habit and gauntlets she was smiling, so that only a woman—or a wise old man—could have guessed that she had wept bitterly that morning.

She cantered out to the flat, open country to the east, where she found soft dirt roads that were good for the bay colt's feet, and she reached a crossroad several miles from town before she was overcome by the conviction that she was a wicked and ungrateful girl. She could not place the exact spot of her guilt, but she knew it was there, somewhere, since she felt herself a guilty thing.

For the picture which Nelson had drawn rose before her—the one man standing alone in his rage on the platform, overwhelmed by his calm young adversary, beaten and made the butt of laughter for a thousand. Her father had been in the wrong in that quarrel, and somehow she was sure, too, he must have been wrong in the "personal" one as well—the mysterious difficulty over Fanchon's Mr. Gray, who had looked so ashamed last night. What feud could they make over him, of all people in the world? He looked strong enough to take care of his own quarrels, even if he was so rigorously bound by Fanchon's apron string when it came to a word with another girl.

But the conclusion that her father had been in error did not lessen the pathetic appeal of the solitary figure facing the ridicule of the crowd. She felt that he always honestly believed himself in the right. She knew that he was vain; that he had an almost monstrous conception of his dignity, and realizing the bitterness of that public humiliation which he had undergone she understood the wrath, the unspeakable pain and sense of outrage which must have possessed him.

And now she was letting him go forth upon a journey, his way beset with the chances of illness and accident, whence he might never return. She was letting him go without seeing him again, letting him go with no word of farewell from his daughter. In brief, she was a wicked girl. She turned the colt's head abruptly to the west and touched his flanks with her whip.

So it fell out that as the packet foamed its passage backward from Carewe's wharf into the current the owner of the boat, standing upon the hurricane deck, heard a cry from the shore and turned to behold his daughter dash down to the very end of the wharf on the well lathered colt. Miss Betty's hair was blown about her face, her cheeks were rosy, her eager eyes sparkling from more than the hard riding.

"Papa," she cried, "I'm sorry!"

She leaned forward out of the saddle, extending her arms to him appealingly in a charming gesture and, absolutely ignoring the idlers on the wharf and the passengers on the steamer, was singly intent upon the tall figure on the hurricane deck. "Papa, goodby. Please forgive me!"

"By the Almighty, but that's a fine woman!" said the captain of the boat to a passenger from Rouen. "Is she his daughter?"

"Please forgive me!" the clear voice came again, with its quaver of entreaty, across the widening water, and then as Mr. Carewe made no sign by word or movement of hearing her and stood without the slightest alteration of his attitude she cried to him once more:

"Goodby!"

The paddle wheels reversed, the boat swung down the river, Mr. Carewe still standing immovable on the hurricane deck, while to the eyes of those on the steamer the figure on the bay colt at the end of the wharf began to grow smaller and smaller. She was waving her handkerchief in farewell, and they could see the little white speck in the distance, dimmer and dimmer, yet fluttering still as they passed out of sight round the bend nearly three-quarters of a mile below.

CHAPTER IX.

Betty never forgot her first sight of the old friend of her family. Returning with a sad heart, she was walking the colt slowly through the carriage gates when an extravagantly stout lady in green muslin, illustrated with huge red flowers, came out upon the porch and waved a fat arm to the girl. The visitor wore a dark green turban and a cashmere shawl, while the expanse of her skirts was nothing short of magnificent. Some cathedral dome seemed to have been misplaced and the lady dropped into it. Her outstretched hand terrified Betty. How was she to approach near enough to take it?

Mrs. Tanberry was about sixty, looked forty, and at first you might have guessed she weighed nearly 300, but the lightness of her smile and the actual buoyancy which she somehow imparted to her whole dominion lessened that by at least a hundredweight. She ballooned out to the horse block with a billowy rush somewhere between bounding and soaring, and Miss Betty slid down from the colt, who shied violently, to find herself enveloped, in spite of the dome, in a vast surf of green and red muslin.

"My charming girl!" exclaimed the lady vehemently in a voice of such husky richness, of such merriment and unction of delight, that it fell upon Miss Betty's ear with more of the quality of sheer gayety than any she had ever heard. "Beautiful child! What a beautiful child you are!"

She kissed the girl resoundingly on both cheeks, stepped back from her and laughed and clapped her fat hands, which were covered with flashing rings. "Oh, but you are a true blue beauty! You're a princess! I am Mrs. Tanberry, Jane Tanberry, young Janie Tanberry. I haven't seen you since you were a baby and your pretty mother was a girl like us!"

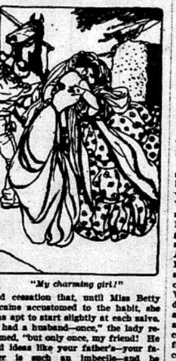
"You are so kind to come," said Betty hesitatingly. "I shall try to be very obedient."

"Obedient!" Mrs. Tanberry uttered the word with a shriek. "You'll be nothing of the kind. I am the light mindedest woman in the universe, and any one who obeyed me would be embroiled in everlasting trouble every second in the day. You'll find that I am the one that needs looking after, my charmer."

She tapped Miss Betty's cheek with her jeweled fingers as the two mounted the veranda steps. "It will be worry enough for you to obey yourself. A body sees that at the first blush. You have conscience in your forehead and rebellion in your chin. Ha, ha, ha!" Here Mrs. Tanberry sat upon and obliterated a large chair, Miss Carewe taking a stool at her knee.

"People of our age oughtn't to be bothered with obeying. There'll be time enough for that when we get old and can't enjoy anything. Ha, ha!"

Mrs. Tanberry punctuated her observations with short volleys of husky laughter, so abrupt in both discharge and cessation that, until Miss Betty became accustomed to the habit, she was apt to start slightly at each salvo. "I had a husband—once," the lady resumed, "but only once, my friend! He had ideas like your father's—your father is such an imbecile—and he thought that wives, sisters, daughters and such like ought to be obedient—that is, the rest of the world was wrong unless it was right, and right was just his own little teeny squeeny prejudices and emotions dressed up for a crazy masquerade as facts. Poor man! He lasted only about a year!" And Mrs. Tanberry laughed heartily.



"My charming girl!"

"They've been at me time and again to take another." She lowered her voice and leaned toward Betty confidentially. "Not I! I'd be willing to engage myself to Crailey Gray (though Crailey hasn't got round to me yet), for I don't mind just being engaged, my dear, but they'll have to invent something better than a man before I marry any one of 'em again! But I love 'em, I do, the charming Billies! And you'll see how they follow me!" She patted the girl's shoulder, her small eyes beaming quizzically. "We'll have the gayest house in Rouen, ladybird! The young men all go to the Bareauds', but they'll come here now, and we'll have the Bareauds along with 'em. I've been away a long time; just finished unpacking yesterday night when your father came in after the fire. Whoo! What a state he was in, with that temper of his! Didn't I snap him up when he asked me to come and stay with you? Ha, ha! I'd have come even if you hadn't been beautiful, but I was wild to be your playmate, for I'd heard nothing but 'Miss Betty Carewe, Miss Betty Carewe,' from everybody I saw since the minute my stage came in. You set 'em all mad at your ball, and I know we'll make a glorious bonfire, you and I! Some of the vagabonds will turn up this very evening, [illegible] if they don't. Ha, ha! The way they follow me!"

Mrs. Tanberry was irresistible. She filled the whole place otherwise than by the mere material voluminousness of her, bubbling over with froth of nonsense which flew through the house, driven by her energy, like sea foam on a spring gale, and the day, so discordantly begun for Miss Betty, grew musical with her own laughter, answering the husky staccato of the vivacious newcomer. Nelson waited upon them at table, radiant, his smile like the keyboard of an ebony piano, and his disappearances into the kitchen were accomplished by means of a surreptitious double shuffle and followed by the cachinnating echoes of the vain Mamie's reception of the visitor's sallies, which Nelson hastily retailed in passing.

Nor was Mrs. Tanberry's prediction allowed to go unfulfilled regarding the advent of those persons whom she had designated as vagabonds. It may have been out of deference to Mr. Carewe's sense of decorum or from a cautious regard of what he was liable to do when he considered that sense outraged that the gallants of Rouen had placed themselves under the severe restraint of allowing three days to elapse after their introduction to Miss Carewe before they "paid their respects at the house;" but, be that as it may, the dictator was now safely under way down the Rouen river, and Mrs. Tanberry reigned in his stead. Thus, at about 8 o'clock that evening, the two ladies sat in the library engaged in conversation, though, for the sake of accuracy, it should be said that Mrs. Tanberry was engaged in conversation, Miss Betty in giving ear, when their attention was arrested by sounds of a somewhat musical nature from the lawn, which sounds were immediately identified as emanating from a flute and violin.

Mrs. Tanberry bounded across the room like a public building caught by a cyclone, and, dashing at the candles, "Blow 'em out, blow 'em out!" she exclaimed, suiting the action to the word in a fluster of excitement.

"Why?" asked Miss Carewe, startled, as she rose to her feet. The candles were out before the question.

"Why!" repeated the merry, husky voice in the darkness. "My goodness, child precious, those vagabonds are here! To think of your never having been serenaded before!"

She drew the girl to the window and pointed to a group of dim figures near the lilac bushes. "The dear, delightful vagabonds!" she chuckled. "I knew they'd come! It's the beautiful Tappingham Marsh with his fiddle and young Jeff Bareaud with his flute and 'Gene Madrillon and little Frank Chenoweth and thin Will Cummings to sing. Hark to the rascals!"

It is perfectly truthful to say that the violin and flute executed the prelude, and then the trio sounded full on the evening air, the more effective chords obligingly drawn out as long as the breath in the singers could hold them in order to allow the two fair auditors complete benefit of the harmony. They sang "The Harp That Once Through Tara's Halls" and followed it with "Long, Long Ago."

"That," Mrs. Tanberry whispered between stifled gusts of almost uncontrollable laughter, "is meant for just me."

"Tell me the tales that to me were so dear," entreated the trio.

"I told 'em plenty," gurgled the enlivening widow, "and I expect between us we can get up some more."

"Now you are come my grief is removed," they sang.

"They mean your father is on his way to St. Louis," remarked Mrs. Tanberry.

"Let me forget that so long you have roved,
Let me believe that you love as you loved
Long, long ago, long ago."

"Applaud, applaud!" whispered Mrs. Tanberry, encouraging the minstrels by a hearty clapping of hands.

Then the candles were relit and the serenaders invited within. Nelson came bearing cake and wine, and the house was made merry. Presently the romp, Virginia Bareaud, making her appearance on the arm of General Trumble, Mrs. Tanberry led them all in a hearty game of blind man's buff, followed by as hearty a dancing of Dan Tucker. After that, a quadrille being proposed, Mrs. Tanberry suggested that Jefferson should run home and bring Fanchon for the fourth lady. However, Virginia explained that she had endeavored to persuade both her sister and Mr. Gray to accompany the general and herself, but that Mr. Gray had complained of indisposition, having suffered greatly from headache on account of inhaling so much smoke at the warehouse fire, and, of course, Fanchon would not leave him. (Miss Carewe permitted herself the slightest shrug of the shoulders.)

So they danced the quadrille with Jefferson at the piano and Mr. Marsh performing in the character of a lady, a proceeding most unacceptable to the general, whom Mrs. Tanberry forced to be his partner. And thus the evening passed gayly away. Tappingham Marsh spoke the truth, indeed, when he exclaimed in parting, "Oh, having Mrs. Tanberry!"

But the [illegible]

"My lady's hair,
That dark delight,
Is both as fair
And dusk as night.
I know some lovelorn hearts that beat
In time to moonbeam twinkling feet,
That dance and glance like jewels there,
Emblazoning the raven hair.

"Ah, raven hair,
So dark and bright!
What love lies there
Enmeshed tonight?
I know some sighing lads that say
Their hearts were snared and torn away,
And now as pearls one fate they share
Entangled in the raven hair.

"Ah, raven hair,
From such a plight
Could you not spare
One acolyte?
I know a broken heart that went
To serve you but as ornament.
Alas, a ruby now you wear,
Ensanguining the raven hair!"

The song had grown fainter and fainter, the singer moving away as he sang, and the last lines were almost inaudible in the distance. The guitar could be heard for a moment or two more, then silence came again. It was broken by a rustling in the room next to Miss Betty's, and Mrs. Tanberry called softly through the open door:

"Princess, are you awake? Did you hear that serenade?"

After a pause the answer came hesitatingly in a small, faltering voice: "Yes—if it was one. I thought perhaps he was only singing as he passed along the street."

"Aha!" ejaculated Mrs. Tanberry abruptly, as though she had made an unexpected discovery. "You knew better, and this was a serenade that you did not laugh at. Beautiful, I wouldn't let it go any further, even while your father is gone. Something might occur that would bring him home without warning. Such things have happened. Tom Vanrevel ought to be kept far away from this house."

"Oh, it was not he," returned Miss Betty quickly. "It was Mr. Gray. Did not you"—

The following is the report of the Grand Jury:

To His Honor Judge Price, presiding at the General Sessions of the Peace for the County of Lennox and Addington, for the sittings beginning the 8th of June, 1909:—

We, the Grand Jurors, beg leave to report as follows:

1st.—That we congratulate your Honor on your apparent good health and trust that you may live long to fill the exalted position you hold as Judge of our County Court.

2d.—That we have examined the jail and find six prisoners confined therein, and that we found the jail clean and well kept, and found there was no fault found by any of the prisoners confined therein.

All of which we respectfully submit

MAPLE AVENUE

A number of the farmers here have finished their spring seeding and planting, and are able to have a day's outing for the benefit of their health.—Mrs. David Snider spent a few days last week with her daughter, Mrs. Ralph Burgess, Odessa.—A very large number attended the camp meeting on Sunday, and report a lively time.—Mr. and Mrs. James Hogle spent last Friday with their daughter at Hartington.—The Misses Snider, Odessa, with their sister.—Mrs. T. Sharp and daughter Lena visited their old home one day last week.—Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Boice spent Sunday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Levi Snider.—Mr. Nelson O'Neil and Mr. Benson Snider and family spent Tuesday at the bay, fishing.—Mr. Denis Lucas was called to the bedside of his father, who is seriously ill in Kingston, with no hope for recovery.—Mr. and Mrs. Benson Snider have gone to Sydenham to spend a few days with friends.—Mrs. Burgess, East End Maple Avenue, spent Tuesday with her daughter, Mrs. Elgin Parrott, York Road.

MOUNTAIN GROVE.

The sad news reached the village of the death of Percy Abbott, a very bright young man, he being the only son of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Abbott, Peterboro', formerly of this place.—Miss Sanderson is still unable to take charge of her school here, with a severe attack of rheumatism.—Last Sunday being flower Sunday in the Sunday School, the church was nicely decorated for the the day. The children were delighted and gave solos, recitations, etc., which made it very interesting for the superintendent and teachers.—We hope the next drafting will be in favor of Mr. Richmond staying with us, as Mr. and Mrs. Richmond have gained the good favor of their many friends here.—Mr. Wm. Miller and Tom Stincombe took a business trip to Horse Shoe Lake last week.—Mrs. J. R. Moore spent a few days last week with her daughter.—Mrs. Eddie Uens, and Mr. and Mrs. Herb Smith, Sharbot Lake, at Wm. Moore's.—Mr. and Mrs. Richard Crozier visited her sister, Mrs. Wm. Miller.—The Sunday School purposes holding a picnic on Dominion Day. Come and have a good time.

If you wish to put paint on your kitchen floor that will dry hard quickly, wear well and have a varnish gloss, use the "Prism Brand". There is nothing better in the market. The Medical Hall.—Fred. L. Hooper, Agent, Napanee.

COOL SHIRTS
—FOR—SUMMER WEAR

We not only claim superiority for our Shirts, but we aim to fit our patrons. The quality of a Shirt counts for but little, if it does not fit.

We've shirts for men of all sizes. The tall man with long arms and long neck, or the short thick man with short arms and short neck can be fitted fully as well here, as the man of average size.

We are very particular in buying our working men's Shirts, and always carry from 6 to 10 different patterns to sell at 50c, and at 75c and $1.00 we sell the best wearing Shirts made. If you want a shirt for long service come to our store for it.

We carry the largest stock of English Print Shirts shown by any store in this section. Prices for these Shirts range from 75c to $1.50 and $2.00.

Boy's Shirts and Shirt Waists in fancy print, all sizes, at 50c and 75c.

SUMMER HATS—In all styles of straw, linen or Panama, from 50c up. We have just received our New York Sailors, which is the most dressy hat worn, and the New York blocks are always the best.

In light weight underwear we are showing the genuine French Balbriggan at 50c. Also Canadian Balbriggan at 35 per garment, and Combination at $1.00. Light Wool at 75c and $1.00.

We are very particular the kind of Underwear we sell and you can always depend on the wearing qualities when you buy from us.

ROYAL SHOE STORE.

S. G. HAWLEY, Manager

—Mr. C. H. Finkle's auto-stage started on its route from Newburgh to Kingston via Napanee on Monday. A new engine has been installed in same and it works very nicely now.

—A by-law was passed at the meeting of the Town Council on Monday evening compelling the owners of all dogs to register the same and get a tag from the Town Treasurer, on or before July 1st in each year.

William Morton Fullerton, an American journalist long resident in Paris, is the author of an illuminating article upon "The Crisis of the State in France," reprinted in THE LIVING AGE for June 12th, from the National Review, which will assist American readers to a clearer comprehension of French conditions which give rise to incidents as the recent postal strike.

—The residents on John Street petitioned the Council on Monday evening for a sewer to run from the Grand Trunk Railway station to connect with the sewer already constructed at Thomas Street. A local improvement by-law is soon to be introduced at the Council Board and it is probably that the petition will lay on the table until then. It is very important to the town that this by-law should be put in force as soon as possible, as any ratepayer can now block any public improvement of this kind.

—The residents of Clarksville are being continuously troubled at night by dogs, and the nuisance is about at the limit now. It is said that there is not one dog registered in the neighborhood, and for fear that one might not be sufficient in one family, as many as two are kept. The howling and barking is started at an hour when people want to rest, and they are thus broken of their sleep. If people owning dogs cannot or will not take care of them, there will be some police court proceedings very shortly. This warning should be sufficient.

—At the Anniversary services in the Presbyterian church on Sunday, Mrs. (Dr.) Lockridge will take the organ, and Miss Cairns will sing morning and evening.

—If you wish to sell, buy or rent a farm, put an advertisement in The Beaver. This is the season when people are looking after farms, and everybody will know about it if you use these columns.

Making people "see" correctly is an important part of our business. We carry the very best in spectacle-wares. Your eyes tested free and satisfaction guaranteed, at The Medical Hall.—Fred. L. Hooper.

A. S. Kimmerly has a full stock Early Leaming, Southern Sweet, Stowell's Evergreen, White Cap, Dent and all other varieties Seed Corn. Choice Golden Millet and Seed Buckwheat. Bran and Shorts. We want Eggs and have been paying 17½c. per doz. cash. Good Flour $3.00.

—Mr. W. A. Oliver met with quite a serious accident on Thursday morning, at Gerow's cheese factory, Palace Road. While unloading some milk cans one fell off the wagon and frightened the team which ran away. He was thrown from the wagon and was badly shaken up, and both legs were severely bruised.

A young man proposes to a girl—that is his business. She accepts—that is her business. They get married—that is their business. They wanting the best goods and having the cash, buy all their groceries from us. We give them 10 to 20 per cent. off regular prices, and 4 lbs. of the largest new raisins for 25c—that is our business.

NEWMAN-LIVINGSTON CO.

—Mr. W. J. Foster is making extensive improvements in the premises opposite The Beaver office, which he will open up as Wonderland in a week or ten days. The entrance is being enlarged and the picture machine will be in the back of the hall, thus ensuing a safe exit. The hall will be very attractive both inside and out, and will be more inviting than the present premises.

—Spend Dominion Day in Napanee. Marathon races, horse races, baseball match, etc.

—The motor-bus took nineteen passengers into Kingston on Wednesday, and brought twenty out.

—Sacrament of the Lord's Supper will be dispensed in St. Andrew's Presbyterian church, Tamworth, on Sunday morning, June 13th, at 11 o'clock.

—Cheese is a little higher this week than last. In Stirling on Tuesday it sold for 11⅛c., and at Campbellford, the same day, it brought 11⅛c.

—The boys are taking great interest in running, and every night a number of them are speeding in the park. Some are showing remarkably good form.

—Mr. John Finley, who escaped from Napanee jail about two weeks ago, was sentenced for six months for vagrancy. He had served two months of his term.

—The Churchwoman's Guild of the Church of St. Mary Magdalene will hold a strawberry festival on the lawn of Mr. Herrington's residence, this month. See papers for particulars and date.

—Mrs. Ephie Clark will offer for sale at her brother's, W. A. Asselstine, Asselstine's Hill, a quantity of bedding, carpets, and other household effects on the 22d and 23d of June, at private sale.

—The Napanee Citizens' Band will play this Friday evening at the club house of the Napanee Canoe Club, across the swing bridge, instead of in the Harvey Warner park. The first of the series of races will take place.

—Alexander Dowie McRossie, formerly of Napanee, Ont., Can., died suddenly June 6th, 1909, at his late residence, 407 3d Street, Brooklyn, N.Y., from cerebial haemorrhage. Interment on Tuesday, June 8th, at Springfield, Mass.

—The sports at the Napanee Driving Park on Dominion Day, July 1st, will be away above the average this year. $700.00 or $800.00 in prizes for horse races, marathon races and baseball match. Make up your mind now to come to Napanee for our national holiday.

—Messrs. Perry Brown and Blake Moore, of Hay Bay, unloaded their new threshing separator last Thursday. It is a New White Challenge with hinged blower, and was purchased from The Geo. White & Sons Co., London, Ont., through their local agent, C. A. Wiseman.

—Mr. Robert Vance, of Watertown, N.Y., formerly of Napanee, expects to go on the road again this summer with his "Little World", and contemplates visiting Napanee. Mr. Vance has made many improvements in this wonderful bit of mechanism since last exhibited in Napanee, and his many friends here will be pleased to see his smiling face in our midst again.

HIS GRACE ARCHBISHOP GAUTHIER CLOSES THE MISSION AT NAPANEE.

On Sunday evening last St. Patrick's church was thronged with people; numbers of men had to be placed within the altar rails in order to permit standing room in the aisles and rear of the church.

The occasion of this great gathering was the closing of the Mission, which had been preached during the last eight days, by Rev. Father Ethelbert, Franciscan Friar of Montreal. The closing service began by exposition of the Most Blessed Sacrament for which the altar had been arranged most tastefully,—decorated with flowers and ablaze with lights. The Rev. Father spoke on the real Presence. He showed how our Divine Lord promised to give us His flesh as food, and how, on the eve of His death, He fulfilled His promise and instituted the Most Holy Sacrament of the Eucharist. In concluding a masterly discourse of Catholic faith in the Blessed Eucharist, the Rev. Father exhorted all the faithful to make sure the effect of their good resolutions by frequent reception of Holy Communion.

After Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament, His Grace, the Archbishop, gave the Papal Blessing. He then addressed the congregation briefly. He spoke first in a most touching manner of the death of His Grace, the Archbishop of Ottawa, Monseignor Duhamel, alluding to the deceased Prelate as a great Bishop and one imbued with a true spirit of piety and zeal. Then, referring to the sudden way in which death had overtaken his beloved friend, Archbishop Gauthier asked the prayers of the whole congregation for the repose of his soul. His Grace then went on to speak of the Mission. He thanked the Rev. Father Ethelbert for his untiring energy and priestly zeal and said he felt he was voicing the sentiments of the Congregation when he promised the Rev. Father that his eloquence and kindly charity would long live in the hearts and minds of the people of Napanee. "But," continued His Grace, "if you would obtain all the fruits of the labors of the Rev. Father, there are two things I would ask of you, 'Do not trust in yourselves and do trust in Almighty God,' then shall you keep your good resolutions and the work of the good Missionary Father shall not have been in vain."

The Mission was extremely well attended, large numbers of Protestants being present every night. The doctrinal explanations given by Rev. Father were closely followed and much appreciated by all his non-Catholic hearers, and it is safe to say that they, as well as all his Catholic friends of Napanee, will long keep his memory green.

DOMINION DAY AT NAPANEE.

Sports have been held at the Napanee Driving Park on Dominion Day for the last twenty years, and this year the Committee intend putting on a good programme. $700.00 or $800.00 in prizes will be given for horse races, a baseball match will be played between Kingston and Napanee, and the Napanee Amateur Athletic Association will put on some marathon races of different distances, open to all. The Citizens' Band, of Picton, will run an excursion from that town by steamer Brockville, and no doubt other boats will also run excursions. 24b

QUIET WEDDING.

A very pretty wedding was solemnized at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Hall on Wednesday, June 9th, when their youngest daughter, Marguerite, was united in marriage with Geo. W. Gibbard, son of our townsman, W. T. Gibbard, of Gibbard Furniture Co. None but the immediate relatives of the contracting parties were present. The home was delicately decorated with palms and flowers. The bride looked charming as she entered the room on the arm of her father, carrying a large shower bouquet of roses festooned with lilies of the valley. The wedding march was rendered in consort on pianos by Miss Luella Hall and Miss Pringle, of Belleville, cousin of the bride. The ceremony was performed by Rev. G. W. McCall. On their return from the wedding trip, the young couple will settle in their beautiful home on East st., in the midst of their own friends and well-wishers. They were both born in Napanee, spent their lives here, were both active in church life and interested in the welfare of all young people. The promise of life before them is hopeful and hosts will extend hearty congratulations and hope that the joys of life may be theirs.

GOLF.

DEATH OF GEO. E. CARSCALLEN.

At six o'clock Tuesday evening, May 25th, Geo. E. Carscallen died at his home one mile south of Osnabrock, in his 66th year. Deceased was born near Kingston, Ont., on March 10th, 1844. In 1876 he was united in marriage to Miss Ordelia Phillips, at Belleville, Ont., who survives him. Of their five children, there are left to mourn the loss of a kind and loving father, Arthur, the eldest son, is a missionary in British East Africa, Amos, who lives in Bowman County, N.D., and Mary, at Marmouth, N.D., who, with her mother, was at his bedside during his last days of earthly life. Mr. Carscallen and family moved to the present home near Osnabrock in 1896, and had gained a wide circle of friends and acquaintances, who had found in him a good neighbor and friend, always honorable and upright in his dealings with his fellow men, a truly christian gentleman with a firm and abiding faith in Christ and His teachings. Mr. Carscallen received a paralytic stroke over a year ago, since which time his hold upon this life gradually became more feeble until the end, which was as peaceful as his life had been, and with no fear of death at any time he went forth to meet it, armed and ready. The remains were interred in the Union cemetery at Osnabrock, and the funeral was attended by a large number of friends and relatives.—Osnabrock Independent, Osnabrock, N. D.

Let Me Tell You Something

A woman who is sick and suffering, and won't at least try a medicine which has the record of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, is to blame for her own wretched condition.

There are literally hundreds of thousands of women in Canada and the United States who have been benefited by this famous old remedy, which was produced from roots and herbs over thirty years ago by a woman to relieve woman's suffering.

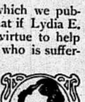
Read what these women say:

Belleriver, Que.—"Without Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I would not be alive. For five months I had painful irregular periods and inflammation of the uterus. I suffered like a martyr and thought often of death. I consulted two doctors who could do nothing for me. I went to a hospital, and the best doctors said I must submit to an operation, because I had a tumor. I went back home much discouraged. One of my cousins advised me to take your Compound, as it had cured her. I did so and soon commenced to feel better, and my appetite came back with the first bottle. Now I feel no pain and am cured. Your remedy is deserving of praise."—Mrs. Emma Chatel, Valleyfield, Belleriver, Quebec.

Erie, Pa.—"I suffered for five years from female troubles, and at last was almost helpless. I tried three doctors but they did me no good. My sister advised me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and it has made me well and strong. I hope all suffering women will just give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial, for it is worth its weight in gold."—Mrs. J. P. Endlich, R. F. D. 7, Erie Pa.

Since we guarantee that all testimonials which we publish are genuine, is it not fair to suppose that if Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound had the virtue to help these women it will help any other woman who is suffering from the same trouble.

For 30 years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been the standard remedy for female ills. No sick woman does justice to herself who will not try this famous medicine. Made exclusively from roots and herbs, and has thousands of cures to its credit.



Mrs. Pinkham invites all sick women to write her for advice. She has guided thousands to health free of charge. Address Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass.

"ENGLISH" LIQUID PAINT

A Handsome Paint

One special reason why "English" Liquid Paint gives your house such a handsome finish is because the 70% pure white lead used in its manufacture is Brandram's B. B. Genuine White Lead. This lead, ever since it was first manufactured, over one-hundred years ago, has been the standard of the lead trade and commanded the highest lead prices.

Yet "English" Liquid Paint is not an extravagant paint—it is the most economical paint you can use.

Made by Brandram-Henderson Limited, in 45 handsome shades, in addition to black and white.

"The Two Vanrevels"

"My dear," interrupted the other, "Crailey Gray's specialty is talking. Most of the vagabonds can sing and play a bit, and so can Crailey, particularly when he's had a few bowls of punch, but when Tom Vanrevel touches the guitar and lifts up his voice to sing there isn't an angel in heaven that wouldn't quit the place and come to hear him! Crailey wrote those words to Virginia Bareaud. (Her hair is even darker than yours, you know.) That was when he was being engaged to her, and Tom must have set the music to 'em lately and now comes here to sing 'em to you, and well enough they fit you. But you must keep him away, princess."

Nevertheless Betty knew the voice was not that which had bid her look to the stars, and she remained convinced that it belonged to Mr. Crailey Gray, who had been too ill a few hours earlier to leave the Bareaud house, and now, with Fanchon's kisses on his lips, came stealing into her garden and sang to her a song he had made for another girl.

If there was one person in the world whom Miss Betty held in bitter contempt and scorn, it was the owner of that voice and that guitar.

CHAPTER X.

MORE than three gentlemen of Rouen wore their hearts in their eyes for any fool to gaze upon, but three was the number of those who told their love before the end of the first week of Mr. Carewe's absence, and told it in spite of Mrs. Tanberry's utmost effort to preserve, at all times, a conjunction between herself and Miss Betty.

Miss Carewe honored each of the lorn three with a few minutes of gravity, but the gentle refusal prevented never a swain from being as truly her follower as before, not that she resorted to the poor device of half dismissal, the everyday method of the schoolgirl flirt, who thus keeps the lads in dalliance, but because, even for the rejected, it was a delight to be near her. For that matter, it is said that no one ever had enough of the mere looking at her. Also, her talk was enlivening even to the lively, being spiced with surprising turns and amiably seasoned with the art of badinage. To use the phrase of the time, she possessed the accomplishments, an antiquated charm now on the point of disappearing, so carefully has it been snubbed under whenever exhibited.

She sketched magnificently. This is the very strongest support for the assertion: Frank Chenoweth and Tappingham Marsh agreed, with tears of enthusiasm, that "magnificently" was the only word. They came to this conclusion as they sat together at the end of a long dinner, at which very little had been eaten, after a day's picnic by the river. Miss Carewe had been of their company, and Tappingham and Chenoweth found each his opportunity in the afternoon. The party was small and no one had been able to effect a total unconsciousness of the maneuvers of the two gentlemen. Even Fanchon Bareaud comprehended languidly, though she was more blurred than ever, and her faraway eyes belied the mechanical vivacity of her manner, for Crailey was thirty miles down the river with a fishing rod neatly packed in a leather case.

Mr. Vanrevel, of course, was not invited. No one would have thought of asking him to join a small party of which Robert Carewe's daughter was to be a member, but it was happiness enough for Tom that night to lie hidden in the shrubbery looking up at the stars between the leaves while he listened to her harp and borne through the open window on enchanted airs the voice of Elizabeth Carewe singing "Robin Adair."

It was now that the town indulged its liveliest spirit. Never an evening lacked its junketing, while the happy folk of Rouen set the early summer to music. Serenade, dance and song for them, the light hearts, young and old making gay together. It was all laughter, either in sunshine or by candlelight, undisturbed by the far thunder below the southern horizon, where Zachary Taylor had pitched his tent, upon the Rio Grande.

One fair evening soon after that excursion which had proved fatal to the hopes of the handsome Tappingham and of the youthful Chenoweth it was the privilege of Mr. Thomas Vanrevel to assist Miss Carewe and her chaperon from their carriage as they drove up to a dance at the Bareauds'. This good fortune fell only to great deserving, for he had spent an hour lurking outside the house in the hope of performing such offices for them.

Heaven was in his soul, and the breath departed out of his body when, after a moment of hesitation, Miss Betty's little lace gauntleted glove was placed in his hand, and her white slipper shimmered out from the lilac flounces of her dress to fall like a benediction, he thought, on each of the carriage steps.

It was the age of garlands. They wreathed the muses, the seasons and their speech, so the women wore wreaths in their hair, and Miss Betty's that night was of marguerites. "Read your fortune in them all," whispered Tom's heart, "and of whomsoever you wish to learn every petal will say, 'He loves you; none declare he loves you not!'"

She bowed slightly, but did not speak to him, which was perhaps a better reception than that accorded the young man by her companion. "Oh, it's you, is it?" was Mrs. Tanberry's courteous observation as she quitted the vehicle in her descent. She looked sharply at Miss Betty, and even the small glow of the carriage lamps showed that the girl's cheeks had flushed very red. Mr. Vanrevel, on the contrary, was pale.

They stood for a moment in awkward silence, while from the lighted house where the flying figures circled came the waltz, "I Dreamt That I Dwelt in Marble Halls." Tom's own dreams were much wilder than the gypsy girl's, he knew that, yet he spoke out bravely:

"Will you dance the first two with me?"

Miss Betty bit her lip, frowned, turned away and, vouchsafing no reply, walked toward the house with her eyes fixed on the ground; but just as they reached the door she flashed over him a look that searched him from head to foot and sent his spirits down through the soles of his boots to excavate a grotto in the depths of the earth, so charged it was with wrathful pity and contempt.

"Yes!" she said abruptly and followed Mrs. Tanberry to the dressing room.

The elder lady shook her head solemnly as she emerged from the enormous folds of a yellow silk cloak. "Ah, princess," she said, touching the girl's shoulder with her jeweled hand, "I told you I was a very foolish woman, and I am, but not so foolish as to offer advice often. Yet, believe me, it won't do. I think that is one of the greatest young men I ever knew, and it's a pity—but it won't do."

Miss Betty kept her face away from her guardian for a moment. No inconsiderable amount of information had drifted to her from here and there regarding the career of Crailey Gray, and she thought how intensely she would have hated any person in the world except Mrs. Tanberry for presuming to think she needed to be warned against the charms of this serenading lady killer who was the property of another girl.

"You must keep him away, I think," ventured Mrs. Tanberry gently.

At that Betty turned to her and said sharply:

"I will. After this please let us never speak of him again."

A slow nod of the other's turbaned head indicated the gravest acquiescence. She saw that her companion's cheeks were still crimson. "I understand," said she.

A buzz of whispering, like a July beetle, followed Miss Carewe and her partner about the room during the next dance. How had Tom managed it? Had her father never told her? Who had dared to introduce them? Fanchon was the only one who knew, and as she whirled by with Will Cummings she raised her absent glance long enough to give Tom an affectionate and warning shake of the head.

Tom did not see this. Miss Carewe did. Alas! She smiled upon him instantly and looked deep into his eyes. It was the third time.

She was not afraid of this man flirt. He was to be settled with once and forever. She intended to avenge both Fanchon and herself. Yet it is a hazardous game, this piercing of eye with eye, because the point which seeks to penetrate may soften and melt, leaving one defenseless. For perhaps ten seconds that straight look lasted, while it seemed to her that she read clear into the soul of him and to behold it through some befooling magic as strong, tender, wise and true as his outward appearance would have made an innocent stranger believe him, for he looked all these things, she admitted that much, and he had an air of distinction and resource beyond any she had ever known; even in the wild scramble for her kitten he had not lost it. So for ten seconds, which may be a long time, she saw a man such as she had dreamed, and she did not believe her sight, because she had no desire to be as credulous as the others, to be as easily cheated as that poor Fanchon!

The luckless Tom found his own feet beautiful on the mountains and, treading the heights with airy steps, appeared to himself wonderful and glorified—he was waltzing with Miss Betty! He breathed the entrancing words to himself over and over. It was true he was waltzing with Miss Betty Carewe! Her glove lay warm and light within his own. His fingers clasped that ineffable lilac and white brocade waist. Sometimes her hair came within an inch of his cheek, and then he rose outright from the hilltops and floated in a golden mist. The glamour of which the incroyable had planned to tell her some day surrounded Tom, and it seemed to him that the whole world was covered with a beautiful light like a carpet, which was but the radiance of this adorable girl whom his gloves and coat sleeve were permitted to touch. When the music stopped they followed in the train of other couples seeking the coolness of out of doors for the interval, and Tom in his soul laughed at all other men with illimitable condescension.

"Stop here," she said as they reached the open gate. He was walking out of it, his head in the air and Miss Betty on his arm. Apparently he would have walked straight across the state. It was the happiest moment he had ever known.

He wanted to say something wonderful to her. His speech should be like the music and glory and fire that were in him. Therefore he was shocked to hear himself remarking, with an inanity of utterance that sickened him:

"Oh, here's the gate, isn't it?"

Her answer was a short laugh. "You mean you wish to persuade me that you had forgotten it was there?"

"I did not see it," he protested lamentably.

"No?"

"I wasn't thinking of it."

"Indeed! You were 'lost in thoughts of'"—

"Of you!" he said before he could check himself.

Indigestion Cured Evidence in Plenty

Your Neighbors Can Tell You of Cures by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

Every case of indigestion, no matter how bad, can be cured by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Not only cured, but cured for good. That's a sweeping statement and you are quite right in demanding evidence to back it. And it is backed by evidence in plenty—living evidence among your own neighbors, no matter in what part of Canada you live. Ask your neighbors and they will tell you of people in your own district who have been cured by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, of dizziness, palpitation, sour stomach, sick headaches, and the internal pains of indigestion. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills cure because they strike straight at the root of all stomach troubles. They make new, rich blood, and new blood is just what the stomach needs to set it right and give it strength for its work. Mrs. Geo. E. Whitenect, Hatfield Point, N.B., says: "I am glad to have an opportunity to speak in favor of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, for they deserve all the praise that can be given them. I was a great sufferer from indigestion, which was often accompanied by nausea, sick headache and backache. As a result my complexion was very bad and I had black rings under the eyes. I took a great deal of doctor's medicine, but it never did more than give me the most temporary relief. About a year ago I was advised to give Dr. Williams' Pink Pills a trial. Before I had taken a couple of boxes I found relief, and by the time I had used a half dozen boxes I found myself feeling like a new woman, with a good appetite, good digestion, and a clear complexion. I can strongly recommend Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for this trouble and advise similar sufferers to lose no time in taking them.

It was voted to Mrs. Connor by a large majority.—A number of citizens from this town went to Wilton on Sunday to attend the Hornerite camp-meeting.—There was no service in the Methodist church here on Sunday. Our minister was attending Conference.—Charles Ward and Wilber Wartman are both putting new iron roofs on their houses, which will be an improvement.

Important Announcement.

T. B. Wallace desires to announce to the readers of The Beaver that he has secured the agency for Parisian Sage, the marvelous dandruff cure and delightful hair dressing.

T. B. Wallace is glad to state that Parisian Sage is a rigidly guaranteed hair restorer.

It cures dandruff in two weeks by killing the dandruff microbes; it stops falling hair; it cures all scalp diseases, or money back.

It is a most pleasant hair dressing, especially for ladies, as it makes the hair soft and lustrous. The price is only 50 cents a large bottle at T. B. Wallace's, or by express, all charges prepaid, from Giroux Mfg. Co., Fort Erie, Ont.

MARLBANK.

Mr. Henry Darlington met with a painful and serious accident at the cement works here on Saturday last. A car of coal was being unloaded with a loco-crane, and Mr. Darlington, with some other men, were in the car. The cars started to move suddenly, and the bucket of the crane was swung quickly around, and Mr. Darlington thinking the bucket might strike him, jumped from the car, striking the track in such a position as to cause a compound fracture near the ankle. Dr. Burrows reduced the fracture, and on Monday morning took the patient to the General Hospital at Kingston.

MARYSVILLE.

The farmers are all through seeding now, and they are preparing for planting.—Miss Maggie McCullough, of Lonsdale, spent Sunday and Monday last with Miss Mary Traynor.—Mr. and Mrs. J. Russell spent Thursday last in Deseronto.—Mr. Walter Cole, the champion runner, made a flying trip through the village on Monday.—Messrs. F. Oliver and J. Darcey spent Saturday evening in Napanee.—Quite a number from here attended mission in the R. C. church at Napanee on Saturday evening.—Mr. A. Turnbull spent Monday evening in Marysville.—Messrs. J. and T. Drummey spent Monday evening in Deseronto.—We are all in hopes of confirmation on the 3d Sunday in July, in Christ's Church, at which there will be quite a number confirmed.

WESTPLAIN.

In spite of the wet weather the farmers have succeeded in finishing their seeding.—We are glad to see Mr. Geo. Youngs out again, after a few weeks' illness.—Mr. Alvey Pringle spent Monday in town, renewing old acquaintances.—Robert Wayte spent Sunday evening at Mr. Jefferson Davis'.—Mr. and Mrs. John Boulton spent Sunday at her father's, Mr. James Wayte.—Miss Annie Bradshaw spent Sunday at Mr. Ben. Young's.—Mr. and Mrs. Hawley Bradshaw spent Sunday at Mr. Thomas Caughlin's.—Mr. and Mrs. John Young and granddaughter are spending the past few weeks visiting Mrs. Stephen Yates spent Sunday at their daughter, Mrs. Sylvenus Thompson, at Chaumont.—Mr. and her father's, Mr. W. THE BEST FLOUR:
DAFOE'S NONESUCH,
DAFOE'S MANITOBA PATENT.

By numerous tests by the best bakers the above mentioned grades have been proven to be the best flours in the market.

When buying flour, ask for Dafoe's, and patronize your home mill, thereby producing Bran and Shorts that you can purchase cheaper than the product of the Western mills, which has to be transported thousands of miles at great expense, and usually when it reaches you is of inferior quality.

The grocer complains if the farmer or the mechanic sends to Toronto or to outside points for an article he can get at the home store just as good, but he does not hesitate to buy flour from mills hundreds of miles away, and sells you an inferior flour for more money than you can purchase the home product for, every bag of which is guaranteed.

Choice Cornmeal and Buckwheat Flour always on hand. Feed grinding a specialty, with the best feed mills known to the trade.

A full stock of the best Anthracite Coal; also in the market for the purchase of all kinds of grain.

Ask for prices at the Big Mill before purchasing your Flour, Feed or Coal.

Money and Real Estate.

For parties having money to loan we offer guaranteed Mortgage Investments, with interest payable half yearly, at 4½ per cent. on $100 and upwards, deposited for 1 or 2 years, 4¾ per cent. on $100 and upwards deposited for 3 or 4 years, 5 per cent. on $100 and upwards deposited for 5 years. In addition to the Trusts Deposite Receipt the Company allocates to each deposit receipt, the first mortgage in which the deposit is invested, so that the depositor has not only the guarantee of the Trusts and Guarantee Co., with a paid up capital of $1,200,000, and assets of $6,000,000, but also the actual security to insure payment of interest and repayment of principal.

A few good farms for sale, well situated near town, at reasonable prices, and favorable terms of payment.

Money loaned on mortgage security at lowest rates of interest. Insurance and conveyancing. Apply to M. C. BOGART, Agent, Napanee.

CREAM OF THE WEST FLOUR

will cost you a few cents more per bag, but test it next baking day and you'll agree it is worth more. It gives extra fine results.

CREAM of WEST

It really is the CREAM of FLOUR.

THERE'S STRENGTH IN OUR BREAD.

as well as fine flavor. It contains all the nutritious qualities of the grain baked so they assume the most digestible form.

DYSPEPTICS CAN EAT IT.

with safety. The healthy people eat it with eagerness. Try one loaf and you'll keep on trying another every day. Give it to the children, the adults, the old folks. They'll all like it and thrive on it amazingly.

MOSCOW.

All were delighted to have Rev. Batstone return to this circuit. He preached a very impressive sermon on Sunday last.—The picnic, which was to be held in Baker's grove, on June 26th, has been postponed till some future date. Public please notice.—Mrs. J. Maude, Napanee, spent a few days last week at Miss Palmer's.—Mr. Frank Storms, who has been holidaying at home, left for Crysley, on Monday morning.—Mrs. Marshall Huffman is on the sick list.

CROYDON.

The rain which came on Sunday made the farmers look pleasant.—Some of the young men who were caught out in the storm on Sunday night, had a serious time finding their way home.—The annual Sunday School picnic will be held on Saturday, 19th. Come one, come all.—Mrs. Adam Campbell returned home on Monday, after spending a week at Rochester, N.Y.—Mrs. F. Lynch still continues very low. We all hope to see her able to be around again.—Mr. Gus Deline is now spending a few weeks with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Deline.

WESTBROOK.

Miss Myrtle Stevens sang a solo very sweetly at the service in the church here on Sunday afternoon.—Mrs. J. R. Smith opened her ice cream parlors on Saturday evening, for the season.—The young girl friends of the Misses Rossie and Nora Smith, of Toronto, were entertained on Monday evening at the home of Miss Florence Smith. The house was decorated with lovely flowers, shedding sweet perfume. In the evening a few popular young gentlemen took the young ladies for a drive.—Miss Maude Bell, of Kingston, spent a few days with her cousin, Edwin Bell, Cluster cottage.—Melville Smith and Myrtle Stevens, attending the Collegiate in Kingston, spent a few days under the parental roof.—Mr. and Mrs. Wilkie Pringle, daughter Gladys, and Mrs. Wm. Love of Lapum, spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. B. Rose.—Mr. John Allen and granddaughter, Miss Leah Snook are spending a few days with his daughter, Mrs. Will. Jones, of Odessa.—Edwin Bell and Leo Kenny had very good success, fishing one evening last week.—Percy Wright and Victor Morley, of the Lime Stone City, were in the village on Saturday evening.—Miss Jennie Hyland is spending a couple of weeks with friends at Enterprise.—James Gates and family spent Sunday at Walter Smith's.—James Smith and wife with Mr. anh Mrs. George Gates, Tuesday afternoon.—Mr. and Mrs. Lake recently visited at Mr. James A. Sproule's.—A few of our boys have gone to Barriefield to camp.

ODESSA.

On Saturday last our teachers, Misses Wilson, Schoales and Yarwood, gave the High School class a picnic. The day was exceedingly fine and the youngsters in good form. A cab was secured to take them and a jolly load they were. The picnic ground was on Mr. Albert Hartman's farm, near a natural cave, where Miss Wilson gave a couple of hours' teaching on Geology, and other places on Botany. A very enjoyable and profitable time was spent. The best of everything that could be thought of was provided for their lunches, and ice cream abounded. Altogether it was a day long to be remembered by the young people. The teachers are sparing neither time nor trouble to help their pupils in paths of knowledge. Success to them.

On Saturday evening the band gave some fine selections to a large crowd in the village for the evening.

On Monday evening a lawn social was held in the 7th Concession, to which some of our young people attended. Our band gave the music for the evening.

On Monday the village was made bright with the red coats on their way to Barriefield. Mr. Decker, our genial liveryman, took a load of them to headquarters.

Mr. Ernest and Miss Ethel Sproule of Westbrook, spent a day at Mr. W. A. Baker's.

Mrs. Carrie Storms has returned from Hamilton and Toronto, where she spent the winter and spring with her sons, accompanied by her grandson, Mr. Harold Storms, of Hamilton.

Mrs. E. O. Clark spent some time with friends at Brockville. On her return she was presented with a new organ by her husband.

We heard that Mr. Seymore Smith was very ill with spinal meningitis indeed quite seriously ill, when Dr. Mabee was called in and helped him. So we hope he will soon recover.

Mr. Babcock, our old standard bearer of the Salvation Army, is also quite ill.

A ball game between the Westbrook boys and Odessites, resulted in a margin for the latter.

Mrs. Landon, of Watertown, and daughter, Mrs. Rutherford, of North Bay, spent a few days at Mr. Charlie and Ben. Emmons'.

Mr. McDonald, formerly druggist here, but now travelling druggist for Polson, Kingston, spent a few days with acquaintances.

We congratulate Mr. Robert Aylsworth on his fine verandah, which was shipped to him ready to put up, and hope he may long live to enjoy it. It should be a good one at $600.00.

Mr. Thomas had a barn raising on Tuesday, which went up O.K.

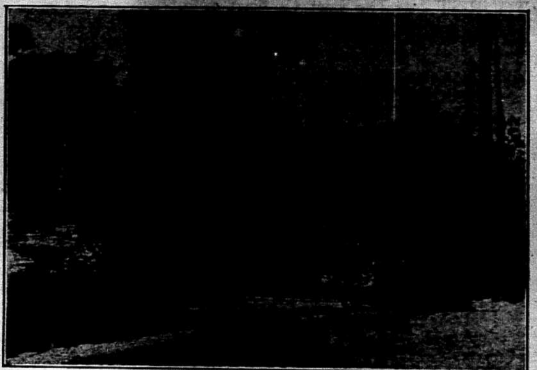
Don't forget our ice cream parlors when you come to the village. We have four.

Mrs. R. Cairns is spending a few days in Kingston.

Mrs. Geo. Lee spent Tuesday in the city.

Mrs. Maria Sproule and grandson Fred tried the swiftness of the auto stage to Westbrook the other day. Pretty good for an old lady of 82.

COVERED BRIDGE AT NAPANEE. ERECTED IN 1840.



(Courtesy of the Lennox and Addington Historical Society).

The following lines were penned by our townsman, Mr. F. Burrows, last spring, about the time that there was some discussion about replacing the old historic covered bridge at the east end of the town with a new structure. The words are very appropriate, and tell more eloquently than a column article the warm spot in the hearts of Napaneeans that the old bridge holds:

Thy hoary form is still in view
At three score years and nine,
And experts say we can't renew
The strength that long was thine

To stem the floods that 'gainst thee pour
In headlong swift descent,
Ice-laden, and with thund'rous roar
On ugly mischief bent.

Time's ruthless hand has brought decay
To thy old form unique,
And thou, like us, must pass away,
And kind oblivion seek.

But still 'tis sad to part with one
Who hast so long withstood
The blasts of storm, the heat of sun,
And foaming, raging flood.

We fain would have thee longer stay,
And with skilled hands we'll try,
Beneath thee something stronger lay,
And straighten what's awry.

And so to keep thee yet awhile
Whom our forefathers knew,
For thou wast made when 'twas the style
To make things good and true.

DESERONTO.

Mr. D. J. McVicker, the popular proprietor of the "Deseronto House" and family have moved to Toronto. Mr. McVicker's business engagements will keep him here for some time yet.

Some hundreds gathered on the shore of the Bay of Quinte to watch the operations of the "Bible Christians", on Sunday, at 12.30, but the rain dispersed the multitude, the fear of spoiling their finery by a dipping, overcoming their curiosity to see the dipping of the several candidates on hand to be baptised.

Mrs. R. J. Craig, wife of the Rev. R. J. Craig, of Kingston, died on Saturday night, in the above city. Mrs. Craig was a sister of the late Mr. E. W. Rathbun. The remains arrived in Deseronto by special train at 3 o'clock on Tuesday, and was interred in the Deseronto cemetery.

Miss Mary St. Louis spent Sunday visiting friends in Belleville.

The str. Prince Rupert arrived on Tuesday from Marquette with 2000 tons of iron ore for the Standard Chemical Company.

The schooner Isabel Reid arrived from Erie with 1100 tons coal for Canadian Portland Cement Company's Marlbank works.

Messrs. G. Houle, H. Thompson, J. Dunn and W. Stainton spent Sunday in Belleville. They report running into a severe electrical storm coming home.

Mrs. Welbanks, of Picton, was a visitor at Miss McNeill's, Brant st., last week.

Mrs. Yeomans and Mrs. J. S. Yeomans, of Newburgh, spent a few days at Mr. Jas. Sexsmith's.

The steamer Aletha carried the red coats from Belleville, calling and picking them up from Northport, Picton and all the small places, to Kingston, on the 15th.

The Rathbun Company's ice house, west of the iron works, was burned on Tuesday. The building being unused for three years, it is a mystery what started the fire.

NEWBURGH.

The Epworth League and Sunday School of the Methodist church have concluded arrangements for their annual excursion to the Thousand Islands. The date will be some day during the week of July 21st, and the trip will be the real thing in the excursion line this season. A special train will leave Deseronto about noon, taking the excursionists to Kingston in remarkably fast time. Arriving at Kingston the excursionists will take the big three decked steamer America at 2.30 for a tour of the Islands, going down the American channel, returning by the Canadian side. The steamer will reach Alexandria Bay about 6 p.m., and the trip home will be made by searchlight. An exceptionally low rate of $1.00 from stations Deseronto to Yarker, inclusive, has been named. This is the finest trip to the Islands. Keep the date open.

Rev. Mr. Pomeroy, an old Newburgh boy, but now of the London Conference, preached in the Methodist church on Sunday evening. During their stay in Newburgh Rev. and Mrs. Pomeroy were the guests of Mr. Pomeroy's uncle, Mr. J. B. Aylesworth.

CREAM OF THE WEST FLOUR

You are always safe in buying "Cream of the West" flour. Never varying in quality, the contents of one bag are exactly like the contents of every other bag—always up to the standard.

"Cream of the West" flour is made from only the hardest of hard Manitoba wheat, by the full Hungarian process. It fairly exhales the essence of prairie strength and purity.

"Cream of the West" is a home flour—nourishing, toothsome, and the standard for the housewife who prides herself on her baking. That's the reason why grocers recommend it.

MRS. W. T. BURNS

National Correspondent of W. R. C. Suffered From Nervousness and a General Breakdown—Caused by a Cold.

RESTORED TO HEALTH BY VINOL.

"I caught a severe cold which it seemed impossible to get rid of. I became much run down, last my appetite and flesh and felt nervous and irritable. Vinol was recommended, and certainly worked wonders for me; it increased my appetite and cured my cough and nervousness. I consider Vinol a wonderful remedy." Mrs. W. T. Burns, Memphis, Tenn.

Many people are in just her condition—all run down, hardly able to drag about, don't know what ails them. This is probably caused by a cold or cough which is hard to cure, overwork or too close confinement to business, and such people need Vinol.

Vinol is not a patent medicine, but contains the medicinal curative elements found in fresh cods' livers, with all the oil eliminated and tonic iron added.

We ask every run down, nervous, debilitated, aged or weak person in this place, and every person suffering from stubborn colds, hanging-on coughs or bronchitis, to try Vinol on our offer to return money if it fails to give satisfaction. T. B. Wallace, Druggist, Napanee, Ont.

COW TESTING ASSOCIATIONS.

Larger Milk Yields are Possible.

Why should cow testing be carried on? Mainly because individual cows in the same herd are likely to vary in production about as much as, sometimes much more than, individual cows in different breeds. Then too must be considered the strange variations in milk and fat from day to day even with a cow handled as carefully as possible. Such variations are very apt to be overlooked unless the record is carefully kept. Another point: two cows side by side, one gives 20 lbs. milk a day, or 10 lbs. at a milking, the other gives 9 lbs. The difference in weight, or the difference in bulk in the pail, especially if there is a lot of froth on top, is not easily gauged by the ordinary milker. But multiply that by the 300 days of a milking period, and it is seen that one cow gives 600 lbs. more milk than the other. Yet the ordinary milker would have said, these two cows give "just about" the same. But is not the extra 600 lbs. worth having? Many members of the cow testing associations say that the hired man milks better, with more endeavor to milk clean, if the record hangs before him constantly, and an extra 500 lbs. per cow has often been obtained since the introduction of the pencil and ruled sheet. Try it, not simply for the extra milk or fat, but for the immense personal satisfaction in knowing that each cow is being made to do better, to do her best.

C. F. W.

Ottawa, June, 1909.

COW TESTING ASSOCIATIONS.

Fifty Cent Cows.

Cow testing Association members are astonished, to put it mildly, at the revelations of the scales and test. In one herd of 17 cows the average yield was 4,380 lbs. milk, 4.2 test, and 183 lbs. fat. The highest yield of milk and fat was from a 7-year-old cow, whose test was only an average of 3.8 for the full period of lactation. Her total yield was 7,200 lbs. milk and 274 lbs. fat. Notice how high this is above the average, 2820 lbs. milk more. The yield of the poorest cow, a 10-year-old, was only 3,050 lbs. milk, 3.7 test, and 111 lbs. fat. Notice how much this is below the average yield, 72 lbs. of fat less. But this 10-year-old cow gave much less than half what the 7-year-old did; there is actually a difference between the two yields of 4,150 lbs. milk, and 163 lbs. fat. Is the one cow worth twice as much as the other? Carry the figuring one step further in order to ascertain profit. Valuing milk at $1.00 per 100 lbs., and even putting the cost of feed at only $30, one cow made just 50 cents profit on the year's business! Did that pay labour, or interest, or any return for supervision or supply any incentive to keep cows? But even assuming that the first cow consumed feed to the value, not of $30 merely, but $50, the profit is $22.00, or just 44 times as much as with the second cow. Supposing one could just deposit the profit made on each cow; with the kind that makes $22.00 profit one could attain a bank balance of $1000 by keeping 46 cows, but with the other kind it would necessitate keeping two thousand! Who could afford that? Farmers, the point is evident: test your cows and ascertain definitely whether the fifty cent cow boards in your stables.

THE ISLAND IN THE SEA OF DREAMS.

I have an island in the sea,
Where no one ever goes but me,
And where the animals and all,
Come out to see me when I call,
And show me things both strange and new,
And play just what I want them to.

And sometimes there are pirates there,
With shiny knives and long, black hair,
But they don't come from where they're hid
They know I'd smash them if they did.

And then there's something in a cave
That I can never make behave,
And, when it's time for him, I know
It's almost time for me to go.

I like the animals and such,
I don't mind pirates—very much,
But, though I've tried and tried and tried,
These things in caves I can't abide.
—Frederick White in The Delineator for July

TRIAL.

Before MacMahon, J.

Wood v. Detlor.—D. H. Preston, K.C., for plaintiff. W. G. Wilson, (Napanee), for defendant. Judgment (L). The plaintiff and defendant had dealings to a considerable extent for at least six years before the mortgage referred to in the pleadings was given. There was a settlement between them on 10th December, 1907, when all the promissory notes and due bills of plaintiff held by defendant and his father were delivered up to the plaintiff, and a bill of sale was given by plaintiff. Afterwards a chattel mortgage was given, in lieu of the bill of sale for a larger sum, and covering more property. Defendant afterward seized and sold the chattels, as is alleged, with insufficient notice (two days) whereby the property was sacrificed and part of the property bought in by defendant thru the intervention of another. The chattel mortgage was for $770, and the chattels at the sale realized $533.95, and the defendant was, I understood, willing that a settlement should be had, he to accept the amount realized at the sale and discharge the mortgage. If the defendant is still willing to do this, I would advise its acceptance. If not, there will be a reference to the master at Napanee (1) to enquire and report whether the money produced by the sale of the chattels and growing crops in the mortgage referred to in the pleadings mentioned was a fair and proper price for the same, and in case it should appear that the price for which the same were sold is less than would have been realized had the sale been properly advertised, the defendant is, in taking the accounts, to be charged with the difference. (2) An account of what is due to the defendant under said mortgage. Further directions and costs reserved until after the report.

ONCE MORE HONOR COMES TO LINDSAY.

At Varsity convocation on June 11th, 1909, Mr. A. G. Hooper received his degree of B.A. Mr. Arthur Garland Hooper, son of Mr. C. A. Hooper, of Colborne st., has achieved still further success by winning the "McCaul gold medal in Classics," one of the most coveted honors in the university of Toronto. This is the second time it has been won by a Lindsay student, Mr. (now professor) Kylie, having won it in 1902. Mr. Colling, who was classical master in L. C. I., a few years ago, was also the winner in 1891, and once more the honors come to Lindsay in the person of Mr. A. G. Hooper. Congratulations!—The Daily Warder, Lindsay.

Mr. Hooper was born in Napanee where his father, Mr. C. A. Hooper, resided for some years.

DEATH OF MRS. HARRY TAYLOR'S UNCLE.

John H. Stotsenburg, a former Wilmingtonian, prominent lawyer, and one of the foremost residents of New Albany, Indiana, died at his home there last week. He was an uncle of Mrs. Harry Taylor, of Washington, D.C., now of Napanee, Ont., who received a telegram notifying her of his death. He was a son of Evan C. Stotsenburg of the well known firm of Stotsenburg and Stotsenburg, iron founders. He graduated from Trinity College, and studied law under Chief Justice Gilpin. In early life he removed to New Albany, Indiana, where he rapidly forged to the front in his profession and became one of the leading lawyers of Indiana. He was a member of the firm of Brown and Stotsenburg. He was elevated to the bench, but retired as judge several years ago. He also was one of a commission of three lawyers of Indiana who two years ago revised and recodified the laws of Indiana.

Mr. Stotsenburg was a delegate to the convention that nominated Abraham Lincoln for President. He was the author of a book dealing with the Baconian period and controversy.

His eldest son, J. M. Stotsenburg, was killed in Manila during the Spanish war, he being a Major in the American army.

Mrs. Taylor's father was a member of the firm of Stotsenburg & Stotsenburg, and the death of the above gentleman extinguishes the male line of the family.—The Wilmington, Delaware, Evening Journal.

ANNUAL MEETING.

The annual meeting of Addington Farmers' Institute was held at Centreville, on June 12th. The attendance for some cause was not as large as should have been, though those who were present seemed willing to do all they could for the success of the Institute. Mr. Nesbit and Mr. Winter, Auditors, reported the financial accounts of the Treasurer correct, bills all paid, and balance on hand. Following officers were elected: President—[illegible]

Vice Presidents—R. Nugent and C. D. Wagar.

Directors—Smith Gilmour, David A. Brandon, Wm. Nugent, H. F. Bell, W. J. McGill, Wm. M. Paul, J. Mortimer Lochhead.

Secretary Treasurer—J. B. Aylesworth.

Places for holding public meetings during the year were chosen, and some other business transacted.

Drownings on Saturday and Sunday included Harry Huehnergard, Berlin, Ont.; Evancan Belanger, of Ottawa, and Gilbert Lelong, of Belleville, the last named being thrown out of a launch.

Lack of Blood

Is What Causes Headaches, Dizziness and Heart Palpitation.

On the blood depends the welfare of the whole body. Where good blood exists disease is unknown, but where the blood is poor and watery disease quickly seizes hold of the body—it is then headaches, backaches, dizziness, heart palpitation and other serious ailments make themselves felt. Good blood can always be obtained through the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. They actually make good, rich blood and thus restore lost strength and banish disease. Mr. Herbert Hanson, Brewers Mills, N.B., says:—"I cannot praise Dr. Williams' Pink Pills too highly. I was troubled with headaches, dizziness and loss of strength and had a hacking cough which I feared would lead to consumption. I tried a number of medicines without benefit, but was finally persuaded to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I did so and used these Pills for several months with remarkable results. They helped me so much that I now strongly recommend them to all other sufferers."

The experience of Mr. Hanson is that of thousands of others who have found health and strength through Dr. Williams' Pink Pills after other medicines had failed. It is through their power in making good blood that these Pills cure such troubles as anaemia, indigestion, rheumatism, heart palpitation, neuralgia, nervous troubles and the distressing ills of girlhood and womanhood. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People are sold by all dealers in medicine or direct by mail from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont. at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50.

Fire at Fort Coulonge, Quebec, caused a loss of about $50,000 to $75,000.

THEIR GOLDEN WEDDING.

Celebration At Home of Mr. and Mrs. John N. Lake.

The fiftieth anniversary of their marriage was celebrated yesterday by Mr. and Mrs. John N. Lake, at their new home, 175 Park road, Rosedale. Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Dyer threw open their house adjoining (there being a door through the rear of the main hall uniting the two houses), and all the refreshments were served there. About 250 friends and acquaintances including a number of Methodist ministers, called during the afternoon and presented their congratulations to the aged couple. Congratulations were sent by letter and wire from friends in California, Denver, New York, Saskatchewan, Vancouver, Kingston, Picton and other points, and the Toronto Conference of the Methodist Church passed a congratulatory resolution. In the evening a reunion of relatives to the number of thirty-five, from Tilsonburg, Trenton, Napanee, Hagersville, and the city was held, speeches made, and old memories revived. Mr. Silas F. Lake, the only surviving brother of Mr. Lake, and his wife, were present, having recently celebrated the sixtieth anniversary of their marriage. A niece, a grand niece, and a great-grand niece presided in turn at the piano during the evening.

Rev. George Goodson, an old friend of the couple, officiated at the wedding fifty years ago, at the home of Mr. S. V. R. Douglas, Brantford, the father of the bride. Mrs. Lake is a granddaughter of the late Rev. Thomas Whitehead, one of the pioneers of the early half of the last century. Mr. Lake's ancestors were also Methodists, his grandfather having been appointed by Rev. William Losee, the leader of the first Methodist class formed in Ernesttown in 1791. For twenty years Mr. Lake was connected with the Methodist Conference, and spent twelve years in active work, when a nervous affection of the eyes compelled him to retire. He settled in Toronto in 1870, and in 1881 was elected to the City Council for St. Thomas' Ward, at which time he sent in his resignation as a member of Conference. He is still a factor in Methodism, a member of the "Union" Committee, and has been Treasurer of the Union Church Relief Fund of the General Conference for twenty-eight years. He has been a member of several General Conferences, and intimately associated with Sherbourne Street Methodist Church from the beginning, having laid the second corner stone in 1886, when the church was rebuilt. He was the organizer and first Superintendent of the Sunday School for eleven years.—Toronto Globe, June 10th, 1909.

BROCKVILLE'S BIG DOMINION DAY PROGRAMME.

For Kidney and Liver Trouble, Constipation and Rheumatism.

Mr. Abe Freeman, 193 Dowling avenue, Toronto, Ont., says: I have been a great sufferer for a number of years with dyspepsia and constipation. I have taken dollars worth of medicine, but I never got relief. I had decided that there was nothing made that would cure me. One day a friend advised me to try Fig Pills. I bought a box, and before I had taken half of the box I felt better. I have taken four boxes and to-day I am a new man. Fig Pills have certainly done wonders for me. Fig Pills are a positive cure for all kidney, liver and stomach trouble, sour stomach, heartburn, bilious headache and dyspepsia. 25c. box. The Scobell Drug Co.; Fred L. Hooper, Local Agent.

LENNOX AND ADDINGTON FIRE INSURANCE COMPANY.

Change in the Office of the Lennox and Addington Mutual Fire Insurance Company.

Mr. M. C. Bogart, who has been intimately connected with and served the Company so acceptably for a long period having decided to make a trip to Europe this summer and expects to be away for some time, has, very much to the regret of the Directors and policyholders, tendered his resignation as Secretary. Mr. F. C. Bogart has also resigned the office of Treasurer.

While the Directors are sorry to lose such efficient officers, they consider it very necessary in the interests of the Company to keep the office open as usual for the accommodation of the policy holders and others, who may have business with the Company. Therefore, under the circumstances, they could not do otherwise than accept the resignation.

The Directors have therefore combined the two offices of Secretary and Treasurer, and appointed Mr. Manly Jones to the position.

The street entrance to the office will be the same as heretofore and policy-holders and others having business with the Company on ascending the stairs will take the right hand door to the office, where they will find Mr. Jones, who will extend to them the same courtesy and attention as has been done heretofore.

"Yes?" Her tone was as quietly contemptuous as she could make it. "How very frank of you! May I ask are you convinced that speeches of that sort are always to a lady's liking?"

"No," he answered humbly and hung his head. Then she threw the question at him abruptly:

"Was it you who came to sing in our garden?"

There was a long pause before a profound sigh came tremulously from the darkness, like a sad and tender confession. "Yes."

"I thought so!" she exclaimed. "Mrs. Tanberry thought it was some one else, but I knew that it was you."

"Yes, you are right," he said quietly. "It was I. It was my only way to tell you what you know now."

"Of course!" She set it all aside with those two words and the slightest gesture of her hand. "It was a song made for another girl, I believe?" she asked lightly and, with an icy smile, inquired further, "For the one—the one before the last, I understand?"

He lifted his head, surprised. "What has that to do with it? The music was made for you; but, then, I think all music was made for you."

"Leave the music out of it, if you please," she said impatiently. "Your talents make you modest! No doubt you consider it unmaidenly in me to have referred to the serenade before you spoke of it, but I am not one to cast down my eyes and let it pass—no, nor one too sweet to face the truth, either!" she cried, with sudden passion. "To sing that song in the way you did meant—oh, you thought I would flirt with you! What right had you to come with such a song to me?"

Tom intended only to disclaim the presumption, so far from his thoughts, that his song had moved her, for he could see that her attack was prompted by her inexplicable impression that he had assumed the attitude of a conqueror, but his explanation began unfortunately.

"Forgive me. I think you have completely misunderstood. You thought it meant something I did not intend at all, and"—

"What!" she said, and her eyes blazed, for now she beheld him as the arrant sneak of the world. He, the lady killer, with his hypocritical air of strength and melancholy sweetness, the leader of drunken revels and, by reputation, the town Lothario and light-o'-love, under promise of marriage to Fanchon Bareaud, had tried to make love to another girl, and now his cowardice, in trying to disclaim what he had done lent him the insolence to say to this other: "My child, you are betrayed by your youth and conceit; you exaggerate my meaning. I had no intention to distinguish you by coquetting with you!" This was her interpretation of him, and her indignation was not lessened by the inevitable conclusion that he, who had been through so many scenes with women, secretly found her simplicity diverting. Miss Betty had a little of her father in her, while it was part of her youth, too, that of all things she could least endure the shadow of a smile at her own expense.

"Oh, oh!" she cried, her voice shaking with anger. "I suppose your bad heart is half choked with your laughter at me."

She turned from him swiftly and left him.

Almost running, she entered the house and hurried to a seat by Mrs. Tanberry, nestling to her like a young sapling on a hillside. Instantaneously several gentlemen who had hastily acquitted themselves of various obligations in order to seek her sprang forward with eager greetings, so that when the stricken Tom, dazed and confounded by his evil luck, followed her at about five paces he found himself confronted by an impenetrable abatis formed by the spiked tails of the coats of General Trumble, Madrillon, Tappingham Marsh, Cummings and Jefferson Bareaud. Within this fortification rang out laughter and sally from Miss Carewe. Her color was high, and her eyes sparkled never more brightly.

Flourish and alarms sounded for a quadrille. Each of the semicircle, firmly elbowing his neighbor, begged the dance of Miss Betty, but Tom was himself again and laid a long, strong hand on Madrillon's shoulder, pressed him gently aside and said:

"Forgive me. Miss Carewe has honored me by the promise of this quadrille."

He bowed, offering his arm, and none of them was too vain to envy that bow and gesture.

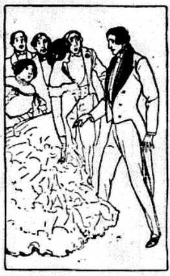
For a moment he remained waiting. Miss Carewe rose slowly and, directly facing him, said in composed and even voice, "You force me to beg you never to address me again."

She placed her hand on the general's arm, turning her back squarely upon Tom.

In addition to those who heard, many persons in that part of the room saw the affront and paused in arrested attitudes. Others, observing these, turned inquiringly, so that sudden silence fell, broken only by the voice of Miss Betty as she moved away, talking cheerily to the general. Tom was left standing alone in the broken semicircle.

All the eyes swept from her to him and back. Then every one began to talk hastily about nothing. The young man's humiliation was public.

He went to the door under cover of the movement of the various couples to find places in the quadrille, yet every sidelong glance in the room still rested upon him, and he knew it. He remained in the hall alone through that dance and at its conclusion walked slowly through the rooms, speaking to people here and there as though nothing had happened, but when the music sounded again he went to the dressing room, found his hat and cloak and left the house. For awhile he stood on the opposite side of the street, watching the lighted windows, and twice he caught sight of the lilac and white brocade, the dark hair and the wreath of marguerites. Then, with a hot pain in his breast and the step of a grenadier, he marched down the street.



"You force me to beg you never to address me again."

• • • • • • •

In the carriage Mrs. Tanberry took Betty's hand in hers. "I'll do as you wish, child," she said, "and never speak to you of him again as long as I live except this once. I think it was best for his own sake as well as yours, but"—

"He needed a lesson," interrupted Miss Betty wearily. She had danced long and hard, and she was very tired.

Mrs. Tanberry's staccato laugh came out irrepressibly. "All the vagabonds do, princess!" she cried. "And I think they are getting it."

"No, no; I don't mean"—

"We've turned their heads, my dear, between us, you and I, and we'll have to turn 'em again, or they'll break their necks looking over their shoulders at us, the owls!" She pressed the girl's hand affectionately. "But you'll let me say something just once and forgive me because we're the same foolish age, you know. It's only this: The next young man you suppress, take him off in a corner. Lead him away from the crowd where he won't have to stand and let them look at him afterward. That's all, my dear, and you mustn't mind."

"I'm not sorry!" said Miss Betty hotly. "I'm not sorry!"

"No, no," said Mrs. Tanberry soothingly. "It was better this time to do just what you did. I'd have done it myself, to make quite sure he would keep away—because I like him."

"I'm not sorry!" said Miss Betty again.

"I'm not sorry!" she repeated and reiterated to herself after Mrs. Tanberry had gone to bed. She had sunk into a chair in the library with a book, and "I'm not sorry!" she whispered as the open unread page blurred before her; "I'm not sorry!" He had needed his lesson, but she had to bear the recollection of how white his face went when he received it. Her affront had put about him a strange loneliness—the lone figure with the stilled crowd staring, it had made a picture from which her mind's eye had been unable to escape, danced she never so hard and late. Unconsciously Robert Carewe's daughter had avenged the other lonely figure which had stood in lonely humiliation before the staring eyes.

"I'm not sorry!" Ah, did they think it was in her to hurt any living thing in the world? The book dropped from her lap, and she bowed her head upon her hands. "I'm not sorry!"—and tears upon the small lace gauntlets!

She saw them and with an incoherent exclamation, half self pitying, half impatient, ran out to the stars above her garden.

She was there for perhaps half an hour, and just before she returned to the house she did a singular thing.

Standing where all was clear to the sky, where she had stood after her talk with the incroyable when he had bid her look to the stars, she raised her arms to them again, her face, pale with a great tenderness, uplifted.

"You, you, you!" she whispered. "I love you!"

And yet it was to nothing definite, to no man nor outline of a man, to no phantom nor dream lover, that she spoke; neither to him she had affronted nor to him who had bidden her look to the stars. Nor was it to the stars themselves.

She returned slowly and thoughtfully to the house, wondering what she had meant.

CHAPTER XI.

CRAILEY came home the next day with a new poem, but no fish. He lounged up the stairs late in the afternoon humming cheerfully to himself and, dropping his rod in a corner of Tom's office, laid the poem on the desk before his partner, chuckled softly and requested Mr. Vanrevel to set the rhymes to music immediately.

"Try it on your instrument," he said. "It's a simple verse about nothing but stars, and you can work it out in twenty minutes with the guitar."

"It is broken," said Tom, not looking up from his work.

"Broken! When?"

"Last night."

"Who broke it?"

"It fell from the table in my room."

"How? Easily mended, isn't it?"

"I think I shall not play it soon again."

Crailey swung his long legs off the sofa and abruptly sat up. "What's this?" he asked gravely.

Tom pushed his papers away from him, rose and went to the dusty window that looked to the west, where, at the end of the long street, the sun was setting behind the ruin of charred timbers on the bank of the shining river.

"It seems that I played once too often," he said.

Crailey was thoroughly astonished. He went to his friend and dropped a hand lightly on his shoulder. "What made you break the guitar? Tell me."

"What makes you think I broke it?" asked his partner sharply.

"Tell me why you did it," said Crailey.

And Tom, pacing the room, told him, while Crailey stood in silence looking him eagerly in the eye whenever Tom turned his way. The listener interrupted seldom. Once it was to exclaim:

"But you haven't said why you broke the guitar?"

"'If thine eye offend thee, pluck it out!' I ought to have cut off the hands that played to her."

"And cut your throat for singing to her?"

"She was right!" the other answered, striding up and down the room. "Right—a thousand times—in everything she did. That I should even approach her was an unspeakable insolence. I had forgotten, and so, possibly, had she, but I had not even been properly introduced to her."

"No, you hadn't; that's true," observed Crailey reflectively. "You don't seem to have much to reproach her with, Tom."

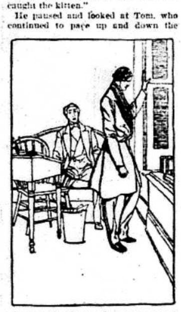
"Reproach her!" cried the other. "That I should dream she would speak to me or have anything to do with me was to cast a doubt upon her loyalty as a daughter. She was right, I say! And she did the only thing she could do—rebuked me before them all. No one ever merited what he got more roundly than I deserved that. Who was I, in her eyes, that I should besiege her with my importunities, who but her father's worst enemy?"

Deep anxiety knitted Crailey's brow. "I understood she knew of the quarrel," he said thoughtfully. "I saw that the other evening when I helped her out of the crowd. She spoke of it on the way home, I remember. But how did she know that you were Vanrevel? No one in town would be apt to mention you to her."

"No, but she did know, you see."

"Yes," returned Mr. Gray slowly, "so it seems. Probably her father told her to avoid you and described you so that she recognized you as the man who caught the kitten."

He paused and looked at Tom, who continued to pace up and down the floor. After a time Crailey, fumbling in his coat, found a long cheroot and as he lit it inquired casually:



"It seems that I played once too often."

"Do you remember if she addressed you by name?"

"I think not," Tom answered, halting. "What does it matter?"

Crailey drew a deep breath.

"It doesn't," he returned.

"She knew me well enough," said Tom sadly as he resumed his sentry-go.

"Yes," repeated Crailey deliberately. "So it seems! So it seems!" He blew a long stream of smoke out into the air before him and softly murmured again: "So it seems! So it seems!"

Silence fell, broken only by the sound of Tom's footsteps, until, presently, some one informally shouted his name from the street below. It was only Will Cummings passing the time of day, but when Tom turned from the window after answering him Crailey and his poem were gone.

That evening Vanrevel sat in the dusty office, driving himself to his work with a sharp goad, for there was a face that came between him and all else in the world and a voice that sounded always in his ears, but the work was done before he rose from his chair, though he showed a haggard visage as he bent above his candles to blow them out.

It was 11 o'clock. Crailey had not come back, and Tom knew that his light hearted friend would not return for many hours, and so, having no mind to read and no belief that he could if he tried, he went out to walk the streets. He went down to the river first, and stood for a little while gazing at the ruins of the two warehouses, and that was like a man with a headache beating his skull against a wall. As he stood on the blackened wharf he saw how the charred beams rose above him against the sky like a gallows, and it seemed to him that nothing could have been a better symbol, for here he had hanged his self respect. "Reproach her!" He, who had so displayed his imbecility before her! Had he been her father's best friend he should have had too great a sense of shame to dare to speak to her after that night, when her quiet intelligence had exhibited him to himself and to all the world as naught else than a fool—and a noisy one at that!

Suddenly a shudder convulsed him. He struck his open palm across his forehead and spoke aloud, while, from horizon to horizon, the night air grew thick with the whispered laughter of observing hobgoblins:

"And even if there had been no stairway, we could have slid down the hose line!"

He retraced his steps, a tall, gray figure moving slowly through the blue darkness, and his lips formed the heartsick shadow of a smile when he found that he had unconsciously turned into Carewe street. Presently he came to a gap in a hedge, through which he had sometimes stolen to hear the sound of a harp and a girl's voice singing, but he did not enter there tonight, though he paused a moment, his head bowed on his breast.

There came a sound of voices. They seemed to be moving toward the hedge, toward the gap where he stood, one a man's, eager, quick, but very musical; the other a girl's, a rich and clear contralto that passed into Tom's soul like a psalm of rejoicing and like a scimiter of flame. He shivered and moved away quickly, but not before the man's voice, somewhat louder for the moment, came distinctly from the other side of the hedge.

"After all," said the voice, with a ripple of laughter—"after all, weren't you a little hard on that poor Mr. Gray?"

WHY ECZEMA PATIENTS SUFFER

NO WONDER THEY DESPAIR—BUT CURE HAS NOW BEEN FOUND.

It is a strange thing about eczema. After wasting money on nostrums, dosing the stomach or smearing on greasy salves for years, many a skin sufferer gives up in despair. He says:

"What is the use, some may be cured, but my case is hopeless."

But a trial of the simplest remedy—just a little oil of wintergreen properly compounded (as in D.D.D. Prescription) will wash away that itch, in fact, it will take away the itch IMMEDIATELY, the instant D.D.D. is applied.

Read this letter from Mrs. G. J. Hutton, of Renfrew, Ont.

"Jan. 15, 1909.

"Since I was a child nine years old (and I am to-day thirty years old) I have suffered with Eczema in my hands. I have spent money on all kinds of medicines and ointments, but I find nothing equal to D.D.D. I have used five bottles and to-day my hands are perfectly healed. I shall never be without it in my house and will always recommend it to my many friends and neighbors who suffer from this awful torture, Eczema."

Now if there is anyone in your town suffering with eczema, ringworm, tetter, psoriasis or poison ivy tell this sufferer not to sit back and say, "I have tried everything, there is no cure for me." Tell him to write for free sample bottle of D.D.D. Prescription to The D.D.D. Laboratory, Department N. B., 23 Jordan St., Toronto.

For sale by all druggists.

Use "Prism Brand" Floor Paint. It dries hard quickly, wears well, and has a varnish gloss. The Medical Hall.—Fred. L. Hooper, Agent, Napanee.

ROBINSON'S

The great principles of "Confidence" and "Integrity" enter into the very bone and sinew of this business—a part of the real fibre of its plan and execution.

At the foundation of this business is the idea of good service to everybody. Perhaps nine stores out of ten are organized with the idea of supplying the person of average wants with average merchandise. Robinson's is the tenth store. Not one person in a hundred—yes, not one in a thousand if we can make it so—need go away from Robinson's store without getting exactly what is wanted.

Of course we are not infallible. But we are persistent and experienced and have unusual facilities, and no end of energy in working to get the right things.

Hurrah! For a One Day Sale

OF PRETTY DRESS MUSLINS

THURSDAY, JUNE 24th, ... 10c YARD

Here is the announcement that dozens have been waiting for. A timely bargain in dainty Dress Muslins, the very goods that will be needed for comfortable wear during the next two months or so. Next Thursday morning, promptly at 10 o'clock, we will place on sale a case of this season's new pretty muslins, the kind that have been selling freely at 20c yard and over.

SALE PRICE 10c YARD

This is a ridiculous price for such seasonable and scarce goods, but we would rather sell forty pieces in two hours at 10c yard and make a couple of hundred pleased customers than spread the selling over a few months time at 20c yard.

See window display. Out of town customers may order by mail.

Have You...... Heard About The Robinson Co. "Sewing Machine Club?"

If you do not own a good sewing machine it may interest you to know that we can sell you a good sewing machine, that we can guarantee for ten years (and it should last twenty years) for $19.75. We also have another machine, $26.75, that to a limited number we are giving club privileges.

That is $2.00 cash, and then $1.00 a week for balance.

Millinery

Last week's specials were snapped up quickly. Here is another for the late comers. Hats trimmed specially for

SATURDAY, JUNE 19th

at special prices. $5.50 for $3.00; $6.50 for $4.00; $7.50 for $5.00.

Do not miss this chance of securing a mid-summer Hat. Also Children's Sailors, Children's Muslin Bonnets, at very low prices.

More Women's and Girls' Washable Suits.

There has been an unprecedented demand for Wash Suits. We were fortunate enough to place early orders and now have a plenty to show when the demand is at its best.

Pretty stripes and plain materials rival one another in popular favor. We have tried to show many styles rather than too much of any one kind. Ask to see our new White Suits at $5.00, $7.50, $10.00. Plain colors at $4.50 to $12.50.

Princess Dresses the Vogue

Among the rich collection of Summer Dresses at Robinson's, the "Princess" holds its own royally. But it is the Princess robe individualized, styles so many and so varied that each may pick the dress that best reflects her own particular charm.

The woman who makes her own clothes is as heartily welcome to look them over for fashion ideas as she who comes to buy. But such dresses at such prices—we know what will happen.

White Batistes with dainty lace trimmings, $4.50, $5.00, $7.00.

Sky, Pink, White, Mulls, very prettily trimmed, $7.50, $8.00 to $20.00.

Novelty Muslins, with color, very attractive, $9.00.

Black Mohair Grenadines

For Hot Weather Dresses—37½c-40c yard.

Those who wear all black know how difficult it is to get a cool dress at a moderate price that does not look costly. We have a fabric partly composed of mohair woven somewhat like grenadines, that is perfect black, has every appearance of all silk. Crisp enough to make up without lining and is dust shedding. 37½c-40c. yard.

Waldo Web Porch & Verandah Shades

The latest and most artistic Verandah shade that has been produced is the "Waldo Web" shade. They come in round and very narrow flat slats, colored alternately in pretty color combinations, such as cream with black, green with black, yellow and green, dark and light green. They are made in 5, 6, 8, 10 ft. widths with either 6 or 8 ft. drop. Prices are very reasonable for such useful and ornamental summer home decorations. Call or write us for quotations. We are the selling agents for Napanee.

We also sell the split bamboo shades in all widths, 4 ft. to 12 ft. wide with 6 and 8 ft. drops. This line is made in Japan and the price is so low that you may well wonder how it is possible to sell them so cheap.

In next Beaver we will announce a one day sale of White Wash Suiting to be held Saturday a.m., June 26th. Be on the watch for particulars in our windows.

Getting Ready for Vacation

WOMEN'S AND GIRLS' BATHING SUITS.—Just opened two pieced navy Mohair bathing dresses, sizes 36 to 40. $3.00

CAMP JUMPERS.—Made of white duck with collar of blue. The young girls like them for camp, canoe and outing wear, $1.00.

WASH SKIRTS.—White and colored, $1.00 up.

GIRLS' SEPARATE WHITE COATS.—Short jaunty styles, styles that are suitable for girls in their teens. A maker's sample lot, $2.50, $3.00, worth $3.50 to $5.00.

Crum's Blue Grey Standard Prints

For 12½c yard; City price 15c yard.

There is a certain shade of blue grey print that you can only get right in Crum's print. All other imitations fail when it comes to the sewing, wearing, tub, and sun test. This particular shade of blue grey we have been selling now for some fifteen years and many families depend on us for them.

We've just sorted up again in patterns and we are only charging 12½ cents yard for the standard quality, which brings 15c yard in most city stores.

THE LADIES' HOME JOURNAL PATTERNS

The July issue of The Ladies' Home Journal is called a Love-Story Number. A hammock stretched under leafy boughs, a contented [illegible] and a good book of love stories makes an attractive package.

Here are some of the titles:

"Courting Molly", by Ann [illegible]

"The Love-Story of a High [illegible] Japanese Girl," by Adachi [illegible]suke.

"Two Little Tales of Two [illegible]posals."

"Charming Peggy," by [illegible] Gould Lincoln.

"Getting Along Without [illegible]" by Roy Rolfe Gilson.

Even in a hammock, one must wear clothes. The Ladies' Home Journal Patterns cover hammock clothes, too. To be had at our counter.

The Journal, itself, is on sale at our magazine counter, each at 15 cents per copy. Leave your order for a July copy now.

The Ideal Bust; Have a Perfect Figure

Every woman no matter how undeveloped in Bust lines may have an absolutely perfect figure. We have just placed on sale in our new Corset department on first floor up, the H. & H. Pneumatic Bust Form. Aptly termed Nature's Own Rival. The H. & H. is an air bust form delicately inflated giving the bust form of a perfect woman. Impossible for even your dressmaker to tell by touch or sight. Absolutely safe, simple, easily adjusted weighs only 4 ounces. Ask to see. By mail prepaid, $2.00.

Outside Sizes in Women's Vests

One of the scarce items in the Women's Summer Knitted [illegible] this season has been Women's Vests in the extra large sizes [illegible] we have a plenty in.

No sleeves and short sleeves, with silk torchon lace trimming, [illegible]

No sleeves and short sleeves at 25c.

Long sleeves at 35c.

ROBINSON CO'S. MEN'S STORE

Highest value and lowest price are not impossible yoke mates, given the knowledge how to harness them together. It all depends [illegible] Robinson Co. Men's Wear Sales are up-steppers year by year. Bigger, broader, better. The only logical reason for this is [illegible] merchandise. It must not only be dependably good, but attractive, likable, comfortable, good fitting—and right prices of course. Quantity [illegible] bring the prices that make Robinson Co. sales attractive.

Men's Suits—$10.

We have such an assortment of Men's $10 Suits, such attractive values and such stylish, good-fitting garments that we are making a special display of them in one of our large show windows. You will find suits among them that you could not buy elsewhere for less than 1-3 more than our price, $10.00.

Ten dollars is a popular price and with these values we are doing most of the Clothing business that is done in Napanee at that price.

Ready-to-wear Clothing of Custom Tailoring Standard

Our high class Suits of the "Sovereign" brand make are winning great praise. Every one sold gains us new customers because they are made to hold their shape until worn out, better made in fact than 99 out of 100 Custom Ordered Clothing. "Sovereign" Brand Suits, $12.00 up to $17.50.

SPECIAL BLUE SERGE SUIT VALUES FOR MEN AT $6.00, $7.50, $10.00, $12.50 and $15.00.

OFFICE COATS for summer are ready, grey, black, stripes, etc. Prices, $1.50 to $3.50 each.

BOYS' WASH SUITS, a great big choice of special values at 75c, $1.00, $1.25, $1.50 and up to $3.00.

NEGLIGEE SHIRTS, specials at 49c.

BOYS' UNDERWEAR, all sizes at 25c and 35c.

MEN'S COTTON NIGHTROBES—special values $1.00.

CRYDERMAN-GIBBARD.

The most charming wedding of the season was solemnized at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Gibbard on the morning of the 16th June, when Miss Lillian Blanche Gibbard was united in marriage to Mr. Manley R. Cryderman, of Edmonton, Alberta. The ceremony was performed by Rev. W. H. Emsley, pastor of the bride, in the presence of near relatives of both bride and groom. Exactly at 10.30 the bride, gowned in Duchess satin, with regulation bridal veil and orange blossoms, entered the spacious parlor leaning on the arm of her father, and carrying a shower bouquet of white roses, her sister, Miss Hester, playing the wedding march. Miss Florence Gibbard acted as bridesmaid to her sister, charmingly attired in an Empire gown of pink silk, and carried a beautiful bouquet of bride's roses, whilst Mr. W. M. Campbell, of Kingston, very ably discharged the important duty of "best man" to the groom. At the conclusion of the ceremony the bridal party adjourned to the dining room and library, where tables were laid for the wedding breakfast, which was elegantly served by a number of the bride's bonny girl friends. Suitable felicitations were extended to the happy couple and numerous telegrams received from friends at a distance. The wedding party "en masse" accompanied the happy pair to the station, where numerous friends had gathered to bid them good speed as they started on the long journey to the beautiful and progressive city which will be their new home. Fortunate Edmonton! Napanee's loss will most decidedly be your gain. The bride's gifts were beautiful and numerous, as her popularity would suggest. Special mention should be made, however, of the groom's unique favors—being nuggets of gold appropriately set, for bridesmaid, pianist and groomsman. The Beaver joins their many friends in wishing them all happiness and prosperity.

Hammocks—good and durable. Keep kool and comfortable. See Boyle & Son's.

ANOTHER JUNE BRIDE.

A very pretty wedding was solemnized at high noon on Tuesday, the 15th inst., at Elm Lawn, Napanee, the home of Mr. and Mrs. Z. A. Grooms, when their only daughter, Zellah Mary Pearl, was united in marriage to Robert Lorne McAfee, of Toronto. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. G. W. McCall, of Trinity Methodist church, Napanee. Only the immediate relatives of the contracting parties were present. The home was beautifully decorated with palms, ferns and cut flowers. The bride entered the drawing room on the arm of her father, who gave her away, to the strains of the wedding march played by Miss Edith Kimmerly, of Napanee. The young bride wore a beautiful gown of ivory directoire satin made princess, with trimmings of rose point lace with high gimp and long tucked sleeves of brussels net and silver, with wreath of orange blossoms and tulle veil falling to the hem of her long train. She carried a shower bouquet of white roses, lilies of the valley and maiden hair fern. The bride was attended by Miss Lillian McAfee, of Merrill, Mich., sister of the groom, who was gowned in white mull over white silk, with insertions of lace, and carried a bouquet of pink roses. The little flower girl, Miss Lillian Archer of Bradford, niece of the groom, looked sweet and dainty in a frock of brussels net over white silk and carried a basket of pink sweet peas tied with pink ribbon. Four young girls, nieces of the bride and groom, acted as ribbon holders, forming an aisle through which the bridal party passed, Miss Lillian Archer and Miss Mavis Dean, in white organdie muslin with lace insertions; the Misses Gladys and Muriel Bidwell, of Watertown, N.Y., cousins of the bride, in frocks of white silk voile with insertions of lace and smocking. The groom was supported by Mr. W. N. Raymond Grooms, druggist, of Toronto, brother of the bride. The groom presented the bride with a beautiful gold watch set with pearls, and watch pin in fleur-de-lis design set with pearls. To the bridesmaid he gave a gold bracelet set with whole pearls; to the little flower girl a gold pin in wishbone design set with amethysts and pearls; to the four ribbon holders horseshoe brooches of garnets and pearls; to the organist a bar horseshoe pin of pearls; and to the groomsman a pair of gold monogram cuff links. The bride and groom received the congratulations of their friends under a large horseshoe of white roses. They afterwards repaired to the dining room, where a sumptuous luncheon was partaken of. The bride's table was extremely pretty, being carried out in a color scheme of green and white with large centre piece of hand worked battenburg lace over pale green silk and basket of white roses and fern resting on an oval mirror. At 3.30 o'clock Mr. and Mrs. McAfee left in an automobile for Kingston, where they took the steamer Toronto for Montreal and Quebec, where they will stay for a short time, and will afterwards go to Muskoka for the summer, where they will spend their honeymoon, coming back to Toronto in the early autumn, when their own new home will be completed. The bride travelled in a navy blue chiffon broadcloth suit, with white blouse of embroidered brussels net and tuscan hat trimmed with navy blue ribbon and flowers. Mrs. Grooms, mother of the bride, wore a handsome princess gown of taupe grey satin with trimmings of silver sequin and Persian embroidery. The large number of beautiful and costly gifts received in silver, cut glass, pearl handled cutlery and rare china, including several cheques, testified to the popularity of the young bride. Guests were present from Michigan, Toronto, Bradford, Watertown, Rome, Ottawa and Kingston.

In sickness, if a certain hidden nerve goes wrong, then the organ that this nerve controls will also surely fail. It may be a Stomach nerve, or it may have given strength and support to the Heart or Kidneys. It was Dr. Shoop that first pointed to this vital truth. Dr. Shoop's Restorative was not made to dose the stomach nor to temporarily stimulate the Heart or Kidneys. That old-fashioned method is all wrong. Dr. Shoop's Restorative goes directly to these failing inside nerves. The remarkable success of this prescription demonstrates the wisdom of treating the actual cause of these failing organs. And it is indeed easy to prove. A simple five or ten days test will surely tell. Try it once, and see! Sold by all dealers. 25d

SACRED CONCERT.

The sacred concert in the Presbyterian church on Monday evening was a rare musical treat. The programme was furnished by local talent, assisted by Mr. Craig, of Kingston, and Miss Horton, of Morven. The church was well filled with an appreciative audience, who encored each number. The ladies cleared nearly $50.00. The piano used during the evening was from R. B. Allen's warerooms.

DOMINION GOVERNMENT GRANTS HEALEY FALLS RIGHTS.

The directors of the Northumberland-Durham Power Co., Limited, have just made public an announcement of considerable importance to the municipalities lying between Port Hope and Napanee to the effect that the Minister of Railways and Canals has agreed to grant a lease to the Company of the remaining portion of the Healey Falls waterpower controlled by the Federal Government. Development of the power will proceed concurrently with the construction of the Trent Valley canal, which passes through the Company's property, and will also facilitate the early construction of the Cobourg, Port Hope and Havelock Electric Railway, which is awaited by the district.

GOLDEN WEDDING AT SILLSVILLE.

On Saturday evening, June 12th, there gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Clark, Sillsville, a company of relatives and friends to celebrate the fiftieth anniversary of their wedding. The home was nicely decorated with flowers for the occasion, and after the friends had gathered and many congratulations had been offered, all sat down to a sumptuous repast. They were the recipients of a number of valuable and useful presents. Both were born and brought up on the Adolphustown Circuit, and have been honored members of the Methodist Church for years. They have the good will of the whole community, who join in wishing them many added years of happy wedded life, with increased prosperity and usefulness. The happy evening's celebration was brought to a close by a sacred hymn and prayer by the pastor. There were present on the occasion, their daughter, Miss Helen, and their sons, Edward, Arthur and George and his wife, Rev. and Mrs. W. S. Boyce, Mrs. (Dr.) Morden, Picton, Mr. and Mrs. Cooke and Harold, Cataraqui, Mrs. M. E. Purdy, Napanee, Mr. and Mrs. D. Rikley, whose silver wedding was on this day, Mrs. Whitty, Kingston, Mr. and Mrs. S. Mullett, Morven, and Miss Ida Asselstine. Congratulations were received from a number of absent friends, who regretted their inability to be present.

A SPLENDID VOLUME.

The Lennox and Addington Historical Society announces the publication of its first volume of Papers and Records. The volume is offered for sale at 25 cents (postage 5 cents extra), and a limited number are available. The material reproduced in this book is interesting to all residents of the County, past and present. All members of the Society who pay the annual fee of $1.00 for membership, (or $1.50 for family membership) for the year 1909-1910 are entitled to receive this volume free.

Please send your orders to U. J. Flach, Secretary, Napanee, Ont.

Special Note.—The older residents will remember the "Bird's Eye View of Napanee" which was published in 1871. As this map was issued at the time the "Chronicles of Napanee" which appear in the above volume, were published in "The Bee", and shows every building in the town, it is very interesting. The Society has secured 31 copies of the picture, which are offered for sale at $1.00 each. The orders for it will be filled in the order in which they are received, until the supply is exhausted. The picture is 18x24 inches.

FREE TO YOU—MY SISTER

FREE TO YOU AND EVERY SISTER SUFFERING FROM WOMEN'S AILMENTS.

I am a woman.
I know woman's sufferings.
I have found the cure.
I will mail, free of any charge, my home treatment with full instructions to any sufferer from women's ailments. I want to tell all women about this cure—you, my reader, for yourself, your daughter, your mother, or your sister. I want to tell you how to cure yourself at home without the help of a doctor. Men cannot understand women's sufferings. What we women know from experience, we know better than any doctor. I know that my home treatment is a safe and sure cure for Leucorrhœa or Whitish discharge, Ulceration, Displacement or Falling of the Womb, Profuse, Scanty or Painful Periods, Uterine or Ovarian Tumors or Growths, also pains in the head, back and bowels, bearing down feelings, nervousness, creeping feeling up the spine, melancholy, desire to cry, hot flashes, weariness, kidney and bladder troubles where caused by weakness peculiar to our sex.

I want to send you a complete 10 days' treatment entirely free to prove to you that you can cure yourself at home, easily, quickly and surely. Remember, that it will cost you nothing to give the treatment a complete trial; and if you should wish to continue, it will cost you only about 12 cents a week, or less than two cents a day. It will not interfere with your work or occupation. Just send me your name and address, tell me how you suffer, if you wish, and I will send you the treatment for your case, entirely free, in plain wrapper, by return mail. I will also send you free of cost, my book—"WOMAN'S OWN MEDICAL ADVISER" with explanatory illustrations showing why women suffer, and how they can easily cure themselves at home. Every woman should have it and learn to think for herself. Then when the doctor says—"You must have an operation," you can decide for yourself. Thousands of women have cured themselves with my home remedy. It cures all, old or young. To Mothers of Daughters, I will explain a simple home treatment which speedily and effectually cures Leucorrhœa, Green Sickness, and Painful or Irregular Menstruation in Young Ladies. Plumpness and health always result from its use.

Wherever you live, I can refer you to ladies of your own locality who know and will gladly tell any sufferer that this Home Treatment really cures all women's diseases, and makes women well, strong, plump and robust. Just send me your address, and the free ten days' treatment is yours, also the book. Write to-day, as you may not see this offer again. Address:

IT MADE A DIFFERENCE.

"Mr. President," said the caller at the White House, "I do not wish to intrude, but I thought you might like to know that I was the original—"

"Really, you must excuse me, my dear sir. I have a pressing engagement."

"Ah, I am very sorry. I merely called to say that I am the first man that ever—"

"I am sorry, sir, but I really must beg that you will excuse me."

"Certainly, Mr. President, certainly. I merely wished to say that I am the first golfer that ever made a 275-yard drive with a niblick."

"Oh, I thought you were going to tell me you were the first man that ever supported me for the Presidency. Sit down—sit down! By the way, can you have lunch here and play a game with me this afternoon?"

A DELIGHTFUL "AT HOME".

Given To-day by Mrs. Philius and Mrs. Fanning.

This afternoon, from 3 until 6 o'clock, Mrs. Cornelius Philius and Mrs. Charles W. Fanning gave a delightful "at home" to about 100 friends. The reception was held at the home of Mrs. Fanning on North First street, which was beautifully decorated with Boston ferns, sweet peas, lilies of the valley, mountain azaleas, American beauty roses and forest ferns. The guests were received by Mrs. Philius and Mrs. Fanning. The house guests were Mrs. W. N. Hosey, Mrs. Mark Holmes, Mrs. J. H. Havens, Mrs. N. S. Shaw of Hinsdale, Mrs. J. Ross Allen, Mrs. Earle Holmes and Mrs. Willis Chamberlain. The dining room was illuminated and presented a very attractive appearance, the color scheme being pink and white. The table was centered by a beautiful basket of Killarney roses, and pink shaded candles were used at the four corners. Miss Ola Hosey, Miss Madeleine Quirin, Miss Elaine Havens and Miss Edith Riley served in the dining room. Soft music, which added much to the enjoyment, was furnished by an orchestra of young ladies. The occasion throughout was one of the most delightful of a social nature ever given in Olean.—Olean Times, Olean, N.Y., June 9th, 1909.

Mrs. Fanning was formerly of Napanee.

Provincial Loan of $3,500,000

THE GOVERNMENT OF THE PROVINCE OF ONTARIO, under the authority of Chapter 8, of the Statutes of Ontario, 1909, invites subscriptions from the public for a loan of $3,500,000 on bonds of the Province of Ontario, or "Ontario Government Stock."

The bonds will be dated 1st June, 1909, and payable on the 1st June, 1939, in denominations of $1,000 each, with coupons attached for interest at the rate of four per cent. per annum, payable half-yearly on the 1st June and 1st December in each year at the office of the Provincial Treasurer, Toronto, or at the offices of the Bank of Montreal, in Montreal, Canada, and in New York, N.Y., at the holder's option. Bonds will be made payable to bearer, but on request will be registered in the office of the Provincial Treasurer and endorsed as payable only to the order of certain persons or corporations, and on request of holders will be exchanged for "Ontario Government Stock" at any time.

"Ontario Government Stock" will bear interest from the 1st day of June, 1909, principal payable on the 1st day of June, 1939, and interest at the rate of four per cent. per annum will be paid half-yearly by cheque on the 1st day of June and 1st day of December in each year. "Ontario Government Stock" may be subscribed for in sums of $50 or multiples thereof, and will be transferable in the books of the Treasury Department only by the holder or his attorney in similar manner to transfers of bank stock.

The issue price during the month of June, 1909, will be 102 for each $100, and after the 30th day of June, 1909, the price will be 102 and interest accrued from the 1st June, 1909.

ALL BONDS AND INSCRIBED STOCK ISSUED UNDER THE AUTHORITY OF THE SAID ACT ARE FREE FROM ALL ONTARIO PROVINCIAL TAXES, CHARGES, SUCCESSION DUTY AND IMPOSITIONS WHATEVER.

Purchasers of Stocks or Bonds will be required to send certified cheque with the application, payable to the order of the "Provincial Treasurer of Ontario."

This loan is raised upon the credit of the Consolidated Revenue Fund of Ontario, and is chargeable thereupon.

Subscribers should state whether they desire bonds or "Ontario Government Stock."

Example: A subscriber for $1,000 will have the option of taking either a bond or "Ontario Government Stock." A subscriber for $750 will be given "Ontario Government Stock," as bonds are only in the denomination of $1,000.

DOCTOR ADVISED OPERATION

Cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Canifton, Ont.—"I had been a great sufferer for five years. One doctor told me it was ulcers of the uterus and another told me it was a tumor. No one knows what I suffered. I was always bad at certain periods and never regular, and the bearing-down pains were terrible. I was very bad in bed, and the doctor told me I would have to have an operation, and that I might die during the operation. I wrote to my sister about it and she advised me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Through personal experience I have found it the best medicine in the world for female troubles, for it has cured me, and I did not have to have the operation after all. The Compound also helped me while passing through Change of Life."—Mrs. LETITIA BLAIR, Canifton, Ont.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, has proved to be the most successful remedy for curing the worst forms of female ills, including displacements, inflammation, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, bearing-down feeling, flatulency, indigestion, and nervous prostration. It costs but a trifle to try it, and the result has been worth millions to suffering women.

Better Than Pills For Liver Ills.

NATURE'S REMEDY is better than pills, because it acts in the right way. It strengthens the Stomach, aids Digestion, cures Dyspepsia, cleanses the Liver and Bowels, curing Constipation.

Usually one NR Tablet is all that is necessary to correct the average trouble. It starts in the Stomach and searches through the Liver, Kidney and Bowels, dissolving and soothing as it goes.

NR Tablets are always just right and neither sicken, gripe nor have any after effect. GET A 25c. BOX.

For the early stage, Scott's Emulsion is a cure. For the second stage, it cures many. And for the last stages of consumption it soothes the cough and prolongs the life. 24b

BROOKSIDE.

We regret to announce the death of James Shangraw, who passed peacefully away on May 15th, at his residence here, at the age of 70 years. His remains were followed by a very large cortage of relatives and friends to the Methodist church, Colebrook, of which he had been a constant member for years. The funeral sermon was preached by Rev. Mr. Batstone, who preached a very impressive sermon, and took for his text II Timothy, 4th chapter, and 5, 6, 7, and 8th verses. The remains were placed in Harrowsmith vault and was buried on May 31st in the cemetery there. Deceased was born on the farm where the family now resides. A loving wife and three children are left to mourn his loss, Mrs. Stanley Emberly here and Hiram and Everton at home. He will be greatly missed in this vicinity as a friend and neighbor. The family have the sincere smypathy of the whole community in their sad bereavement.—George Lucas has sold his farm and moved to Yarker; also Thomas Townsend and moved to Colebrook.—A number from here attended the Holiness Movement camp meeting at Wilton on Sunday last.—Dr. Benson, V.S., Napanee, made a few calls through here on Wednesday last.

Hot Weather Months Kill Little Children.

If you want to keep your children rosy, healthy and full of life during the hot weather months give them an occasional dose of Baby's Own Tablets. This medicine prevents deadly summer complaints by cleansing the stomach and bowels; or it cures the trouble promptly if it comes on unexpectedly.

The mother who keeps this medicine on hand may feel as safe as if she had a doctor in the home. Mrs. C. C. Roe, Georgetown, Ont., says: —"I can heartily recommend Baby's Own Tablets as a great help to baby during the hot summer months. I have used them for summer troubles and am much pleased with the result." Sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

If you use Ales, Wines or Liquor, why not get the best by buying them from Jas. Fitzpatrick, John street. All the best brands in Foreign and Domestic goods, at prices that are right. 'Phone 102.

THE PEOPLE ALL

In Chorus Cried, Give Us Newbro's Herpicide.

This word of late has been in everyone's mouth, and many are wondering what the word signifies, though no one has yet been found, who will deny that NEWBRO'S HERPICIDE does the work. Well, for the information of thousands of people who like to know all about a good thing, we would say that HERPICIDE means a destroyer or killer of "Herpes." Now "Herpes" is the family name of a disease caused by various vegetable parasites. A similar microbe causes dandruff, itching scalp, and falling hair; this is the microbe that NEWBRO'S HERPICIDE promptly destroys; after which the hair grows. Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c. in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich.

Amey, on Friday.—Mr. Arthur Emberley spent Thursday evening with his brother, Mr. A. Emberley. —The lawn social, which was held on Monday evening, was very much enjoyed, as the band from Odessa furnished excellent music. There was plenty of ice cream and refreshments. Proceeds, about $18.00.

If you would have a safe yet certain Cough Remedy in the home, try Dr. Shoop's—at least once. It is thoroughly unlike any other Cough preparation. Its taste will be entirely new to you—unless it is already your favorite Cough Remedy. No opium, chloroform, or any other stupifying ingredients are used. The tender leaves of a harmless, lung-healing mountainous shrub give to Dr. Shoop's Cough Remedy its wonderful curative properties. It is truly a most certain and trustworthy prescription. Sold by all dealers. 23d

Get Well First

Don't risk even a penny—until health first returns.

And I mean just exactly that.

I am the one physician who says to the sick "I will, out of my own pocket, pay for your medicine if it fails to bring you help."

And for 20 years Dr. Shoop's medicines have been used and recommended in every city and hamlet in America. They are positively standard in every community—and everywhere.

Then why pay the cash, and at your risk, for other unwarranted and uncertain medicines?

Thousands upon thousands have in the past successfully used Dr. Shoop's Restorative.

When the Stomach nerves, or the Heart or Kidney nerves fail, these sick ones know how quickly Dr. Shoop's Restorative will bring them back to health again. But best of all, they positively take no money risk whatever. They know that when health fails to return, Dr. Shoop will himself gladly pay the druggist for that test. And for that test a full 30 day treatment is freely granted.

Then

But write me first for an order.

This will save delay and disappointment.

All druggists sell Dr. Shoop's Restorative and Dr. Shoop's Rheumatic Remedy, but all are not authorized to give the 30 day test. So drop me a line please—for I have appointed an honest and responsible druggist in almost every community, everywhere, to issue my "no help, no pay" medicines to the sick. Tell me also which book you need. The books below will surely open up new and helpful ideas to those who are not well. Besides you are perfectly free to consult me just as you would your home physician. My advice and the book below are yours—and without cost.

Pay

Perhaps a word or two from me will clear up some serious ailment. I have helped thousands upon thousands by my private prescription or personal advice plan. My best effort is surely worth your simple request. So write now, while you have it fresh in mind, for tomorrow never comes. Dr. Shoop, Box 12, Racine, Wis.

THE BEST FLOUR; DAFOE'S NONESUCH, DAFOE'S MANITOBA PATENT.

By numerous tests by the best bakers the above mentioned grades have been proven to be the best flours in the market.

When buying flour, ask for Dafoe's, and patronize your home mill, thereby producing Bran and Shorts that you can purchase cheaper than the product of the Western mills, which has to be transported thousands of miles at great expense, and usually when it reaches you is of inferior quality.

The grocer complains if the farmer or the mechanic sends to Toronto or to outside points for an article he can get at the home store just as good, but he does not hesitate to buy flour from mills hundreds of miles away, and sells you an inferior flour for more money than you can purchase the home product for, every bag of which is guaranteed.

Choice Cornmeal and Buckwheat Flour always on hand. Feed grinding a specialty, with the best feed mills known to the trade.

A full stock of the best Anthracite Coal; also in the market for the purchase of all kinds of grain.

Ask for prices at the Big Mill before purchasing your Flour, Feed or Coal.

Money and Real Estate.

For parties having money to loan we offer guaranteed Mortgage Investments, with interest payable half yearly, at 4½ per cent. on $200 and upwards, deposited for 1 or 2 years, 4½ per cent. on $100 and upwards deposited for 3 or 4 years, 5 per cent. on $100 and upwards deposited for 5 years. In addition to the Trusts Deposit Receipt the Company allocates to each deposit receipt the first mortgage in which the deposit is invested, so that the depositor has not only the guarantee of the Trusts and Guarantee Co., with a paid up capital of $1,200,000, and assets of $6,000,000, but also the actual security to insure payment of interest and repayment of principal.

How To Save Work In The Home

Most of the dust, in the modern home comes from the floor. It needn't, if you would use Floorglaze right. And dust isn't merely a bother for the housewife and the maids. It's a danger.

Dust spells dis-ease. The germs of all infections dwell, mainly, in floor-dust. Floorglaze reduces floor-dust to a minimum.

When you coat a floor with any of the ten shades of Floorglaze you have a floor that is creviceless (can't harbor germs), washable (use an antiseptic in the mop-water), and nearly dust-proof.

You will get weary watching for it to wear off that floor. Floorglaze stands outdoor wear, even—verandas, porch steps, etc. And a gallon covers 500 square feet. Cheap!

Your dealer has it. You would find our Free Book interesting reading. May we send you a copy? Ask on a post-card Imperial Varnish & Color Co., Limited, of Toronto.

FERGUSON—QUEALE.

On Tuesday evening, June 8th, a very pretty wedding was solemnized at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Ferguson, Wissahickon, Philadelphia, Pa., when their daughter, Ella Maria, was married to Mr. George Oswald Queale, formerly of Toronto. The Rev. Elliott Field, Pastor of the Wissahickon Presbyterian church, performed the ceremony. The bridesmaids were Miss A. Kathleen Perry, cousin of the bride, and Miss Wilhelmina Mary Queale, sister of the groom. They wore elaborate pink pongee dresses and carried pink roses. The ushers were Messrs. Joseph W. Todd, and Thomas W. Fernon jr., both of Philadelphia. The bride wore a white net gown made over messaline and carried lillies of the valley. The tulle veil worn by the bride was one which was worn by several of her ancestors. Her travelling suit was blue pongee. Supper was served to about forty guests after which the bride and groom left for a trip to several western cities. Mr. and Mrs. Queale after their return will reside on West Walnut St., Philadelphia.

Miss Ferguson is a granddaughter of the late Simon W. Perry, Morven.

Voters' List, 1909.

Municipality of
THE TOWNSHIP OF ADOLPHUSTOWN,
County of Lennox and Addington.

Notice is hereby given that I have transmitted or delivered to the persons mentioned in Sec. 8 and 9 of the Ontario Voters' List Act, the copies required by said sections to be so transmitted or delivered of the List, made pursuant to said Act, of all persons appearing by the last revised Assessment Roll of the said Municipality to be entitled to vote in the said Municipality at elections for Members of the Legislative Assembly, and at Municipal Elections; and that the said List was first posted up at my office at Dorland, on the 23rd day of June, 1909, and remains there for inspection.

Electors are called upon to examine the said List, and if any omissions or any other errors are found therein, to take immediate proceedings to have the said errors corrected according to law.

Dated this 23rd day of June, 1909.

D. W. ROBLIN, Clerk.

ERNESTTOWN STATION.

At present everything looks favorable for a bountiful harvest.—The remains of the late Mr. Geo. Lucas were laid to rest in the cemetery of Union Church, on Monday of this week. The funeral conducted a week ago Saturday last, was a very large one, and was conducted by Revs. McCamus and Robinson, Methodist and Presbyterian, who testified to the sterling integrity and moral worth of deceased. Union church, in his death, loses one of its strongest supporters. No one could have the interest of the church at heart more than he in every way, contributing to its welfare, never absent from worship on God's day unless sickness prevented, and that very seldom, as he was a fine specimen of hale and hearty manhood. Much sympathy is felt for the widow and family, all well and favorably known residents of Ernesttown, with the exception of one daughter, Mrs. Turner, who resides in Kingston, and with whom he breathed his last, having gone to the city for treatment. Three sons and three daughters mourn the loss of a kind and loving father. They are George D., Dennis and Joseph, Mrs. R. Aylesworth, Mrs. Snider and Mrs. Turner. He was in his 83d year, but looked much younger. It can be truly said of him "he governed well his own household and his children arise and call him blessed." Truly a father in Israel is called to his reward. —Mrs. F. Laidley spent a week in Napanee, the guest of her sister, Miss Connors, availing herself of the special mission services held there.—A number of our Public School pupils go to Bath today for Entrance examinations. Success! —Miss Vanalstine has been the companion of Mrs. N. B. Hamm the last few weeks.—Mrs. Louise Amey is visiting friends and relatives here for a few weeks.—Mrs. Elmore Amey received a hasty summons to the bedside of her brother, Seymour Smith, Hamburg, a few days ago, he having been prostrated from an attack of spinal meningitis. Several doctors considered his recovery doubtful, but we are pleased to state a change took place for the better, and he is now convalescing.—Mrs. N. Amey is spending a few days with her daughter, Mrs. C. Forward, Millhaven.—Mr. Edmund Buck has been confined to the house for a few days from an attack of sciatica.—Messrs. Kenny and Lacy Clowe, were the guests of W. Cummings, last week.—Miss Edith Laidley has returned from visiting with friends in Kingston.—Herbert Laidley and staff of men are busily engaged pressing hay.—Mr. and Mrs. Sweet, jr., spent part of last week at S. Sweet's. Mr. Hagerman did the work here as night operator during E. Buck's illness.—Miss Laura Rockwell, Napanee, spent a few days with friends here recently.—Mrs. Sarah Hogle has returned from a three weeks' visit at Napanee.—James Cummings and wife have returned from Saskatchewan, and will spend a short time with his father, W. Cummings. They speak well of the country.—Mr. N. B. Hamm, who left in company with his son for a trip to the coast, is enjoying his outing very much.—On June 6th a number from the Union attended Sacramental service at Bath, conducted by Rev. Mr. Binnie, also ordination of elder, and baptismal service. — Miss Hanlan, of Adolphustown spent a few days with her aunt, Mrs. F. Laidley, recently.—The members of the S. S. choir meet for practice every Friday evening at E. Sharpe's. Mrs. Sharpe extends a cordial welcome to all, and under her tuition, are making excellent progress.—Miss Cooper, Bath, and the Misses Laidley and Crowe were the guests of Mrs. F. Hamm, Sunday last. —Mrs. Link is spending a month with her niece, Mrs. Lemon, in Kingston.—W. McClymont, Owen Sound, was renewing acquaintances here for a few days.—W. Doyle and family attended the funeral of his brother John's child, who died a few days ago.

BATH.

Mr. Frank Kellar and Mrs. Kellar, of Buffalo, N.Y., arrived on Sunday last on the steamer North King on their wedding trip, and are visiting at John Forrester's. —Chas. Kellar, of Napanee, visited a few days this week at John Forrester's. —Mr. Wm. Stevenson, of Newburgh, visited at James Stevenson's, on Sunday last.—Entrance examinations are being held this week here, being conducted by Mr. Croskery, of Napanee, and Mr. Clarke, of our school.—Mr. John Coates, of Napanee, is visiting at Hugh Johnson's.—Miss Clara Forward, of Chicago, Ill., and Miss Agnes Forward, of Syracuse, N.Y., are visiting their sisters here. —Mr. Wm. Cooper has purchased a handsome motor boat, which will make a great addition to the fleet here.—Dr. S. I. Nash, who has been quite poorly, is slowly recovering.—Mrs. E. Prinyer, of Wolfe Island, has returned home, after a visit to her mother, Mrs. C. Wemp, here. —On Thursday and Friday nights of last week there was frost in this locality.— Miss D. M. Wilson, of Odessa, visited on Sunday last at Mr. Maxwell Robinson's.

WILTON.

On Sunday next Rev. D. Williams will preach his farewell sermon, leaving for his new charge at Queensboro', the following week.—Rev. This promises to be the best excursion run in years, and already many are planning to take the trip. A special train ensures prompt train service, and the large excursion steamer America will give all an opportunity of seeing the Islands at their best. The fare is only a dollar from all stations, Deseronto to Yarker, inclusive, putting the trip within the reach of all. Special train leaves Deseronto at 11.40 a.m. and Napanee at 12 noon.

Mrs. Tompkins, mother of Mr. John A. Tompkins and Frank Tompkins, celebrated her 82d birthday this week.

The County Bridge Committee, we believe, has decided to cover our short bridge. Considering the present condition of the understructure of this bridge, and the certainty that in the near future it will have to be rebuilt, it would seem to be worth the serious consideration of this Committee whether it would not be better and in the end much more economical to rebuild the bridge now than to expend even a hundred or two hundred dollars in repairs. An iron bridge of the size required would not involve a large sum and would be permanent. Last year on the occasion of the fire this bridge narrowly escaped, and there is always the same danger so long as it is simply planked.

DESMOND

Hurrah for the event of the season! The annual lawn social of the Methodist church will be held on the church grounds on Tuesday evening, July 6th. H. S. to spend his vacation with his parents here.—Rev. Mr. Gilbert delivered a very fine address to the Masonic brethern, on Sunday morning last. In the afternoon he preached his farewell sermons at Dead Creek and Beaver Creek. On Sunday next he will preach his farewell sermon here, which will be regretted by his many friends, as Mr. Gilbert has made many friends here during his short stay in Arden, and which was certainly shown at Conference when a very unanimous invitation, both by the Quarterly Board and Ladies Aid was sent in, that he be allowed to remain with us another year. Also a special request that he might be granted ordination. Although the first request was not granted, we are pleased to state that he has been ordained, as he is well worthy of ordination, and although Arden has certainly lost a faithful pastor, what is our loss is another's gain.

A PROCLAMATION

Whereas, the people of our city have been led to purchase so-called remedies from which they have received no benefit whatever, and having thus wasted so much hard-earned money, it has come to pass that they know not what to believe.

Inasmuch as this unsatisfactory state of affairs exists, KNOW, THEREFORE, ALL PERSONS who are in need of such a medicine that we will supply them with VINOL on a POSITIVE GUARANTEE that if it does not succeed in benefiting them we will refund the entire amount of money paid us for it.

There is no one medicine that will cure everything, but there are some we know to be honest, reliable, and of great curative value. Such is VINOL; it is not a secret medicine,—just peptonate of iron, wine, and all the curative extractives of cod liver oil, combined. We are familiar with every particle of it, and KNOW that it should benefit every one who uses it.

Could any offer be more fair than this? You are ill; we offer you medicine which we believe will help you, and if it does not we will return your money. Is there anyone foolish enough not to accept this offer? You owe it to your family, to your friends, and yourself to try this medicine which we give you our pledge is a genuine cod liver and iron preparation of great merit.

We unhesitatingly recommend Vinol as a Body Builder and Strength Creator for Feeble Old People, Delicate Children, Frail Women, All Run Down Persons, and Those Needing a Good Tonic after the Grippe or any Severe Illness, and for Chronic Coughs, Colds and Bronchitis.

Do you think we could afford to lend our name to its praises, as we have been doing in the newspapers, if we did not know VINOL to be an honest and unusually valuable remedy for the ills for which it is prescribed? We certainly could not; we therefore ask you, our neighbors, friends and acquaintances to accept our assurances that this is a genuine offer, and that any and all persons who need a medicine of this character should feel a sense of security in accepting it.

You will absolutely be under no obligation to us whatever, if after you have tried one bottle of VINOL, and have not received any benefit, you have only to tell us so, and we will return the entire amount of money you paid us for it.

VINOL is an old and valuable remedy improved by modern science—tastes good and agrees with every one.

Call and get a bottle to-day. You won't be sorry.

T. B. Wallace, Druggist, Napanee.

You can get Vinol at the Leading Drug Store in every Town and City in this Province.

DEATH CALLS ARNOLD GREEN.

Arnold Green, for years prominent in Cuyahoga county politics and former clerk of the State Supreme Court, died yesterday at his home, No. 2118 E. 40th street, where for six weeks he had lain unconscious. He was sixty-three years old.

Two years ago, while engaged in the trial of a case in court as attorney, Mr. Green was stricken suddenly with paralysis. Though he rallied slowly he had not been able to resume his law practice, being confined closely to his home under the care of a physician. About two months ago he had a sudden relapse, and for six weeks prior to his death was unable to recognize even members of his family. His only son, Darlington Green, aged sixteen, died three weeks ago of spinal meningitis, but the father did not know of the lad's death.

Mr. Green was born in Adolphustown, Ontario, and came to Cleveland in 1866. In 1870 he began reading law in the office of William Heisley and was admitted to the bar two years later. In 1876 he was appointed clerk of the Supreme Court and served two terms. In the early 80's he served as a member of the city council. He was a member of the Colonial Club and the Cleveland Whist Club.

Besides his widow, Mr. Green is survived by two brothers and a sister. Frederick Green, a brother, is superintendent of the Lake View Cemetery. The funeral will be held from the late residence Friday at 3 o'clock p.m. The body will be taken to Zanesville, O., for burial Saturday.

A meeting of the Bar Association in memory of Mr. Green will be held in the circuit court room Friday morning at 10 o'clock.—The Cleveland Leader, June 17th, 1909.

PHOEBE ANN GROOMS.

Died at Richmond, Lennox County, Ont., on June 7th, 1909, in her 70th year, after a long and painful illness, of heart trouble, Phoebe Ann Doxsee, daughter of Curtis Doxsee, of Sophiasburgh, and relict of the late Wm. Grooms, of Richmond, who predeceased her some years ago. There were born to Mr. and Mrs. Grooms four children, Albert, who departed this life 21 years ago, and Edith, Menzo and Delbert, residing on the farm, who are left to mourn the departure of kind loving parents. Mrs. Grooms was a kind, loveable and devoted mother, and highly respected by all who knew her. She bore her long and severe illness with calm Christian fortitude, and expressed her readiness to go at the Master's call. To the human eye the light is out, but it is shining now on the other shore. The family were untiring in their efforts for her personal comfort during all these years of illness. The funeral services were conducted by the Rev. G. W. McCall, at her late residence, on June 9th, thence to the Western cemetery vault to await interment.

The Soo Canal was re-opened on Saturday.

DOMINION DAY AT TAMWORTH.

Preparations are being made on a large scale for the Dinner, Picnic and day of sports at Coxall's Park, on July 1st. Encouraged by the success of last year, the Committee are sparing no pains to make the picnic better than before. Cash prizes are offered for the baseball match between Erinsville and Tamworth, and for a long list of other sports, for which see large bills. Brass Band will be in attendance all day. A sumptuous dinner will be served by the ladies of the Methodist church, from 11 o'clock. Supper will also be served. Grand concert in Town Hall at night. Single fare on railway, which lands passengers a few yards from entrance to the park. Afternoon train going south held at Tamworth until 5 p.m. Tickets of admission, including dinner, 50c. Children under 12 years, 25 cents. Those coming for dinner can have supper served for 15 cents. An immense crowd is expected. 23tf

S. S. CONVENTION.

A Convention of the Ontario S. S. Association for the Township of Camden will be held in Camden East on June 29th. An afternoon session will be held in the Presbyterian church, beginning at 1.30, and an evening session at 7.30 in the Methodist church. A special feature of the afternoon will be a Teachers' Conference conducted by Mr. J. A. Jackson, B.A., General Secretary Provincial S. S. Association of Ontario. This is for the purpose of discussing the difficulties and discouragements of teachers. It is hoped that all S. S. teachers will be present, and will take part in the discussion. An address on the "Art of Teaching" will be given by Mr. D. A. Nesbit, B.A. Rev. Mr. Spencer, Camden East, will give an address in the evening. Mr. Jackson will address the Convention both afternoon and evening. A large attendance is hoped for. Entertainment will be provided for all visitors. 23b

EX-SPEAKER ROY AT STONE PILE.

Former Bank President Must Work in Prison.

P. H. Roy former Speaker of the Quebec Legislative Assembly, is now breaking stone in the St. Vincent de Paul penitentiary yard. The former president of La Banque de St. Jean was immediately taken to the penitentiary, where High Constable Masse and Sheriff Mayrand, of St. John, left the prisoner in the care of Governor Beauchamp. Mr. Beauchamp was well known to P. H. Roy, who started to talk to him like an ordinary friend, but the Governor immediately ordered the guards to put Roy in prisoner's garb. Fifteen minutes later Roy registered as No. 5,204, dressed in the prisoner's uniform and with his hair and beard cut, was given a hammer and sent to break stone with his new fellow-companions.

The prisoner expressed some surprise, as he expected to be sent to the infirmary as an invalid, but the authorities did not think he was sick enough to be granted the privilege. The only things the prisoner had brought with him, newspapers and a set of playing cards, were taken from him.

LAWN SOCIAL.

Empey Hill Sunday School will hold their annual strawberry festival on June 29th, on Mr. Andrew Penny's lawn. Refreshments will be served, consisting of strawberries and cake. A good programme is being prepared. Admission, 25 cents; children, 10 cents. 26a

THE NEW DREADNOUGHTS.

Will Fire Single Broadsides of 15,000 Pounds.

At the recent naval review at Spithead for the Imperial Press Congress it was remarked that in the fleet the famous Dreadnought was already generally referred to as the "old Dreadnought."

The new Dreadnoughts will have ten 15.5 guns mounted in pairs. The guns will be of 50 calibres. The shells will weigh 1,500 pounds each. They will be 67 inches long. The run breech will be nearly five feet in diameter. The ships will have increased length and beam, but the measurements have not yet been given out.

The new ships, which will be capable of firing ten guns in a single broadside of 15,000 pounds, will require practically no larger crews than the present ships. All the guns which are now controlled hydraulically or by hand power will be electrically controlled, so that when the guns of one barbette cover the barbette or guns of another pair the electricity will be switched off, making it impossible to fire them.

A SPLENDID VOLUME.

The Lennox and Addington Historical Society announces the publication of its first volume of Papers and Records. The volume is offered for sale at 25 cents, (postage 5 cents extra), and a limited number are available. The material reproduced in this book is interesting to all residents of the County, past and present. All members of the Society who pay the annual fee of $1.00 for membership, (or $1.50 for family membership), for the year 1909-1910 are entitled to receive this volume free.

Please send your orders to U. J. Flach, Secretary, Napanee, Ont.

Special Note.—The older residents will remember the "Bird's Eye View of Napanee" which was published in 1874. As this map was issued at the time the "Chronicles of Napanee", which appear in the above volume, were published in "The Bee", and shows every building in the town, it is very interesting. The Society has secured 31 copies of the picture, which are offered for sale at $1.00 each. The orders for it will be filled in the order in which they are received, until the supply is exhausted. The picture is 18x24 inches.

BERESFORD VS. SIR JOHN FISHER.

Next Wednesday Lord Charles Beresford will tell the people of England the real truth about their navy, the occasion being the public dinner of the London Chamber of Commerce. Not very long ago, Lord Roberts said that the British Army was a sham, and Beresford has hinted that some such revelation will be made with regard to the navy. In a public speech made soon after his retirement Lord Beresford declared that if the people of England knew all he knew about the navy, they would not sleep quietly in their beds, thus flatly contradicting Admiral Sir John Fisher, who shortly before had signaled the nation that all was well with the fleet, and that the people need not disturb their slumbers.

THE BERESFORDS.

Were it not for Beresford, it is not likely that there would be the slightest worry about the navy; for so highly is the Admiralty venerated, so general is the belief in the efficiency of Sir John Fisher, that only a man from the inside who stood equally well in the public estimation could cause anyone to doubt. The Beresford family is one of the most popular in the British Isles, and even its least illustrious members have been endowed with those physical qualities of pluck and athletic prowess that are always sure of hearty approval in any Anglo-Saxon community. Ability to fell oxen with their fists, and to jump over fifteen-hand horses, has distinguished the Beresfords for generations. Lord Charles has all the family accomplishments, and besides, is a brilliant naval officer. It is doubtful if any living man of the profession he has just renounced has to his credit such a feat as that which won the reluctant signal, "Well done, Condor!" from the officers he had disobeyed at Alexandria.

THE TYPICAL OLD SAILOR.

Lord Charles is the typical old-fashioned sailor,—bluff, hearty and the darling of his men. When he meets Jack ashore he will clap him on the back, convoy him into the nearest public house, and take a drink with him; or else he will pack him into his motor car and give him the most trilling ride of his life. On board ship, however, he was a disciplinarian, and every sailor knew better than to presume on the fact that the Admiral had taken a friendly glass with him the night before. "Bulldog Charlie" the men call him, while the landsman, who desires to speak familiarly of Beresford says "Condor Charlie." When Beresford said a couple of years ago that the Dreadnought was not worth the money spent on her, and that he could take out one of the older battleships and "knock the spots off her," because it could be more easily manoeuvred, it was as a bolt of lightning from a clear sky.

A PERSONAL QUARREL.

Then for the first time the general public realized that something was amiss between Beresford and Fisher. The insiders had known it long before, but the cause of the trouble has never been authoritatively disclosed. Apparently the difference was a personal one, and obviously it is a quarrel that will never be healed until Beresford has scored. At present the advantage is with him, for the day after the speech in which he made the remark about the people being unable to sleep if they knew the truth about the navy Beresford was invited to lunch by Mr. Asquith. The following morning it was announced that a commission to investigate the Beresford charges would be appointed; and a few days after the commission got to work the report was issued that Fisher would retire. In the meantime he has refused offers to run for Parliament, on the ground that he does not wish to embarrass the Government. It is supposed that his speech on June 30th will be substantially the evidence he laid before the Naval Royal Commission.

THE MODERN SCIENTIFIC TYPE.

Sir John Fisher is the personal antithesis to Beresford. There is nothing of the hail-fellow-well-met type about him. He is the modern scientific officer, who does his fighting with a blue print and a pair of compasses. He holds himself sternly aloof from all his brother officers, save a very few, and has absolutely no personal popularity. He is the father of the Dreadnought policy, and the designer of the famous ship that bears this name. There is nothing small about Fisher's ideas, for no sooner had the Dreadnought been commissioned than he made scrap iron of millions of pounds' worth of men-o'-war. Had it not been for Beresford's personal popularity, Fisher would have "downed him" by the rather neat manoeuvre of abolishing the Channel fleet, which Beresford commanded, and reconstructing it under a new name and a new commander. But Beresford's appeal to the public made him a more conspicuous figure than ever; and now Fisher will step down and out on October 21st, the anniversary of Trafalgar. It remains to be seen whether the passing from active service of these two strong men will end the controversy they have led. Each has an organization behind him, Fisher's being the Navy League, that endorses the policy of four Dreadnoughts for 1909, and the Imperial Maritime League, which backs Beresford, and whose battle cry is, "We want eight, and we won't wait." The nickname for the Beresford crowd is "The Navier League."

Australia, through her delegate to the Defence Congress, will express her readiness to undertake the responsibility of policing the Pacific.

SEVEN YEARS AN INVALID

Then She Took "Fruit-a-tives" And Is Now Well.

Arnprior, Ont., Nov. 27, 1908.

I was an invalid for seven years from fearful Womb Trouble. I had falling womb, with constant pain in the back and front of my body and all down my legs. There was a heavy discharge and this made me weak, sleepless, restless and miserable. Often I was obliged to be in bed for a month at a time. I was treated by several doctors, but their treatment did me no permanent good.

A few months ago, I was persuaded to try "Fruit-a-tives." I took several boxes, and from the outset of this treatment I was better, the Constipation was cured, and the discharge lessened. I took, for the paleness, several bottles of the Iron Mixture as recommended in the "Fruit-a-tives" book, but I feel that it was "Fruit-a-tives" alone that cured me.

The Two Vanrevels

By BOOTH TARKINGTON,

Author of "The Gentleman from Indiana" and "Monsieur Beaucaire"

Copyright, 1902, by S. S. McClure Co.

Tom did not understand, but he knew the voice. It was that of Crailey Gray.

He heard the same voice again that night and again stood unseen. Long after midnight he was still tramping the streets on his lonely rounds when he chanced to pass the Rouen House, which hostelry bore to the uninitiated eye the appearance of having closed its doors upon all hospitalities for the night in strict compliance with the law of the city fathers, yet a slender wand of bright light might be discovered underneath the street door of the barroom.

From within the merry retreat issued an uproar of shouting, raucous laughter and the pounding of glasses on tables, heralding all too plainly the hypocrisy of the landlord and possibly that of the city fathers also. Tom knew what company was gathered there—gamblers, truckmen, drunken farmers, men from the river steamers making riot while their boats lay at the wharf, with a motley gathering of good-for-nothings of the back alleys and tippling clerks from the Main street stores. There came loud cries for a song, and in answer the voice of Crailey rose over the general din, somewhat hoarse and never so musical when he sang as when he spoke, yet so touching in its dramatic tenderness that soon the noise fell away, and the roisterers sat quietly to listen. It was not the first time Ben Jonson's song had stilled a disreputable company:

> "I sent thee late a rosy wreath,
> Not so much honoring thee
> As giving it the hope that there
> It might not withered be."

Perhaps just then Vanrevel would have wished to hear him sing anything in the world rather than that, for on Crailey's lips it carried too much meaning tonight, after the voice in the garden. And Tom lingered no more near the betraying sliver of light beneath the door than he had by the gap in the hedge, but went steadily on his way.

Not far from the hotel he passed a small building brightly lighted and echoing with unusual clamors of industry—the office of the Rouen Journal. The press was going, and Mr. Cummings' thin figure crossed and recrossed the windows, while his voice could be heard energetically bidding his assistants to "Look alive!" so that Tom imagined that something might have happened between the Nueces river and the Rio Grande, but he did not stop to ask the journalist, for he desired to behold the face of none of his friends until he had fought out some things within himself. So he strode on toward nowhere.

Day was breaking when Mr. Gray climbed the stairs to his room. There were two flights, the ascent of the first of which occupied about half an hour of Crailey's invaluable time, and the second might have taken more of it or possibly consumed the greater part of the morning had he received no assistance; but, as he reclined to meditate upon the first landing, another man entered the hallway from without, ascended quickly, and Crailey became pleasantly conscious that two strong hands had lifted him to his feet and presently that he was being borne aloft upon the newcomer's back. It seemed quite a journey, yet the motion was soothing, so he made no effort to open his eyes until he found himself gently deposited upon the couch in his own chamber, when he smiled amiably and, looking up, discovered his partner standing over him.

Tom was very pale, and there were deep violet scrawls beneath his eyes. For once in his life he had come home later than Crailey.

"First time, you know," said Crailey, with difficulty. "You'll admit first time completely incapable? Often needed guiding hand, but never—quite—before."

"Yes," said Tom quietly, "it is the first time I ever saw you quite finished."

"Think I must be growing old, and constitution refuses bear it. Disgraceful to be seen in condition, yet celebration justified. H'rah for the news!" He waved his hand wildly. "Old red, white and blue! American eagle now kindly proceed to scream! Star spangled banner intends streaming to all the trade winds! Sea to sea! Glorious victories on political thieving exhibition—no, expedition! Everybody not responsible for the trouble to go and get himself patriotically killed!"

"What do you mean?"

"Water!" said the other feebly. Tom brought the pitcher, and Crailey, setting his hot lips to it, drank long and deeply; then, with his friend's assistance, he tied a heavily moistened towel round his head. "All right very soon and sober again," he muttered and lay back upon the pillow with eyes tightly closed in an intense effort to concentrate his will. When he opened them again, four or five minutes later, they had marvelously cleared and his look was self contained and sane.

"Haven't you heard the news?" He spoke much more easily now. "It came at midnight to the Journal."

"No; I've been walking in the country."

"The Mexicans crossed the Rio Grande on the 26th of last month, captured Captain Thornton and murdered Colonel Crook. That means war is certain."

"It has been certain for a long time," said Tom. "Polk has forced it from the first."

"Then it's a pity he can't be the only man to die!"

"Have they called for volunteers?" asked Tom, going toward the door.

"No, but if the news is true they will."

"Yes," said Tom, and as he reached the hallway he paused. "Can I help you to undress?"

"Certainly not!" Crailey sat up indignantly. "Can't you see that I'm perfectly sober? It was the merest temporary fit, and I've shaken it off. Don't you see?" He got upon his feet, staggered and came to the door with infirm steps.

"You're going to bed, aren't you?" asked Tom. "You'd much better."

"No," answered Crailey. "Are you?"

"No. I'm going to work."

"You've been all up night, too, haven't you?" Crailey put his hand on the other's shoulder. "Were you hunting for me?"

"No; not last night."

Crailey lurched suddenly, and Tom caught him about the waist to steady him.

"Sweethearting, tippling, vingt-et-un or poker, eh, Tom?" he shouted thickly, with a wild laugh. "Ha, ha, old smug face, up to my bad tricks at last!" But, recovering himself immediately, he pushed the other off at arm's length and slapped himself smartly on the brow. "Never mind; all right, all right—only a bad wave now and then. A walk will make me more a man than ever."

"You'd much better go to bed, Crailey."

"I can't. I'm going to change my clothes and go out."

"Why?"

Crailey did not answer, but at that moment the Catholic church bell, summoning the faithful to mass, pealed loudly on the morning air, and the steady glance of Tom Vanrevel rested upon the reckless eyes of the man beside him as they listened together to its insistent call. Tom said gently, almost timidly:

"You have an—engagement?"

This time the answer came briskly. "Yes. I promised to take Fanchon to the cemetery before breakfast, to place some flowers on the grave of the little brother who died. This happens to be his birthday."

It was Tom who averted his eyes, not Crailey.

"Then you'd best hurry," he said hesitatingly; "I mustn't keep you." and went downstairs to his office with flushed cheeks, a hanging head and an expression which would have led a stranger to believe that he had just been caught in a lie.

He went to the Main street window and seated himself upon the ledge, the only one in the room not too dusty for occupation, for here, at this hour, Tom had taken his place every morning since Elizabeth Carewe had come from the convent. The window was a coign of vantage, commanding the corner of Carewe and Main streets. Some distance west of the corner the Catholic church cast its long shadow across Main street, and in order to enter the church a person who lived upon Carewe street must pass the corner or else make a half mile detour and approach from the other direction, which the person never did. Tom had thought it out the first night that the image of Miss Betty had kept him awake, and that was the first night Miss Carewe spent in Rouen. The St. Mary's girl would be sure to go to mass every day, which was why the window ledge was dusted the next morning.

The glass doors of the little corner drug store caught the early sun of the hot May morning and became like sheets of polished brass; a farmer's wagon rattled down the dusty street; a group of Irish waitresses from the hotel made the board walk rattle under their hurried steps as they went toward the church, talking to one another, and a blinking youth in his shirt sleeves, who wore the air of one newly but not gladly risen, began to struggle mournfully with the shutters of Madrillon's bank. A moment later Tom heard Crailey come down the stairs, sure of foot and humming lightly to himself. The door of the office was closed. Crailey did not look in, but presently appeared on the opposite side of the street and offered badinage to the boy who toiled at the shutters.

The bell had almost ceased to ring when a lady, dressed plainly in black, but graceful and tall, came rapidly out of Carewe street, turned at the corner by the little drug store and went toward the church. The boy was left staring, for Crailey's banter broke off in the middle of a word.

He overtook her on the church steps, and they went in together.

That afternoon Fanchon Bareaud told Tom how beautiful her betrothed had been to her. He had brought her a great bouquet of violets and lilies of the valley and had taken her to the cemetery to place them on the grave of her baby brother, whose birthday it was. Tears came to Fanchon's eyes as she spoke of her lover's goodness and of how wonderfully he had talked as they stood beside the little grave.

"He was the only one who remembered that this was poor tiny Jean's birthday," she said and sobbed. "He came just after breakfast and asked me to go out there with him."

Weak, Tired Girls

Will Find Health and Strength Through Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

There is a time in the life of every girl when the strain upon her blood becomes too great; when she grows weak; has headaches and backaches; when dizziness seizes her and she becomes extremely miserable. That is the time of life she needs a tonic—a medicine that will not fail to enrich her blood and give her strength to withstand the changes through which she is passing. Such a tonic is Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. They have raised thousands of growing girls out of the depths of misery and despair to a full enjoyment of good health and strength. Among those who have found good health through these Pills is Miss Suddard of Haldimand, Que., concerning whose case her mother writes as follows:—"Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have been a great benefit to my daughter who was weak and miserable. She was pale, easily tired and was bothered with indigestion. The use of the Pills has brought back her health, and made her strong and active. I am very grateful for what this wonderful medicine has done for her."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are the greatest blood builder known to medical science. That is why they cure anaemia, rheumatism, heart palpitation, indigestion, neuralgia, etc. That is why they are of such value to women and girls during the changes through which they pass from girlhood to maturity. The Pills are sold by all medicine dealers or direct by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

THEY CLEANSE THE SYSTEM THOROUGHLY — Parmelee's Vegetable Pills clear the stomach and bowels of bilious matter, cause the excretory vessels to throw off impurities from the blood into the bowels and expel the deleterious mass from the body. They do this without pain or inconvenience to the patient, who speedily realizes their good offices as soon as they begin to take effect. They have strong recommendations from all kinds of people.

Father—Willie, how would you punctuate this sentence: Ethel a pretty girl is walking down the street.

I'd make a dash after Ethel.

THEY ADVERTISE THEMSELVES.— Immediately they were offered to the public, Parmelee's Vegetable Pills became popular because of the good report they made for themselves. That reputation has grown, and they now rank among the first medicines for use in attacks of dyspepsia and biliousness, complaints of the liver and kidneys, rheumatism, fever and ague and the innumerable complications to which these ailments give rise.

Attacks of cholera and dysentery come quickly, there seldom being any warning of the visit. Remedial action must be taken just as quickly if the patient is to be spared great suffering and permanent injury to the lining membranes of the bowels. The readiest preparation for the purpose is Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Dysentery Cordial. It can be got at small cost at any drug store or general dealer's, and it will afford relief before a doctor can be called.

The Caller—Not at present, Mum. There's three other parties ahead of you, but I'll accept a three-months' option on the job without any consideration.

In sickness, if a certain hidden nerve goes wrong, then the organ that this nerve controls will also surely fail. It may be a Stomach nerve, or it may have given strength and support to the Heart or Kidneys. It was Dr. Shoop that first pointed to this vital truth. Dr. Shoop's Restorative was not made to dose the stomach nor to temporarily stimulate the Heart or Kidneys. That old-fashioned method is all wrong. Dr. Shoop's Restorative goes directly to these failing inside nerves. The remarkable success of this prescription demonstrates the wisdom of treating the actual cause of these failing organs. And it is indeed easy to prove. A simple five or ten days test will surely tell. Try it once, and see! Sold by all dealers. 23d

All teas deteriorate with age. The flavor consists in an essential oil which decays. Take only fresh tea, and it only in the sealed lead packets of the "Salada" Tea Company. On account of its delicious strength a pound of "Salada" will go as far as a pound and a quarter of other teas.

NAPANEE BOY TO THE FRONT.

At the examination held at the closing exercises of the Royal Military College, Kingston, on Wednesday last, Mr. W. Miles Miller, son of our esteemed townsman, Mr. F. F. Miller, headed the list of candidates for examination for entrance by 790 marks over the next competitor. Mr. Miller's marks were 6161, while the next on the list was L. M. Hutchison, of Toronto, with 5,371. Mr. Miller is one of the clever pupils of our Napanee school, who always makes a good showing.

New Arrivals in Men's Sweater Coats.

Made from fine pure Wool Yarns, by the famous Hewson Woolen Mills. These common sense, comfortable, stylish garments have proven to be the very thing Men and Women were in need of. Last summer and winter the sale was enormous. Americans who came to Canada bought largely, because they could buy a better garment for $2.00 to $3.00 here than they could purchase in the United States for $4.00 and $5.00.

On the river in the cool of the evening, driving on cool days, in fact when one has a garment of this kind they find it just the thing for many an occasion. Women buy these Men's Coats because they are heavier and better grades than their own. Price, $2.00, $2.50, $3.00 and $3.50.

Boys' Wash Suits.

For ages, 2½ to 7. There are many excellent suits here that are underpriced, in fact you could not buy the material in some of them for the price we offer them at. 75c, $1.00, $1.25 and up to $3.00.

Straw Hats. Straw Hats.

This is the best Straw Hat year we have ever had—the stocks have been larger and our values better than before. [illegible] have been sold, but still we have hundreds to choose from.

—"Man comes into this world without his consent, and leaves it against his will. During his stay on earth his time is spent in one continuous round of contraries and misunderstandings by the balance of the species. In his infancy he is an angel; in his boyhood he is a devil; in his manhood he is everything from a lizard up; in his duties he is a fool; if he raises a family he is a chump; if he raises a small cheque he is a thief, and then the law raises the devil with him; if he is a poor man, he is a poor manager and has no sense; if he is rich, he is dishonest but considered smart; if he is in politics you can't place him, as he is an undesirable citizen; if he goes to church, he is a hypocrite; if he stays away from church, he is a sinner and damned; if he donates to foreign missions, he does it for show; if he doesn't, he is stingy and a tight wad. When he first comes into the world, everybody wants to kiss him; before he goes out, they all want to kick him. If he dies young, there was a great future before him; if he lives to a ripe old age, he is simply in the way and living to save funeral expenses. This life is a funny road, but we all like to travel it just the same."

DEATH OF MRS. J. C. CARSCALLEN.

On Friday evening last the death occurred at her home on Dundas st. west, of Mrs. John C. Carscallen, after a brief illness. Deceased, who was a daughter of the late Luke Carscallen, was born on the old homestead adjacent to Napanee, on the south side of the river, on August 8th, 1845. On the 27th November, 1869, she married Mr. John C. Carscallen, and up to about eight years ago they spent their days on the homestead in North Fredericksburgh. In 1901 they moved to Napanee, and have made many warm friends during their residency here. Deceased was a member of Trinity church, and will be greatly missed by her many friends in both town and county. The funeral service was conducted at the house on Monday afternoon by Rev. G. W. McCall, the remains being placed in Riverside cemetery vault. Besides her sorrowing husband, she leaves two daughters and one son to mourn the loss of a kind and devoted wife and mother. The children are Mrs. B. B. Miller, Bath, and Miss Lillian, at home, and Fred. B., on the homestead. One sister, Mrs. Arch. Dunwoody, Napanee, is the sole survivor of the family. The sympathy of their many friends is extended to the family in their sudden and sad bereavement.

KINNEAR—CLARKE.

The marriage of Miss Isobel Stuart Clarke, second daughter of the late E. F. Clarke, and of Mrs. Clarke, of 383 Markham street, Toronto, and Dr. James Wellington Kinnear, of Belleville, was celebrated at Christ Church, Reformed Episcopal, Toronto, at three o'clock Wednesday, in the presence of a large number of relatives and friends, the Rev. Willard Brewing officiating.

COOK—ALLEN.

A very pleasing event took place on Wednesday, June 16th, at the residence of the bride's mother, when Miss Emma E. Allen, Marlbank, and Mr. Fred. H. Cook, Orillia, were united in wedlock. A large number of guests graced the occasion, and the ceremony was performed on the lawn, after which a bountiful repast was served. Among the many beautiful wedding gifts were a gold watch and chain from the groom, and a silver service from the Church and community. The bride was a prominent worker in Epworth League, Sunday School and choir, and will be much missed.

RUSH—HINCH.

At St. Anthony's Church, Centreville, by the Rev. Father McCarthy, on June 11th, Miss Mary A. Rush, of Petworth, was quietly married to Mr. Jas. Hinch, of Camden East. The bride was attired in grey chiffon broadcloth, with hat to match, while the bridesmaid, Miss Ethel Cassidy, cousin of the bride, was gowned in white. Mr. John Rush, brother of the bride, acted as groomsman. After the ceremony the bridal party retired to the home of the bride's brother, where a dainty wedding breakfast was served. In the evening the happy couple left for their home at Camden East, amid the best wishes of a host of friends.

SWASTIKA YACHT CLUB MEETING.

At a meeting of the Swastika Yacht Club, held at Deseronto, on June 21st, it was decided to hold the Club Cup Races on July 11th, at Foresters' Island. There will be two sailing events, and two motor boat events. First and Second prizes in each case. The Cups in the sailing classes for first prizes, and other valuable prizes will be secured. The committee will make arrangements for an evening's entertainment after the races. Dance.

It was also decided to hold a Regatta on August 11th, when the race for the "Oronhyatekha Cup" will take place. This race is open to all Lake Clubs, and a large meet is expected, as this is a very valuable cup. Persons wishing to enter their boats in either of these events, can secure entry forms and particulars by calling on Mr. J. N. Osborne, Napanee, Chairman of "Regatta Committee", or Mr. T. J. Warren of Deseronto.

DICKSON VS. LEROY.

The long drawn out suit of Dickson vs LeRoy was ended last week, when the Defendant's Solicitors paid over the amount of the judgment herein and taxed costs.

The action was brought by Alexander Dickson, of Camden East, against Reuben J. LeRoy, of Latchford, for damages for misrepresentation in the sale of a business in Camden East. The action was tried at the Non-Jury sittings of the High Court here on May 11th and 12th, 1908, before Mr. Justice Clute, when Judgment was given for the Plaintiff for $1678.12, and costs of action.

From this Judgment the Defendant appealed to the Divisional Court at Toronto and the Plaintiff then put in a cross appeal to have the amount of the judgment increased to $2156.24.

Both appeals were argued at Osgoode Hall on the same day, Sept. 22d, 1908, when the Defendant's appeal was dismissed with costs and the appeal of the Plaintiff allowed, the amount of the Plaintiff's judgment being increased to $2000 with costs.

From this Judgment the Defendant again appealed to the Court of Appeal in Toronto. The appeal was argued before the full Court of five Judges on Dec. 4th, 1908, when judgment was reserved. On January 5th, 1909, Judgment was given dismissing the appeal with costs and confirming the decision of the Divisional Court.

The Plaintiffs were unable until last week to get the matter finally adjusted, but with the paying over of the amount of judgment and costs by the Defendant to the Plaintiff the suit was ended. H. M. Deroche, K.C., and J. L. Whiting, K.C., Kingston, for the Plaintiff. Scott, Scott and McGregor, Toronto, for the Defendant.

DOMINION DAY AT NAPANEE.

Sports have been held at the Napanee Driving Park on Dominion Day for the last twenty years, and this year the Committee intend putting on a good programme. $700.00 or $800.00 in prizes will be given for horse races, a baseball match will be played between Kingston and Napanee, and the Napanee Amateur Athletic Association will put on some marathon races of different distances, open to all. The Citizens' Band, of Picton, will run an excursion from that town by steamer Brockville, and no doubt other boats will also run excursions. 24b

DEATH OF GEORGE LUCAS.

Prominent Odessa Resident Passed Away at Ripe Age.

The village of Odessa suffers a decided loss by the death of George Lucas, one of the most prominent and highly respected residents of that place, which occurred on Wednesday, June 9th, at the home of his son-in-law, Mr. G. W. Turner, Alfred street. The late Mr. Lucas came to the city about three weeks ago for medical treatment, but his disease was incurable, and he passed away last night.

He was one of the oldest residents of Odessa, having been born 83 years ago in the homestead in which he lived up to the time of his death, and he could recall many interesting things about the early life of the country. His father, the late Dennis Lucas, was of United Empire Loyalist stock. Deceased was a Methodist in religion and although not active in political life, was a Liberal.

His wife and six children survive him. They are Mrs. M. Snider, Odessa, Mrs. R. W. Aylesworth, Odessa, Mrs. G. W. Turner, Kingston, Dennis, of Wilton, George and Joseph, of Odessa.

The funeral, which was held at the Lutheran church on Saturday was largely attended.

OBITUARY.

There passed peacefully away at her home, Woodville, Prince Edward County, on Saturday, June 12th, 1909, at 8 p.m., Amelia Clancy, beloved wife of Joseph Carnahan, at the age of 73 years, 1 month and 3 days. Deceased was born at Newburgh, in the Township of Camden, where she lived until she was married in 1851. She was converted at the age of seventeen, and was a consistent member of the Methodist church ever after. She was of a mild and peaceful disposition and beloved by all who knew her. Besides a sorrowing husband, she leaves to mourn her loss, seven children, five daughters, Mrs. Dorland, Parma, Mrs. Charles Lake, Morven, Mrs. Robert Hackett, Fish Lake, Mrs. Walter Shortt, Green Point, Mrs. John Cronk, West Lake, and two sons, Henry, on the homestead, and Ernest, of Woodville. The funeral service was conducted at the family residence by her pastor, the Rev. E. B. Cooke, who chose for his text, Psalms 34, verse 4, "I sought the Lord and He heard me and delivered me from all my fears." Interment was made at Glenwood cemetery, Picton. Her two sons and four sons-in-law acted as pall-bearers.

A few days left yet of

Paul's Great Sale

In order to reduce my large stock of Wall Paper, Hammocks, Croquet, Fine China, Dinner Setts, Fancy Goods and Baseball Goods before 5th July, I will continue my SPECIAL DISCOUNTS until that date.

The reasons are:—

I am going away from town for two months, and do not want to leave too much for the clerks to look after in my absence.

The room will be required for the new goods that will arrive soon.

Last, and perhaps best, "I want the money."

Accounts due me must be paid at once. Don't think because the amount is small it is not worth while bringing it in.

My books must be balanced.

Thanking you all in advance,

ENGLISH LIQUID PAINT

5 Good Reasons why you should use it

1—because it is made of 70% White Lead and 30% Zinc White—the ideal proportion.

2—because the only white lead used in it is Brandram's B. B. Genuine White Lead.

3—because it is the result of 31 years experience in mixing paints for the Canadian people.

4—because it is finer, more uniform, covers more surface, lasts longer and holds its colors longer, than any other—more economical to use.

5—because it is guaranteed pure and the formulas printed on every can. 7

CREAM of the WEST FLOUR

When your neighbor tells you of her "wonderful" luck on baking-day don't imagine it's a "fairy-tale." More than likely she uses "Cream of the West" flour—and "good fortune" is certain to follow the use of this superior flour.

"Cream of the West" may cost you a few cents more per bag—but it is made of the highest grade of hard wheat—and is more expensive to mill than the usual grades of Manitoba flour. For better biscuits and bread, better baking-day luck, use "Cream of the West" flour.

MYRTLE, MAN.

Beautiful summer weather exists here now. The farmers in most cases have for some few weeks finished their wheat and seeding for rough grains, but a few are still at it. This week will in every case have completed seeding in this district. The bountiful rain falls earlier in the season, and the recent hot wave striking us, have brought the wheat several inches above the ground. Notwithstanding a somewhat delayed spring, it is thought by many the crops will have matured as early or at an earlier date than last year because of this very generous growth.

Mr. Andrew Graham's sale last week of registered shorthorn cattle and Clydesdales was successful in the superlative degree, one mare and foal selling for $935.00; another at $750.00. The cattle considering the high quality were a trifle below the reasonable bounds. In all, Mr. Graham's herd of forty-two cattle, and nine Clydesdales, realized over eight thousand dollars. Mr. Graham's beautiful farm home "Forest Home Farm" consisting of 500 acres, situated a few miles distant from Roland I believe, and is open for sale. It is certainly an extremely desirable spot for a man of good finances.

On Wednesday Homewood and Bates met at a friendly game of base ball. Johnston by his smart twirling of the ball managed to hold the game down 8-9 favor of Homewood. He was ably supported too by Cranston of Carman, short stop, and Halloday, Myrtle, 3d base. The Bates rooters were well equipped of good lungs, strongly demonstrated by their yelling capacities, when near the closing of the game, things looked a trifle in their favor.

On Friday next Roland holds her annual day of sports. Baseball, football, racing, etc., will be indulged in. Carman, Graham, Rosebank, Myrtle and Roland will compete at baseball for a handsome prize given by the town-people. A splendid turn out, both of young and old, will be expected. Then on Dominion Day Carman holds forth in her annual way. Horse racing, baseball, and games of other sort will successfully be indulged in, and as of old a splendid day of sport and enjoyment will be experienced. Excursions will be run from Winnipeg both via C. P. R. and C. N. R.

Messrs. Stewart Cousins, and Sidney and John Reid attended Andrew Graham's sale last week.—John Halloday spent last Sunday evening in Roland.—Stewart Cousins and R. H. Reid spent Sunday afternoon and evening at Spirling.—Mr. Shell Joyce at John Reid's, on Friday evening last week.—Mrs. (Dr.) Brown, Carman, and Miss King were callers on Mrs. John Reid, on Thursday last. Mrs. Kasper, Sykes, was taken to Carman hospital last week, where she successfully underwent an operation for appendicitis, by Drs. Brown and Cunningham.—Mr. and Mrs. Walter Southam and Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Reid spent Sunday afternoon and took tea at John Reid's.—Mr. A. E. Hole lost a valuable horse last week. —Mr. Harvey Jones, Roland, bought a valuable horse from S. Reid, last week.—Mr. Davidson, of Carman, has bought a new gasoline Parr and Hart plow, and is at present breaking on his farm east of Myrtle.—Mr. Holstead has this week ordered an International gasoline plow and threshing outfit. Priemer Bros.' two new gasoline International plows are doing splendid work. This section of the west is grandly adapted for steam or gasoline plows, and the latter are fast gaining in prominence.—Kitchinson Bros.' new 30-horse power Gar Scott steam plow is busy breaking for a party east of Myrtle. R. S. Reid has purchased a 20-horse International gasoline plow. This makes seven or eight in this immediate district already. They are steadily and surely crowding out the primitive manner of farming by horses.—Mrs. John Reid was at Carman on Friday last. Mr. and Mrs. Sid Reid at Roland on Saturday.—Stewart Cousins left on Monday last for Gettesburgh, Sask., where he will spend the summer, returning east in the fall.—Mr. Jamieson, who lately moved on his farm near Myrtle, has entirely renovated his house.—Mr. Carter, of Carman, is breaking several hundred acres east of Myrtle, with a 40-horse Gar Scott steam plow. He is doing the work for an American, an Indiana man, who has lately bought a section of land in this district. It takes these thrifty and go-ahead Americans to recognize the quality and richness of our soil here, and as a result they are seizing on to all the land they can at what they consider a complete snap, as the land they are leaving, in many cases just three or four hundred miles to the south of us, far inferior to the quality of soil here, ranges from $100.00 to $200.00 per acre. Does this not bid well to a sure and rapid gain in this far famed western land? What great opportunities are open if people could only command foresight enough to grasp them. But they will not until it is too late. Then they'll mourn their snail-like conception of these matters. Why don't those eastern people wake up and not allow these Americans, and other foreigners to monopolize what is rightfully the former's.—Mr. S. P. and Master Wilfred Hinch, Mrs. Geo. Sexsmith and Miss Wright, of Carman, visited Mrs. John Reid, on Monday last.—Mr. Herb Hinch, of Winnipeg, was in this vicinity on Monday, with a large party of American land seekers.—Mrs. and Miss Bansom, Wabash, Wabash Co., Indiana, U.S., arrived at their new home here last Thursday. Mr. Bansom and son having come up earlier in the spring. They are greatly taken with the West and cannot speak too highly of it in comparing it to the land they have departed from.—Messrs. Tom Kirk, our genial merchant, and R. S. Reid left on Tuesday for a few days in Winnipeg. —Mr. Shell Joyce was in Carman on Saturday last.—S. P. Hinch, Carman has purchased a 30-horse power Flower City gasoline plow outfit, and will break all his section, 32, in this district. So much new land is being put under cultivation in this district this year and more in a few years to follow, that notwithstanding adequate railroad service at present, a demand will be made for a huge increase on its present day facilities.

A custom official is searching locomotives at St. Thomas, as there are complaints of articles being smuggled in the engine cabs.

REID VS. RICHMOND.

This action was brought by Albert F. Reid against the Municipal Council of the Township of Richmond to force the improvement of Selby creek by the removal of rock in the bed of the creek to the west of Mr. Reid's farm. The case was to have been tried before G. F. Henderson, K.C., Drainage Referee, on Tuesday last, but a settlement was arrived at between the parties. The following is the formal judgment as entered on Monday last by consent of all parties. If the case had proceeded to trial it would have been as expensive as an election protest, as there would have to be about one hundred witnesses in attendance.

This action coming on by way of motion for judgment and the complainant being desirous of discontinuing this action and Counsel for all parties consenting thereto

1. This Court doth order and adjudge that the Complainant's action be and the same is hereby dismissed.

2. This Court doth further order and adjudge that the respondents are entitled, as against the complainant, to maintain the drainage works and drainage systems emptying into Sucker Creek, complained of in this action, and to have the water thereof discharged into the said creek and to flow over, upon and across the land of the complainant, being the north east five-sixths of the north three quarters of Lot number Eleven in the Second Concession of the Township of Richmond, and particularly over that portion of the said land lying south of the right of way of the Grand Trunk Railway crossing the said land without further improving the condition of the said Sucker or Selby Creek on or upon the Complainant's land or to the West of the Complainant's land.

This Court doth further order and adjudge that as against the Complainant and his said lands, the respondents have not been guilty of any negligence in the construction of any ditches in the Township of Richmond constructed by them or permitted by them to be constructed, and have not maintained and do not maintain in or about the said creek either a public or private nuisance by reason of the flood water thereof.

This Court doth further order and adjudge that each party pay his own costs of and incidental to this action, which costs, as between solicitor and client, shall be taxed and allowed on the tariff of the High Court of Justice for Ontario.

John English, Esq., acted as Counsel for the plaintiff. G. F. Ruttan, K.C., was Counsel for the defendants.

SIMPLE WASH CURES ECZEMA.

WHY SALVES FAIL WHILE A SIMPLE LIQUID HAS ACCOMPLISHED THOUSANDS OF CURES.

It is now thoroughly established among the best medical authorities that eczema is purely a skin disease, due to a germ, and curable only through the skin. It is not a blood disease at all; in fact, thousands of people suffer with skin disease and are perfectly healthy otherwise, and thereby prove they have no diseased blood.

Smeary salves cannot reach the germs because they do not penetrate the skin. The only way to reach the germs is by means of a penetrating liquid.

Such a liquid can be obtained by simply mixing ordinary oil of wintergreen with thymol, glycerine and other healing agents. This compound, known as D. D. D. Prescription, stops the itch instantly—and the cures all appear to be permanent. In fact, it took thousands of cures, case after case, before the best scientific authorities were convinced of the absolute merit of this remedy. D. D. D. Prescription kills the germs in the itching skin. Its effect is seen within one minute after the first application. The cure is even quicker if D. D. D. Soap is used in connection with the treatment.

For free sample bottle write to The D. D. D. Laboratory, Department N. B., 23 Jordan St., Toronto. For sale by all druggists.

TWO HIGH COURT CASES.

Were Heard by Justice Teetzel on Tuesday morning.

The nonjury sittings of the high court opened at Kingston, at nine o'clock Tuesday morning, before Justice Teetzel, Toronto. The first case called was that of Frank B. Thomas, Edward Thomas, Mary Thomas, Henrietta Rosebeck, personally; Thomas Priest, executor of the last will and testament of J. B. Thomas, deceased; Frank B. Thomas and Zelmira L. M. Togensell, executors of the last will and testament of Elizabeth Thomas, deceased, plaintiffs, and Rev. A. L. McTear, rector, and A. McCartney and George Lloyd, churchwardens of St. John's Church of England in Bath, and the Right Rev. William Lennox Mills, lord bishop of the diocese of Ontario, defendants. The plaintiffs claim interpretation of the will of the late Peter C. Thomas and also that under Sec. 7, cap. 23, R.S.O., 1897, under G George the Second, cap 36, and the mortmain, and Charitable Uses Act of 2 Edward the Seventh, the testator having died within six months of the making of his will, the device to St. John's church at Bath, should be declared null and void. Defence is that fee simple of lands in question is vested in defendants, by virtue of cap. 74.3 Victoria U. C., known as Church Temporalities Act and amendments to same cap. 15, statutes of Canada 28 and 29, Victoria.

W. S. Herrington, K.C., Napanee, appeared for the plaintiffs; G. E. Ruttan, K.C., and J. L. Whiting, K.C., for defendants other than the Bishop of Ontario, for whom J. B. Walkem, K.C., appeared.

The case took only a very short time, each side presenting its arguments to the judge. Numerous exhibits were put in, but no witnesses were examined. His lordship reserved judgment.

Stomach Derangement.

Her Limbs Ached
Worn Out—Tired
Headaches, Dizziness

Vitol Cured Her.

For years I have been a great sufferer. Life to me was a burden, my limbs ached, I always felt tired and worn out, had no ambition. People could not sympathize with me. In fact at times they imagined it was put on, or a matter of fancy with me, but one who suffered the same as I did knows exactly what it means. I would work when I should be in bed. I was weak, seemed to be void of strength; life seemed to have left me to a certain extent. I have often felt as if I would give the world if I could feel buoyant and cheerful, really so. I often had to force what little cheerfulness I did have. I was urged to try Vitol, and my what a change; to-day I am the woman I used to try and picture. I am happy, cheerful and strong; it seems as if I had new nerves, in fact new life. Mrs. R. Simms, Newcastle, Ont. You may be strong and healthy, and buoyant if you will take Vitol. TOWN COUNCIL.

Council Chambers
Napanee, June 21st, 1909.

Council met in regular session on Monday evening, Mayor Simpson in the chair. Members present were Councillors Alexander, Gibbard, Burrows, Storey and Reeve Ruttan.

Minutes of last session were read and confirmed.

COMMUNICATIONS

From Chas. A. Walters, Secretary Electric Light Co., asking for payment of balance of appropriation of $270.00. Laid on the table till some future time.

It was recommended that two more lights be placed in the Harvey Warner park.

From Dr. G. H. Cowan, Chairman of Board of Health, calling attention of the Council to the unsanitary condition of the town. This should have been looked after previous to 15th May, and up to the present time there had not been a single instance where it had been carried out. There was an officer appointed for this purpose, but he had evidently left the matter to die a natural death.

Moved by Reeve Ruttan, seconded by Coun. Alexander, that the Clerk notify the Board of Health that there is an inspector appointed for this purpose. Carried.

T. B. German appeared before the Council in reference to the R. J. Wright property on Bridge street, and asked that the town insure the house for its full value. Mr. Wright died about three years ago, and in his will he left Mrs. Wright a life lease of the property, after which it was to be sold and the proceeds to be applied on the erection of a home for aged people. It was now insured for $1500.00.

Moved by Coun. Gibbard, seconded by Coun. Alexander, that the Executors be instructed to increase the insurance $1,000 more. Carried.

Moved by Coun. Gibbard, seconded by Coun. Alexander, that the Town Solicitor and Mayor be instructed to oppose the motion taken by Sir Richard Cartwright in reference to his taxes, which will be tried at Osgoode Hall, on Monday next, 28th inst. Carried.

Moved by Coun. Gibbard, seconded by Reeve Ruttan, that the town negotiate for the sale of the steam engine, as in a short time it would not be required. Cd.

Coun. Alexander reported that the roof of the library was causing a lot of trouble, and did not think it could be remedied without putting on a new roof. The matter was referred to the Solicitor to find out what course to pursue.

The matter of several changes in the fire hall so that it can be put in shape for a man to live in, in connection with the fire department, was left in the hands of the Town Property Committee to report at next meeting.

A by-law for the appointment of an assessor for the year 1909, was given its several readings, and the blanks filled in with the name of Geo. A. Cliff, at a salary of $200.00.

Moved by Coun. Gibbard, seconded by Reeve Ruttan, that the Solicitor take action against all those in arrears for granolithic walks, who refuse to pay for same. Carried.

The matter of W. C. Bowen's walk was left in the hands of the Street Committee to investigate and report.

NO LIQUOR: QUIET SUNDAY.

Barriefield, Kingston, Has a Remarkable Sabbath Experience.

To the instructions prohibiting the sale of liquor in Barriefield camp and the strict enforcement of the law by the camp authorities is due the credit of Sunday's quiet, orderly camp, the first in many years. Not a man could be observed within the camp lines under the influence of liquor, and in town the volunteers behaved themselves exceptionally well. It was a quiet day for the soldiers but it was much better than the Sundays in camp in previous years. Not only has the camp been orderly this year, but it has been unusually healthful. Only one serious illness has been reported thus far. Sergeant Thos. Reynolds, of Madoc, 49th Regiment, was removed by the A. M. C. on Saturday night to the station hospital.

Much-needed rains have fallen in the west.

KINGSFORD.

Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Kelly are visiting relatives in this vicinity, and are looking hale and hearty.—Rev. F. O. Fenton conducted the service in St. Jude's church, on Sunday morning in the absence of Dr. Purdy, who, with his bride, is expected home on the 25th.—Mrs. Jas. Doyle, we are sorry to say, is not enjoying good health. Also Mrs. Dewitt, who is visiting her daughter, Mrs. W. M. McCullough.—Rumor says a mammoth picnic in the near future in Mr. Jas. McHenry's grove.

McLEAN.

We all welcome Mr. Richmond back for another year, and wish him success.—The pathmasters have turned out with their men to do their statute labor this week. —We are sorry to say that Mrs. R. Vanvolkenburg is not any better, but hope for her recovery soon.—Mrs. Harvey Wood and family and Miss Berzie spent Saturday at Watson Lake, fishing.—Mrs. Walden Babcock spent the past week with friends here and at Wagarville. We are glad to see her so smart again.—Mr. James Wagar returned home from Prince Edward district, on Saturday, after spending a month there.—Mr. and Mrs. Richard Wagar and little son Harold, of Long Lake, at his brother's, Mr. James Wagar, on Sunday.—Mr. Charlie Walker, of Port Huron, Mich., is visiting friends here and at Wagarville, at present.—Mr. and Mrs. Frank Thompson spent Saturday and Sunday with friends at Enterprise.—Mr. and Mrs. Fred Vanvolkenburg and Miss Berzie at Mr. F. Kirkman's, Wagarville, on Sunday.—Misses Pearl and Lottie Wagar at their sister's, Mrs. Alfred Hearns, Wagarville, on Monday and Tuesday.—We were sorry to hear that Mrs. Rawley had another stroke on Saturday, but is better, it being a light one. This makes the third stroke inside of four years. We hope for a speedy recovery.—Mrs. George Sills at her daughter's, Mrs. D. Kirk, on Monday and Tuesday.—Miss Grace Rawley at G. Sills', one day last week.—Mrs. J. Wagar and Mrs. Wm. Arnie made a trip to Wagarville, on Friday.—Mrs. Gus Foster and Mrs. Walden Babcock spent Saturday at George Sills'.

NEWS NOTES.

The Synod of Huron has adopted the new hymn book.

Hon. Senator J. R. Thibeaudeau, Sheriff of Montreal, is dead.

The northern coast provinces of Honduras are reported to be in open revolt.

The two paintings stolen from Laval University, Quebec, were returned by a priest.

Hon. Rodolphe Lemieux visited Niagara camp to see the working of the new military postal system.

Captain Viau, of the Montreal fire brigade, told the commission that he had received bribe money for the promotion of men on the brigade. In one case he got $200, and as he had a lot of hard work on it he kept the money.

MY LUCKY DAY

Mr. Thomas Wylie (Box 384), Galt, says:—"It was the luckiest day of my life when I struck PSYCHINE, for I truly believe I shouldn't be alive now but for that.

"A neglected cold was the beginning of my trouble, and what seemed to be a simple ailment, soon developed into a serious and dangerous condition. I got so low that it was scarcely possible for me to walk around, and I lost so much flesh that I looked like a skeleton. I was just about ready to 'hand in my checks,' although only 20 years of age. The medicine the doctor gave me made me worse and I got disgusted. Then I struck PSYCHINE."

"PSYCHINE did miracles for me. The first bottle gave me new life and courage, and in less than no time I began to put on flesh rapidly, and I felt I was on the high road to recovery. My appetite returned, and I 'ate like a hunter,' as the saying goes. My friends were surprised, and hardly knew me. In three months I was as strong and well as ever, and returned to work in the mill. I have not had a day's illness since. Nobody could wish for better health than I enjoy, and it is all owing to PSYCHINE. It should be in everybody's hands."

A FACT PROVEN.

Should Convince Even the Most Skeptical of Its Truth.

If there is the slightest doubt in the minds of any that Dandruff germs do not exist, their belief is compelled by the fact that a rabbit innoculated with the germs became bald in six weeks' time.

It must be apparent to any person therefore that the only prevention of baldness is the destruction of the germ—which act is successfully accomplished in one hundred per cent. of cases by the application of Newbro's Herpicide.

Dandruff is caused by the same germ which causes baldness and can be prevented with the same remedy—Newbro's Herpicide.

Accept no substitute. "Destroy the cause you remove the effect."

MADE WELL AND STRONG

By Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Dovedale, Sask.—"I was a sufferer from female weakness—monthly periods irregular and painful and a bad discharge, backache and wretched headache, and had felt weak ever since the birth of my twins. I tried doctors but got no relief. I began to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and after three weeks I was feeling much better, and now I am well again." —Mrs. BESSIE BILY, Dovedale, Sask., Canada.

Another Woman Cured.

Christiana, Tenn.—"I suffered from the worst form of female trouble so that at times I thought I could not live, and my nerves were in a dreadful condition. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound cured me and made me feel like a different woman. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is worth its weight in gold to suffering women."—Mrs. MARY WOOD, R.F.D.

If you belong to that countless army of women who suffer from some form of female ills, don't hesitate to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs.

For thirty years this famous remedy has been the standard for all forms of female ills, and has cured thousands of women who have been troubled with such ailments as displacements, fibroid tumors, ulceration, irregularities, backache, and nervous prostration.

Anxious Moments For Young Mothers

The hot weather months are an anxious time for all mothers, but particularly for young mothers. They are the most fatal time of the year for babies and young children, because of the great previlance of stomach and bowel troubles. These come almost without warning and often before the mother realizes that there is danger the little one may be beyond aid. No other medicine can equal Baby's Own Tablets in promptly curing bowel and stomach troubles and an occasional dose given the well child will keep the stomach and bowels free from offending matter and ensure good health to the child. Therefore the Tablets should always be kept in the home as they may be the means of saving a little life. Sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

CROYDON.

The annual Sunday School picnic, which took place here, on Saturday last, was a decided success. The day was an ideal one, and a large crowd turned out, including visitors from Tamworth and Roblin. Everybody seemed to enjoy themselves. At 2.30 p.m. the crowd gathered on the ball grounds to witness a game of baseball between our local nine and Tamworth. Both managers put their strongest team on the field, and a splendid exhibition of the hit and run game was the result, it being the best game ever played here, as well as the closest. Tamworth won the game by one run. Score, Croydon 4, Tamworth 5. Wells and McAfeedid the battery work for the Greys, while Watters and Craig were on the firing line for the Shamrocks. Both pitchers twirled a great game, allowing only 5 hits each. Each team scored 1 run in the first. Tamworth scored another in the 2d, making the game stand 2-1 in their favor. Watters evened up in the 4th. Score 2-2. The Shamrocks went to the front in the sixth, scoring 2 runs. Tamworth managed to get 3 runs in the seventh, which ended the scoring, 4-5. The game was a pitcher's battle from start to finish. Wells had speed to burn, while Tommy Watters, the king pin of the diamond, was a sealed book to the greys. Watters was handicapped, owing to having his hand badly injured in a recent game. But Tommy stuck to his guns, pitching the nine innings with a badly swollen hand. With sharper fielding his team would undoubtedly have won out. Mr. Will Wagar, of Tamworth, umpired the game satisfactorily. The teams lined up as follows:

Croydon	Tamworth
Quinn, 3 b	Copeland, r.f.
Galbraith, r.f.	Paul, l.f.
Kimmitt, 1 b	Armstrong, 1 b
Craig, c	Wells, p
Watters, p	H. McAfee, c
Hannah, 2 b	Hughes, c.f.
Doupe, l.f.	Wagar, 3 b
Lynch, s.s.	E. McAfee, r.f.
Deline, c.f.	Dwyer, s.s.

Score by innings—

Tamworth	1	1	0	0	0	0	3	0	0	—5
Croydon	1	0	0	1	0	2	0	0	0	—4

Tell Some Sick-One

It Is Free If It Fails.

Will you do an act of Humanity?

Will you tell some sick friend of this, my remarkable offer?

Tell him or her, that you have learned of a medicine so certain that its maker dare say to the sick, "It is absolutely and unconditionally free if it fails."

And you, no doubt, already know of Dr. Shoop's Restorative and its popularity.

For 20 years it has been the standard remedy for Stomach, Kidney and Heart ailments everywhere in America.

When the "inside" or controlling nerves of these vital organs begin to fail, it is Dr. Shoop's Restorative that has quickly vitalized, and strengthened, and brought these nerves and organs back to health again.

I do not dose the Stomach, nor stimulate the Heart or Kidneys—for that is all wrong.

Dr. Shoop's Restorative goes direct to the cause of these ailments—the failing, faltering, inside or controlling nerves. And herein lies the keynote to my success.

When these nerves are again made well and strong, then that is the certain end of all such sickness.

To me it is a great satisfaction that I am the only physician able to say to the suffering sick, "Take my prescription for full 30 days, and if it fails to help you, the entire expense is mine—not yours."

Then why should the sick take any chance on any other medicine, whose maker dare not back it just as I do by this remarkable offer?

I also have a Rheumatic Remedy—and that remedy is covered by the same identical "No help, no pay" protective plan.

Besides, you are free to consult me just as you would your home physician. My advice and the book below are yours—and without cost.

Perhaps a word or two from me will clear up some serious ailment. I have helped thousands upon thousands by my private prescription or personal advice plan. My best effort is surely worth your simple request.

So let me send you an order at once. Take the message to some sick friend.

A postal will bring the opportunity.

I will have an honest and trustworthy druggist to whom you can conveniently go for the 30 day test.

But first, ask me for the order, for all druggists are not authorized to give the 30 day test.

So write me now and save all delays. Remember that tomorrow never comes. Address Dr. Shoop, Box 12, Racine, Wis.

THE BEST FLOUR:
DAFOE'S NONESUCH,
DAFOE'S MANITOBA PATENT.

By numerous tests by the best bakers the above mentioned grades have been proven to be the best flours in the market.

When buying flour, ask for Dafoe's, and patronize your home mill, thereby producing Bran and Shorts that you can purchase cheaper than the product of the Western mills, which has to be transported thousands of miles at great expense, and usually when it reaches you is of inferior quality.

The grocer complains if the farmer or the mechanic sends to Toronto or to outside points for an article he can get at the home store just as good, but he does not hesitate to buy flour from mills hundreds of miles away, and sells you an inferior flour for more money than you can purchase the home product for, every bag of which is guaranteed.

S. S. CONVENTION.

The Township of Richmond will hold their Convention in the Methodist church Selby, on the 1st day of July. There will be an afternoon and evening session, the afternoon session commencing at 2 p.m. and the evening session at 7.30 p.m. Mr. J. A. Jackson, B.A., General Secretary of the Provincial Association of Ontario will be present, and take a prominent part on the programme. Besides Mr. Jackson, Rev. C. L. Thompson, Rev. M. E. Sexsmith, of Newburgh, Rev. Mr. McConnell, of Roblin, Mr. D. A. Nesbit, of Newburgh, and Mr. Dunwoody, President of the County Association, will be with us to give any assistance necessary to make the meeting a success. We hope every Sunday School in the Township will be well represented at the Convention. We would especially ask all teachers in Sabbath Schools to be present and take part in the Teachers' Conference, which will be some time in the afternoon session. As the 1st day of July is a natural holiday, let there be a grand rally from every part of the Township, and make this Convention one of the most successful of this whole series. Entertainment will be provided for all visitors to the Convention. C. H. Spencer, Esq., of Roblin, President of Richmond Association, will occupy the chair. Come one. Come all.

If you ask the cook she will tell you there is a great difference in flavoring extracts, both as to flavor and strength. Our Pure Extract of Vanilla is made direct from the bean and is not a chemical product. We do not use coloring matter to darken. Altogether likely that cake that you ate at your neighbor's table, the like of which you never tasted before, was flavored with our extract. Try it for yourself. The Medical Hall.—Fred. L. Hooper.

NORTH FREDERICKSBURGH SUNDAY SCHOOL RALLY.

On Sunday, June 27th, 1909, the Township Organization will hold service at all the schools. Regular Sunday School session and following these addresses:

Sand Hill, Presbyterian, 9.15 a.m.—T. A. Dunwoody, Esq., County President.

Hay Bay, Methodist, 10.30 a.m.—J. M. Joyce, Esq.

Anderson, Methodist, 10 a.m.—Rev. J. S. Annsley.

Gretna, Methodist, 10 a.m.—W. T. Gibbard, Esq.

Bethany, Methodist, 10 a.m.—Rev. C. W. DeMille.

At 2.30 p.m., a grand rally will be held at Gretna church. Special music. J. A. Jackson, General Secretary of the Ontario S. S. Association, will be present, and deliver an address. Also Rev. J. S. Annsley and T. A. Dunwoody. J. M. Joyce, Township President, will preside.

A liberal collection is asked for at each meeting in aid of the County work.

Clark spent Sunday with friends in Kennebec.

CARMANVILLE.

An old and respected resident in the person of Mr. Thomas Sheen, passed peacefully away on Friday last. Deceased had been suffering with dropsy for the past two years. Mr. Sheen was born in Ireland about eighty-three years ago. In religion he was a Roman Catholic. The funeral took place on Monday to the Church of the Annunciation, Chippewa, where a solemn requiem mass was sung by Rev. Father O'Rielly, for the repose of his soul. His remains were interred in the family plot at Centreville. He leaves to mourn his loss a loving wife and two daughters, Mrs. L. Byrnes and Mary.—Rain is greatly needed in this vicinity, as everything looks very dry.—Mr. and Mrs. Martin Kenny made a trip to Cloyne, last week.—Miss Hannah O'Neil, of Erinsville, is spending a couple of weeks with her aunt, Mrs. J. Hinch.—Mr. Abner Storms is on the sick list.—Miss Burnadette Dowling and brother John spent Sunday at Mr. John Kelly's.—Mr. Michael Hinch entertained a number of his friends on Sunday.—The annual picnic of Chippewa will be held on the 7th July, at Varty Lake grove. All trains stop at the picnic grounds. A big time is expected. Come one, come all.

MARLBANK.

An ice cream festival was held in the Methodist church last Friday night. A good crowd turned out, and everything passed off successfully.

BATH.

It is a general regret in our village to part with Miss M. Edwards, who has closed her terms of teaching in our school. She was unable to close her school term regularly on account of illness, but we are pleased she has so far recovered as to go to her home in Napanee. Her mother, Mrs. (Dr.) Edwards was with her during her sickness. We cannot let the event of her going out from among us pass without expressing the very high regard and esteem in which she was held by young and old and all classes in our village. She was most capable and ever ready so far as her strength would permit, to assist in all the interests of our village. In our library, in the entertainments, under various auspices, in our town hall and in the churches, especially the Methodist church of which she was a member. She will be greatly missed in the many departments of the church the Ladies' Aid, W. M. S., the Sunday School as a teacher, the E. L. as a President, the choir as a leader. It is the wish of her many friends of Bath that she may recover her health and strength, and fully enjoy the days of the passing summer and know she ever lives in the hearts of the people of Bath.

NEWBURGH.

In the list of promotions in the High School last week the name of Fred Deare should have appeared fourth in the list of promotions from Form III. B. to Form III. A. of the Middle school.

Principal Flach, of Napanee, is conducting the Departmental examinations here this week. Principal Denyes is presiding at Bath and Inspector Nesbit in Napanee.

The lawn social on Thursday evening last was a decided success. A fine evening, a good crowd and plenty of ice cream and strawberries contributed to the success of the evening. The Odessa band furnished excellent music, and local talent provided a good programme. Rev. M. E. Sexsmith presided, and short addresses were made by Rev. Spencer, of the Anglican church, and Rev. Gandier, of the Presbyterian Church. The net proceeds were about $32.00.

Miss Florence Scriver, Napanee, spent Sunday with her cousin, Miss Aleta Scriver.

Harry Miles, Peterboro', is visiting his sister, Mrs. Geo. W. Walker.

Miss Mary Beeman, Athens, arrived home on Tuesday, to spend the holidays with her parents, Dr. and Mrs. M. I. Beeman.

Miss Pearl Wood, of Toronto Conservatory of Music is home for the holidays.

Mrs. Wood spent a few days in Toronto last week.

Mrs. F. D. Moore left on Tuesday for an extended visit to her home in Iroquois.

Our soldier boys returned from camp on Saturday.

New granolithic crossings are being put in this week.

Charles Welbanks is having a well drilled on his premises.

Mrs. P. D. Shorey and children are visiting her parents in Canifton.

A number of Masons from the 'burgh attended service in Tamworth on Sunday with the Tamworth lodge.

The Bishop of Ontario will administer the rite of Confirmation in St. John's Church, next Sunday, at 3 p.m.

Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Wager, Enterprise, spent Sunday at J. M. Denyes'.

The Committee having in charge the Methodist Church excursion to the Thousand Islands on July 21st, received word this week that the Str. America will arrive in Kingston at 9 o'clock that evening. Arrangements have therefore been made to have the special train waiting at the dock, and all will be home in early time. Remember the special leaves Napanee at 12 noon, Newburgh 12.20. It is the talk of the town. Better come along. Fare only one dollar. Both channels. Home in the twilight. Patronize a good cause, and have the finest outing of the season.

Our local musicians, Misses Pearl Wood, Aleta Scriver, Caroline Finkle and Pearl Nesbit were successful in passing their examinations of the Toronto Conservatory of Music with honors.

Miss Williamson, of Kingston, is the guest of Mrs. T. A. Dunwoody.

George Shorey, the little southpaw, who received his baseball education on the local diamond, and who is now in Winnipeg, is playing great ball for the Lyceum team of the city league of Winnipeg. In the opening game he pitched for the Lyceums and held the heavy hitting Shamrocks, last year's champions, to 6 hits, his team winning by 5-1. The Winnipeg Telegram in its account of the game, says: "Lefty Shorey, alias Sporer was there with the goods in the pitching line and though the Shams hit him hard they were unable to connect safely at opportune times, and with fast fielding the kid pitcher got off with a well earned victory."

DOMINION DAY SPORTS.

SPLENDID RACES—GOOD BASEBALL MATCH—FAST MARATHON RACE.

Dominion Day passed off very nicely in Napanee as usual. An average crowd was in attendance at the Park, where first-class sports were provided. Picton Band furnished music during the day, which was thoroughly enjoyed by all.

Owing to the lateness of the hour in going to press and getting the report in this week's Beaver, we are only able to print a summary of the sports.

5-MILE MARATHON RACE.

The Marathon race of five miles for amateurs, under the auspices of the Napanee Amateur Athletic Association, proved a good drawing card. The race was remarkably fast, the winner's time being 28 minutes and 23 seconds. Following are the entries, their position and time:

1. Dyer, Deseronto 28.23
2. Cole, Deseronto... ... ... 28.45
3. Foster, Napanee... ... ... 31.00
4. Burman, Belleville... ... ... 33.00

Brown, Napanee ...did not finish
Vanluven, Napanee, did not finish

The prizes which were donated by the N. A. A. A. were:—1st, a beautiful $15.00 clock; 2d, $12.00 silver water pitcher; 3d, Dress Suit Case.

The Judges were: J. N. Osborne, G. F. Ruttan, K.C., T. M. Wilson, J. S. Madill, Dr. R. C. Cartwright.

We understand that the Association intends having a field day in the fall.

HORSE RACES.

The horse races were splendid. The heats were closely contested and the committee are to be congratulated on the success attending their efforts.

BASEBALL MATCH

Napanee, 13; Kingston, 11.

The baseball match was a splendid exhibition from a spectator's standpoint. Although the score was quite large, still there were some phenomenal plays pulled off. In one innings Napanee nearly made a triple play, only for an error on the part of one of the locals.

Following is a summary:

SELBY.

The sock social given by the Epworth League, on Friday evening last, was a grand success. The school room of the church being entirely too small to accommodate the large audience, they were ushered to the auditorium, where every available seat was occupied. The sewing contest caused much merriment, the prize being won by Mr. Willie McLeod and Miss Edna Hudgins. The net profits exceeded $40.00.—We are pleased to report our sick very much improved.—Mr. Alfred Dodge, who has been so seriously indisposed, is convalescing, under Dr. Ward's treatment.—Misses Mabel Denison, Sara Fitzpatrick, Stella Hudgins and Helen Ballence are spending their holidays with their respective parents.—Miss Ollie Armstrong is visiting her grandmother, Mrs. Wood.—Dr. and Mrs. Purdy have returned from their honeymoon, and have taken residence in the rectory. We extend to them our best wishes.—Another little farm hand has sought food and shelter at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Grange. Congratulations.

TAMWORTH.

Mrs. Priestley, Mrs. Kelley and Mrs. Howse, of Watertown, and Philadelphia, visited at Jay Taylor's, on Friday last.—John Gardner and wife, Kingston, visited Mrs. D. E. Rose last week.—John Files returned home to visit his mother, Mrs. McDonald, after an absence of 8 years in Forsythe, Montana.—Ed. Thornton and wife spent Sunday in town.—Ed. Roy and Mr. Vanalstyne, of Napanee, were in town on Monday to repair a boat for C. R. Jones.—Miss Berniece Saul has gone to Winnipeg, Man., to visit her father and friends.—Mr. and Mrs. Chant, of Newburgh, at Stanley Wagar's.—George Pope, Peterboro', at L. Way's.—Miss Maggie Ward, Picton, at home.—There were 44 children from several towns here last week to try the entrance exams.—Floyd's boots take the lead. Call and see them.—The Brethern of L. O. L. No. 159, will meet in their hall at 10 o'clock on July 4th, and then march to the Methodist church, where the Rev. Bro. F. S. Dixon will address them. All visiting brethern are cordially invited.—Special meeting of G. F. C. on Friday, July 2d, at 7.30 p.m., at the home of the President, Mrs. Russell Thomas.

Rureka Fountain Sprayers, Fly Oil, Machine Oil, Hay Forks, Hay Rakes. BOYLE & SON.

DESERONTO.

Mrs. Hutton came up from Ottawa to attend the funeral of her grandfather, Abner Stratton, who died last week, and intends making a visit to her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Archer.

A number of young people from Marysville took in the Bible Christians' meeting on Sunday evening.

The str. North King was 2½ hours late on her first daily trip on Tuesday morning.

Miss Nellie McDonald, of Oswego, who has been visiting her parents in town for the past month, has returned to the above city, very much improved in health, the result of her outing.

The baseball teams, the Hasbeens and the Wouldbes, are practising every evening, and are to pick a nine out of the bunch to play the Lonsdaleites on Saturday next. An exciting game is expected.

Mrs. James, Miss Ada and Master Kenneth Sexsmith are spending a few days with friends in Newburgh.

T. N. McCormick, of the G. T. R. Union station, Toronto, formerly of the B. Q. R., passed through on his way to the Limestone City, where he intends to spend his vacation.

Robt. A. Sager is spending a few days in Rochester.

It speaks well for the enterprising merchants in town? They are able to keep their doors shut and windows closed to keep the dust out, and the sprinkler in the bone yard. A penny wise and pound foolish.

The Aletha brought in a goodly number from Belleville, by moonlight on Tuesday evening. They were given a healthy reception.

A very sad drowning accident occurred on Monday evening, when the Bay of Quinte claimed a promising young life in the person of Clair Parks, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. E. Parks, Dundas st., aged 16 years and 9 months. After tea he told his mother he was going to have a bath, and accompanied by his brother and several others, they went to the dip, near Warren's boat house, and stripping he jumped in and sank. He did not come to the surface again until pulled out. Everything known to the skill of resuscitation was done, but without avail. It is supposed he was caught with cramps, caused by coming in contact with the cold water, the heat that day being intense, leaving him powerless. The body was taken to Allum's undertaking parlor, and thence to his home, where such a short time before he left as happy as a boy of that age could be. The funeral took place on Tuesday, to the cemetery and placed in the vault, the firemen, of which organization he was an esteemed member, turning out in uniform. The father, who made a record run from Manitoulin, arrived on Tuesday evening, a little late for the funeral. The parents and family have the sincere sympathy of the town in their severe loss. A peculiar coincidence that out of the number going from here to Manitoulin in the spring, four of them have received notice of the death of a near relative, Messrs. Burns, Gaulin, Davern and Parks.

Mr. and Mrs. Thos. J. Flood, of Rochester, N.Y., came in on Tuesday morning on str. North King, for a few months' visit in town and vicinity.

Mr. A. M. Valleau, of the Bank of Montreal, Quebec, arrived home on Saturday, and intends spending part of his vacation in town with his parents, Collector and Mrs. Valleau.

Mr. and Mrs. Garrison, of Belleville, spent Sunday in town with friends.

Circus is the live topic in town these days. The ones that went and "saw" giving the benefit of their experiences to the less fortunate by a graphic description of things of interest.

The soldiers arrived home on Saturday hale and hearty and "well done" with the sun, and with the expression on their bronzed faces to make you think of home sweet home.

The fire alarm sounded about 12.30 on Saturday, which brought the firemen from a good dinner to a blaze in the Rathbun Co's. old coal shed, east of the steamboat dock, which was quickly extinguished.

The str. North King came from Charlotte on Sunday 6 a.m. for 1000 Islands, with a good number of passengers. The str. Caspian right behind her, with a private party from Buffalo, through the Bay of Quinte to 1000 Islands, going home by lake route.

The str. Belleville was at the dock shortly afterwards on her way to Hamilton.

Str. Alexandria arrived from Charlotte 3 hours late.

Schooner Two Voges cleared for Oswego with lumber and posts.

The schooner Wm. Jamisson left for Oakville with part of Forresters' Island on board, the remains of the pavillion and hotel.

Miss Loretta McKenney, of Brant street, is spending a well earned vacation with friends in the country, after a month's strenuous work preparing for her various exams. in Deseronto High School.

Main street is nice and clean and clear of dust, without any cost, the wind doing the trick, but look out for sand in the sugar.

The young people are all anxious. The question is "Do you think you passed?" I'm afraid I didn't. The Beaver will be a welcome guest next week.

Strawberries were cheap on Tuesday. A few getting in on the ground floor at 5c a box.

CORNS ARE WORSE IN HOT WEATHER.

Get rid of them now. 15c will do it. To be had at Wallace's Drug Store. Sent by mail on receipt of 18 cents in stamps. For sweaty feet just procure a 25 cent tin of our Foot Easem.

HOW SHE TOOK IT.

BATTLEY—McMULLEN.

A quiet but pretty wedding took place at St. Patrick's R. C. Church, Montreal, at 7 o'clock in the morning of June 7th, when the marriage was solemnized of Miss Mary (Mamie) McMullen, eldest daughter of Mrs. J. McMullen, and Mr. J. B. Battley, of that city, Rev. Father McShane officiating. The bride, who was given away by her brother, Mr. P. M. McMullen, was attired in a traveling suit of navy blue broadcloth, and magnificent white picture hat, and wore the groom's gift, a sunburst of diamonds, and carried a bouquet of lillies of the valley. Little Helen Killoran, of Tamworth, Ont., niece of the bride, was flower girl, and looked sweet in an empire gown of white mull with Directoire sash. Mr. Frank Kearns ably supported the groom. A very dainty wedding breakfast was served at the home of the bride's mother, after which Mr. and Mrs. Battley left on the 8.10 train for a wedding trip east, the bride donning a pretty hat of navy tuscan braid with forget-me-nots. A reception was held afterwards, and a sumptuous dinner served to a large number of friends, the decorations being all carried out in the bride's favorite flower, the lily of the valley. Mr. and Mrs. Bartley will spend the summer home and will be at home to their many friends after Sept. 1st.

DESERONTO WEDDING.

A very pretty house wedding took place on Wednesday evening, June 23d, at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. John Cannon, Deseronto, when their daughter, Miss Ella Nora, was united in marriage to Mr. Herbert R. Histed, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Histed, of Camden East. Lohengrin's wedding march was played by Mrs. George Dennis, of Longford, sister of the bride. The ceremony took place under an arch of evergreens and white flowers in which was hung a huge floral bell. Rev. G. H. Copeland, pastor of the Methodist Church, officiated.

The fair bride was becomingly attired in a handsome gown of crepe de chine in semi-princess with panel of old silk lace and satin ribbon, wearing a net veil with orange blossom wreath, also carrying a shower bouquet of same. Miss Ethel Blakely, of Picton, cousin of the bride, was bridesmaid, looking very sweet in a gown of pale blue silk mull and carrying a bouquet of orange blossoms, while Mr. Stanley Kerr, of Petworth, cousin of the groom, was groomsman. The young couple received congratulations, after which wedding breakfast was served to seventy invited guests, the bride's table looking very pretty. The toasts were from Rev. G. H. Copeland and was responded to by the groom; also from Mr. Galbraith, of Camden East, and Mr. Geo. Pierson, of Deseronto. The gifts received by the bride were numerous and costly, coming from friends in Toronto, Kingston, Camden East, Harrowsmith, Newburgh, Yarker, Picton, Millford, Moscow, Sydenham and Wilton. The choir of the Methodist Church presented her with a silver nut bowl. The groom's gift to his bride was a gold watch and chain, to the bridesmaid a pearl crescent and to the groomsman a pair of gold cuff links. Mr. and Mrs. Histed took the 1.45 p.m. train amid the usual rice and confetti showers, for Sudbury and towns west for a short trip, after which they will reside at Camden East, where the groom has a responsible position. The many friends of the bride wish her and her husband a happy and joyous future.

Chancellor Von Buelow of Germany has intimated that he will retire as soon as his finance reform measures have been disposed of.

TOWN COUNCIL.

Council Chambers,
Napanee, June 29th, 1909.

Council met on Tuesday evening, as per adjournment, Mayor Simpson presiding.

Members present—Councillors Alexander, Burrows, Kimmerly, Steacy.

COMMUNICATIONS.

From W. S. Herrington, Town Solicitor, giving a statement of the case—Cartwright vs. Napanee—in which the town won. The total cost of expenses re same amounted to $115.00 for the town. On motion the report was ordered filed and the account ordered paid.

From W. J. Normile, saying the town was asking Mr. Fellows for payment for a cement walk, which was provided for before Mr. Normile started it, he, at that time, being Chairman of the Streets Committee. Referred to the Streets Committee to investigate and report.

Mr. Burrows, Chairman of the Streets Cammittee, reported that, in the matter of Mr. C. W. Bowen's cement walk, Mr. Bowen had never signed the requisition, and the walk was not built according to his wish. They recommended the placing of cement or stone piers under the covered bridge. That a discount of five per cent. be given on all cement walks that are paid for within thirty days after completion. The Committee found that the cost of cement walks was less than 12c per square foot where a moderate amount of filling was required, and they recommended that the price be 10c., except in cases where a large amount of filling had to be done. They also recommended that the necessary tools for putting down cement walks be purchased. The attention of the Council was directed to the non-observance of the by-law regarding the placing of merchandise upon our streets. On motion the report, as a whole, was adopted.

A petition was received from Mrs. Martha Finkle, Jas. A. Pringle, Wesley Vanalstine and Mrs. S. E. Bryers, asking for a cement walk on Centre street in front of their respective premises, the work to be done on the usual terms. On motion the prayer of the petition was granted.

A petition was also received from D. L. Greene, J. W. Hambly, Mrs. S. M. Vandewater, and Mr. Brown, asking for a cement walk on Centre street in front of their premises, the work to be done on the usual terms. On motion the prayer of the petition was granted.

Mr. Alexander, Chairman of the Town Property Committee, reported that the town had no claim against the builder re the roof of the Public Library building, as the time lapses in five years. He also said that an expert had examined the roof and stated it could not be repaired and made watertight without putting on a new roof.

On motion the Committee were instructed to make an estimate of the cost of a new roof for the Public Library and report at next meeting.

A by-law was passed appointing Mr. Frank H. Perry as tax collector for the year 1909, at a salary of $200.00 and postage not to exceed $10.00.

ACCOUNTS.

The following accounts were ordered to be paid:

MRS. GEORGE D. ROBLIN.

On June 21st, 1909, there died at Kingston General Hospital, a most lovable and amiable woman in the person of Mrs. George D. Roblin. Her illness, which extended over many years, was borne by that Christian patience and forbearance which characterized her all through life. Her Christian character and loving disposition endeared her to all who knew her. Her sorrowing husband spared no pains or expense to prolong her life, the best physicians and the most skillful nurse available were employed, and all that human skill could do, was done. The funeral, which was the largest ever seen in this community, was held at Mount Carmel, the services being conducted by Rev. A. L. Brown, of Milford. As has been said of an other good person if all to whom she had said a kind word or done a kind deed could have been present at her grave side to cast in their tribute of flowers, she would sleep today beneath a wilderness of flowers. The remains were laid to rest in Glenwood cemetery, Picton. She has been gathered to her father's, and all we can say is peace to her ashes and a grateful monument her memory.

One-fifth of a cent a cup is certainly an economical drink, and yet this is all that "Salada" Tea costs. One pound costing 40c. will make over 250 cups of the purest and most delicious tea in the world.

MOTION TO QUASH TOWN BY-LAW REFUSED.

Sir Richard Cartwright Claimed That Tax Rate Was Improperly Increased.

Mr. Justice Clute on Monday in single court refused, but without costs, the motion of Mr. G. Bell, K.C., on behalf of Sir Richard John Cartwright, of Ottawa, in his action against the corporation of the Town of Napanee, for an order to quash by-law No. 786, passed by the corporation on August 3d last, to levy the rate for raising taxes for 1908. Sir Richard is the owner of property in Napanee worth between $40,000 and $50,000, and among the grounds of his application were: That a rate of 18½ mills in the dollar, exclusive of school rates, had been assessed and levied by by-law 764 for the period from August, 1907, to August, 1908, and the rate of 19 mills by by-law 786 for the period from August, 1908, to the end of that year added thereto, made the rate for the calendar year 1908 exceed the aggregate rate of 2c in the dollar, exclusive of school rates, contrary to the provisions of sec. 402 of the municipal act; that certain amounts included in the estimated expenditure mentioned in by-law 786, totalling $17,037.35, were improperly included therein, and had the effect of improperly increasing the rate imposed by the by-law; that a balance of $1,825.14 on hand at or before the passing of by-law 786 from the sums realized from rates of debentures on or about June 30th, 1908, and July 21st, 1908, after payment of the overdraft in the Merchants' and Crown Banks and the cost of a sewer was improperly omitted from the receipts mentioned in by-law 786, thus improperly increasing the rate thereby imposed, and that the school rates for the ensuing year 1909 were and ought not to have been imposed by the said by-law, and that the rate of 8 mills in the dollar imposed by by-law 786 was greater than was required for school purposes. Dr. Richard Conway Cartwright, son of Sir Richard, and his agent for the properties, says in an affidavit that the Municipal Council have been in the habit of assessing and levying the school rates for a year ahead, so that at the beginning of each year they usually have the larger portion of the school rates intended to carry them through that year on hand, and that they have been in the habit of treating same as a debt from the corporation to the school board; that this was so at the beginning of 1908, and that in August, 1908, a portion of the school rates for that year assessed and levied in 1907, amounting to $4,725, was to the credit of the school board, notwithstanding which that amount was again included in the by-law 786, as well as the school rates for the ensuing year, and that the rate of 8 mills in the dollar imposed by the said by-law was greater than was required for school purposes. Other matters referring to electric light works debentures, sewer debentures, etc., are included in Dr. Cartwright's affidavit, and made further grounds of the motion. Messrs. C. A. Masten, K.C., and W. S. Herrington, K.C., acted for the town. His Lordship directed that the money paid into court in connection with the matter be paid out to the applicant.

Note.—In an interview with Dr. Cartwright he said he was sorry to see that the Judge had not given a decision as to the legality of assessing the town 45 mills for 17 months. The doctor moreover said that he did not wish to put the town to any extra expense, but that he was anxious to find out if the Council had the right to violate the statutes in the matter of excessive taxation, and that he intended taking the matter to the Court of Appeal.

PROMOTION EXAMS OF DESERONTO HIGH SCHOOL.

The following is the result of the recent Promotion Exams. in the Deseronto High School. The results in each of the forms are divided into two classes, A. and B. Class A includes all those candidates who secured the required aggregate of 60 per cent. in the weekly exams. throughout the year. The number after some of the names indicates that these candidates, while successful in securing the required aggregate, failed to secure the necessary minimum in one or more subjects, but later passed satisfactory exams. therein.

Class B contains the names of those who failed to secure standing in Class A. and who had to take a final examination in all the subjects of the course.

With each name is the average percentage obtained throughout all the examinations. A small bonus on a sliding scale is given to those candidates of Class A. taking French or Latin or both, who secured an average minimum of 50 per cent. in these subjects throughout the term.

No bonus is granted to the candidates in Class B.

For the candidates in Class B a minimum of 40 per cent. and [illegible] cent. is accepted as a pass. [illegible] cent. entitles the candidate to [illegible]

FORM II.

Relation of the Liver and Kidneys

FUNCTIONS SUCH THAT EACH SUFFERS WHEN THE OTHER IS DERANGED

COMPLICATED CASES CAN ONLY BE CURED BY COMBINED TREATMENT SUCH AS VITOL.

The liver filters poison from the blood. The kidneys also filter poisons from the blood. When the liver becomes sluggish and torpid in action, or is giving too much work by over eating, the kidneys have to help out with the work of filtration, therefore the kidneys are overtaxed. The result—Biliousness, indigestion and constipation, and after a time the kidneys are affected and you have a backache, urinary derangements and kidney disease. You feel drowsy, lazy, tired, skin becomes dry and hot. Fig Pills will put you right at once; they cleanse the liver and the kidneys and purify the blood. You feel like a new person. ECZEMA CURABLE? PROVEN!

ATTORNEY AT MOLINE, ILL., CONVINCED BY OIL OF WINTERGREEN COMPOUND.

There is nothing that will convince a lawyer except evidence.

Now, here is some rather startling evidence of a simple home cure for eczema which convinced one lawyer, [illegible] Striken, attorney at Moline, Ill., found how oil of wintergreen compound mixed with thymol and glycerine, as in D. D. D. Prescription, cured him in two days after thirty-two years of suffering.

"For 33 years," writes Attorney Striken, "I was troubled with eczema scabs all over my face, body and scalp; could run a hair brush over my head and the door would be covered with scabs enough to fill a basket. I tried everything—salves, internal medicines—all without result.

"Just a month ago I was induced to try D. D. D. Prescription. The itch was relieved instantly, so I continued, and just a month now and I am completely cured. I have not a particle of eczema and the scales have dropped off.

"I can only say again, [illegible] COVERED. I am now [illegible] eczema sufferers on the right track."

CHAPTER XII.

MR. CAREWE returned one warm May afternoon by the 6 o'clock boat, which was sometimes a day late and sometimes a few hours early, the latter contingency arising, as in the present instance, when the owner was aboard. Nelson drove him from the wharf to the bank, where he conferred briefly in an undertone with Eugene Madrillon, after which Eugene sent a note containing three words to Tappingham Marsh. Marsh tore up the note and sauntered over to the club, where he found General Trumble and Jefferson Bareaud.

"He has come," said Tappingham, pleased to find the pair the only occupants of the place. "He saw Madrillon, and there's a session tonight."

"Praise the Lord!" exclaimed the stout general, rising to his feet. "I'll see old Chenoweth at once. My fingers have the itch."

"And mine, too," said Bareaud. "I'd begun to think we'd never have a go with him again."

"You must see that Crailey comes. We want a full table. Drag him if you can't get him any other way."

"He won't need urging," said Jefferson.

"But he cut us last time."

"He won't cut tonight. What hour?"

"Nine," answered Tappingham. "It's to be a full sitting, remember."

"Don't fear for us," laughed Trumble.

"Now for Crailey," Jefferson added. "After so long a vacation you couldn't keep him away if you chained him to the courthouse pillars. He'd tear 'em in two!"

But Jefferson did not encounter the alacrity of acceptance he expected from Crailey when he found him half an hour later at the hotel. Indeed, at first Mr. Gray not only refused outright, but seriously urged the same course upon Jefferson. Moreover, his remonstrance was offered in such good faith that Bareaud, in the act of swallowing one of his large doses of quinine, paused with only half the powder down his throat, gazing, nonplused, at his prospective brother-in-law.

"My immortal soul!" he gasped. "Is this Crailey Gray? What's the trouble?"

"Nothing," replied Gray quietly. "Only don't go; you've lost enough."

"Well, you're a beautiful one!" Jefferson exclaimed, with an incredulous laugh. "You're a master hand. You to talk about losing enough!"

"I know, I know," Crailey began, shaking his head, "but"—

"You've promised Fanchon never to go again, and you're afraid Miss Betty will see or hear us and tell her you were there."

"I don't know Miss Carewe."

"Then you needn't fear. Besides, she'll be out when we come and asleep when we go. She will never know we've been in the house."

"That has nothing to do with it," said Crailey impatiently, and he was the more earnest because he remembered the dangerous geography of the Carewe house, which made it impossible for any one to leave the cupola room except by the long hall which passed certain doors. "I will not go, and, what's more, I promised Fanchon I'd try to keep you out of it hereafter."

"Lord, but we're virtuous!" laughed the incredulous Jefferson. "I'll come for you at a quarter to 9."

"I will not go, I tell you."

Jefferson roared. "Yes, you will. You couldn't keep from it if you tried!" And he took himself off, laughing violently, again promising to call for Crailey on his way to the tryst and leaving him still warmly protesting that it would be a great folly for either of them to go.

Crailey looked after the lad's long, thin figure with an expression as near anger as he ever wore. "He'll go," he said to himself.

"And—ah, well—I'll have to risk it! I'll go with him, but only to try to bring him away early—that is, as early as it's safe to be sure that they are asleep downstairs. And I won't play. No, I'll not play; I'll not play."

He went out of the hotel by a side door. Some distance up the street Bareaud was still to be seen, lounging homeward in the pleasant afternoon sunshine. He stopped on a corner and serenely poured another quinine powder into himself and threw the paper to a couple of pigs that looked up from the gutter maliciously.

"Confound him!" said Crailey, laughing ruefully. "He makes me a missionary—for I'll keep my word to Fanchon in that, at least! I'll look after Jefferson tonight. Ah, I might as well be old Tom Vanrevel, indeed!"

Meanwhile Mr. Carewe had taken possession of his own again. His daughter ran to the door to meet him. She was trembling a little and, blushing and smiling, held out both her hands to him, so that Mrs. Tanberry vowed this was the loveliest creature in the world, and the kindest.

Mr. Carewe bowed slightly, as to an acquaintance, and disregarded the extended hands.

At that the blush faded from Miss Betty's cheeks, she trembled no more, and a salutation as icy as her father's was returned to him. He bent his heavy brows upon her and shot a black glance her way, being, of course, immediately enraged by her reflection of his own manner, but he did not speak to her.

Nor did he once address her during the evening meal, preferring to honor Mrs. Tanberry with his conversation, to that diplomatic lady's secret anger, but outward amusement. She cheerfully neglected to answer him at times, having not the slightest awe of him, and turned to the girl instead; indeed, she was only prevented from rating him soundly at his own table by the fear that she might make the situation more difficult for her young charge. As soon as it was possible she made her escape with Miss Betty, and they drove away in the twilight to pay visits of duty, leaving Mr. Carewe frowning at his coffee on the veranda.

When they came home three hours later Miss Betty noticed that a fringe of illumination bordered each of the heavily curtained windows in the cupola, and she uttered an exclamation, for she had never known that room to be lighted.

"Look!" she cried, touching Mrs. Tanberry's arm, as the horses trotted through the gates under a drizzle of rain. "I thought the room in the cupola was empty. It's always locked, and when I came from St. Mary's he told me that old furniture was stored there."

Mrs. Tanberry was grateful for the darkness. "He may have gone there to read," she answered in a queer voice. "Let us go quietly to bed, child, so as not to disturb him."

Betty had as little desire to disturb her father as she had to see him; therefore she obeyed her friend's injunction and went to her room on tiptoe. The house was very silent as she lit the candles on her bureau. Outside the gentle drizzle and the soothing tinkle from the eaves were the only sounds. Within there was but the faint rustle of garments from Mrs. Tanberry's room. Presently the latter ceased to be heard, and a wooden moan of protest from the four poster upon which the good lady reposed announced that she had drawn the curtains and wooed the rulers of Nod.

Although it was one of those nights of which they say, "It is a good night to sleep," Miss Betty was not drowsy. She had half unfastened one small sandal, but she tied the ribbons again and seated herself by the open window. Peering out into the dismal night, she found her own future as black, and it seemed no wonder that the sisters loved the convent life; that the pale nuns forsook the world wherein there was so much useless unkindness, where women were petty and jealous, like that cowardly Fanchon, and men who looked great were tricksters, like Fanchon's betrothed. Miss Betty clinched her delicate fingers. She would not remember that white, startled face again.

Another face helped her to shut out the recollection—that of the man who had come to mass to meet her yesterday morning and with whom she had taken a long walk afterward. He had shown her a quaint old English gardener who lived on the bank of the river, had bought her a bouquet, and she had helped him to select another to send to a sick friend. How beautiful the flowers were and how happy he had made the morning for her with his gayety, his lightness and his odd wisdom! Was it only yesterday? Her father's coming had made yesterday a fortnight old.

But the continuously pattering rain and the soft drip, drop from the roof, though as mournful as she chose to find them, began after awhile to weave their somnolent spells, and she slowly drifted from reveries of unhappy sorts into half dreams, in which she was still aware she was awake, yet slumber, heavy eyed, stirring from the curtains beside her with the small night breeze, breathed strange distortions upon familiar things, and drowsy impossibilities moved upon the surface of her thoughts. Her chin, resting upon her hand, sank gently until her head almost lay upon her relaxed arms.

"That is mine, Crailey Gray!"

She sprang to her feet, immeasurably startled, one hand clutching the back of her chair, the other tremulously pressed to her cheek, convinced that her father had stooped over her and shouted the sentence in her ear. For it was his voice, and the house rang with the words. All the rooms, halls, and even the walls, still seemed murmurous with the sudden sound, like the tinkling of a bell after it has been struck. And yet—everything was quiet.

She pressed her fingers to her forehead, trying to untangle the maze of dreams which had evolved this shock for her, the sudden clamor in her father's voice of a name she hated and hoped never to hear again, a name she was trying to forget, but as she was unable to trace anything which had led to it there remained only the conclusion that her nerves were not what they should be. The vapors having become obsolete for young ladies as an explanation for all unpleasant sensations, they were instructed to have "nerves." This was Miss Betty's first consciousness of her own, and, desiring no greater acquaintance with them, she told herself it was unwholesome to fall asleep in a chair by an open window when the night was as sad as she.

Turning to a chair in front of the small oval mirror of her bureau, she unclasped the brooch which held her lace collar and, seating herself, began to unfasten her hair. Suddenly she paused, her uplifted arms falling mechanically to her sides.

Some one was coming through the long hall with a soft, almost inaudible step, a step which was not her father's. She knew at once, with instinctive certainty, that it was not he. Nor was it Nelson, who would have shuffled; nor could it be the vain Mamie, nor one of the other servants, for they did not sleep in the house. It was a step more like a woman's, though certainly it was not Mrs. Tanberry's.

Betty rose, took a candle and stood silent for a moment, the heavy tresses of her hair, half unloosed, falling upon her neck and left shoulder in folds of a dark drapery.

At the slight rustle of her rising the steps ceased instantly. Her heart set up a wild beating, and the candle shook in her hand. But she was brave and young, and, following an irresistible impulse, she ran across the room, flung open the door and threw the light of the candle into the hall, holding it at arm's length before her.

She came almost face to face with Crailey Gray.

The blood went from his cheeks as a swallow flies down from a roof. He started back against the opposite wall with a stifled groan, while she stared at him blankly and grew as deathly pale as he.

He was a man of great resource in all emergencies which required a quick tongue, but for the moment this was beyond him. He felt himself lost, toppling backward into an abyss, and the uselessness of his destruction made him physically sick. For he need not have been there; he had not wished to come; he had well counted the danger to himself, and this one time in his life had gone to the cupola room out of good nature. But Bareaud had been obstinate, and Crailey had come away alone, hoping that Jefferson might follow. And here he was, poor trapped rat, convicted and ruined because of a good action! At last he knew consistency to be a jewel and that a greedy boy should never give a crust; that a fool should stick to his folly, a villain to his deviltry and each hold his own; for the man who thrusts a good deed into a life of lies is wound about with perilous passes, and in his devious ways a thousand unexpected damnations spring.

Beaten, stunned, hang-jawed with despair, he returned her long, dumfounded gaze hopelessly and told the truth like an inspired dunce.

"I came—I came—to bring another man away," he whispered brokenly; and, at the very moment, several heavy, half suppressed voices broke into eager talk overhead.

The white hand that held the candle wavered, and the shadows glided in a huge, grotesque dance. Twice she essayed to speak before she could do so, at the same moment motioning him back, for he had made a vague gesture toward her.

"I am not faint. Do you mean, away from up there?" She pointed to the cupola stairs.

"Yes."

"Have—have you seen my father?"

The question came out of such a depth of incredulousness that it was more an articulation of the lips than a sound, but he caught it, and, with it, not hope, but the shadow of a shadow of hope, a hand waving from the far shore to the swimmer who has been down twice. Did she fear for his sake?

"No—I have not seen him." He was groping blindly.

"You did not come from that room?"

"No."

"How did you enter the house?"

The draft through the hall was blowing upon him; the double doors upon the veranda had been left open for coolness. "There," he said, pointing to them.

"But—I heard you come from the other direction."

He was breathing quickly. He saw his chance—if Jefferson Bareaud did not come now.

"You did not hear me come down the stairs." He leaned toward her, risking it all on that.

"No."

"Ah!" A sigh too like a gasp burst from Crailey. His head lifted a little, and his eyes were luminous with an eagerness that was almost anguish. He set his utmost will at work to collect himself and to think hard and fast.

"I came here resolved to take a man away, come what would!" he said. "I found the door open, went to the foot of that stairway, then I stopped. I remembered something. I turned and was going away when you opened the door."

"You remembered what?"

The flicker of hope in his breast increased prodigiously, and the rush of it took the breath from his throat and choked him. Good God! Was she going to believe him?

"I remembered—you!"

"What?" she said wonderingly.

Art returned with a splendid bound, full pinioned, his beautiful and treacherous familiar who had deserted him at the crucial instant, but she made up for it now, folding him in protective wings and breathing through his spirit. In rapid and vehement whispers he poured out the words upon the girl in the doorway.

"I have a friend, and I would lay down my life to make him what he could be. He has always thrown everything away, his life, his talents, all his money and all of mine, for the sake of throwing them away! Some other must tell you about that room, but it has ruined my friend. Tonight I discovered that he had been summoned here, and I made up my mind to come and take him away. Your father has sworn to shoot me if I set foot in his house or on ground of his. Well, my duty was clear, and I came to do it. And yet I stopped at the foot of the stair because—because I remembered that you were Robert Carewe's daughter. What of you if I went up and harm came to me from your father? For I swear I would not have touched him! You asked me not to speak of 'personal' things, and I have obeyed you, but you see I must tell you one thing now. I have cared for this friend of mine more than for all else under heaven, but I turned and left him to his ruin and would a thousand times rather than bring trouble upon you! 'A thousand times?' Ah, I swear it should be a thousand times a thousand!"

He had paraded in one speech from the prisoner's dock to Capulet's garden, and her eyes were shining into his like a great light when he finished.

"Go quickly!" she whispered. "Go quickly! Go quickly!"

"But do you understand?"

"Not yet, but I shall. Will you go? They might come—my father might come—at any moment."

"But"—

"Do you want to drive me quite mad? Please go!" She laid a trembling, urgent hand upon his sleeve.

"Never, until you tell me that you understand," replied Crailey firmly, listening keenly for the slightest sound from overhead. "Never—until then!"

"When I do I shall tell you; now I only know that you must go."

"But tell me"—

"You must go!"

There was a shuffling of chairs on the floor overhead, and Crailey went. He went even more hastily than might have been expected from the adamantine attitude he had just previously assumed. Realizing this as he reached the wet path, he risked stealing round to her window.

"For your sake!" he breathed, and, having thus forestalled any trifling imperfection which might arise in her recollection of his exit from the house, he disappeared, kissing his hand to the rain as he ran down the street.

Miss Betty locked her door and pulled close the curtains of her window. A numerous but careful sound of footsteps came from the hall, went by her door and out across the veranda. Silently she waited until she heard her father go alone to his room.

She took the candle and went in to Mrs. Tanberry. She set the light upon a table, pulled a chair close to the bedside and placed her cool hand lightly on the great lady's forehead.

A failing tiny nerve—no larger than the finest silken thread—takes from the Heart its impulse, its power, its regularity. The Stomach also has its hidden, or inside nerve. It was Dr. Shoop who first told us it was wrong to drug a weak or failing Stomach, Heart or Kidneys. His prescription—Dr. Shoop's Restorative—is directed straight for the cause of these ailments—these weak and faltering inside nerves. This no doubt clearly explains why the Restorative has of late grown so rapidly in popularity. Druggists say that those who test the Restorative even for a few days soon become fully convinced of its wonderful merit. Anyway, don't drug the organ. Treating the cause of sickness is the only sensible and successful way. Sold by all dealers. 27e

A One Day Sale of Dress Goods Remnants

TUESDAY, JULY 6th . . . . . 25c YARD

The season's accumulation of Dress Goods Remnants have been measured up and a ticket with length on has been attached. As prices run you will find qualities vary considerable from 35c to $1.00 yard. Lengths from 1 yard to 4 1-2 yards. Now to the point:—To make a quick hot weather clearance we will sell any remnant in the lot regardless of the original price at 25 CENTS A YARD.

Sale will start promptly at 10 o'clock and not a piece will be sold before that hour. See window Saturday for display.

After Supper Sale—Allover Laces.

To-morrow night (July 3d) our after supper sale will be a clearance of Allover Nets and Laces, Black, White, Cream, regular values up to 75c yard. Sale Price, 25c yard. These are the kind most wanted for Waists and Dresses. Sale commences 7.30.

Two Great Stocking Values.

Black Cotton Ribbed. Black Cotton Plain.

2 pairs for 25 Cents.

By placing very large orders at the mill we are able to offer two very special hosiery values. One is a two and one ribb with double sole and knee. Size range from 6 inches to 10 inches, suitable for boys or girls.

The other is a plain cotton stocking, fast black, suitable for girls and women. Sizes up to 10 inches.

These two lines are out in separate boxes on our hosiery department case. 15c pair or 2 pairs for 25c.

Dark Wine Hose
For the Fashionable Dark Wine Shoe.
All Sizes—25c pair.

The high vogue for colors shows itself this year in shoes. A clever American shoe manufacturer brought out a colored leather in a very pretty shade of dark wine. In style centres it was picked up by best dressers, and is now having a big run thruout the United States. We have stockings to match the shoes in fine ribbs, 5½ to 9½ inches, plain lisles and plain cotton, garter top, 8½, 9, 9½ inches. All one price, 25c pair.

Black and Indigo Drills—15c for 12 1-2c yard.

Some time ago we placed in stock a special purchase of Black and Indigo Drills, regular 15c yard, at 12½c yard. They were sold up quickly. We've just received another 20 piece lot, and they are on the counters again at 12½c yard. They look like good prints, but if you look closely at them you will notice a twill and they are heavier than 12½c prints. Just the cloth for boys' blouses and girls' vacation dresses.

Good Travelling Suits for Women.

At a very short notice you may have to take a trip, make a [illegible] end visit or a month's vacation. Remember that we are always [illegible] with the right kind of garments to start at a moment's notice. [illegible] Tailored Woolen Costumes are now all being offered at a reduction [illegible] least 25 per cent.

Washable Suits, a plenty to choose from in both plains and [illegible] $4.50 up.

Washable Dresses, plains and fancy, from $2.00 to $20.00.

Sewing Machines.
Have You Joined Our Club?

If not, remember that you have a chance to get one of the [illegible] great regular machines at prices less than you have been accustomed to. Three styles with all attachments, free lessons, $19.75, $26.75, $[illegible]. A ten year guarantee goes with each machine. Club machine is $[illegible], $2.00 down and $1.00 a week.

Infants' Dresses.

We have lots of Babies' Short Dresses. Fine nainsook, with [illegible] and stitching, finished with embroidery and lace. Fine lawns and organdies with embroidery beading and lace. Price range all the [illegible] from 50 cents to $3.00 each.

This Store is Helpful With Misses' Clothes.

Pretty dresses of linen, percale and gingham—in those [illegible] and stripes so fashionable this year, 90c to $5.00.

They include jumper dresses, and plenty of both high and [illegible] neck dresses.

Dutch Collars.

Many pretty creations of lace and embroidery have [illegible] counters during the week. Also plain and embroidered [illegible]. Pretty bow ties and jabots to match. Prices about the 25 cent mark.

An Important Purchase of Women's Wash Skirts
$1.25 AND $1.50 EACH.

Just in time for hot weather demands comes a little lot of sixty Women's Skirts, made from a material resembling linen. Skirts are 9 gored, stitched seams and trimmed with deep bias fold. Small checks, broken plaids, small dots, plain linen, blue and tan shades. The price for completed skirt would be a reasonable price for material alone. They were later getting here than we expected, so to hurry them along—$1.25 and $1.50. Drop in and see them.

SHIRTS——SHIRTS——SHIRTS

We bought every this summer's Shirt left in the Crescent Factory last week—a fine selection of the favored summer styles. [illegible] our Men's store entrance, and you're right in the stock. Woven madras, printed madras and percale. Attached and separate cuffs. [illegible] pleated fronts. All sizes—lots of them—nearly three hundred Shirts in all. Prices 49c, 75c, $1.00, $1.25 and $1.50.

DEATH OF JOHN R. ROSE.

The funeral services of the late John R. Rose were conducted from his parent's residence on Sunday afternoon last. A large number of the friends of the family were in attendance. After the service, which was conducted by his pastor, Rev. G. W. McCall, assisted by the Rev. W. H. Emsley, a former pastor, the cortege wended its way to the Riverview cemetery, where the remains were deposited in the family grave. Mr. Rose was a young man of affable disposition and had more than the usual share of youthful friendship. Of late years he has fought a hard battle against disease—he fought and fell—but before his last days came to him he had the satisfaction of knowing that his fight had not been in vain. The sympathy of the community is extended to Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Rose, his sorrowing parents, in this, the hour of their deep trial, and many are the prayers offered in their behalf.

FATAL ACCIDENT.

A particularly sad accident occurred on Wednesday morning, June 30th, resulting in the death of Mr. Murney Parks, of Hawley. The unfortunate man was assisting at a barn raising at Mr. Chas. Asselstine's Hawley, and was on the wall raising a stick of timber. In some manner he slipped and fell and the stick tumbled on top of him, crushing his head. He lived about half an hour, but never regained consciousness. Deceased was 47 years of age. He leaves a wife, mother, two sisters and two brothers to mourn his loss. The mother is Mrs. Polmateer, Erinsville; the sisters, Mrs. Smith, Brockville, and Mrs. Hicks, Morven; the brothers, Byard and Samuel, Hawley. The funeral takes place this (Friday) afternoon at 1.30 o'clock. Service at the house and thence to the Morven cemetery. The sorrowing wife and relatives have the sincere sympathy of a large circle of friends in their hour of trouble.

PUBLIC MEETING.

A large number of land owners interested in the area known as the drowned lands, situated in the municipalities of Camden, Portland and Hinchinbrooke, held a meeting in Verona on Wednesday, June 30th, for the purpose of considering the wisdom of taking immediate steps to reclaim said lands. The hall was packed, and very great interest and enthusiasm manifested. Spirited addresses were delivered by Mr. W. J. Paul, M.P.P. for Addington, Mr. J. S. Gallagher, M.P.P. for Frontenac, Dr. Edwards, M.P. for Frontenac, and Mr. R. R. Gamey, M.P.P., Toronto. Mr. M. Trousdale, Reeve of Portland, occupied the chair. The following committee was appointed by the meeting to take the question up in whatever way their wisdom might direct, and to bring about the desired result: Mr. Trousdale, Reeve of Portland, and Mr. James York, for the Township of Portland, Mr. John W. Reid, Deputy Reeve of Camden and Mr. Joseph Foster, for the Township of Camden, and Mr. R. Hamilton, Reeve of Hinchinbrook, and Warden of Frontenac, and Mr. W. D. Black, for the Township of Hinchinbrook. Mr. Paul and Mr. Gallagher were also appointed members of the Committee, and Mr. Jos. Foster, Moscow, Secretary. The Committee have retained the services of Mr. W. Nicol, M.P.P. .. as their solicitor.

Nothing in the way of a Cough is quite so annoying as a tickling, teasing, wheezing, bronchial Cough. The quickest relief comes perhaps from a prescription known to Druggists everywhere as Dr. Shoop's Cough remedy. And besides, it is so thoroughly harmless that mothers give it with perfect safety even to the youngest babes. The tender leaves of a simple mountain shrub, give to Dr. Shoop's Cough Remedy its remarkable curative effect. It is truly a most certain and trustworthy prescription. Sold by all dealers. 27e

GOLF.

Picton Golf Club came down in Mayor James Port's yacht on Wednesday and were entertained by the Napanee Golf Club. It will be seen by the score that Napanee won the match. The Picton players were unable to bring the full team of ten men, and in order to make a team of seven, Miss Barker kindly played in seventh place. The following is the score:

BIRTHDAY GATHERING.

A birthday gathering of kinsfolk and friends of Mrs. Henrietta Victoria Tompkins took place at the residence of her son, Mr. Frank Tompkins, at Newburgh, on Monday, June 21st. There were seated at the dinner table Rev. M. E. Sexsmith and wife, Mr. Thos. York and wife, of Moscow; Mr. Chas. Anderson and wife, of Roblin; Mr. L. Milburn and wife, of Emney Hill; Mrs. Stone, of Newburgh; Mr. Geo. Pearson and wife, Deseronto; Mr. H. Wagar and wife, of Strathcona; Mr. D. B. Ruttan and wife and daughter, of Bath; Mr. John A. Tompkins and wife, of Newburgh. After a sumptuous repast, spicy speeches were made in reference to the many birthdays of Mrs. Tompkins, the guest of the day, by Rev. M. E. Sexsmith, Messrs. Anderson, York, Pierson and Ruttan and John Tompkins. Mrs. Tompkins replied, sketching her life from childhood, memories when she left England for Canada with her parents. They first domiciled at St. John, then in Western Ontario at Guelph, after which they located at Napanee and vicinity over fifty years ago. Mrs Tompkins is well and favorably known on the Yarker and Newburgh circuits by many of the ministers and Christian workers, as she has been a Christian and ready worker in the church for well to sixty years. Truly a mother in Israel, and it is the hope of her numerous friends she may be long spared to her family and the church in the Master's service.

KILLED ON THE G. T. R.

The body of an unknown man was found alongside the Grand Trunk track, about two miles west of Napanee, on Tuesday morning. The crew of a freight train going west saw the body lying there and notified the sectionmen, who immediately brought him to Napanee on a hand-car. Dr. G. H. Cowan, coroner, and Chief-of-Police Graham were notified and the body was taken to Carscallen Bros'. undertaking rooms and prepared for burial. Many different opinions were expressed as to the identity of the man, some feeling sure that he hailed from Shannonville, while others were just as positive that he was not the man referred to. A telephone message from Shannonville, in reply to one sent there, stated that the man in question was safe in the village. It is supposed that the man was killed by a train in some manner during the night. The injuries were all about the head. The right side of his face was badly smashed, and he was cut about the nose and eyes, and a large hole was found in the back of the head on the left side.

He was between 35 and 40 years of age, 5 ft.-6 or 7 inches in height, weighed about 165 lbs., dark complexion, sandy moustache, dark hair, right hand slightly deformed, both feet deformed. Dressed in dark brown tweed coat and vest, slate colored overalls, dark shirt striped with white, lace boots and greenish socks. When searched there was found a tintype photo (presumably of himself), $3.05 in money, pipe and brass watch chain.

Keep Children Well During Hot Weather

Every mother knows how fatal the summer months are to small children. Cholera infantum, diarrhoea, dysentry and stomach troubles are alarmingly frequent at this time and too often a little life is lost after a few hours' illness. The mother who keeps Baby's Own Tablets in the house feels safe. The occasional use of the Tablets prevents stomach and bowel troubles or if the trouble comes suddenly will bring the little one through safely." Mrs. Geo. Howell, Sandy Beach, Que., says:—"My baby was suffering from colic, vomiting and diarrhoea, but after giving him Baby's Own Tablets the trouble disappeared." Sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Woman's Beauty
Depends upon her hair

No matter how handsome the eyes, how clear the complexion, how perfect the lines of the face or how elegantly attired, no woman can be considered really beautiful unless she has good hair—hair that is her own.

Weak, thin, scraggy hair will mar the prettiest face ever set upon feminine shoulders.

MI-LADY'S TOILET HERPICIDE MAKES IT COMPLETE

Luxuriant Hair Is Woman's Crowning Glory

Newbro's Herpicide
Makes the Hair Beautiful
Kills the Dandruff Germ
Prevents the Hair from Falling

That busy little microbe, the Dandruff Germ, causes all the trouble. With his destruction and the cleanliness which follows the use of Herpicide the hair at once takes on that life and lustre, that splendor and luxuriance which makes for beauty.

Herpicide is the Original Remedy and the Only Remedy that will do this. It has many imitators but no equals. There is nothing better, nothing just as good.

RESTORED HER HAIR AND BROUGHT BACK THE NATURAL COLOR.

This was the experience of Mrs. Anna C. Layn of Hopkinsville, Ky. Read the letter.

July 21, 1908.

THE HERPICIDE COMPANY:

I have used your Herpicide now for three years and consider it the finest hair tonic in the world. My first experience was after a spell of fever, which caused me to be almost bald. The use of Herpicide soon restored my hair to the natural amount and color. I always use it after washing the hair and indeed feel lost without a bottle in the house.

Applications at the best hair dressers and prominent barber shops.

Insist on having Herpicide.

MISTRESS CHARITY.

God's blessing, Mistress Charity!
Pray, whither dost thou roam?
So far as dwelleth Everyman,
Whose heart doth give me home.

But Everyman, O Charity,
Doeth deeds sinfully.
Yes; all the greater and the more
Everyman needeth me.

Why hasten, Mistress Charity?
Hast thou a tryst to keep?
Yes; 'round the bend lieth the spot
Where Everyman doth weep.

—Minnie Evelyn Henderson, in the July Canadian Magazine.

COW TESTING ASSOCIATIONS.

Cost Versus Beauty.

The proud owner says "this is a high grade Canadian, and this is a pure bred Holstein." The admiring visitor to the cow stable remarks "what beautiful cows." The thoughtful student asks "what yield of milk and fat do they give?" The practical man enquired "what does their milk cost?" And the hard business sense of the dairyman leads him to determine cost of production of milk and fat through the medium of cow testing associations. The high grade may give but a poor weight of milk, the pure bred may test low, while the common grade may possibly be producing milk at the lowest cost. No one knows definitely just what the cost is until some record is kept; milk may cost 92 cents per 100 lb., fat 25 cents per lb.; these cost prices may be up to $2.00 per 100 lb. milk and 50 cents per pound of fat with some poor cows; or they may be reduced by good enonomical feeders to 35 cents per 100, and 10 cents per lb.

This all goes to prove that the careful dairyman, and particularly the average and possibly careless farmer should take immediate steps to find out what profit each cow brings in. Enormous improvement, and largely increased profits have been made by the men who are sufficiently alive to their own interests to weigh and sample each cow's milk regularly and keep a record of feed consumed. Blank forms for milk and feed records are supplied free on application to the Dairy Commissioner, Ottawa. A good record for this month from a herd of 18 cows is an average of 1020 lbs. milk, 3.9 test, 39 lbs. fat. One grade in the herd gave 1530 lbs. milk testing 4.0 per cent. fat.

JULY BUSY MAN'S MAGAZINE.

The holiday season is one particularly devoted to reading and there is no more pleasant method of whiling away a few happy hours than by perusing a bright and interesting magazine. The July issue of Busy Man's Magazine fills this want to perfection and is brimful of breezy, entertaining articles that are sure to please its many readers. Its national topics such as, "What Flag Should Canadians Fly?" "The Romance of Transportation in Canada," "Illustrated Adolphustown" and "The Wireless in Canada," are timely and instructive articles devoted to home and business interests as well as half a dozen captivating short stories by leading writers make up a number that presents the best contributions from the current monthlies of the world, as well as affords a rich repast of things intimately associated with the everyday pleasures and pursuits of the ordinary magazine reader. The July issue of Busy Man's is attractively and appropriately illustrated and will prove a welcome companion on any vacation jaunt.

THE JULY ROD AND GUN

"Big Game Shooting in the Yukon Territory," by that veteran sportsman, Mr. C. G. Cowans, opens the exceptionally fine July number of Rod and Gun in Canada, published by W. J. Taylor, Woodstock, Ont. It is clear from the account given that big game is plentiful in the Yukon and provides fine sport for those who can afford time and money to travel so far. Mr. Reginald Gourlay predicts a Good Fall for Hares and a consequent relief to the big game of the North from Indian raids. Canadian and American sportsmen should note and govern themselves accordingly. The Basset Hound for Sport is an article which will interest all dog lovers. These are but samples of a long list in which fishing and hunting topics come in for adequate treatment, while numerous short papers supply variety and enable sportsmen to pick up the magazine at any time, confident of finding much that will give them pleasant reading on topics which appeal to them all the year round even if the force is increased somewhat in the summer weather when the wild is calling in many ways.

MORVEN.

Song service was held in the White Church on Sunday evening, and was a perfect success. The service was opened with a chorus by the choir, which was well rendered. Rev. Horton gave a very effective farewell sermon, which was intermingled with quartettes, duets, and a solo by Miss Horton, which was rendered in her usual excellent manner.—Mrs. W. Perry, of Port Hope, and Miss Myrtle Perry sang a beautiful duet. Also Mrs. Geo. Fralick and Miss Horton sang a duet, which was pleasing to all. The choir deserve much credit for their well rendered music. The church was beautifully decorated with flowers, and a very large crowd gathered to hear Rev. Horton's farewell.—Mr. and Mrs. H. Fralick and Miss Gordanier, of Napanee, spent Sunday at Mr. J. Fralick's.—Mr. and Mrs. A. Gordanier and little daughter, of Toronto, spent a few days with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. L. P. Gordanier.—Dr. B. Horton is spending a few days with his parents at the parsonage.—We see our butcher is making his trips again.—Mr. W. Craven, of Belleville Albert College, called in our midst on Wednesday evening.—All come along to our strawberry and ice cream social in the White Church to-night. Admission, 25c.

FRIGHTFUL STOMACH TROUBLE

For Four Long Years He Suffered—Then "Fruit-a-tives" Brought Relief.

Stratford Centre, Wolfe Co., Que.
May 11th, 1908.

I have been completely cured of a frightful condition of my stomach through this wonderful medicine, "Fruit-a-tives." I suffered for four long years with this trouble. My head ached incessantly. I could not eat anything but what I suffered awful pains from indigestion. I used every known remedy and was treated by physicians, but the dyspepsia and headaches persisted in spite of the treatment.

I was told to try "Fruit-a-tives," and I sent for six boxes, and this was the only medicine that did me any good. I am now entirely well, I can eat ordinary food and I never have a headache, and for this relief I thank this wonderful remedy "Fruit-a-tives." My case is well known in this vicinity and you may publish this statement.

COMING ON DUTY.

The Imperial Press Conference has declared that the time has arrived for the Colonies to share the duty of imperial defence.

The grand old Lion prowled the seas
From here to New South Wales.
And weathered many a bitter breeze,
While little Lions slept at ease,
And gaily wagged their tails.
Yeo ho!
And gaily wagged their tails.

The Lion was a tough old chap,
He fought ferocious gales,
He floored his foes in many a "scrap,"
Which made his little Lions clap
And proudly wag their tails.
Yeo ho!
And proudly wag their tails.

But when he saw his rivals glower,
He taxed his rum, he did,
And, building ships the seas to scour,
To keep unchanged his sovereign power
He had to tax his quid.
Yeo ho!
He had to tax his quid.

And when he saw his load of tax
And threats from sea and land,
The little Lions arched their backs
And growled, "Come, let us hoist our slacks,
It's time to lend a hand.
Yeo ho!
It's time to lend a hand."

So, messmates all, with one accord
They gave a cheery hail,
"We've come on duty, sir!" they roared,
And when he saw them step on board
The Lion wagged his tail.
Yeo ho!
The Lion wagged his tail.

And, ready for aggressors base,
They'll make a splendid crew,
And any swab in any place
Who thinks he'll smash the Lion race
Will have some work to do.
Yeo ho!
Will have some work to do.

ANOTHER WOMAN CURED

By Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Gardiner, Maine.—"I have been a great sufferer from organic troubles and a severe female weakness. The doctor said I would have to go to the hospital for an operation, but I could not bear to think of it. I decided to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Sanative Wash—and was entirely cured after three months' use of them."—Mrs. S. A. WILLIAMS, R. F. D. No. 14, Box 39, Gardiner, Me.

No woman should submit to a surgical operation, which may mean death, until she has given Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made exclusively from roots and herbs, a fair trial.

This famous medicine for women has for thirty years proved to be the most valuable tonic and renewer of the female organism. Women residing in almost every city and town in the United States bear willing testimony to the wonderful virtue of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It cures female ills, and creates radiant, buoyant female health. If you are ill, for your own sake as well as those you love, give it a trial.

Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass., invites all sick women to write her for advice. Her advice is free, and always helpful.

CREAM OF THE WEST FLOUR

"CREAM OF THE WEST" may cost you a trifle more than other grades of Manitoba flour. Suppose it does. What does a few cents per bag more matter if you get complete satisfaction.

"CREAM OF THE WEST" is honestly as good a grade of flour as can be made from the hardest of hard Manitoba wheat and that means the best wheat in the world.

"CREAM OF THE WEST" is an expensive flour to mill because it represents the very "cream" of the best of the wheat berry" but it rings true in the baking.

"CREAM OF THE WEST" is a nourishing, toothsome, sweet flour that invariably pleases. Order a bag.

IF your baking goes wrong, investigate — find the cause. Look to your stove, your yeast, your baking methods.

If you succeed in pinning the trouble down to the flour—then take up the flour question in dead earnest.

Consider that flour, to be successful from a baking standpoint, must be fine to produce light bread or pastry, pure to make that bread or pastry wholesome, and rich in nutriment to make it nourishing.

Ogilvie's Royal Household has these three qualities in the greatest degree.

Ogilvie's Royal Household is milled by the most modern methods, and made only from Manitoba Hard Wheat which contains the highest percentage of nutriment.

Only One Cure For a Bad Stomach

Indigestion and Similar Troubles Must be Treated Through the Blood.

Indigestion can be treated in many ways, but it can be cured in only one way—through the blood. Purgatives cannot cure indigestion. By main force they move the food on still undigested. That weakens the whole system, uses up the natural juices of the body and leaves the stomach and bowels parched and sore. It is a case of indigestion—not a cure. Others try predigested foods and peptonized drugs. But drugs which digest the food for the stomach really weaken its power. The digestive organs can never do the work properly until they are strong enough to do it for themselves. Nothing can give the stomach that power but the new, rich, red blood so abundantly supplied by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. So the reason for their success is plain. The health of the stomach depends upon the blood in its delicate veins. If that blood is weak and watery the gastric glands haven't the strength to secrete the juices which alone can digest the food. If the blood is loaded with impurities it cannot absorb the good from the food when it is digested. Nothing can stimulate the glands, and nothing can absorb the nourishment but pure, red blood. And nothing can give that pure, red blood but Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Mrs. Alfred Gallant, Mill River, P.E.I., says:—"For several years, previous and up to two years ago, I suffered continually from indigestion. I could not eat enough to keep my strength, anh what little I did eat, no matter what kind of food, caused great pains, so that I became much reduced in flesh, strength and energy. I consulted several doctors and took medicine from them but without any benefit whatever. On the advice of a friend I began to take Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and soon good results were noticed. I could slightly increase the amount of food day after day, and suffered no inconvenience, until after taking ten boxes I could eat any kind of food and in a short time got back to my normal state of health and feel that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have surely cured me of a most stubborn case of indigestion."

You can get these Pills from any dealer in medicine or they will be sent by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 by addressing the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

TISDALE, SASK.

The weather has been very dry for the last month, with some light frosts. Hay and grain were not much hurt, but the gardens were badly frozen. Last week, however, there were some nice showers, and on Sunday evening a general rain set in, and the crops are looking fine. It is still raining, and we are likely to get plenty, as this is the rainy season.—Friday, the 18th, was "Sports Day" in Tisdale. There was a very large crowd and all kinds of sports were indulged in.—Bears are very numerous in this district. W. D. Foster met one as he was returning from Moira Valley. Bruin did not act as if he wished to become acquainted. Neither did Wallace for that matter. Egbert Salsbury also saw one on his homestead.—W. E. Miller lost a valuable horse a short time ago. He and Jas. Pickering and F. Cummings have gone back with their teams to work on their homesteads. They lost a lot of lumber and other stuff by fire. The surveyors, who are in that locality now, had all their supplies and tents burned.—Three townships, thirty miles east of here, are now open for homesteads. This will be a good opportunity for any person wishing to get a good homestead. It will not be far from the railroad, when the roads are opened up. The land is good, and there is plenty of timber for building and firewood, and plenty of good water.—The Rev. Mr. Fraser, of Kinistino, occupied the Presbyterian pulpit on Sunday last. In the evening he gave an eloquent address on "The Gospel in War". Rev. W. T. Cleave, of Winnipeg, had charge of the work in the Methodist church in Mr. Baillee's absence. Rev. Mrs. Baillee returned here this morning with her two children, after spending a few months with her parents at Hamilton, Ont.—Mr. and Mrs. Foster and Bessie and Mrs. Dafoe spent a day last week at Jas. Salsbury's, Moira Valley.—Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Foster, of Myrtle, Ont., spent a few days with his brother, Wallace, on their way to Edmonton and Calgary.—Messrs. H. Foster, Moira, Ont., and Potts, Stirling, brought a carload of horses west. After disposing of his horses in Saskatoon, Harry came here and spent Sunday with his brother Wallace.—Mrs. Alport is spending a few days with her daughter, Mrs. Jas. Pickering.—Finley Meeks was fishing in Leather River on Friday last, and brought home six fine large fish. You may go again, Finley.—Mr. and Mrs. W. Buxton spent Sunday at F. E. Doyle's.—Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Salsbury at W. D. Foster's.—A large number from New Osgoode and Silver Stream took in Sports Day, and report a good time.—Mrs. Geo. Bowerman invited a few friends to her home on Monday afternoon in honor of Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Foster.—Stanley Ball came up from Crooked River to spend Sports Day here. He has secured a position there.—Percy Foster took Mr. and Mrs. Foster and Mr. H. Foster down in time to catch the train for Prince Albert this morning, and had dinner at W. E. A SHINING MARK.

What Parisian Sage did for Chas. S. Baker, it will do for you. Read the following:

"I was so bald and such a shining mark for my friends, that I, as a last resort, tried your Parisian Sage (after trying several bottles of the highly advertised and high priced so called hair restorers), and I am glad to say I now have a heavy growth of new hair. I am now 41 years old and I have a heavy growth of new hair after carrying my shining mark for over seven years. I gladly recommend Parisian Sage to all afflicted with baldness." Chas. S. Baker, 491 Main St. East, Rochester, N.Y.

Parisian Sage, the only natural hair restorer, is guaranteed by T. B. Wallace to cure dandruff, stop falling hair, and cure itching of the scalp, or money back. It is the ladies' favorite hair dressing, because it adds charm and luxuriance to the hair. 50 cents a bottle. Ask T. B. Wallace about it.

VALLEY ROAD.

Provincial Loan of $3,500,000

THE GOVERNMENT OF THE PROVINCE OF ONTARIO, under the authority of Chapter 8, of the Statutes of Ontario, 1909, invites subscriptions from the public for a loan of $3,500,000 on bonds of the Province of Ontario, or "Ontario Government Stock."

The bonds will be dated 1st June, 1909, and payable on the 1st June, 1939, in denominations of $1,000 each, with coupons attached for interest at the rate of four per cent. per annum, payable half-yearly on the 1st June and 1st December in each year at the office of the Provincial Treasurer, Toronto, or at the offices of the Bank of Montreal, in Montreal, Canada, and in New York, N.Y., at the holder's option. Bonds will be made payable to bearer, but on request will be registered in the office of the Provincial Treasurer and endorsed as payable only to the order of certain persons or corporations, and on request of holders will be exchanged for "Ontario Government Stock" at any time.

"Ontario Government Stock" will bear interest from the 1st day of June, 1909, principal payable on the 1st day of June, 1939, and interest at the rate of four per cent. per annum will be paid half-yearly by cheque on the 1st day of June and 1st day of December in each year. "Ontario Government Stock" may be subscribed for in sums of $50 or multiples thereof, and will be transferable in the books of the Treasury Department only by the holder or his attorney in similar manner to transfers of bank stock.

The issue price during the month of June, 1909, will be 102 for each $100, and after the 30th day of June, 1909, the issue price will be 102 and interest accrued from the 1st June, 1909.

ALL BONDS AND INSCRIBED STOCK ISSUED UNDER THE AUTHORITY OF THE SAID ACT ARE FREE FROM ALL ONTARIO PROVINCIAL TAXES, CHARGES, SUCCESSION DUTY AND IMPOSITIONS WHATEVER.

Purchasers of Stocks or Bonds will be required to send certified cheque with the application, payable to the order of the "Provincial Treasurer of Ontario."

This loan is raised upon the credit of the Consolidated Revenue Fund of Ontario, and is chargeable thereupon.

Subscribers should state whether they desire bonds or "Ontario Government Stock."

Example: A subscriber for $1,000 will have the option of taking either a bond or "Ontario Government Stock." A subscriber for $750 will be given "Ontario Government Stock," as bonds are only in the denomination of $1,000.

Don't Risk even a penny—until health returns. And I mean just exactly that.

I am the one physician who says to the sick, "I will, out of my own pocket, pay for your medicine if it fails to bring you help."

And for 20 years Dr. Shoop's medicines have been used and recommended in every city and hamlet in America. They are positively standard in every community—and everywhere.

Get Health

Then why pay the cash, and at your risk, for other unwarranted and uncertain medicines? Thousands upon thousands have in the past successfully used Dr. Shoop's Restorative.

First

When the Stomach nerves, or the Heart or Kidney nerves fail, these sick ones know how quickly Dr. Shoop's Restorative will bring them back to health again. But best of all, they positively take no money risk whatever. They know that when health fails to return Dr. Shoop will himself gladly pay the druggist for that test. And for that test a full 30 day treatment is freely granted.

But write me first for an order.

This will save delay and disappointment.

Then

All druggists sell Dr. Shoop's Restorative and Dr. Shoop's Rheumatic Remedy, but all are not authorized to give the 30 day test. So please—for I drop me a line have appointed an honest and responsible druggist in every community, everywhere, to issue my "No help, no pay" medicines to the sick.

Tell me also which book you need.

How To Save Work In The Home

Most of the dust in the modern home comes from the floor. It needn't, if you would use Floorglaze right. And dust isn't merely a bother for the housewife and the maids. It's a danger.

Dust spells d-i-s-e-a-s-e. The germs of all infections dwell, mainly, in floor-dust. Floorglaze reduces floor-dust to a minimum.

When you coat a floor with any of the ten shades of Floorglaze you have a floor that is creviceless (can't harbor germs), washable (use an antiseptic in the mop-water), and nearly dust-proof.

You will get weary watching for it to wear off that floor. Floorglaze stands outdoor wear, even—verandas, porch steps, etc. And a gallon covers 500 square feet. Cheap!

Your dealer has it. You would find our Free Book interesting reading. May we send you a copy? Ask on a postcard Imperial Varnish & Color Co., Limited, of Toronto.

McALLISTER—FINN.

A wedding of great interest took place at ten o'clock on Tuesday, June 29th, in the Church of the Annunciation, Enterprise, when Miss Mary Bernadette (Mae), eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. P. Finn, was married to Mr. J. T. McAllister, of Wolfe Island. The handsome new edifice was profusely decorated with carnations, foliage and maiden hair fern. The ceremony, which was performed by the pastor, Rev. J. J. O'Rielly, was witnessed by a large and interesting circle of friends. The bride, who is one of Enterprise's fairest daughters, was given away by her brother, and looked a vision of girlish loveliness, in her wedding gown of ivory white duchess satin trimmed in lace with touches of silver, and made Princess over chiffon taffeta. Her long Brussels net veil was trimmed with seed pearls, and caught by a chaplet of orange blossoms. Her only ornament was a solid gold cross and chain, and she carried a magnificent white prayer book with pearl and silver rosary, the gift of the groom. Miss Nellie Finn, as bridesmaid, in white point de sprit over silk, and little Miss Anna, in fluffy pink mull and lace, and carrying the ring embedded in a large bouquet of pink roses, preceded the bride up the aisle. Mr. James O'Reilly, of Wolfe Island, most efficiently performed the services of groomsman. To the strains of Mendelssohn's wedding march played by Professor Stannstreet, Brockville, the bridal party entered the church and during the service, Miss Mary Kelly rendered several appropriate hymns in her usual pleasing way. After receiving the congratulations of numerous friends, the immediate relatives of the bride and groom accompanied by Rev. Father O'Rielly, drove to the spacious home of the bride's parents, where all partook of an elaborate wedding breakfast. The many beautiful and valuable presents which the bride received testified in glowing terms the esteem in which she and her husband are held. The happy couple left on the 4.35 train amid showers of rice, confetti and good wishes for a short trip to Niagara Falls and other western points, the bride travelling in a smartly tailored suit of blue Rajah silk with hand embroidered white blouse and pretty blue hat. On their return they will reside on Wolfe Island, in their beautiful new home, the gift of the groom's father.

OBITUARY.

D. MURNEY PARKS.

It is with feelings of deepest regret that we are called upon to record the death of D. Murney Parks, Hawley, who was born in Fredericksburgh in 1862, where he lived until the time of his death.

The cause of his untimely end was an accident. While at Mr. Charles Asselstine's helping to erect a barn, one of the pieces of timber fell killing him instantly. His sudden death has cast a gloom over the community in which he lived, he having endeared himself to all who knew him by his kind and genial manner, ever ready to speak a kind word and lend a helping hand where needed.

He was married to his now sorrowing wife, Marguerite Patterson, in 1888, which union was one of unbroken harmony, until severed by death. For over 21 years he had been a consistent member of the Methodist church and choir, and a willing worker in the Sunday School. There never was any special enterprise to be promoted in the church of his choice in which he did not have a hand. His seat was seldom vacant.

We do not understand why one so useful and beloved should be cut down in the prime of life; but in Heaven the mystery will be explained, and then up there we'll understand. Our hearts go out in sympathy to his sorrowing wife and adopted daughter, Mrs. George S. Fretts. Besides his wife and daughter, he leaves a mother, Mrs. J. Polmateer, Tamworth, two brothers and two sisters, to mourn his loss.

The funeral services were conducted at the home of deceased by his pastor, Rev. M. J. Bates, assisted by Rev. W. H. Emsley, chairman of the district, Napanee, who preached a very impressive sermon from Job 17:11.

The esteem in which he was held by friends and neighbors was evidenced by the floral offerings and the large concourse of neighbors and friends who gathered to pay their last tribute of respect. His influence will live to the lives of many. His remains will rest in the cemetery, Morven, there to await the final resurrection.

Asleep in Jesus! blessed sleep,
From which none ever wakes to weep,
A calm and undisturbed repose,
Unbroken by the last of foes.

FOR SERVICE, A THOROUGHBRED REgistered Shorthorn Bull. Fee $1.00, at time of service. ROBERT TAITE, Selby. 25dp

ERNESTTOWN STATION.

The funeral of the infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Ross Paul took place at the Union Church, on Tuesday morning of this week. The little one's spirit took its flight at daybreak Sunday, after an illness of two weeks. Tuberculosis of the brain was the cause of its death. All that loving hearts could do to prolong its life was done, but God had need for another jewel as a gem for His crown. Mr. Robinson and Mr. Bates, Bath, conducted the service, Mr. Robinson taking for his text, Isaiah 11 and 6, "A little child shall lead them." A choir composed of some of the smaller S. S. scholars sang with much effect "When He Cometh, When He Cometh to Make up His Jewels", and "Safe in the Arms of Jesus". The church was beautifully draped and decorated with flowers. The little white casket was embedded in them, the work of loving hands. The family have the heartfelt sympathy of the community in their sad bereavement. The little one was 13 months old, and an exceptionally bright child. About eight months previous Mrs. Paul lost her mother, but the attention her baby boy required, helped in a way to assuage the great grief at that time. That they may find consolation in the One who doth not willingly afflict is the prayer of their many friends at the Union.

Farmers have about finished their road work, and started haying, which owing to the very dry weather is a very light crop, but which may be offset by the large acreage of corn planted, and promises well.—F. Amey is building an addition to his barn.—Our Public School teacher, Miss S. Vanalstine, has sent in her resignation, much to the regret of all concerned. We understand she is going west where salaries are larger. F. Laidley took a carload of cattle and hogs to Montreal, on Saturday last.—Mr. N. B. Hamm has returned from his trip to the coast.—Alfred Amey is building an addition to his cow stable.—Miss Laura Crowe is in Toronto, receiving medical treatment, accompanied by her mother, and has every encouragement of restorative to health.—Wilfred Young arrived on Saturday last from England, where he spent the past year, and is assisting Joel Kellar on the farm. Wilfrid thinks this country is good enough for him. He looks as if the trip agreed with him.—The Misses Bowman, Kingston, were the guests for a few days of their aunt, Mrs. J. Kilgannon.—Mrs. F. Rombough, of Morven, and Mrs. B. Leeman and child, Belleville, visited at W. Amey's, last week.—Mr. and Mrs. O. Amey and Master Gerald, Millhaven, and Mrs. Burke, Rochester, spent Sunday at Elmore Amey's.—Mr. and Mrs. Craig, nee Gertie Hinch, Amherstburg, spent the past two weeks with friends here.—Mrs. Geo. Milligan, Toronto, spent a few days here recently.—Miss Emma Miller, Napanee, with her sister, Mrs. J. Cummings.—Master Bruce Smith spent a few days with his aunt, Mrs. J. Doyle.—Mr. and Mrs. H. Laidley and little daughter were recent guests at his father's, Mr. F. Laidley.—Mr. and Mrs. R. Marchen spent a day recently at J. Doyle's.—Mrs. Burt, Millhaven, at Mrs. E. Amey's, and Miss M. Fairfield at Jesse Amey's.—Rev. James Robinson, Mrs. F. Thoms and Mrs. A. Amey attended the S. S. Convention at Wilton, last week.

CAMDEN EAST.

The Sunday School Convention held in the Presbyterian and Methodist churches last week, was largely attended. A good and profitable programme from several speakers. The Bishop of Ontario administered the rite of Confirmation in St. Luke's Church, last Sunday, at 11 o'clock to a goodly number. A large gathering attended Divine service.—Finkle's auto car took an excursion to Gananoque last Sunday from this place.—The men are doing their statute labor in improving the village, by building cement walks.—Dr. Yourex, of Queensboro, has moved in this place to practice.—Mr. Jos. Smith, of Odessa, and Mr. Robert Roseyear, of Kingston, called on friends in the village last Monday.—Mr. and Mrs. Craig, of Amherstburg, at Mr. L. Hartman's, last week; also the Misses Snider, of Odessa, with their sister, Mrs. L. Hartman.—Mr. and Mrs. O'Hara and two daughters left last Friday for a trip to Scotland, their native home, to spend the summer.—Mr. Floyd and family, of Tamworth, spent Dominion Day in this place with their friends.—Mrs. Hicks and two children, of Rochester, and Miss Johnson, of Toronto, at their mother's, Mrs. Johnson, for a few weeks.—Mrs. James Skinner and Mrs. E. Goodwin and little Grace have gone to Portland to spend a week with relatives.—Miss Martin, our popular milliner, and her niece, Miss Martin, of Toronto, spent last Saturday and Sunday in Napanee.—Mr. and Mrs. Well. Steward and Mr. and Mrs. John Alkenbrack spent last Saturday in Kingston, and Sunday with Mr. Philander Rose, at Westbrook. Miss Sloane Rose accompanied them home to spend a week with relatives in the village.—Mr. Will. Galbraith, of Peterboro', visited his mother last Monday. Miss Edna McCaul, who has been home for the past six months, returned to Rochester last Wednesday, to commence her work again, as a graduate nurse.

TAMWORTH.

The picnic held in Coxall's grove on Thursday last was a grand success. Over 500 set down for dinner and nearly as many for tea.—Ed. York, of Lowville, and Sam. York, of Newmarket, are visiting their father and others around town.—L. P. Wells is on the sick list.—The picnic held at Beaver Lake on Wednesday this week was given by the G. F. C., and was largely attended.—A traveller from Napanee lost a good horse on Tuesday last at Erinsville. It dropped dead in the harness.—See Floyd's boots and shoes. They take the lead. Ladies' waists at cost.

MOSCOW.

On Thursday, July 15th, the Moscow Sunday School intend picnicing at VanLuven's grove, Varty Lake, and invite the Petworth, Colebrook, Yarker, and Desmond Sunday Schools to join in the day's outing. Pull for the shore.—Everybody welcome. Sisters bring your baskets, and brothers bring your boats. Contests, games and athletic sports indulged in and prizes awarded. Don't miss it.—Mrs. T. Maxwell and daughter, of Sydenham, is spending a few days at Mrs. A. A. Asselstine's.—The R. C. picnic at Varty Lake was a grand success.—Mr. A. E. Paul made a business trip through here this week.

WILTON.

The Sabbath School Convention held in the Presbyterian church here last Wednesday afternoon and evening was well attended. Besides the addresses given on S. S. work, a good musical programme was given.—A union picnic of the Presbyterian and Methodist S. S. of this place and the Presbyterian S. S. of Harrowsmith will be held at Sydenham, on Friday of this week. Everybody welcome.—Mr. and Mrs. Finley Greggs have returned to their home at Montreal, having spent a couple of weeks with her parents here.—Miss Gretta Asselstine leaves this week to take in the exposition at Seattle, B.C., and to visit friends in the west.—Mr. W. B. Storms, of Montreal, is visiting friends in the village.—Miss Jennie Smith, Fredericksburgh, is visiting at N. A. Asselstine's.—Mr. and Mrs. Lettany and children, of London, Ont., are visiting her sister, Mrs. Bernard Mills.—Mrs. A. A. McQuarrie and little daughter, East Toronto, are visiting her mother, Mrs. R. Storms.—Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Forsythe spent Sunday at Newburgh.—A number from here attended the lawn social on the Presbyterian church grounds at Harrowsmith, on Tuesday evening.—Mr. W. O. Asselstine, Owen Sound, is visiting at his home here.—Mr. Donaldson and Mr. Day, of Odessa, were guests at Jas. Lewis', on Sunday.—Mr. Nicholas Simmons leaves this week for Laval, Que., to visit his daughter, Mrs. Murphy.—The stone crusher is at work in the village, and a heavy coat of gravel is being put on the roads.—Mrs. C. NEWBURGH.

At the Epworth League on Monday evening, Rev. M. E. Sexsmith delivered an able and instructive address on Patriotism.

His Lordship Bishop Mills, of Kingston, administered the rite of Confirmation to five candidates in St. John's church, on Sunday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Aylesworth are visiting Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Chant, Webbwood.

J. M. Denyes is attending the summer school at Chemong Park.

Mr. Foster has moved to Point Ann.

Harry Lochhead, Toronto, spent a few days last week with his aunt, Mrs. Lochhead.

Dr. and Mrs. H. R. Duff spent Sunday with C. H. Finkle.

P. D. Shorey is visiting his brother, J. E. Shorey, in Camilton.

Mr. McIntosh, of the Standard Bank, has been removed to Caledonia. Mac's many friends will wish him every success. Mr. Day Spafford, of Ernesttown, has taken Mr. McIntosh's place in the branch here.

Mr. J. W. Courtney as usual is first on the ground with new potatoes.

E. W. Stickney, Merrickville, spent Dominion Day with his family here.

Miss Percival, Merrickville, is the guest of Miss Heloise Stickney.

Percy Nesbit is visiting his brother, Dr. H. A. Nesbit, Lindsay.

Miss Mary Nesbit returned home this week, after an extended visit with friends in Western Ontario.

Miss Maude Beaman has returned to her home in Kemptville, after visiting her sister, Mrs. H. M. Ryan.

Messrs. J. M. Thompson and Ernest Gandier, with their families, are camping at Beaver Lake.

Harry Wagar and George Paul, Tamworth, were in the 'burgh on Tuesday.

Rev. and Mrs. J. H. Chant spent Dominion Day in Tamworth.

Cherries were plentiful in the village on Monday evening, at $1.00 a pail.

Charles Welbanks and his daughter, Mrs. Breeze, spent a few days this week at Forest Mills.

Dr. Berman and M. Ryan were in Centreville on Monday morning in connection with Municipal matters.

Those who intend taking in the Methodist church excursion to the Thousand Islands, on Wednesday, July 21st, will please note that the train to take is the "Excursion special" leaving Deseronto 11.40 and Napanee 12 noon, and not the regular noon train. The excursion special will run ahead of the regular noon train out of Napanee. The Committee are sparing no pains to make this the trip of the season, and a splendid day's outing is assured. Remember you leave at noon and will be home in the evening about the time you usually retire. The fare is only one dollar for the round trip. Special train both ways. Both American and Canadian channels.

Mrs. and Miss Brisco returned home this week, after spending a month with Mr. R. Brisco, Galt.

CORNS ARE WORSE IN HOT WEATHER.

Get rid of them now, 15c will do it. To be had at Wallace's Drug Store. Sent by mail on receipt of 18 cents in stamps. For sweaty feet just procure a 25 cent tin of our Foot Easem.

DESERONTO.

The steamers Brockville and Reindeer both had good crowds from Picton to Napanee on the 1st, and the Bay of Quinte Railway did a good business from Deseronto.

Miss Mary G. Callaghan returned on Wednesday from a month's outing at Collingwood and Georgian Bay districts.

Mr. Joseph Beyette, of Peterboro' was a visitor in town on the 1st.

The steamers North King and Caspian are making very good time so far this season, being on time almost every morning, though not as well patronized as would be expected this very warm weather.

Mr. J. W. Hampton, of the Bell Telephone, and some friends enjoyed themselves on the Bay on the 1st in a launch, but the end was not as pleasant as might have been, the engine balked "she wouldn't spark" and Tommy Warren's assistance with his launch had to be enlisted.

"Deseronto is out of sight" between heavy black smoke from the locomotive around the steamboat dock and heavy clouds of dust enveloping Main st., and the business places are almost impossible to navigate.

The steamer Alexandria was on time on Monday on her trip east to Quebec, having a good number of tourists. Cleo Knox is spending his vacation as waiter on the above steamer, a good idea for two reasons pleasant and lucrative.

The steamer Caspian had a large number of passengers for Deseronto on Sunday, Michael and John Fox were part of the cargo discharged here.

Mr. Archie McNeill is spending a few weeks' vacation in this vicinity.

Mrs. Owen Smith, of Rochester, is visiting friends in town.

John Gowan has disposed of his yacht "Evelyn" to parties in Toronto, and will be no mean acquisition to the fleet in Toronto Bay.

Mr. Geo. E. Snider, ex-chief of Police here, has been appointed Chief of the force at Trenton.

Mrs. Wm. Haines, of Toronto, is a visitor in town.

The Government steamer "Scout" called at the dock on Monday.

The S. S. Prince Rupert arrived from Marquette with 2050 tons ore for the Iron Works, and cleared light for Cleveland.

Mr. Jesse Allan, Midland Supervisor Iron and Steel Bounties, was a caller on Collector Valleau, on business, this week.

Mrs. John McFaul and Mrs. Mary and Glenn Maloney left on Thursday on a visit to Mrs. E. J. Mallon, Collingwood, for a month.

Mr. Michael Topping is home again, the tug "Clyde", of which he was engineer of, having to go into quarters for a time, nothing to do.

The Cement Companies at Point Ann are keeping a good number of the large barges busy, carrying cement to Port Arthur and other western ports, one going up and one down nearly every day.

Schooner Theo Voges unloaded anth. coal and loaded lumber for Oswego this week.

The Street Commissioner should get busy. The crop of burdocks, weeds, etc., in front and back yards are splendid, and need attention.

Mr. J. M. Hurley, of Belleville, was in town for a few hours on Monday.

It cost the boys of the Lonsdale Baseball team $50.60 for their game at Lonsdale on Sunday some time ago. In future they must walk the straight and narrow way.

Another gang of gypsies came through town on Tuesday on their way east. Chief Donaldson received notice from Shannonville by phone to detain them. He did so, but as no one appeared to authorize their detention, he ordered them on toward Napanee.

Mr. and Mrs. Thos. J. Flood returned to their home in Rochester, via steamer Caspian, on Tuesday evening, after a few pleasant days renewing old acquaintances in town and vicinity.

Miss Nora O'Rielly is spending a few weeks' vacation with friends in Read.

Mr. E. Armitage has been taking a combination trip west this past week, business and pleasure, "as written" business first.

Master Ralph Valleau is visiting his uncle, Collector A. S. Valleau, Maple Avenue.

Mrs. Wm. McKee, of Beloit, Wis., is a visitor at Kingsford, an old resident of Deseronto.

The steamer Brockville had a fine crowd on her trip on Saturday to Picton, a number stopping off here, and were very much disappointed to find so many of the sports had hiked to Lonsdale to witness the nine go down to defeat by the "nimble nine" of that place, by a score of 16 to 11, and it would take too much space to tell how many "ifs" it took to lose that game, and when all summed up there were nine players who were responsible for the result. You can imagine how disgusted they looked, when on the retreat home, passing a farmer's rig—the horse went by alright, until right opposite the carryall, when it bolted for the ditch, nearly overturning the rig, and the occupants were badly shaken up and scared, so much that the owner threatens prosecution, and as baseball is prohibited "at times" in Lonsdale, we do not know what the result will be.

"Troublesome" Tom Longboat is a visitor to town this last week.

The officers of Albert L.O.L. No. 1375, who are running an excursion on the glorious 12th from Napanee and intermediate ports, leaving Napanee at 6.30 a.m. for Trenton, expect to have a fine load for the steamer Reindeer.

NERVOUS?

Do you know what nerves are? Are you startled by the least noise? Does the children's merry laughter and noise irritate and worry you? Does the unexpected call of a friend or visitor make your heart "jump"? If so your nerves are in a bad condition. You need PSYCHINE the greatest of Tonics. There is life in every dose. It makes life brighter and happier, gives you a good appetite, makes your work a pleasure and enables you to enjoy life, the merry prattle of the children and the visits of your friends.

Nervous and Run Down

"In regard to your PSYCHINE, I cannot speak too highly of it. I was feeling nervous, trembling and run down before taking PSYCHINE and had a bad cough. But PSYCHINE helped me more than anything I ever tried and I give it all the praise." Mrs. George Vogart, Gananoque, Ont.

Send to Dr. T. A. Slocum Limited, Spadina Ave. Toronto, for a sample of this wonderful tonic to-day. This will convince you that there is nothing like PSYCHINE in the world for "run down and nervous" folk. It is quick in its action, and is absolutely reliable, having a record of nearly 30 years. The whole family can take it; the children like it. Sold by all druggists and stores 50c and $1.00.

FRUIT CROP REPORT.

Ottawa, June 30th, 1909.

Weather conditions in Canada have been favorable during the month of June for fruit development.

Apples.—Eastern Canada will have a large crop of winter apples from present indications. Early and fall varieties will not yield as heavily.

The apple prospects in British Columbia will hardly reach the average.

Pears.—An average crop is expected in the commercial pear sections of Ontario.

Plums are estimated somewhat lower, generally, since the heavy bloom, but are showing for an average crop, except in British Columbia, where the crop will be light.

Peaches.—Early peaches are reported medium to full crop; late peaches medium. "Curl Leaf" is very prevalent, affecting Elbertas particularly.

Grapes.—Concords promise a full crop; white and red grapes medium to full crop.

Cherries will be a good average crop.

Tomatoes promise a good crop.

Small fruits promise well everywhere. Strawberries in Southern Ontario are a very large crop.

Insect and Fungus Diseases are fairly prevalent, but comparatively little damage is reported, yet, except from the cankerworm in Nova Scotia.

United States. — Present indications show about an average crop to compete with Canadian winter stock.

Great Britain and Continental Europe. —The prospects are for not more than an average crop of fruit.

J. A. RUDDICK, Commissioner.
A. McNEILL, Chief, Fruit Div'n.

BEFORE TEETZEL, J.

Thomas v. McTear—W. S. Herrington, K.C., for plaintiffs. J. S. Whiting, K.C., J. B. Walkem, K.C., and G. F. Ruttan, K.C., for defendants. Judgment (G). The plaintiffs are the next of kin and representatives of next of kin of the late Peter Churchill Thomas, and the defendants are the statutory representatives of St. John's Church of England in Bath.

By his will P. C. Thomas gave the use of a farm to his brother and sister during their joint lives, and after their death he gave the rents and produce of the farm in perpetuity to the support of the acting incumbent of St. John's Church. The will was made less than six months before his death, and the brother and sister being now dead, the validity of this devise is called in question under the Mortmain Act. Held, that the devise is valid and as the land has not been sold it vests in the accountant of the supreme court of judicature, R.S.O., cap 112, s. 5. The land is to be sold with all reasonable speed and out of the proceeds the costs and expenses of the sale and of all parties to this action shall be paid, and the balance shall be paid to the Incorporated Synod of the Diocese of Ontario upon trust, to hold the same for the support of the acting incumbent of St. John's Church, whether the incumbent be a rector or curate. The churchwardens and the accountant will join in the conveyance.

OBITUARY.

William James Davis passed peacefully away at the home of his aunt, Mrs. Joseph Sedore, South Napanee, on Wednesday, June 30th, aged about 29 years. Deceased was the oldest son of Mr. John Davis, of Watertown, N.Y., and grandson of the late William Ramsay. His mother predeceased him 22 years ago. Wm. went to the North West about five years ago and his health failed him over a year ago, and the first of April he came back to Napanee, hoping the change would do him good. After visiting among his friends a short time he went to his aunt's, where all that could be done was done for him. Besides a father he leaves one sister, Mrs. A. Hardy, of Watertown, who was unable to be at the funeral, and several half brothers and sisters. His father was at his bedside when he passed away. A very impressive sermon was preached at the home of Mr. Sedore by Mr. Hughes, of Belleville, when the remains were interred in Riverside cemetery, followed by a number of relatives and friends.

YIELDS 200,000 BARRELS A DAY

Big Oil Gusher Discovered on an American's Land in Mexico.

Mexico City, June 29th.—One of the biggest gushers in the history of the oil industry has just been obtained in a well near Tuxpan, state of Tampico. The daily output of the well is estimated at 200,000 barrels. It is located upon land owned by George I. Ham, an American banker of this city. It is a short distance from a big tract of land recently purchased by E. H. Harriman.

Oil was struck at a depth of 2900 feet. The pressure is so strong that efforts to cap the well have not yet been successful. Earthen tanks are being constructed in which to store oil temporarily. It is reported that the Standard Oil Company has secured rights to the land.

ENTRANCE RESULTS.

The following are the names of the successful candidates trying the Entrance Exams. The showing was excellent—168 pupils passing, as follows: Napanee 68, Bath 21, Denbigh 8, Newburgh 54, Tamworth 17.

Congratulations are extended to Miss Mabel Edwards, of the Napanee Model School, who secured the highest marks obtained by any candidate in Lennox, Addington or Frontenac.

WEDDING AT YARKER.

A pretty event took place in Yarker parsonage, Wednesday afternoon, June 30th, when Miss Ethel Kerr, fourth daughter of John Kerr, became the bride of Cyrus Estes. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Mr. Batstone, the Methodist clergyman of the circuit. The young couple were assisted by Miss Lena Kerr, sister of the bride, as bridesmaid, and Seymour Ball, of Colebrook, cousin of the groom, as groomsman. The bride was attired in a white embroidery dress, with white hat trimmed with white silk and roses, while the bridesmaid wore a white mull suit. The groom's gift to his bride was a gold watch and chain; to the bridesmaid, a pearl crescent, and to the groomsman, a pair of gold cuff links. The young couple drove to Napanee, where they took the train for Gananoque and other points, to spend a few weeks, after which they will reside near Colebrook. The bride wore a travelling suit of blue venetian cloth, with a white net blouse, and hat to match.

Baby's Great Danger During Hot Weather.

More children die during the hot weather than at any other time of the year. Diarrhoea, dysentry, cholera infantum, and stomach troubles come without warning and when a medicine is not at hand to give prompt relief, the delay may prove fatal to the child. Baby's Own Tablets should be kept in every home where there are children during the hot weather months. An occasional dose of the Tablets will prevent deadly summer complaints, or cure them if they come unexpectedly. Mrs. O. Moreau, St. Tite, Que., says: "My baby suffered from a severe attack of cholera infantum, but after giving him Baby's Own Tablets the trouble disappeared, and he regained health splendidly." The Two Vanrevels

By BOOTH TARKINGTON,

Author of "The Gentleman from Indiana" and "Monsieur Beaucaire"

Copyright, 1902, by S. S. McClure Co.

"Isn't it very late, child? Why are you not asleep?"

"Mrs. Tanberry, I want to know why there was a light in the cupola room tonight?"

"What?" Mrs. Tanberry rolled herself as upright as possible and sat with blinking eyes.

"I want to know what I am sure you know and what I am sure everybody knows except me. What were they doing there tonight, and what was the quarrel between Mr. Vanrevel and my father that had to do with Mr. Gray?"

Mrs. Tanberry gazed earnestly into the girl's face. After a long time she said in a gentle voice:

"Child, has it come to matter that much?"

"Yes," said Miss Betty.

CHAPTER XIII.

TOM VANREVEL always went to the postoffice soon after the morning distribution of the mail; that is to say, about 10 o'clock, and returned with the letters for the firm of Gray & Vanrevel, both personal and official. Crailey and he shared everything, even a box at the postoffice, and in front of this box one morning, after a night of rain, Tom stood staring at a white envelope bearing a small black seal. The address was in a writing he had never seen before, but the instant it fell under his eye he was struck with a distinctly pleasurable excitement.

Suddenly and without reason he knew that it came from Elizabeth Carewe.

He walked back quickly to his office with the letter in the left pocket of his coat, threw the bundle of general correspondence upon his desk, went up to the floor above and paused at his own door to listen. Deep breathing from across the hall indicated that Mr. Gray's soul was still incased in slumber.

Vanrevel went to his own room, locked the door and took the letter from his pocket. At last, after examining all the blades of his pocketknife, he selected one brighter than the others and loosened the flap of the envelope as gently and carefully as if it had been the petal of a rosebud that he was opening.

Dear Mr. Vanrevel—I believed you last night, though I did not understand. But I understand now—everything—and, bitter to me as the truth is, I must show you plainly that I know all of it, nor can I rest until I do show you. I want you to answer this letter—though I must not see you again for a long time—and in your answer you must set me right if I am anywhere mistaken in what I have learned.

At first, and until after the second time we met, I did not believe in your heart, though I did in your mind and humor. Even since then there have come strange, small, inexplicable mistrustings of you, but now I throw them all away and trust you wholly, Monsieur Citizen Georges Melihac!—I shall always think of you in those impossible garnishments of my poor great-uncle, and I persuade myself that he must have been a little like you.

I trust you because I have heard the story of your profound goodness. The first reason for my father's dislike was your belief in freedom as the right of all men. Ah, it is not your pretty exaggerations and flatteries (I laugh at them!) that speak for you, but your career itself and the brave things you have done! My father's dislike flared into hatred because you worsted him when he discovered that he could not successfully defend the wrong against you and fell back upon sheer insult.

He is a man whom I do not know—strange as that seems as I write it. It is only to you, who have taught me so much, that I could write it. I have tried to know him and to realize that I am his daughter, but we are the coldest acquaintances, that is all, and I cannot see how a change could come. I do not understand him; least of all do I understand why he is a gambler. It has been explained to me that it is his great passion, but all I comprehend in these words is that they are full of shame for his daughter.

This is what was told me: He has always played heavily and skillfully, adding much to his estate in that way, and in Rouen always with a certain coterie, which was joined several years ago by the man you came to save last night.

Your devotion to Mr. Gray has been the most beautiful thing in your life. I know all that the town knows of that, except the thousand hidden sacrifices you have made for him, those things which no one will ever know. (And yet, you see, I know them after all.) For your sake, because you love him, I will not even call him unworthy.

I have heard—from one who told unwillingly—the story of the night two years ago when the play ran so terribly high, and how in the morning when they went away all were poorer except one—their host; how Mr. Gray had nothing left in the world and owed my father a great sum, which was to be paid in twenty-four hours; how you took everything you had saved in the years of hard work at your profession and borrowed the rest on your word and brought it to my father that afternoon; how, when you had paid your friend's debt, you asked my father not to play with Mr. Gray again, and my father made that his excuse to send you a challenge. You laughed at the challenge—and you could afford to laugh at it.

But this is all shame, shame for Robert Carewe's daughter. It seems to me that I should hide and not lift my head; that I, being of my father's blood, could never look you in the face again. It is so unspeakably painful and ugly. I think of my father's stiff pride and his look of the eagle—and he still plays with your friend, almost always "successfully!" And your friend still comes to play! But I will not speak of that side of it.

[illegible] has made you poor, but I know it was that which made you come seeking him last night, when I found you there in the hall. It was for his sake you came—and you went away for mine. Now that I know, at last—now that I have heard what your life has been (and, oh, I heard so much more than I have written!)—now that my eyes have been opened to see you as you are, I am proud and glad and humble that I can believe that you felt a friendship for me strong enough to have made you go "for my sake." You will write to me just once—won't you?—and tell me if there was any error in what I listened to, but you must not come to the garden. Now that I know you I cannot meet you clandestinely again. It would hurt the dignity which I feel in you now and my own poor dignity—such as it is! I have been earnestly warned of the danger to you. Besides, you must let me test myself. I am all fluttering and frightened and excited. You will obey me, won't you? Do not come until I send for you.

ELIZABETH CAREWE.

Mr. Gray, occupied with his toilet about noon, heard his partner descending to the office with a heavy step, and issued from his room to call a hearty greeting. Tom looked back over his shoulder and replied cheerily, though with a certain embarrassment, but Crailey, catching sight of his face, uttered a sharp ejaculation and came down to him.

"Why, what's the matter, Tom? You're not going to be sick?"

"I'm all right, never fear!" Tom laughed, evading the other's eye. "I'm going out in the country on some business, and I dare say I shall not be back for a couple of days. It will be all up and down the county."

"Can't I go for you? You don't look able"—

"No, no. It's something I'll have to attend to myself."

"Ah, I suppose," said Crailey gently, "I suppose it's important and you couldn't trust me to handle it. Well—God knows you're right! I've shown you often enough how incompetent I am to do anything but write jingles!"

"You do some more of them—without the whisky, Crailey. They're worth more than all the lawing that Gray & Vanrevel have ever done or ever will do. Goodby—and be kind to yourself."

He descended to the first landing, and then, "Oh, Crailey," he called with the air of having forgotten something he had meant to say.

"Yes, Tom?"

"This morning at the postoffice I found a letter addressed to me. I opened it and"— He hesitated, and uneasily shifted his weight from one foot to the other with a feeble, deprecatory laugh.

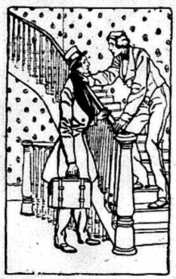
"Yes, what of it?"

"Well, there seemed to be a mistake. I think it must have been meant for you. Somehow, she—she's picked up a good many wrong impressions, and, Lord knows how, but she's mixed our names up and—and I've left the letter for you. It's on my table."

He turned and, calling a final goodby over his shoulder, went clattering noisily down to the street and vanished from Crailey's sight.

Noon found Tom far out on the National road, creaking along over the yellow dust in a light wagon.

He stopped at every farmhouse and cabin, and where the young men worked in the fields hailed them from the road or hitched his horse to the fence and crossed the soft furrows to talk with them. At such times he stood erect again and spoke stirringly, finding eager listeners. There was one question they asked him over and over:



"Why, what's the matter, Tom?"

"But are you sure the call will come?"

"As sure as that we stand here. And it will come before the week is out. We must be ready!"

Often when he left them they would turn from the work in hand, leaving it as it was to lie unfinished in the fields, and make their way slowly and thoughtfully to their homes, while Tom climbed into his creaking little wagon once more, only to fall into the same dull, hunched over attitude. He had many things to think out before he faced Rouen and Crailey Gray again, and more to fight through to the end with himself. Three days he took for it, three days driving through the soft May weather behind the kind old jog trotting horse.

But on the evening of the third day he drove into town, with the stoop out of his shoulders and the luster back in his eyes. He was haggard, gray, dusty, but he had solved his puzzle, and one thing was clear in his mind as the thing that he would do. He patted the old horse a hearty farewell as he left him with the liveryman from whom he had hired him and strode up Main street with the air of a man who is going somewhere. It was late, but there were more lights than usual in the windows and more people on the streets. An old man, a cobbler, who had left a leg at Tippecanoe and replaced it with a wooden one, chastely decorated with designs of his own carvings, came stumping excitedly down the middle of the street, where he walked for fear of the cracks in the wooden pavement, which were dangerous to his art leg when he came from the Rouen House bar, as on the present occasion. He hailed Tom by name.

"You're the lad, Tom Vanrevel!" he shouted. "You're the man to lead the boys out for the glory of the state! You git the whole blame fire department out and enlist 'em before morning. Take 'em down to the Rio Grande, you hear me? And you needn't be afraid of their puttin' it out, if it ketches afire, neither!"

Tom waved his hand and passed on, but at the open doors of the Catholic church he stopped and looked up and down the street, and then, unnoticed, entered to the dim interior, where the few candles showed only a bent old woman in black kneeling at the altar. Tom knew where Elizabeth Carewe knelt each morning. He stepped softly through the shadowy silence to her place, knelt and rested his head upon the rail of the bench before him.

The street was quiet when he emerged from that lorn vigil. The corner groups had dissolved. Shouting youths no longer patrolled the sidewalks. Only one quarter showed signs of life—the little clubhouse, where the windows still shone brightly and whence came the sound of many voices settling the destinies of the United States of America. Thither Tom bent his steps thoughtfully and with a quiet mind. There was a small veranda at the side of the house. Here he stood unobserved to look in upon his noisy and agitated friends.

They were all there, from the old general and Mr. Bareaud to the latter's son, Jefferson, and young Frank Chenoweth. Trumble was proposing a health to the president in a voice of fury.

"In spite of all the Crailey Grays and traitors this side of hades!" he finished politely.

Crailey emerged instantaneously from the general throng and mounted a chair, tossing his light hair back from his forehead, his eyes sparkling and happy. "You find your own friends already occupying the place you mentioned, do you, general?" he asked.

General Trumble stamped and shook his fist. "You're a spawn of Aaron Burr!" he vociferated. "There's not a man here to stand by your infernal doctrines. You sneer at your own state, you sneer at your own country, you defile the sacred ground! What are you, by the Almighty, who attack your native land in this her hour of peril?"

"Peril to my native land!" laughed Crailey. "From Santa Anna?"

"The general's right, sir," exclaimed the elder Chenoweth indignantly, and most of the listeners appeared to agree with him. "It's a poor time to abuse the president when he's called for volunteers and our country is in danger, sir!"

"Who is in danger?" answered Crailey, lifting his hand to still the clamor of approbation that arose. "Is Polk in danger, or congress? But that would be too much to hope! Do you expect to see the greasers in Washington? No, you idiots, you don't! Yet there'll be plenty of men to suffer and die, and the first should be those who thrust this war on us and poor little Mexico. But it won't be they. The men who'll do the fighting and dying will be the country boys and the like of us from the towns, while Mr. Polk sits planning how he can get elected again. And you ask me to drink the health of the politician who sits at home and sends his fellow men to die to fix his rotten jobs for him!" Crailey had persuaded himself into such earnestness that the depth of his own feeling almost choked him, but he finished roundly in his beautiful, strong voice: "I'll drink for the good punch's sake. But that health—I'll see General Trumble in heaven before I'll drink it!"

There rose at once a roar of anger and disapproval, and Crailey became a mere storm center amid the upraised hands gesticulating madly at him as he stood, smiling again, upon his chair.

"This comes of living with Tom Vanrevel!" shouted the general furiously. "This is his cursed abolition teaching! You're only his echo. You spend half your life playing at being Vanrevel!"

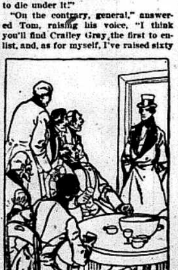
"Where is Vanrevel?" said Tappingham Marsh.

"Aye, where is he?" raged Trumble, hammering the table till the glasses rang. "Let him come and answer for his own teaching. It's wasted time to talk to this one. He's only the pupil. Where is the traitor?"

"Here," answered a voice from the doorway; and, though the word was spoken quietly, it was nevertheless at that juncture silencing. Every one turned toward the door as Vanrevel entered. But the apoplectic general, whom Crailey's speech had stirred to a fury beyond control, almost leaped at Tom's throat.

"Here's the tea sipping old granny!" he bellowed hoarsely. (He was ordinarily very fond of Tom.) "Here's the master! Here's the man whose example teaches Crailey Gray to throw mud at the flag. He'll stay here at home with Crailey, of course, and throw more, while the other boys march out to die under it!"

"On the contrary, general," answered Tom, raising his voice, "I think you'll find Crailey Gray the first to enlist, and, as for myself, I've raised sixty men in the country, and I want forty more from Rouen in order to offer the governor a full company! So it's come to 'the king, not the man.' Polk is a pitiful trickster, but the country needs her sons; that's enough for us to know.



"Here."

And, while I won't drink to James Polk"—he plunged a cup in the bowl and drew it out brimming—"I'll empty this to the president!"

It was then that from fifty throats the long, wild shout went up that stirred Rouen and woke the people from their midnight beds for half a mile around.

CHAPTER XIV.

FOR the first time it was Crailey who sat waiting for Tom to come home. In a chair drawn to his partner's desk in the dusty office he half reclined, arms on the desk, his chin on his clinched fists.

Tom took his own time in coming. He had stayed at the club to go over his lists—so he had told Crailey—with the general and old Bareaud. His company was almost complete, and Crailey had been the first to volunteer, to the dumfounding of Trumble, who had proceeded to drink his health again and again. But the lists could not detain Tom two hours, Crailey knew, and it was two hours since the new volunteers had sung "The Star Spangled Banner" over the last of the punch and had left the club to Tom and the two old men. Only once or twice in that time had Crailey shifted his position or altered the direction of his set gaze at nothing. But at last he rose, went to the window and, leaning far out, looked down the street toward the little clubhouse. Its lights were extinguished, and all was dark up and down the street. Abruptly Crailey went back to the desk and blew out the candle, after which he sat down again in the same position. Twenty minutes later he heard Tom's step on the stair, coming up very softly. Crailey waited in silence until his partner reached the landing, then relit the candle.

Regarded as one of the most potent compounds ever introduced with which to combat all summer complaints and inflammation of the bowels, Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Dysentery Cordial has won for itself a reputation that no other cordial for the purpose can aspire to. For young or old suffering from these complaints it is the best medicine that can be procured.

"Why do you yell at your mule in that manner?" said the kindly person. "Have you no sympathy for dumb animals?"

"Boss," answered Mr. Erastus Pinkley, "when dat animal takes a notion, he's wuss dan dumb. He's deaf and dumb."

"I am a Socialist," said the man with a large voice. "I believe in a universal ownership in which a man's needs and his ability to use shall take precedence over our preconceived notions or arbitary proprietorship."

"That system is now being tried," answered Miss Cayenne, "with most unsatisfactory results."

"In what way?"

"With umbrellas."

A failing tiny nerve—no larger than the finest silken thread—takes from the Heart its impulse, its power, its regularity. The Stomach also has its hidden, or inside nerve. It was Dr. Shoop who first told us it was wrong to drug a weak or failing Stomach, Heart or Kidneys. His prescription—Dr. Shoop's Restorative—is directed straight for the cause of these ailments—these weak and faltering inside nerves. This no doubt clearly explains why the Restorative has of late grown so rapidly in popularity. Druggists say that those who test the Restorative even for a few days soon become fully convinced of its wonderful merit. Anyway, don't drug the organ. Treating the cause of sickness is the only sensible and successful way. Sold by all dealers. 27e

Song of the Little Paint Man

I have a paint pot filled with paint,
That's mixed with care and pains,
And any floor that I paint o'er
Will lose its dirt and stains.

The rich and poor, the old and young,
Of every tribe and nation,
Should know that paint put on a floor
Is best for its preservation.

Chorus—
And that is why until I die
I will carry my brush and can,
To hide the scars and cover mars,
Because I'm the Little Paint Man.

MORAL.—Use Sherwin-Williams Gloss White Paint. It's better than Lead and Oil.

Most Comfortable Store in Napanee.

Comfort means: Convenience of merchandise; civility and promptness of service; care despatch in getting the goods home—it means eliminating worry on your part as well as keeping the store comfortable and interesting.

Comfort. You can shop by telephone or mail just as satisfactorily as though personally at the store. Our larger debt to the public—the thing that makes this different from "just a store"—is to furnish exactly what a customer needs, with no obtruding thought of what we'd like to sell. This is real service—the position of a business that makes it honestly able to say: "Your money back if you ask it"—for your money isn't our money till you are exactly suited. Being suited, there is no desire on your part to trade back.

Lot 4—$2.00, all $2.50, $3.00 and $3.50 suits.

5 Men's Suits—worth $7.50 to $12—on sale at $5 each.

Some 15 of these are two piece Summer Outing Suits. The balance are suitable weights for season round wearing. They are well worth the attention of anyone in need of a suit. Our reason for selling them at this price is that they are odd suits—one or two only left of a kind.

Women's and Girls' Knit Jackets For Camp and Chilly Nights on the Drive or River.

The new knit jackets arrived O. K. some days ago and by the way they are selling, we will soon be out of some sizes.

They are all made from pure Nova Scotia wool and come in plain cream, red, navy, mid grey, green, and heather mixtures.

Some are belted, others have one pocket or two pockets, pearl buttoned. Flat, snug to the neck fitting collars, round fronts and square. Price range from $1.75 to $4.50 each.

New Washable Suitings by the yard At 12½c, 15c, 20c yard.

At our staple counter you will find a number of new arrivals to brighten up the stock of Suitings. Plain colors that are scarce such as plain linen, and tan shades; also pretty narrow stripes in blues, tan, black with white.

Serpentine Crepe.

Our stock is well assorted in this New York novelty wash material. We have plain sky, white, navy, mauve. Also fancies in bordered and scroll and figured effects.

Serpentine Crepe retains its crinkle, will neither wear or wash out, and does not require ironing. One price, 25c yard.

Cream Materials for Suits.

Shown in Serge, Panama, plain and fancy lustres, Khantons, Bedford and Resilda. These fabrics are suitable for costumes, shirt waist suits, separate coats and separate skirts. The new touch is black when makes the garment very effective—black piping, and large jet buttons. At our dress goods department we are prepared to give any information regarding the coming styles for dresses.

Pearl Buttons with Keys.

Another lot to hand this week. Fresh water pearl, in 2[illegible] line at 25c, 35c, 40c, 50c per dozen.
French Pearl, 24, 30, 36 line at 35c, 50c, 75c per dozen. These are what you need for wash suits.

Children's Parasols.

Ask to see our sun shades for the little ones—a variety of [illegible] plain and Dresden effects,—and prices are 25c, 40c, 50c, 75c, $1.00.

A Nobby Umbrella for Rain or Shine.

Special $1.50 in two colorings only—A handsome green and [illegible] Maroon silk and wool covering. Each has a narrow white border which makes a neat and attractive finish. A limited number. Regular value $2.50 for $1.50 each.

Boys' Shirtwaists—A Most Beautiful Stock to select from.

The boys' Shirt Waists we carry are the product of two factories that make a specialty of Boys' work. Every waist is made to fit well, from materials that will not fade in the washing.

At 75c, beautiful Gingham Waists, in pretty neat checks and stripes with separate laundried collar and attached cuffs, very durable.

At 50c, good strong Print, Percale, and Galatea Waists, with collar attached. All sizes from 11½ to 14.

EXPERTS AT TAILORING!

Having a suit made to order is like building a house.

The result, in both cases, depends in the main, on your contractor and workmen.

There's one thing sure--you can't get a $30 suit to your order for $15, any more than you can get a $10,000 house built for $5,000.

The Safe Way!

Go to a Tailor that has a reputation for making the best of work--a Tailor whom you can trust and whom every person speaks well of--a Tailor who never charges a fancy price, but who asks you enough to insure the best of work.

Such a decision will bring you to this Home of Good Tailoring.

—The Revds. J. P. Wilson and W. H. Emsley were the speakers at a very interesting festival held at Foxboro', in the Township of Thurlow, on Monday evening last. Rev. Chas. Cragg is the popular and successful pastor of the Thurlow Circuit, and under his able management a very handsome new church has been erected and dedicated.

—The Wednesday afternoon excursion by Str. Reindeer to Glen Island and Picton, under the auspices of the Junior League of the Western Methodist church, was a decided success. The young leaguers stayed at Glen Island in care of the Superintendents, and there competed for prizes in athletics, whilst many of the older folk went on to Picton, and enjoyed the half day on the water to the very full.

—The strawberry and ice cream social held at Anderson Church on Tuesday, July 6th, was a decided success. The attendance was not as large as desired but with the church just comfortably filled, an evening thoroughly enjoyable was spent. The refreshments were abundant and delicious. The programme rendered by the Western Methodist Choir was excellent, and the audience was very appreciative. Too much praise cannot be given to those who in such kindly spirit rendered splendid service. Rev. W. H. Emsley acted as chairman in his usually happy manner.

The Home Fire Insurance Company

On June 13th my barn was struck by lightning and burned to the ground. I gave notice to the Company's head office at Napanee; my claim was adjusted, and on July 3d at a meeting of the Board of Directors, just 21 days from the date of the fire, they, through their Secretary-Treasurer, handed me a cheque for $317.57, in full satisfaction of my claim. I found the Board honorable and fair, both to me and the Company, and can unreservedly recommend the Home Company to the farmers of these counties. The Directors are all farmers, men of our own class, and heavy policyholders. In case of loss which necessitates business with the Company, you can personally present your case, which privilege I hold as of valued significance.

MRS. GORDANIER.

DIED AT STELLA.

John Marshall was born in Dumfries, Scotland, near the home of the Carlyles, some of whom he was acquainted with. He came to Canada when a young man, and lived in Picton for a time. He married Jane, daughter of the late David Filson, of Amherst Island, and bought a farm on the south shore. Five sons and one daughter, all of whom are alive, were born on the homestead, and with his widow mourn his loss. Mr. Marshall was a member of the 16th regiment of volunteers, and was called out for active service during the Fenian Raid for which he received a medal. He was one of the best farmers in the County and until a year ago took delight in following the plough. He was a member of the Presbyterian church and one of its most liberal supporters. He had a good voice and a fine ear for music, and loved to sing the Psalms of David. He was a good man and will be much missed.

PRESENTATION AND ADDRESS.

On the evening of June 17th, a few days before the departure of Rev. W. S. and Mrs. Boyce for their new field of labor on the Wilton circuit, a number of their friends from Adolphustown and Hayburn appointments met at the parsonage at Conway to bid them good-bye and express slightly in a tangible manner the appreciation of the services Mrs. Boyce had rendered during the last four years. After a few minutes of social intercourse with expressions on every side of the depressing features of "tenerancy" in breaking up old associations, parting with dear friends, etc., the Vice-President (in the absence of the President) of the Ladies' Aid took the chair, and after a few well chosen remarks, asked Mrs. Boyce to come forward, when Mrs. D. W. Robin read the following address, and Mrs. Cyrus Buck presented her with a purse of gold.

Mrs. W. S. Boyce, Conway.

Dear Mrs. Boyce,—It is with mingled feelings of pleasure and sadness that we assemble here to-night, a few days before your departure for your new home, to bid you good-bye—pleasure in the remembrance of our associations with you and your uplifting influence for the past four years in all you have undertaken, of your faithful untiring zeal in the Ladies' Aid, which organization in this place owes its origin to you, and which has so steadily grown under your management as general President. To-day it is stronger than the most sanguine expected it to be. You have taken the lead in the Women's Auxiliary and assisted in the musical part of our worship, which we deem of the greatest importance. We know well how difficult it has been for you with little assistance at your home, to get to choir practice, and your presence Sabbath after Sabbath and your willing helpfulness we shall always appreciate. Doubtless, indeed, you have felt it arduous and often discouraged, but in spite of all you have been faithful, devoted, painstaking and we are assured self-sacrificing, for at times you must have set aside your personal feelings and pleasures for the interest of our church. And we feel sad to think the time is here when it is imperative to say "good-bye." We ask you to kindly accept this purse as a small souvenir of the love and gratitude we have for you. May God's choicest blessings follow you and yours, and may you be encouraged and long spared to help others as you have helped us.

Signed on behalf of the Ladies' Aid.

MRS. J. W. DORLAND, President.
MRS. FRED. TAVERNER, Sec'y.

Mrs. Boyce replied in her very able unassuming manner, expressing regret at leaving the friends of Adolphustown circuit, and assuring them that she would long remember and treasure their friendship.

After a few complimentary remarks to Mr. and Mrs. Boyce by Mrs. W. Hawley and others, refreshments were served and the rest of the evening was spent in music, with the closing, the ever-popular hymn, "Blest be the tie that binds."

GRETNA.

Rain is badly needed here at present.—The strawberry season is about over, due to the dry weather.—We are sorry to lose our teacher, Miss Bertha Gould, who has resigned her position here. She was presented with a lovely berry spoon by some of her friends, in appreciation of her services in school and choir.—Miss Jessie Sills, Sharp's Corners, is spending her vacation at home.—Miss Elieda Young is visiting in Picton. Dr. S. J. Mellow, Port Perry, and brother Arthur, Sillsville, called on their uncle and cousins here on Monday. Dr. Mellow was on his way to New York.—Mr. Dorland Young had a narrow escape one day last week while rolling. The horses ran away and he was thrown under the roller. He escaped with a slight shaking up.—Mr. and Mrs. G. Post and children spent Sunday with his mother at Hay Bay.—Miss Estella Dean is visiting at J. P. Mellow's.—Rev. C. W. Demille entertained the young people of Bethany and Gretna to a display of fireworks on the evening of July 1st at Bethany. Cake and lemonade were served by the young people of Bethany. A very enjoyable evening was spent.—Miss Libbie Grey, of Picton, is visiting Mr. and Mrs. T. McWain.

GOLF.

The Napanee Golf Club went to Picton on Wednesday and were defeated by the Picton team. The ladies were taken in Mr. Clarance M. Warner's motor boat, and the gentlemen in Mr. W. C. Smith's boat. They were entertained at the club house, and had a most enjoyable day. Following is the score:

Sale Continued
A few days left yet of
Paul's Great Sale

In order to reduce my large stock of Wall Paper, Hammocks, Croquet, Fine China, Dinner Setts, Fancy Goods and Baseball Goods before 5th July, I will continue my SPECIAL DISCOUNTS until that date.

The reasons are:—

I am going away from town for two months, and do not want to leave too much for the clerks to look after in my absence.

The room will be required for the new goods that will be coming in.

Last, and perhaps best, "I want the money."

Accounts due me must be paid at once. Don't think because the amount is small it is not worth while bringing it in.

My books must be balanced.

Thanking you all in advance,

THE GLORIOUS TWELFTH AT ENTERPRISE.

July 7th, 1909.

Dear Mr. Editor,—As you know 'the Glorious Twelfth' is to be most fittingly celebrated at Enterprise, on Monday next.

May I in this way through the columns of your valuable and largely circulated newspaper invite all Orangemen, churchmen, friends and strangers to take dinner under the auspices of the English Church, that day. Look for the mammoth tent in the centre of the village on Main Street, and there you will find us prepared to feed 3000 people at the popular price of 35c per dinner. By the kindness of others we are the only churchpeople preparing a dinner for all comers, and this favor (for which we feel thankful) has been granted us because of our extreme need. My little congregation have made a great venture of faith. They are practically building a new church. They had but little money on hand, and need now $2,000 to meet the much needed improvements. Orangemen glory in good works. Let every visitor HELP THE NEW CHURCH by patronizing the sumptuous dinner prepared for them. Orangemen build churches, Moneymore, Strathcona, etc. Let this sometimes forgotten truth be again exemplified next Monday. Orangemen, friends, Christians, we are weak, come in your united strength—build St. John's Church, Enterprise. Think of your past associations with the Church, consider the present need, forget not the promised reward. The opportunity is yours, seize it. I ask in the name of God. Amen.

Yours very truly,
J. W. JONES, Rector.

Nothing in the way of a Cough is quite so annoying as a tickling, teasing, wheezing, bronchial Cough. The quickest relief comes perhaps from a prescription known to Druggists everywhere as Dr. Shoop's Cough remedy. And besides, it is so thoroughly harmless that mothers give it with perfect safety even to the youngest babes. The tender leaves of a simple mountain shrub, give to Dr. Shoop's Cough Remedy its remarkable curative effect. It is truly a most certain and trustworthy prescription. Sold by all dealers. 27e

ORANGE DEMONSTRATION.

The Lennox and Addington County Orange Association will celebrate the 219th Anniversary of the Battle of the Boyne at Enterprise on Monday, July 12th. A procession will be formed at 1 p.m. sharp and proceed to Card's Grove, where a platform meeting will be addressed by Rev. Bros. Dixon, Demille, McConnell, Batstone, Whyte, Bro. W. J. Paul, M.P.P., and other prominent members of the order. Dinner will be furnished by St. John's Church. Enterprise and Odessa Brass Bands will furnish music during the day.

Answer This Question

When shown positive and reliable proof that a certain remedy had cured numerous cases of female ills, wouldn't any sensible woman conclude that the same remedy would also benefit her if suffering with the same trouble?

Here are two letters which prove the efficiency of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Glanford Station, Ont.—"I have taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for years and never found any medicine to compare with it. I had ulcers and falling of the uterus, and doctors did me no good. I suffered dreadfully until I began taking your medicine. It has also helped other women to whom I have recommended it."—Mrs. Henry Clark, Glanford Station, Ontario.

Another woman says Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the best remedy in the world for women.

Fox Creek, N. B.—"I have always had pains in the loins and a weakness there, and often after my meals my food would distress me and cause soreness. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done me much good. I am stronger, digestion is better, and I can walk with ambition. I have encouraged many mothers of families to take it, as it is the best remedy in the world for women. You can publish this in the papers."—Mrs. William Bourque, Fox Creek, N. B., Canada.

We will pay a handsome reward to any person who will prove to us that these letters are not genuine and truthful—or that either of these women were paid in any way for their testimonials, or that the letters are published without their permission, or that the original letter from each did not come to us entirely unsolicited.

What more proof can any one ask?

For 30 years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been the standard remedy for female ills. No sick woman does justice to herself who will not try this famous medicine. Made exclusively from roots and herbs, and has thousands of cures to its credit.

Mrs. Pinkham invites all sick women to write her for advice. She has guided thousands to health free of charge. Address Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass.

The calf, which Gideon King had taken the summer resident to see, surveyed his owner and the stranger with a wary eye.

"Er—what breed is your calf?" asked the visitor.

Mr. King removed a wisp of straw from his mouth and said:

"This critter's father gored a justice of the peace, knocked a lightning rod agent end over end and lifted a tramp over a picked fence, and as for his mother, she chased the whole Banbury brass band out o' town last Fourth o' July. If that ain't breed enough to pay $6 for, you can leave him be. I'm not pressing him on anybody."

ROCKWELL CLANCY HOME FROM INDIA.

Missionary Tells of Work Among Heathen Who Worship Krishna, God of Vice.

Albion, Mich., June 18th.—Rev. Rockwell Clancy, who recently returned from India, tells interesting stories of his work in the orient.

He was ordained deacon and elder, received his appointment in the Albion college chapel, September 9th, 1883, and left for India the same day arriving there at the end of the year. During all of this time he has spent most of his time in Augra, Lucknow, Rangoon, Allahabad and Muttra. This is his third furlough to America, and he will be home until August next year.

His work there is district superintendent of Muttra, which includes the city of Alligrah, where is situated the largest Mohammedan college east of Cairo. Muttra is the birthplace of the god Krishna. Brindaban is a city of five thousand temples, and is about six miles from Muttra. Krishna is the god of vice, and there are no two viler cities on the face of the earth than Muttra and Brindaban, which are devoted to his worship. Thousands of Hindu pilgrims come to worship Krishna, which gives splendid opportunities to preach to the people of all parts of India.

Every year in the month of March a great religious festival is held at Brindaban in honor of Krishna, which lasts ten days. A hundred thousand people attend, and there are camps of workers, consisting of about seventy-five men and women, who preach and sell bibles during this festival. Last year there was great opposition to his work, but this year people have received them gladly and have listened to the teachings of Christ.

There was never before a time in the history of the work in India, when so many were anxious to hear the gospel, and thousands have, and are becoming Christians.

"Our success is our greatest embarrassment," he says, "for we have to train our teachers and preachers before they can accomplish much good. The only limit to the work is, we are in need of more workers, and money to support them. The masses of people are very poor and a laboring man only makes from ten to twenty cents a day. Where they are becoming Christians their physical and moral conditions are improving, and the time will come when they will be able to support their own pastors and teachers. Many of them are doing it now. We need consecrated young men and women to go to India as missionaries to become leaders in the great campaign of evangelism among three hundred millions of people. A native preacher can be supported for one hundred dollars a year, a village pastor for fifty dollars, and a boy or girl can be kept in school for twenty dollars.

"Political affairs are interesting. The young men are demanding a large share in the government of the country. About 98 per cent. of the subordinate appointments under the government are held by the natives, and many of the men are clamoring for the rest of the appointments. They represent the leadership of the country. The trouble is there are so many rival factions in India, that if the government of the country were handed over to the native people there would be a civil war within a month. The British government is holding India with a firm hand and is administering justice impartially to all classes. This is resented by some of the highest casts. The Indians are now on all of the legislative councils under the government and already have a large share in the government of the country."

Mr. Clancy is visiting his father, Rev. Jacob Clancy, and will give many missionary addresses while he is in this country.

JOE WEBER'S TENACITY.

(Rennold Wolf in the July Greenbook).

Whatever profit accrues to the production of "The Climax"—and everybody concedes that its sponsor has a vast fortune in sight—Joe Weber deserves every last penny of it. But for the absolute courage of his convictions and his unwavering tenacity of purpose in the face of adverse opinion, the delightful little play might by this time be accumulating dust in the desk of a saddened playwright.

Weber liked the piece from the very outset. Although essentially a dealer in musical entertainment, he was quick to foresee the danger of presenting a three-act drama that employed but a single "set" and four players. And being also essentially a sound business man, he just as quickly appreciated the economic advantages of such an enterprise if by rare chance it happened to succeed.

From Edward W. Locke, the "glass-blower dramatist", he purchased the producing rights, and then set out to place the piece on trial. One Sunday night, at his theatre, before an audience consisting of managers, players, dramatists, and Broadway friends supposed to be in touch with the needs of the theatregoing public, "The Climax" was presented at a special performance.

The stage-setting was crude, the piece had not been rehearsed properly, two of the players were grossly miscast, and the general conditions of the performance suggested gloom. After the final curtain, one after another of that specially engaged audience sought out Weber and begged him to "forget it."

They shook their heads sadly, as the little manager met every objection smilingly.

"I think it's there," he replied in the vernacular of his kind, "and now I'm going to try it out before a regular audience."

Accordingly he booked a route of three weeks in Canada and Central New York. It was my privilege to attend one of these preliminary performances in Utica, after the production had been on tour a fortnight.

Weber and his own big musical company had only a few weeks previously visited Utica with tumultuous results. In advertising "The Climax" he announced it as "Joe Weber's Production of a Melody-Drama," and from the remarks made by patrons entering the theatre that night, it was evident that they expected to attend another big musical entertainment, replete with giddy chorus-girls and flippant comedians.

"The audience is going to meet a frightful disappointment," said the local manager to Weber ruefully. "They think you are in the cast, and that it's another of your musical shows."

The manager was not altogether wrong. When the curtain arose on the first act, with its plain setting of a combination kitchen, dining-room, and living room, they clearly made known their surprise. Along toward the end of the act they began to study their programs more closely. It was with an air of resignation that they remained in their seats.

The reception accorded the play that night was not exactly boisterous. The audience paid strict attention and applauded politely. At the conclusion they left the theatre without any outward signs of approval.

But do you think that Weber was discouraged?

Not a bit of it.

For, when Weber, the author and I met at a restaurant a few moments later to discuss the performance, the manager's first remark was:

"You could have heard a pin drop in that second act, and I saw one woman wiping her eyes. Those are the signs that count."

Even the author, that most optimistic of mortals, was not unduly elated. His criticism, of course, was directly chiefly to the acting itself, but he showed a rare willingness to make proposed changes in the text, and joined in the common demand for an improved cast.

What followed is now theatrical history. Presented before a regular audience—the actual receipts were $65—at Weber's Theatre one afternoon about two months ago every dramatic critic in the city declared that the play was one of the gems of the season. Two of them likened it to "The Music Master." Another wrote that "The Climax" will prove to be another "Old Homestead." The critic of the Evening Sun attended three performances during the first week, and the following Monday organized a box-party of prominent stars to enjoy the play with him.

Charles Frohman cabled from London for the English rights. J. C. Williamson through his New York representative, entered a bid for the Australian rights. The firm of M. Witmark & Sons obtained an option on the rights in German. David Belasco witnessed a performance, and congratulated Weber during each intermission and again after the last curtain.

Five companies will present the play on tour next season, and Weber has purchased a new office safe—three times the size of the one he used in the old Weber & Field days.

TOWN COUNCIL.

A GRAND KIDNEY MEDICINE

"Fruit-a-tives" Cured Him When Everything Else Failed.

Ulverton, Que., March 17th, 1908.

I wish to place on record, for the sake of others who may be suffering in the same way that I suffered, that no medicine I ever took did me so much real good as "Fruit-a-tives" did.

I suffered for many years with Kidney Trouble, with bad pain in the back.

I took every known kidney remedy and kidney pill, but nothing gave me any relief, and I was getting discouraged.

I was advised to try "Fruit-a-tives" and did so—and this medicine cured me when everything else failed.

I used altogether fifteen boxes of "Fruit-a-tives," and from the outset they gave me relief and I am now practically well again; no pain, no distress, and all symptoms of kidney disease have entirely left me. I am very thankful to be once more well, and I freely make this statement for the sake of others who may suffer as I did. To them, I say try "Fruit-a-tives," as they are a grand kidney medicine.

CASTORIA.

Bears the Signature of Chas. H. Fletcher The Kind You Have Always Bought

"The Two Vanrevels"

"Tom," he called, "come in, please. I've been waiting for you."

There was a pause before Tom answered from the hall:

"I'm very tired, Crailey. I think I'll go up to bed."

"No," said Crailey; "come in."

The door was already open, but Tom turned toward it reluctantly. He stopped at the threshold, and the two looked at each other.

"I thought you wouldn't come as long as you believed I was up," said Crailey, "so I blew out the light. I'm sorry I kept you outside so long."

"Crailey, I'm going away tomorrow," the other began. "I am to go over and see the governor and offer him this company, and tonight I need sleep, so please"—

"No," interrupted Crailey quietly; "I want to know what you're going to do."

"To do about what?"

"About me."

"Oh!" Tom's eyes fell at once from his friend's face and rested upon the floor. Slowly he walked to the desk and stood in embarrassed contemplation of the littered books and papers, while the other waited.

"I think it's best for you to tell me," said Crailey.

"You think so?" Tom's embarrassment increased visibly, and there was mingled with it an odd appearance of apprehension, probably to relieve which he very deliberately took two long cheroots from his pocket, laid one on the desk for Crailey and lit the other himself with extreme carefulness at the candle. After this ceremonial he dragged a chair to the window, tilted back in it with his feet on the low sill, his back to the thin light and his friend, and said in a slow, gentle tone:

"Well, Crailey?"

"I suppose you mean that I ought to offer my explanation first?" said the other, still standing. "Well, there isn't any." He did not speak doggedly or sullenly, as one in fault, but more with the air of a man curiously ready to throw all possible light upon a cloudy phenomenon. "It's very simple—all that I know about it. I went there first on the even'ng of the Madrillon masquerade and played a little comedy for her, so that some of my theatrical allusions—they weren't very illuminating—to my engagement to Fanchon made her believe I was Vanrevel when her father told her about the pair of us. I discovered that the night his warehouses burned—and I saw something more, because I can't help seeing such things—that yours was just the character to appeal to a young girl fresh from the convent and full of honesty and fine dreams and fire. Nobody could arrange a more fatal fascination for a girl of nineteen than to have a deadly quarrel with her father. And that's especially true when the father's like that mad brute of a Bob Carewe! Then, too, you're more or less the town model of virtue and popular hero, in spite of the abolitionism, just as I am the town scamp. So I let it go on and played a little at being you, saying the things that you only think—that was all. It isn't strange that it's lasted until now, not more than three weeks, after all. She's only seen you four or five times and me not much oftener. No one speaks of you to her, and I've kept out of sight when others were about. Mrs. Tanberry is her only close friend and, naturally, wouldn't be apt to mention that you are dark and I am fair or to describe us personally any more than you and I would mention the general appearance of people we both meet about town. But you needn't tell me that it can't last much longer. Some petty, unexpected trifle will turn up, of course. All that I want to know is what you mean to do."

"To do?" repeated Tom softly and blew a long scarf of smoke out of the window.

"Ah!" Crailey's voice grew sharp and loud. "There are many things you needn't tell me. You need not tell me what I've done to you nor what you think of me. You need not tell me that you have others to consider; that you have Miss Carewe to think of. Don't you suppose I know that? And you need not tell me that you have a duty to Fanchon"—

"Yes," Tom broke in, his tone not quite steady—"yes, I've thought of that."

"Well?"

"Have you—did you"— He hesitated, but Crailey understood immediately.

"No; I haven't seen her again."

"But you"—

"Yes, I wrote. I answered the letter."

"As"—

"Yes; I signed your name. I told you that I had just let things go on," Crailey answered, with an impatient movement of his hands. "What are you going to do?"

"I'm going over to see the governor in the morning. I'll be away two or three days, I imagine."

"Vanrevel," exclaimed Crailey hotly, "will you give me an answer and not beat about the bush any longer, or do you mean that you refuse to answer?"

Tom dropped his cigar upon the brick window ledge with an abysmal sigh. "Oh, no; it isn't that," he answered mildly. "I've been thinking it all over for three days in the country, and when I got back tonight I found that I had come to a decision without knowing it and that I had come to it even before I started. My leaving the letter for you proved it. It's a little like this Mexican war—a mixed up problem. The thing is bound to happen, and you can't stop it. I believe the men who make this war for their own uses will suffer for it. But it is made, and there's only one thing I can see as the thing for me to do. They've called me every name on earth—and the same with you, too, Crailey—because I'm an abolitionist, but now, whether the country has sinned or not, a good many thousand men have got to do the bleeding for her, and I want to be one of them. That's the one thing that is plain to me."

"Yes," returned Crailey. "You know I'm with you, and I think you're always right. Yes, we'll all be on the way in a fortnight or so. Do you mean you won't quarrel with me because of that? Do you mean it would be a poor time now, when we're all going out to take our chances together?"

"Quarrel with you!" Tom rose and came to the desk, looking across it at his friend. "Did you think I might do that?"

(TO BE CONTINUED.)

"Did you have a pleasant time at the picnic, Ronald? I trust that you remembered to Fletcherize, and masticated each mouthful one hundred times."

"Yes'm, an' while I was chewin' my first bite the other boys et up all the grub."

WHY ECZEMA PATIENTS SUFFER.

NO WONDER THEY DESPAIR—BUT CURE HAS NOW BEEN FOUND.

It is a strange thing about eczema. After wasting money on nostrums, dosing the stomach or smearing on greasy salves for years, many a skin sufferer gives up in despair. He says:

"What is the use, some may be cured, but my case is hopeless."

But a trial of the simplest remedy—just a little oil of wintergreen properly compounded (as in D.D.D. Prescription) will wash away that itch. In fact, it will take away the itch IMMEDIATELY, the instant D.D.D. is applied.

Read this letter from Mrs. G. J. Hutton, of Renfrew, Ont.:

"Jan. 15, 1909.

"Since I was a child nine years old (and I am to-day thirty years old) I have suffered with Eczema in my hands. I have spent money on all kinds of medicines and ointments, but I find nothing equal to D.D.D. I have used five bottles and to-day my hands are perfectly healed. I shall never be without it in my house and will always recommend it to my many friends and neighbors who suffer from this awful torture, Eczema."

Now if there is anyone in your town suffering with eczema, ringworm, tetter, psoriasis or poison ivy tell this sufferer not to sit back and say, "I have tried everything, there is no cure for me." Tell him to write for free sample bottle of D.D.D. Prescription to The D.D.D. Laboratory, Department N. B., 23 Jordan St., Toronto.

"I want to get this cheque cashed," said the fair young matron approaching the window of the paying teller.

"Yes, madam. You must endorse it, though," explained the teller.

"Why, my husband sent it to me. He's away on business," she said.

"Yes, madam. Just endorse it. Write it on the back so we will know, and your husband will know we paid it to you."

She went to the desk against the wall, and in a few moments presented the cheque triumphantly, having written on its back:

"Your loving wife, Edith."

WHAT every cook should know is, which wheat makes the best flour, and why.

Winter wheat is put into the ground in the fall, but does not ripen until the following July. It matures slowly, is soft and very starchy.

Spring wheat is sown in April or May, and ripens in August. It's a flinty, translucent wheat, rich in gluten and contains nearly twice as much nutriment as winter wheat.

Royal Household Flour

is made entirely from the hard, nutritious spring wheat, carefully selected from all the wheat of this kind grown in Canada.

We extend our sympathy to the sorrowing friends.

ODESSA.

We had a few cases of diptheria, but are glad to say no new cases have appeared, and all who had it are well. — Our pastor, Rev. J. McCamus, and family took train for Pickering on Tuesday morning. Before leaving Mrs. McCamus was presented with 1 dozen sterling teaspoons from her bible class. As a teacher she was faithful, earnest and studious. She came before her class well prepared, and we are sure her lessons will be long remembered.—The band gave some fine selections on Saturday evening, which were duly appreciated by the crowd. — Berries are being taken to market by neighboring gardeners very early these mornings. The price keeps up pretty well too, but if rain does not come soon, good bye to many strawberries.—A number of our local sports were seen passing through the village on their way to happy fishing grounds. If not successful in catching many fish, no doubt but fish yarns will abound.—On Monday Dr. and Mrs. Day were up for the day.—The auto stage has its quota of passengers to and from Kingston these days.—Our former townsman, Mr. Playfair and friend, of Kingston, spent Saturday evening in our midst.—Miss Rees, of Toronto, is visiting her sister.—Mr. and Mrs. L. Sharpe at Mr. M. McDonald's.—Mrs. Carter, Trenton, at Mr. George Ferguson's.—Mr. Gladwin Clarke is engaged at Laidlaw's, Kingston.—Mrs. Turney at her mother's, for the week.—Mrs. Woodwin, of Napanee, at her sister's, Mrs. J. Murphy.—Mrs. A. Gordon's daughters, of Uncle Sam's domain, are spending a couple of weeks with her. — Mr. McDonald, traveller for Polson, Kingston, made a short stay in the village, last week.

REIDVILLE.

The lawn social on the church grounds was a decided success. A pleasing part of the evening's entertainment was the presentation of a beautiful parlor hanging lamp to Mrs. Thos. Wilson, also one to Miss May McGregor.

To Mrs. Thos. Wilson:

Dear Friend,—We, the members of the congregation of Knox church, Camden VIII, cannot allow this opportunity to pass without expressing the high appreciation, esteem and regard in which you are held by your fellow members. We wish to bear testimony to the kindly Christian-like way in which you have at all times mingled with us, and to let you know that your works of faith and love in leading the Psalmody of the church, and in helping to make the praises of our God glorious, as well as in the Sabbath School for so many years have found a very tender spot in our affections as members of the family of God.

In view of all this we wish to express this in some tangible way, and therefore ask your acceptance of this parlor hanging lamp, which is, in itself, of little value, and only given to remind you of the labor of love which you have so freely and cheerfully given during all these years.

Trusting that God will long spare you to work with us for the advancement of our Master's Kingdom, and wishing for you and your home every temporal and spiritual blessing.

Signed on behalf of the members of the congregation

MRS. WILSON HYLAND.
MRS. WILLIE HYLAND.

WHAT IS ITCH DIRT?

It is the old Anglo-Saxon name for Dandruff and it's a good one. If you have dandruff you have itch dirt and the little microbes that are part and parcel of dandruff, are working persistently night and day and sooner or later will reach the very life of your hair and destroy its vitality.

Then you'll be bald—Bald to stay — for not even the wonderful rejuvenating properties in Parisian Sage can grow hair after the hair bulb or root is dead. Parisian Sage cures Dandruff. T. B. Wallace, the druggist, sells it—recommends it and guarantees it, only 50 cents a large bottle and your money back if it fails to cure Dandruff, Falling Hair and Itching of the Scalp.

WALNUT GROVE.

We are having very dry weather in this vicinity.—Our school is closed for the holidays, and will re-open with a new teacher, as we have had to part with our excellent teacher, Miss M. McCall, much to the regret of both parents and pupils.—Mr. and Mrs. John Finn, of Arden, returned to their home on Monday, after spending a few days with Mr. and Mrs. David Thompson.—Mr. David Aylsworth has improved the appearance of his house with a new coat of paint, and a new roof on his barn.—Also Mr. C. Bell has a new roof on his barn.—Mr. A. Miller has erected a fine new barn on his premises.—Much sympathy is felt for Mr. and Mrs. Ross Paul in the loss of their only son and child, Herbert.—Mrs. T. Walker has returned to her home at Blackwater, N.Y., after visiting for some time at her father's, Mr. S. Bell.

OBITUARY.

We regret to announce the death of Alexander Thompson, who passed peacefully away on July 1st, in Camden, at the age of 70 years and 4 months, after a short illness of 5 days, pneumonia being the dreadful disease. All medical aid and skillful nursing proved of no avail. His remains were followed by a very large cortage of relatives and friends to the Methodist church, Newburgh, where a very impressive sermon was rendered by Rev. Mr. Sexsmith. He was laid to rest in the family plot in Newburgh cemetery. Three sons and two daughters are left to mourn his loss. He will be greatly missed in this vicinity as a friend and neighbor, as he was ever ready and willing to loan a helping hand in time of need. The family have the sincere sympathy of the whole community.

Lingering Weakness Following Disease

Can be Banished by the Wonderful Tonic Powers of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

How often it is that the victims of disease—fevers, measles, la grippe or any other contagious troubles are weak and ailing, even after the disease itself has disappeared. They do not pick up strength as they ought, remain listless, tired and discouraged. The reason for this is that the blood has been impoverished by the ravages of the disease through which the victim has passed. Strength will not return until the blood is enriched. The blood can be enriched by no other medicine as quickly and as surely as by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People — to enrich the blood and strengthen the nerves is the whole duty of these pills—thousands have found them beneficial in bringing strength after disease had left them weak and run down. Among those who owe good health to these Pills is Miss Laura Hisco, New Ross, N.B., who says:—"Following an attack of measles I was left greatly run down and suffered from a bad cough. I was advised to use Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and procured half a dozen boxes. Before they were all gone I had regained my strength, my cough had disappeared and I was once more enjoying perfect health."

The experience of Miss Hisco is that of many others. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills make new, rich, red blood. This new blood strengthens the nerves and banishes such ailments as rheumatism, neuralgia, lumbago, dyspepsia, etc., and brings the glow of health to pale cheeks. The Pills are sold by all medicine dealers or at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

STONE'S CORNERS.

Mr. Jas. Brown and Miss Lillie Farrell were quietly married on Tuesday last, in the Church of the Assumption, Erinsville. The bride was handsomely attired in a gown of white silk, with white leghorn hat to match. Miss Margaret Crawford, cousin of the groom, was maid of honor, while Mr. J. Farrell, brother of the bride, did the duties of best man.—Mr. and Mrs. Frank Henry were at home to a number of their young friends on Monday evening, and all spent an enjoyable time. — Mr. J. Lynch's bee, raising his barn on Saturday was a good success. — Mr. J. Deshane did business in Marlbank one day last week.—Messrs. Brennan and Shibley, Deseronto, spent Wednesday at J. Hunt's.—Mr. J. Crawford, Ingle, spent Sunday evening in our midst.—Mr. John Gee spent Thursday with friends at Tamworth.—Messrs. Tim. Hunt and Will O'Rielly attended the dance held in Marlbank hall on Tuesday night. — Mr. and Mrs. Sylvester Donohue took in the Tamworth picnic. — Miss Frankie Fox spent a few days last week in Tamworth.—Mr. Jack Taylor spent Dominion day in Tweed.—Mr. Freddy Hunt was a guest at Mr. M. IF SICK--WHY PAY

Unless Health First Returns.

Here is what should and can be done:

Now you would not willingly pay for food that was worthless—would you?

Then why pay for medicine until that medicine first proves to you its actual worth?

Positively knowing what Dr. Shoop's Restorative can do for the sick, I say to all "don't pay unless health first returns". And I back my Restorative with a signed and sealed 30 day "No help, No pay" contract.

I positively pledge to the sick everywhere that "Dr. Shoop's Restorative is absolutely free if it fails". Let others do the same—or else pass their prescriptions by.

If you need more strength, more vitality, more vigor or more vim, use my Restorative a few days and note the immediate improvement.

When the Stomach, Heart, or Kidneys go wrong, then test Dr. Shoop's Restorative. I do not dose the Stomach nor stimulate the Heart or Kidneys, for that is wrong. Years ago I cast away that mistaken idea in medicine. The books below will best tell you how I am succeeding.

These books also tell of a tiny hidden "inside nerve," no larger than a silken thread. They tell how that nerve, until it fails, actually gives to the Heart its power, its tone, its never-ending action or impulse.

These books will open up new and helpful ideas to those who are not well. They tell how the Stomach, and Kidneys each have their "inside" or power nerves. They tell how the Restorative was especially made to reach and revitalize these weak or failing inside nerves. All of these facts tell why I am able to say, "It is free if it fails".

This is why I say "take no chance on a medicine whose maker dare not back it just as I do by this remarkable offer".

So write me today for the order.

I have appointed honest and responsible druggists in nearly every community to issue my medicines to the sick.

But write me first for the order.

All druggists sell Dr. Shoop's Restorative, but all are not authorized to give the 30 day test.

So drop me a line please—and thus save disappointment and delays. Tell me also which book you need.

A postal will do.

Besides, you are free to consult me as you would your home physician. My advice and the book below are yours—and without cost.

Perhaps a word or two from me will clear up some serious ailment. I have helped thousands upon thousands by my private prescription or personal advice plan. My best effort is surely worth your simple request. So write now while you have it fresh in mind, for tomorrow never comes. Dr. Shoop, Box 12, Racine, Wis.

Experience and Science

Experience teaches that it is impossible to get heat from poor grades of wood and coal. It is necessary to have fuel with body in order to get heat. Just so is it with food. You cannot expect to build up the system on cheap food. Why? Because cheap food has not the properties necessary for system building.

Science teaches that through eating cheap food the system is depleted, and placed in a condition to contract prevalent diseases.

We are not advocating an era of extravagance in eating, because we do not believe in it. But we are advancing the idea of buying First Class Groceries such as we sell, at reasonable prices.

We pay 18c for eggs.

CREIGHTON—WEESE.

A quiet but pretty wedding took place Wednesday afternoon, June 23, at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Peter D. Weese, Bath, when their only daughter, Miss Dora Belle, was united in marriage to Mr. Thomas D. Creighton, only son of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Creighton, Hawley. The ceremony was performed by Rev. M. J. Bates, Methodist clergyman of the circuit. While the bridal chorus was being played by Mrs. Bernice Creighton, sister of the groom, the bride entered the parlor leaning on the arm of her father, who gave her away. She was unattended and was dressed in Copenhagen blue voile with allover lace yoke and satin trimmings, and carried a bouquet of orange blossoms. The young couple received congratulations, after which the guests were invited to the dining room where a sumptuous dinner was served, only the immediate friends of the bride and groom being present. The decorations were carried out in white and yellow. The bride received many useful and beautiful presents, showing the esteem in which both are held. The happy couple left on the 6.45 train for a wedding trip east, carrying with them the best wishes of a large circle of relatives and acquaintances.

A JUNE WEDDING.

On Tuesday, June 29th, the bell of the Church of the Assumption, Erinsville, pealed forth joyfully, it being the occasion of the marriage of Jas. E. Brown and Miss Marcella, daughter of Mr. Jas. Farrell, of Larkins. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Father Carey, in the presence of a large circle of friends. The bride was becomingly attired in a gown of cream striped voile over taffeta and pretty white hat with plumes. The bridesmaid, Miss Margaret Crawford, cousin of the groom, wore a gown of white mull. Jas. Farrell most efficiently performed the services of groomsman. After receiving congratulations from those present the bridal party drove to the home of the bride's parents, where a sumptuous wedding breakfast was served to about forty of their immediate relatives. The number of valuable presents received testify to the popularity of both parties. The groom's gift to the bride was a handsome silver tea service. Mr. and Mrs. Brown will reside near Marlbank, followed by the best wishes of their many friends for a bright and prosperous future.

What does the Madill July Clearance and Odds and Ends Sale mean? It means a two weeks money saving sale that is carried on in each department for the purpose of reducing the summer stock and clearing out broken lines of goods to make space for the usual incoming fall stocks in August; it means lower prices than ever on reliable goods which we wish to clear; it means more than big values this year; it means money saving unusual. The goods are prominently displayed in the different departments and marked far below the regular prices, making the values so inviting that the economical shopper can save on just the very goods they intended purchasing.

The Biggest Wash Goods Saving Event of the Season.

With this item we purpose drawing a crowd for the first day. 800 yards of this season's cotton wash dress materials, embracing Foulards, Swiss Organdies, Swiss Mulls, Batistes, Floral Muslins, White Swiss Spot and Lappet Muslins, White Grounds with floral designs, figures and spots, navy and white, white and black and black and white; former values from 25c to 50c yard. MORTGAGE SALE OF VALUABLE REAL ESTATE BY PUBLIC AUCTION.

Under and by virtue of the Power of Sale contained in a certain mortgage which will be produced at the time of sale, there will be offered for sale on Saturday, the 14th day of August, A.D. 1909, at the hour of eleven o'clock in the forenoon, at the Court House, in the Town of Napanee, the following lands:—

All and singular those certain parcels or tracts of land and premises situate, lying and being in the Township of Richmond, in the County of Lennox and Addington, being composed of the south east quarter of Lot number three and the south-west quarter of Lot number Four in the Second Concession of the said Township of Richmond, containing one hundred acres, more or less.

This land is well fenced, is in a good state of cultivation, well adapted for farming and is situated 4½ miles west of Napanee, and 2 miles from Deseronto. On the property is erected a good frame barn and drive house and 2 frame dwelling houses; there is also a good orchard and fine maple sugar bush on the premises. For further particulars apply to

JOHN ENGLISH, Esq.,
Vendor's Solicitor.

Dated at Napanee, this 14th day of July, A.D. 1909. 29d

MARYSVILLE.

The twelfth passed off partly wet and partly dry, but the beautiful rain revived everything, even to the Orangemen.—The farmers around here are idle for a few days until the hay dries off again.—A few from the village spent Sunday in town.—Misses Annie Fabey and Pearl McBride spent Monday evening with Miss Mary Traynor.—Mr. Hugh McCarthy sold his horse last week, and is now looking for another one.—Our blacksmith, Mr. Edgar, arrived here on Tuesday from Verona.—The Lonsdale baseball team intend to play a match at McHenry's grove, on July 28th. Do the best you can, Lonsdale.

SALMON RIVER.

Mr. P. McDonald, of Copper Cliff, Ont., at his father's, Mr. Philip McDonald.—Mrs. J. Kirkpatrick and sons, of Port Colborne, are spending a few days visiting friends in this vicinity.—Miss A. Woodcock.—Mr. H. Kirkpatrick spent Sunday with friends at Marlbank.—Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Baker were at home to a few of their young friends on Wednesday evening last.

WESTBROOK.

In the absence of our organist, Miss Florence Smith, who has gone to spend a week with friends in Moscow, Mrs. J. L. F. Sproule ably filled her place at the service here on Sunday afternoon.—Mrs. James Gates and Miss Myrtle Stevens called on Mrs. B. Rose, on Friday evening.—Miss Cassie Fox, Picton, is visiting her aunt, Mrs. G. Gates.—Mrs. G. Hyland and daughters, Jennie and Mildred, are visiting friends at Enterprise.—Edwin Bell spent Sunday and Monday with friends at Lapum, and was accompanied home by Clarence Lapum.—Percy Wright, of the Lime Stone City, passed through here on Sunday, en route to Enterprise, to take in the celebration on Monday.—Mrs. Merritt, the guest of Mrs. F. Rates, the past week, has returned to her home in Kingston.—Mr. John Allen and Mr. Abraham Asselstine are on the sick list.—Mrs. Maggie Kenny and son Leo were recent visitors of her sister, Miss Katie Sheehan.—J. O. Finnigan and family spent Sunday evening at B. Rose's, Cluster Cottage.—The many friends here of Denis Cairns, Sharpton, are sorry to hear of his serious illness.—Mrs. F. Marshall, Kingston, is visiting her daughter, Mrs. J. L. F. Sproule.

PARROTT'S BAY.

The very much needed rain has come at last, and the farmers are busy cutting their hay, which is a very light crop.—Misses Luella and Celia Parrott are visiting their parents here.—Mrs. Elton Hartman and little son Clifford, of Kingston, are visiting friends around here.—Misses Cora and Ina Miller are visiting with friends in Kingston.—Mrs. Thomas Miller has returned home, after visiting friends at Tyrone and Napanee.—Mrs. VanWinckel and little granddaughter, of Kingston, are renewing acquaintances around here.

Those successful at the Entrance examinations were Morley Parrott, Ina Miller and Bertie Lane. Congratulations.—Ray, Lillian and Florence Miller, of Grimsby, are spending their holidays with friends here.—Mrs. Geo. Summers, of Napanee, visited friends here recently.—Mr. and Mrs. John Frink and daughters spent Sunday with his brother at Moscow.—Some from here attended the garden party at Collins' Bay, last week.—Mr. and Mrs. W. Lee and daughter Mildred, of Kingston, called on friends here recently.—Mr. and Mrs. Schuyler Smith and children spent Sunday with her parents at Millhaven.

ENTERPRISE.

The glorious twelfth passed off quietly. The threatening weather in the early morning undoubtedly prevented a great many from being here; nevertheless, there was a good crowd in the afternoon.—Miss O'Connor and Miss Arthur, of Trenton, are visiting at Rev. J. White's.—Miss Pearl Huffman and friend are spending a month with her mother.—Mrs. W. J. Mellow and Miss Elizabeth left this week to spend a few weeks at Kingston, Prescott and Alexandria Bay.—The Misses Lena and Anna Hodge and Miss Etta Macdonald at Mr. A. E. Macdonald's.

On Tuesday evening installation of officers was held in Red Rose Lodge No. 356, I. O. O. F. The following officers were installed by D.D.G.M. Bro. F. S. Scott, of Napanee:

Wagar's.—Miss Fanny Loucks has gone to visit her sister, Mrs. M. Weese, in Tweed.—Miss Lela Dopking spent a day recently with her aunt, Mrs. A. Cousins, Enterprise.

NEWBURGH.

The rain on Saturday and Monday was badly needed in this vicinity.

Owing to circumstances over which the players have no control, there will be no baseball played here on Sundays this season.

McGillvary Aylesworth was in Deseronto on business on Thursday of last week.

Next Wednesday is the noonday excursion to the Thousand Islands. Train leaves Newburgh 12.20. Fare, one dollar.

Mrs. Littlewood, of Brockville, is visiting her sister, Mrs. G. A. Aylesworth.

Miss Aleta Scriver spent Sunday with Miss Mary Warner, Colebrook.

Byron Wagar, Enterprise, made a flying trip to the 'burgh on Wednesday.

Who said "Lonsdale?"

The Epworth League will hold a social evening on Monday next.

James Carroll, Yarker, was in the village on Tuesday evening.

Little Gwendolyn Shorey had an operation performed on her throat in Belleville Hospital, on Monday morning, by Dr. Percy McCulloch.

Miss Pearl Patterson spent a few days last week in Rochester.

A number from the 'burgh took in the glorious twelfth at Enterprise, on Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Lockwood and Master Lorne spent Sunday and Monday with friends in Sydenham and Hartington.

Miss Bessie Paul, Kingston, is visiting friends in the village.

Miss Dot Mears is the guest of Miss Bird Madden.

Thousand Islands next Wednesday. Fare, one dollar.

Miss Aylesworth, of Collingwood, is visiting Mrs. E. W. Stickney.

The Board of Education on Monday evening increased the salary of Principal Shorey, of the Public School by $50. They also decided to advertise for a Science Master to succeed Mr. Ireland, of the High School staff, the latter having resigned.

Thousand Islands next Wednesday.

Ray Farley, of Kingston, is spending his holidays with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Farley.

Don't forget the Epworth League excursion to the Thousand Islands, on Wednesday next, July 21st. The Committee have gone to great expense in providing this special trip and look to the public for a generous patronage. No trip can equal this one. You leave at noon, and spend the afternoon and evening on the large and commodious steamer America, as she threads her way through both channels of the Islands. You get in Kingston at 9 that night and the special train will be waiting at the dock to bring you home. You should be home by 10.30. That's a trip worth while. Note the time the excursion special leaves, Deseronto 11.40, Napanee 12 noon, Strathcona 12.13, Newburgh 12.20, Camden East 12.30, Yarker 12.45. The fare is only one dollar, and once more, remember it is the "excursion special" not the regular noon train.

Mr. and Mrs. G. F. Hill and Mrs. Switzer spent Sunday in Enterprise.

Miss Lulu Drewry, Kingston, is visiting Mrs. Wm. Stone.

Thos. Winters leaves on Saturday to attend the Grand Lodge of Masons, which meets in London, Ont., next week.

Mr. and Mrs. Jerrold, Rochester, are pisiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Shorts.

Simon Fitzmartin has purchased the hotel.

Mr. [illegible] General Manager of the [illegible] says the claim of Mr. Potts [illegible] Winnipeg, for $20,000 for services [illegible]ttling the mechanics' strike [illegible] hum-bug.

Theodore Moreau and Joseph Lalonde were killed by lightning on an island near Penetanguishene. They took shelter from a shower under a verandah. A companion, named Thomas Nault, was stunned, but escaped.

DESERONTO.

The yacht races on Wednesday were a pleasant event, a large number watching them from the docks and Forresters' Island, and also from small craft on the Bay. Through the kindness of Mr. S. Benson, his yacht "Florence" under the management of Capt. Heany and Chief Engineer Doctor, F. J. Frost acting as master of ceremonies, a very pleasant afternoon was spent on the Bay by a large number, having at all times a splendid view of the different parts of the course, it was a splendid vantage point. In the race for the Oronhyatekha cup, Tom J. Naylor's yacht "Shela" won easily without any handicap, the Dolphin, of Napanee, finishing a close second, the others not finishing. In the motor boat race the "Red Devil" with a heavy handicap, getting first.

Mr. and Mrs. James Cameron, of Utica, New York, are spending some time in town as guests of Mr. Coe Haggerty. Mr. Cameron was at one time an enterprising business man of Deseronto, conducting for a number of years successfully several enterprises.

SUNDAY.

You mustn't play these games on Sunday,
You mustn't buy a refreshing lemonade.
If in the fields you ramble,
And like the lambs you gamble,
There'll be "someone" there to say baseball you played.
You mustn't play baseball on Sunday;
You mustn't draw a glass of beer to drink.
It will soon be when, by a goody goody caught
In an attitude of thought,
You will be charged with an "illegal Sunday" think.
If you want to play baseball on Sunday,
Well, you mustn't, for be sure, t'will be a crime.
'Tis certain if your caught
You'll before the Magistrate be brot
And five forty five you'll be paying as a fine.
So don't play baseball on Sunday.
Remember anything you'd like to do is wrong,
And that is why one meets
Such glum people on the streets,
When the day which was made for them comes along.

John Gartland met with an accident while working in the factory on Monday. It might have been serious, but fortunately he came off with the flesh of his fore-finger and thumb badly lacerated.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Wilson and family, of Amherst Island, are visiting at Mrs. Wilson's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Archie Thompson, Centre St.

Miss Gussie McCullough, of Rochester, N.Y., is visiting friends in Deseronto and vicinity.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert B. Root and Miss Root, of Napanee, passed through town on Friday, on their way to Massassaga, where they intend enjoying a few weeks' outing.

The str. North King was 3½ hours late on her down trip on Friday.

The str. Aberdeen and consort arrived from Erie with coal, the Aberdeen going into Point Ann, leaving the Rob Roy here with 870 tons stock.

The str. Brockville had a large party on Friday from Napanee. The str. Aletha a Sunday School picnic from Shannonville.

Tug A. B. Cook had some mending done on the ways at the shipyard, last week.

The Lonsdale Twirlers and the Deseronto Club are to try conclusions on Saturday (don't get the day mixed), when the boys will endeavor to redeem their reputation lost at their last game.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. G. McGaughey are spending some time here on their way to their future home at North Bay, where Mr. McGaughey has a very promising future.

The Board of Entrance Examiners for South Hastings, has completed its labors and presents the following report for publication:

Of the 65 candidates writing at Deseronto 45 were successful. The standard is 40 per cent. in each subject and 60 per cent. in the aggregate, with 75 per cent. for honors. The total number of marks possible is 650, of which 487 are necessary for honors and 390 for pass. The names are given in order of merit, the marks obtained being given only in the case of those taking honors. Certificates will be forwarded at once to successful candidates, and statements of marks to unsuccessful candidates. For any further information concerning the examinations, application should be made to In-

BLESSING CAME FREE.

There was an elopment a short time ago from a Boston suburb, and after a brief honeymoon the bride returned to the parental roof.

"And you will give us your blessing?" she asked.

"Freely," replied the old man; "no trouble about the blessing, but board and lodging will be at regular rates."

HUTCHINSON—HILL.

Miss Emma May Hill, formerly of Thursday, and we hear some of the late Philip Embury, was married at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Hill, Rochester, N.Y., to Mr. Halbert Greenleaf Hutchinson, of Rochester, N.Y. The ceremony was performed by the Reverend Dr. Frye, the double ring service being used. The bride was attired in white Persian lawn with rose point, and was attended by little Miss Ruth Embury as flower girl. After the wedding supper the young couple left for a Canadian trip.

APPLE-LAND.

Apples along the highway stream,
And morning opening all her doors;
The cawing rook, the distant train,
The valley with its misty floors;

The hillside hung with woods and dreams,
Soft gleams of gossamer and dew,
From cockcrow to the rising moon
The rainbowed road for me and you.

Along the highway all the day
The wagons filled with apples go,
And golden pumpkins and ripe corn,
And all the ruddy overflow.

From Autumn's apron, as she goes
About her orchards and her fields,
And gathers into stack and barn
The treasure that the Summer yields.

A singing heart, a laughing road,
With salutations all the way,
The gossip dogs the hidden bird,
The pig that grunts a gruff good-day;

The apple-ladder in the trees,
A friendly voice amid the boughs,
The farmer driving home his team,
The ducks, the geese, the uddered cows;

The silver babble of the creek,
The willow-whisper—the day's end,
With murmur of the village street,
A called good-night, an unseen friend.

—Richard Le Gallienne in The Delineator for August.

TWO VEGETARIAN DISHES.

Vegetarian Pies.—Take any one of the flaked, ready-cooked breakfast foods, and mix with about half the quantity of rich cream, to form a moist paste. With this line a well-oiled pie-plate, molding it around the edges, to resemble ordinary pie-crust. Pour in a filling of custard, cocoanut, cream, lemon or apple, and bake as an ordinary pie.

While the filling is cooking, the cereal will bake out dry and crisp, becoming firm enough to support the pie when it is taken from the pan. It forms a pastry as delicious as the lightest puff-paste, and has none of the indigestible qualities of the latter. A meringue should be placed on top, instead of an upper crust.

A Pretty Dessert.—A pretty dessert served as a vegetarian dinner last summer was made by forming circles of boiled rice on little fruit-plates, piling up strawberries in the centre of each, and pouring over it a ladleful of pineapple juice well sweetened with sugar. All the ingredients were ice-cold, and the dish proved as refreshing as it was delicious.—Woman's Home Companion for July.

A SAD FATALITY.

Took Poison in Mistake and Died Eight Hours Later.

Saturday evening, just before six o'clock, people near the C. P. R. crossing were startled to see a horse and rig coming at a furious rate and the driver, Thos. Lucas, yelling that he was poisoned and dying. The race was kept up to the office of Dr. Clingan, and almost immediately the three doctors were in attendance, and did all that medical science could in the effort to save his life, but without avail, as the poison had too great a start. The unfortunate accident caused a general feeling of regret as deceased had been a resident of Virden for some years, and was favorably known by a large number. Mr. Lucas has been engaged on the farm of Mr. Lasby, adjoining the town, during the summer. He was occasionally troubled with sick headache, for which he generally took some soda dissolved in vinegar, and it is thought that this is the way he took the poison which was also dissolved in vinegar, thinking that it was only vinegar and not discovering his mistake for some minutes, when he hitched up as quickly as possible and made his heroic drive to town, but arriving too late to save his life. He was 36 years, 11 months and 6 days old and leaves a sorrowing wife and four children to mourn his early and tragic death. The bereaved relatives will have the sincere sympathy of the entire community in their untimely loss. The funeral took place on Monday, July 5th, to Virden cemetery, and was very largely attended, showing the esteem in which deceased was held. The service was beautifully conducted by Rev. Peter Strang, Presbyterian minister.

EPISCOPAL VISITATION.

The congregation of St. Mary Magdalene's Church had the privilege of a visit from the Lord Bishop of Ontario on Saturday evening, July 3d. His Lordship was accompanied by Canon Starr, Domestic Chaplain, who carried the handsome Pastoral staff recently presented by the Clergy and Laity of the Diocese. The Bishop preached a most forceful and eloquent sermon, which was listened to with rapt attention by old and young alike in the large congregation assembled. He then administered Holy Confirmation or the Laying of Hands to a class of 33 persons, presented by the Vicar. At this service Mr. Dudley L. Hill was set apart as a Lay Reader. Rev. Messrs. O'Connor, Fenton, Creeggan, Spencer, and McGreer were also present at the service. The next day, Mr. F. F. Miller took his Lordship, with Canon Starr, and Rural Dean Dibb by motor to Camden East and Newburgh.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR.

Box 15, Ninga, July 6th, 1909.

Mr. W. Templeton.

Dear Editor,—I will write you a few lines to tell you the crop prospects. It looks very good, but will not be so heavy as it was last year, and the wheat that was sown early has commenced to head out.

Mr. Fred Perry, of Morven, called on me and stayed a few days. He will be able to tell you all about Manitoba, so it is not worth my while saying any more. I suppose he is home again by this time.

Enclosed please find $1.00 for the renewal of my subscription to The Beaver.

Your old friend,
GEORGE TOWNS.

The C. P. R. has set aside a trust fund of $2,500 for the education of the son of Constable Decker, who was killed by a train-robber.

WHEAT PRICES AND THE WEST.

The 1909 Texas and Oklahoma wheat crop, aggregating some twelve million bushels, has been available for market for some time. The Kansas and Nebraska crop, totalling ten times as much as that of the more southern states, is coming on now. Within a month the 380 or 400 million bushels of winter wheat looked for in the United States as the result of this year's harvest will be on the market and ready to go there. Still in the face of all this prices keep up to high water mark. The outlook for the Canadian West, so far as the market end for its great staple is concerned, could not well be more favorable. Even a reasonably good harvest there, unless an improbable slump in prices occurs, should put prairie farmers on their feet.

CHURCH OF ST. MARY MAGDALENE.

Rev. A. Lisle Reed, M.A., of Toronto, will take charge of the services in St. Mary Magdalene's church for the rest of July, while the Vicar is on his vacation. Mr. Reed is a graduate of Durham University, England, and has recently been taking post-graduate work at Trinity College, Toronto. The services next Sunday, July 18th, will be Holy Eucharist at 10.30 and evensong at 7 p.m.

MAN IDENTIFIED.

The man killed on the G. T. R. track near Napanee, on June 29th, was identified by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Ewart, Portsmouth, through the picture published in the Toronto World, as their son, Thomas Ewart. His two brothers were in town this week, but it was thought unwise to exhume the body.

Following is a letter received from them:

Portsmouth, July 9th, 1909.

Dear Sir,—Allow me a small space in your valuable paper in regards to the identification of Thomas Ewart, now gone to rest. It was through the efficient work of Chief of Police Graham, of Napanee, late of Kingston. All credit is due him, and I am sure Napanee should be proud of such an officer, as he is a right man in a right place. Let me thank him for the kind way we were used by him, and the courtesy shown to us.

(Signed)
JESS AND JOE EWART.

MRS. ELIZABETH SCOTT.

Died at the residence of her daughter, Mrs. Manly Jones, Thomas st., on Wednesday, Mrs. Elizabeth Scott, relict of the late Norman Scott, aged eighty-five years and seven months. Deceased had been an invalid for the past seven years and was tenderly cared for by her daughter, Mrs. M. V. Davis, who was about to take a trip for her health and a rest, but was recalled from Belleville on Thursday last. Four children survive: Sidney E. Scott and Addison Scott, sons, and Mrs. Davis and Mrs. Manly Jones, Napanee. The funeral took place on Friday morning, at 10 o'clock, to Riverside cemetery.

How Weak Girls May Grow Into Strong Women

The Blood Supply Must be Kept Rich, Red and Pure—Good Blood Means Good Health.

Healthy girlhood is the only path to healthy womanhood. The merging of girlhood into womanhood lays a new tax upon the blood. It is the overtaxing of the scanty blood supply that makes growing girls suffer from all those headaches, backaches and sideaches—all that paleness, weakness and weariness—all that languor, despondency and constant ill health.

Unhealthy girlhood is bound to lead to unhealthy womanhood and a life of misery. Nothing but the blood-building qualities of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills can save a girl when she undertakes the trials and tasks of womanhood. That is the time when nature makes new demands with ease. In this simple scientific way Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, fill a girl with overflowing health and strength.

Miss Eva Dennis, Amherst, N. S., says:—"Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have done me a world of good. I was completely run down, was very pale, easily tired and suffered from frequent severe headaches. Though I tried many medicines I got nothing to do me the least good until I began using Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Even the first box of these seemed to help me, and after taking a half dozen boxes I was again a strong healthy girl. I have not had any illness since, but should I again feel run down Dr. Williams' Pink Pills will be my only medicine, and I strongly recommend them to every weak and ailing girl.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all medicine dealers or sent by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 by The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

NEW TELEPHONE CONNECTION.

SUCCESSFUL CANADIANS

In the Final Examinations of the British Institute of Actuaries.

An official cablegram recently received from London, England, announces the success of two Toronto actuaries, Mr. L. K. File, B.A., F.A.S., and Mr. J. M. Langstaff, C.A., F.A.S., in the final examinations of the British Institute of Actuaries and their admission to the degree of F.I.A. (Fellow of the Institute of Actuaries). The Institute of Actuaries is the largest and most influential body of its kind in the world, and its examinations, which are contested every year by several hundred candidates throughout the British Empire, are recognized as the most difficult and severe test of actuarial attainments. This year these gentlemen possess the unique distinction of being the only successful candidates in Canada and the United States for the final degree. Mr. Langstaff has also specially distinguished himself by obtaining first class honors in the examination, being the only Canadian who has ever accomplished the feat, and, in fact, the first candidate in any country for fourteen years who has been awarded a first class certificate in the final examination. Mr. File, who also took a high standing in these examinations, is a late Fellow of Toronto University, who after a brilliant course graduated in 1901 with the gold medal in Mathematics and is now one of the actuarial experts of the Canada Life. Both these gentlemen are also Fellows of the Actuarial Society of America, there being only six other actuaries in Canada and the United States who are Fellows by examination of both the British Institute and the American Society. It is a matter of pride to Canadians that this country is holding her own in intellectual pursuits as well as in other fields of activity.

The Two Vanrevels

By BOOTH TARKINGTON,

Author of "The Gentleman From Indiana" and "Monsieur Beaucaire"

Copyright, 1902, by S. S. McClure Co.

"Yes—I thought so."

"Crailey!" And now Tom's expression showed desperation. It was that of a man whose apprehensions have culminated and who is forced to face a crisis long expected, long averted, but imminent at last. His eyes fell from Crailey's clear gaze, and his hand fidgeted among the papers on the desk.

"No," he began with a painful lameness and hesitation. "I did not mean it—no. I meant that, in the same way, only one thing in this other—this other affair that seems so confused and is such a problem—only one thing has grown clear. It doesn't seem to me that—that"—here he drew a deep breath before he went on with increasing nervousness—"that if you like a man and have lived with him a good many years—that is to say, if you're really much of a friend to him, I don't believe you sit on a high seat and judge him. Judging and all that haven't much part in it, and it seems to me that you've got yourself into a pretty bad mixup, Crailey."

"Yes," said Crailey. "It's pretty bad."

"Well," Tom looked up now with an almost tremulous smile, "I believe that is about all I can make of it. Do you think it's the part of your best friend to expose you? It seems to me that if there ever was a time when I ought to stand by you it's now."

There was a silence while they looked at each other across the desk in the faint light. Tom's eyes fell again as Crailey opened his lips.

"And in spite of everything," Crailey said breathlessly, "you mean that you won't tell?"

"How could I, Crailey?" said Tom Vanrevel as he turned away.

CHAPTER XV.

"Methought I met a damsel fair,
  And tears were in her eyes;
Her head and arms were bare;
  I heard her bursting sighs.

"I stopped and looked her in the face.
  'Twas then she sweetly smiled.
Her features shone with mournful grace
  Far more than nature's child.

"With diffident and downcast eye,
  In modest tones she spoke.
She wiped a tear and gave a sigh
  And then her silence broke"—

So sang Mrs. Tanberry at the piano, relieving the melancholy which possessed her, but Nelson, pausing in the hall to listen and exceedingly curious concerning the promised utterance of the damsel fair, was to suffer disappointment, as the ballad was broken off abruptly and the songstress closed the piano with a monstrous clatter. Little doubt may be entertained that the noise was designed to disturb Mr. Carewe, who sat upon the veranda consulting a strong cigar, and less that the intended insult was accomplished. For an expression of a vindictive nature was precipitated in that quarter so simultaneously that the bang of the piano lid and the curse were even as the report of a musket and the immediate cry of the wounded.

Mrs. Tanberry at once debouched upon the piazza, showing a vast, cloudy countenance. "And I hope to heaven you already had a headache!" she exclaimed.

"The courtesy of your wish, madam," Carewe replied, with an angry flash of his eye, "is only equaled by the kindness of heaven in answering it. I have, in fact, a headache. I always have nowadays."

"That's good news," returned the lady heartily.

"I thank you," retorted her host.

"Perhaps if you treated your daughter with even a decent Indian's kind of politeness you'd enjoy better health."

"Ah! And in what failure to perform my duty toward her have I incurred your displeasure?"

"Where is she now?" exclaimed the other excitably. "Where is she now?"

"I cannot say."

"Yes, you can, Robert Carewe!" Mrs. Tanberry retorted, with a wrathful gesture. "You know well enough she's in her own room, and so do I, for I tried to get in to comfort her when I heard her crying. She's in there with the door bolted, where you drove her!"

"I drove her!" he sneered.

"Yes; you did, and I heard you. Do you think I couldn't hear you raging and storming at her like a crazy man? Why can't you be a good father to her?"

"Perhaps you might begin by asking her to be a good daughter to me."

"What has she done?"

"The night before I went away she ran to a fire and behaved there like a common street hoiden. The ladies of the Carewe family have not formerly acquired a notoriety of that kind."

"Bah!" said Mrs. Tanberry.

"The next morning, when I taxed her with it, she dutifully defied and insulted me."

"I can imagine the delicacy with which you 'taxed' her. What has that to do with your devilish tantrums of this afternoon, Robert Carewe?"

"I am obliged to you for the expression," he returned. "When I came home this afternoon I found her reading that thing." He pointed to many very small fragments of Mr. Cummings' newspaper, which were scattered about the lawn near the veranda.

"Well?"

"Do you know what that article was, madam, do you know what it was?" Although breathing heavily, Mr. Carewe had compelled himself to a certain outward calmness, but now, in the uncontrollable agitation of his anger, he sprang to his feet and struck one of the wooden pillars of the porch a shocking blow with the bare knuckles of his clinched hand. "Do you know what it was? It was a eulogy of that Vanrevel! It pretended to be an account of the enrollment of his infernal company, but it was nothing more than a glorification of that nigger loving hound! His company—a lot of sneaks, who'll run like sheep from the first greaser—elected him captain yesterday, and today he received an appointment as major! It dries the blood in my veins to think of it—that black dog a major! Heavens, am I never to hear the last of him? Cummings wrote it, the fool, the lying, fawning, slobbering fool. He ought to be shot for it! Neither he nor his paper ever enters my doors again! And I took the dirty sheet from her hands and tore it to pieces"—

"Yes," interposed Mrs. Tanberry, "it looks as if you had done it with your teeth."

—"and stamped it into the ground!"

"Oh, I heard you!" she said.

Carewe came close to her and gave her a long look from such bitter eyes that her own fell before them. "If you've been treacherous to me, Jane Tanberry," he said, "then God punish you! If they've met—my daughter and that man—while I was away, it is on your head."

He turned and walked to the door, while the indomitable Mrs. Tanberry, silenced for once, sank into the chair he had vacated. Before he disappeared within the house he paused.

"If Mr. Vanrevel has met my daughter," he said in a thick voice, stretching out both hands in a strange, menacing gesture toward the town that lay darkling in the growing dusk, "if he has addressed one word to her or so much as allowed his eyes to rest on her overlong, let him take care of himself!"

"Oh, Robert, Robert!" Mrs. Tanberry cried in a frightened whisper to herself. "All the fun and brightness went out of the world when you came home!"

But there were other reasons than the return of Robert Carewe why Rouen had lost the joy and mirth that belonged to it. Nay, the merry town had changed beyond all credence. It was hushed like a sickroom and dolefully murmurous with forebodings of farewell and sorrow.

For all the very flower of Rouen's youth had promised to follow Tom Vanrevel on the long and arduous journey to Mexico, to march burning miles under the tropical sun, to face strange fevers and the guns of Santa Anna.

Few were the houses of the more pretentious sort that did not mourn in prospect the going of son or brother or close friend. Mothers already wept not in secret, fathers talked with husky bravado, and every one was very kind to those who were to go, speaking to them gently and bringing them little foolish presents. Nor could the hearts of girls now longer mask as blocks of ice to the prospective conquistadores. Eugene Madrillon's young brother, Jean, after a two years' Beatrice and Benedict wooing of Trixie Chenoweth, that notable spitfire, announced his engagement upon the day after his enlistment and recounted to all who would listen how his termagant fell upon his neck in tears when she heard the news. "And now she cries about me all the time," finished the frank Jean blithely.

But there was little spirit for the old merriments. Fanchon, Virginia and five or six others spent their afternoons mournfully, and yet proudly, sewing and cutting large pieces of colored silk, fashioning a great flag for their sweethearts and brothers to bear southward and plant where stood the palace of the Montezumas.

That was sad work for Fanchon, though it was not for her brother's sake that she wept, since, as every one knew, Jefferson was already so full of malaria and quinine that the fevers of the south and Mexico must find him invulnerable, and even his mother believed he would only thrive and grow hearty on his soldiering. But about Crailey Fanchon had a presentiment more vivid than any born of the natural fears for his safety. It came to her again and again, reappearing in her dreams. She shivered and started often as she worked on the flag, then bent her fair head low over the gay silks, while the others glanced at her sympathetically. And when the flag was completed save for sewing the stars upon the blue ground she took it away from the others and insisted upon finishing the work herself.

It was at this juncture, when the weeping of women was plentiful, when old men pulled long faces and the very urchins of the street observed periods of gravity and even silence, that a notion entered the head of Mrs. Tanberry—young Janey Tanberry—to the effect that such things were all wrong. She declared energetically that this was no decent fashion of farewell; that after the soldiers went away there would be time enough to enact the girls they had left behind them, and that until then the town should be made enlivening. So she went about preaching a revival of cheerfulness.

Mrs. Tanberry came in and worshiped it.

Nor was her vigor spent in vain. It was decided that a ball should be given to the volunteers of Rouen two nights before their departure for the state rendezvous, and it should be made the noblest festival in Rouen's history. The subscribers took their oath to it.

Miss Betty laid out her prettiest dress that evening, and Mrs. Tanberry came in and worshiped it as it rested, like foam of lavender and white and gray, upon the bed, beside the snowy gloves with their tiny, stiff lace gauntlets, while two small white sandal slippers, with jeweled buckles where the straps crossed each other, were being fastened upon Miss Betty's silken feet by the vain and gloating Mamie.

"It's a wicked cruelty, princess!" exclaimed Mrs. Tanberry. "We want to cheer the poor fellows and help them to be gay, and here do you deliberately plan to make them sick at the thought of leaving the place that holds you! Or have you discovered that there's one poor vagabond of the band getting off without having his heart broken, and made up your mind to do it for him tonight?"

"Is father to go with us?" asked Betty. It was through Mrs. Tanberry that she now derived all information concerning Mr. Carewe, as he had not directly addressed her since the afternoon when he discovered her reading the Journal's extra.

"No; we are to meet him there. He seems rather pleasanter than usual this evening," remarked Mrs. Tanberry hopefully as she retired.

"Den we mus' git ready to share big trouble tomorrer!" commented the kneeling Mamie, with a giggle.

Alas, poor adoring servitress, she received a share unto herself that very evening, for her young mistress, usually as amiable as a fair summer sky, fidgeted, grumbled, found nothing well done and was never two minutes in the same mind. After donning the selected dress, she declared it a fright, tried two others, abused each roundly, dismissed her almost weeping handmaiden abruptly and again put on the first. Sitting down to the mirror, she spent a full hour over the arrangement of her hair.

When Mrs. Tanberry came in to tell her that Nelson was at the block with the carriage Miss Betty did not turn, and the elder lady stopped on the threshold and gave a quick, asthmatic gasp of delight.

"Oh," said Mrs. Tanberry, "you make me want to be a man! I'd pick you up and run to the north pole, where no one could ever follow. And I can tell you that it hurts not to throw my arms round you and kiss you, but you're so exquisite I don't want to touch you!"

"Dance wid de han'somdest," screamed Mamie, pursuing uproariously to see the last of her as she jumped into the carriage, "bow to de wittriest an' kiss de one you love de bes'!"

"That will be you!" said Miss Betty to Mrs. Tanberry and kissed the good lady again.

CHAPTER XVI.

It is a matter not of notoriety, but of the happiest celebrity, that Mrs. Tanberry danced that night; and not only that she danced, but that she waltzed. To the lot of Tappingham Marsh (whom she pronounced the most wheedling vagabond, next to Crailey Gray, of her acquaintance) it fell to persuade her; and, after walking a quadrille with the elder Chenoweth, she waltzed with Tappingham. More extraordinary to relate, she danced down both her partner and the music. Thereupon did Mr. Bareaud, stung with envy, dare emulation and essay a schottische with Miss Trixie Chenoweth, performing marvelously well for many delectable turns before he unfortunately fell down. It was a night when a sculptured god would have danced on his pedestal: June, but not overwarm, balm in the air and rose leaves on the breeze; and even Minerva's great heels might have marked the time that orchestra kept. Be sure they waltzed again to "Those Endearing Young Charms:"

Oh, the heart that has truly loved never forgets,
  But as truly loves on to the close,
As the sunflower turns on her god when he sets
  The same look that she gave when he rose.

Three of the volunteers were resplendent in their regimentals—Mr. Marsh (who had been elected captain of the new company to succeed Vanrevel) and Will Cummings and Jean Madrillon, the lieutenants. This glory was confined to the officers, who had ordered their uniforms at home, for the privates and noncommissioned officers were to receive theirs at the state rendezvous. However, although this gala adornment was limited to the three gentlemen mentioned, their appearance added "an indescribable air of splendor and pathos to the occasion," to quote Mr. Cummings once more. A fourth citizen of the town who might have seized upon this opportunity to display himself as a soldier neglected to take advantage of it and stole in quietly toward the last in his ordinary attire, leaving his major's uniform folded on a chair in his own room. The flag was to be presented to the volunteers at the close of the evening, and Tom came for that—so he claimed to his accusing soul.

He entered unobserved and made his way, keeping close to the wall, to where Mrs. Bareaud sat, taking a chair at her side, but Robert Carewe, glancing thither by chance, saw him and changed countenance for an instant. Mr. Carewe composed his features swiftly, excused himself with elaborate courtesy from Miss Chenoweth, with whom he was talking, and crossed the room to a corner near his enemy. Presently, as the music ceased, the volunteers were bidden to come forward, whereupon Tom left Mrs. Bareaud and began to work his way down the room. Groups were forming and breaking up in the general movement of the crowd, and the dissolving of one brought him face to face with Elizabeth Carewe, who was moving slowly in the opposite direction, a small flock of suitors in her train.

The confrontation came so suddenly and so unexpectedly that before either was aware they looked squarely into each other's eyes full and straight, and both stopped instantly, as though transfixed, Miss Betty leaving a sentence forever half complete. There was a fierce, short vocal sound from the crowd behind Vanrevel, but no one noticed Mr. Carewe, and then Tom bowed gravely, as in apology for blocking the way, and passed on.

Miss Betty began to talk again, much at random, with a vivacity too greatly exaggerated to be genuine, while the high color went from her cheeks and left her pale. Nothing could have enraged her more with herself than the consciousness, now suddenly strong within her, that the encounter had a ... effect upon her. What power had this man to make her manner strained and mechanical? What right had his eyes always to stir her as they did?

Ah, that other should have come, if only to stand between her and this tall hypocrite whose dark glance had such strength to disturb her. What lies that gaze contained, all in the one flash—the strange pretense of comprehending her gently, but completely—a sad compassion, too, and with it a look of farewell, seeming to say, "Once more I have come for this—and just 'Goodby!'" For she knew that he was going with the others, going perhaps forever, only the day after tomorrow—then she would see him no more and be free of him. Let the day after tomorrow come soon! Miss Betty hated herself for understanding the adieu, and hated herself more because she could not be sure that, in the startled moment of meeting before she collected herself, she had let it go unanswered.

She had done more than that. Without knowing it, she had bent her head to his bow, and Mr. Carewe had seen both the salutation and the look.

The young men were gathered near the orchestra, and, to the hilarious strains of "Yankee Doodle," the flag they were to receive for their regiment was borne down the room by the sisters and sweethearts who had made it, all of whom were there except Fanchon Bareaud. Crailey had persuaded her to surrender the flag for the sake of spending this evening, next to his last in Rouen, at home alone with him.

WISE AND OTHERWISE.

A member of the Nebraska Legislature was making a speech on some momentous question, and in concluding said:

'In the words of Daniel Webster, who wrote the dictionary: "Give me liberty or give me death."'

One of his colleagues pulled at his coat and whispered:

'Daniel Webster did not write the dictionary; it was Noah.'

'Noah nothing,' replied the speaker; 'Noah built the ark.'

ITS POWER GROWS WITH AGE.—How many medicines loudly blazoned as panaceas for all human ills have come and gone since Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil was first put upon the market? Yet it remains, doing more good to humanity than many a preparation more highly vaunted and extending its virtues wider and wider and in a larger circle every year. It is the medicine of the masses.

Distressed at his son's refusal to enter the ministry, and his preference for dealing in horses, a worthy farmer in the Midlands was telling his sorrow to a neighbor.

'Oh,' said the latter; 'don't take it too much to heart. I believe Tom will lead more men to repentance as a horse dealer than ever he would as a minister.'

A CURE FOR RHEUMATISM.—The intrusion of uric acid into the blood vessels is a fruitful cause of rheumatic pains. This irregularity is owing to a deranged and unhealthy condition of the liver. Anyone subject to this painful affection will find a remedy in Parmelee's Vegetable Pills. Their action upon the kidneys is pronounced and most beneficial, and by restoring healthy action, they correct impurities in the blood.

IMPURITIES IN THE BLOOD.—When the action of the kidneys becomes impaired, impurities in the blood are almost sure to follow, and general derangement of the system ensues. Parmelee's Vegetable Pills will regulate the kidneys so that they will maintain healthy action and prevent the complications which certainly come when there is derangement of these delicate organs. As a restorative these Pills are in the first rank.

Song of the Little Paint Man

I have a paint pot filled with paint,
That's mixed with care and pains,
And any floor that I paint o'er
Will lose its dirt and stains.

The rich and poor, the old and young,
of every tribe and nation,
Should know that paint put on a floor
is best for its preservation.

Chorus—
And that is why until I die
I will carry my brush and can,
To hide the scars and cover mars,
Because I'm the Little Paint Man.

MORAL.—Use Sherwin-Williams Gloss White Paint. It's better than Lead and Oil.

Our Summer Sale of Remnants

Starts Saturday, July 17th

Our Semi-annual Sale of Remnants starts with the opening of store to-morrow morning and will continue during the balance of month. Main aisle tables will be given over for the display of ends from the various departments. Each remnant has a special ticket attached, showing in plain figures the quantity, regular price and the remnant price. Many hundreds are here to choose from. If you find what you want among the ends the saving will please you. To make choosing easy we've classified remnants under the following headings. Come and get your share.

Made of service-giving materials, the "NUFORM" CORSET is a perfect example of popular priced corset making. It is modeled on grace giving lines—following the natural lines of the perfect figure, and forms an ideal foundation for the new gowns.

The woman who wears a "NUFORM" CORSET is presented in splendid poise and shapeliness.

Its elegant outlines give to the figure those fading curves—that distinction of bearing that artists call SVELTE.

Embroideries

All short lengths of edgings, insertions, corset cover widths, waist frontings, all-overs, in Swiss, Cambric, Nainsook and Hamburg.

Laces.

In this lot are ends of Valenciennes Torchon, German, Cluny edgings and insertions.

Silks.

This is the most desirable lot of silk remnants we have had for many a season. The quantities are right for Waists and Skirts. The shorter lengths for trimmings. Colorings are well assorted and sprinkled with black.

Dress Goods.

We have not a great many ends of dress goods, but what we have are very desirable. There are a number of good skirt lengths in the lot. In both colors and black.

Lawns.

Under this heading you will find ends of India Linen, Victoria Lawn, Organdies, Nainsooks, and such like ends of white wash fabrics.

Prints.

Hundred or more desirable lengths, light and dark colored. Lengths from 1½ yards to 12 yards. Assortment of patterns gives wide range to choose for all kinds of outer garments.

Ginghams and Chambrays.

Short lengths in checks and stripes. The kind wanted mostly for aprons and children's dresses.

Washable Suitings.

The kind that are used for wash suits, coat and skirts to match. The shorter lengths will do for separate coats and children's suits, the longer lengths for women's suits. Plain and stripe linen and lineens.

Galateas.

Ends for making boys' blouses and wash suits.

Vestings.

Ends of white, mostly used for waists.

Sateens.

Short lengths plain material, mostly colored, suitable for linings.

P. K.

All white cords, used mostly for children's wear.

Barred Mulls.

All white with little dimity cords forming large checks. Lengths suitable for waists and girls' dresses.

Swiss Spots.

These are mostly the very small swiss spots, not much larger than a pin head. Useable lengths for girls' dresses.

Scotch Drills.

Ends of that splendid wearing material for boys' wash suits.

Crepes.

Just a few ends of the crinkled kind, that are used for waists, dressing jackets and shirt waist dresses.

Sheetings.

Bleached and unbleached, some with one, two and three sheets to a length.

Pillow Cottons.

These are very short lengths and mostly circular. One, two and three cases to an end.

Shirtings.

Along with our regular remnants we have added a case of mill ends. All good lengths, and many ends have enough for two or more shirts. Most of the shirting ends are black ground.

Indigo Ducks.

A case of ends just as they come from the mill. All are indigo blues and guaranteed fast colors.

Towelings.

Several short ends of glass and hand towels, plain and checks.

Table Linens.

Some bleached, but most are half bleached. Lengths from 1½ to 3 yards.

Cotton Tweeds.

Short ends of cotton tweed, moleskin and denims. Lengths with enough for boys' and men's overalls.

Just as Delaines.

These will be found with print ends. Finished soft to feel and look just like all wool delaine. A lot of good lengths suitable for waists and dresses.

Furniture Coverings.

One to three yard lengths of French Tapestry, Repps, Damass, Broche Silk, Car Plush.

Cretonnes.

Crepe and washable, printed on one and both sides. Suitable for chair and box coverings.

Art Sateens.

Good for cushion coverings, laundry bags, frills, etc.

Flannelettes.

Plain white and colored Saxonies. Light and dark striped Shirting flannelettes, 1 to 10 yard ends.

Carpets.

Ends of Tapestry, Brussels, Axminster, Wool, Union and Velvet. Lengths suitable for small rooms, runners for halls, stairs and passage ways. The Border ends make splendid runners for halls. Bring measurements.

Linoleums and Oilcloths.

The season's accumulation of ends, in widths that vary from ½ yard to 4 yards. For small rooms, pantry, hall and verandah use.

Ribbons.

Desirable lengths in nearly every wanted color.

Bleached Cottons.

Lengths from 1 yard to 10 yards, qualities that sell from 5 cents to cents yard. Somewhat mussed and crushed, but good as new when washed.

A substantial reduction has been made on every remnant—a price upon each that we think will soon clear them up. Look the tables over. Come as early and as often as yon wish. The saving is yours. No one will worry you to buy. . . . .

HISTORY.

History is a running account of how King Somebody-or-other either did or did not get to a certain place, which nobody ever heard of, before King Somebody-else got there, from which we are usually supposed to conclude that it would have made quite a difference whether he did or not.

Like nearly everything else, history has two sides. The History of the Garden of Eden depends upon whether it is related by a man or a woman. The History of the American Revolution reads quite different in English books from the way it reads in our own books. The History of the Civil War depends upon which side of the Mason and Dixon line you happen to be sitting when you write it.

History is a bore, not only because you are unacquainted with the people who figure in it, but because it repeats itself.

HIGH SCHOOL ENTRANCE.

Following are the results of the High School Entrance Examinations held in the Arnprior high school. The maximum number of marks was 650. Miss Peek, daughter of Rev. W. W. Peek, late of Napanee, and Miss Parsons are to be congratulated upon the positions held by them. There were eighty-four candidates writing, and of the sixty-two passing, these young ladies stood at the top of the list with a total of 549 and 546 respectively.—The Arnprior Watchman.

"THE LENNOX AND ADDINGTON."

The Home Fire Insurance Company.

On June 13th my barn was struck by lightning and burned to the ground. I gave notice to the Company's head office at Napanee, my claim was adjusted, and on July 3d at a meeting of the Board of Directors, just 21 days from the date of the fire, they, through their Secretary-Treasurer, handed me a cheque for $347.57, in full satisfaction of my claim. I found the Board honorable and fair, both to me and the Company, and can unreservedly recommend the Home Company to the farmers of these counties. The Directors are all farmers, men of our own class, and heavy policyholders. In case of loss which necessitates business with the Company, you can personally present your case, which privilege I hold as of valued significance.

A few days left yet of

Paul's Great Sale

In order to reduce my large stock of Wall Paper, Hammocks, Croquet, Fine China, Dinner Setts, Fancy Goods and Baseball Goods before 5th July, I will continue my SPECIAL DISCOUNTS until that date.

The reasons are:—

I am going away from town for two months, and do not want to leave too much for the clerks to look after in my absence.

The room will be required for the new goods that will arrive soon.

Last, and perhaps best, "I want the money."

Accounts due me must be paid at once. Don't think because the amount is small it is not worth while bringing it in.

My books must be balanced.

Thanking you all in advance,

A. E. PAUL

LENNOX AND ADDINGTON HISTORICAL SOCIETY.

The volume of "Papers and Records" issued by the Society in June has met with many kind words since it was first offered for sale. The officers of the organization tell us that there is a constant demand for copies, not only from all parts of the County, but from old residents of the County who live in distant lands." The old Lennox and Addington boys appear to appreciate this little booklet, and several have asked to be notified when Volume II. will be ready.

Some sales have also been made of the "Bird's Eye View of Napanee". This excellent picture of the town was printed in 1874. Of course the supply is limited. The book sells for 25 cents (by mail 30 cents), and the picture for $1.00. All of the proceeds go into the general treasury of the Society to aid in carrying on the work. Mr. U. J. Flach, Napanee, is the Treasurer.

Nothing in the way of a Cough is quite so annoying as a tickling, teasing, wheezing, bronchial Cough. The quickest relief comes perhaps from a prescription known to Druggists everywhere as Dr. Shoop's Cough remedy. And besides, it is so thoroughly harmless that mothers give it with perfect safety even to the youngest babes. The tender leaves of a simple mountain shrub, give to Dr. Shoop's Cough Remedy its remarkable curative effect. It is truly a most certain and trustworthy prescription. Sold by all dealers. 27e

AFTER SUFFERING YEARS

Cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Fox Creek, N.B.—"I have always had pains in the loins and a weakness there, and often after my meals my food would distress me and cause soreness. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done me much good. I am stronger, digestion is better, and I can walk with ambition. I have encouraged many mothers of families to take it, as it is the best remedy in the world. You can publish this in the papers."—Mrs. WILLIAM BOURQUE, Fox Creek, N.B., Canada.

The above is only one of the thousands of grateful letters which are constantly being received by the Pinkham Medicine Company of Lynn, Mass., which prove beyond a doubt that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, actually does cure these obstinate diseases of women after all other means have failed, and that every such suffering woman owes it to herself to at least give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial before submitting to an operation, or giving up hope of recovery.

Mrs. Pinkham, of Lynn, Mass., invites all sick women to write her for advice. She has guided thousands to health and her advice is free.

CREAM OF THE WEST FLOUR

You are always safe in buying "Cream of the West" flour. Never varying in quality, the contents of one bag are exactly like the contents of every other bag—always up to the standard.

"Cream of the West" flour is made from only the hardest of hard Manitoba wheat, by the full Hungarian process. It fairly exhales the essence of prairie strength and purity.

"Cream of the West" is a home flour—nourishing, toothsome, and the standard for the housewife who prides herself on her baking. That's the reason why grocers recommend it.

HEROISM OF STEAMER'S ENGINEER.

A deed of heroism saved the lives of several hundred excursionists on Saturday, on board the steamer Laprairie, running from Montreal to Laprairie, across the river. The hero was Engineer John St. Michel, of 215 Gauthier Street, Montreal. The steamer, its decks crowded with people going to their summer homes at Laprairie, St. Constant, St. Phillipe and the neighboring places, left the dock here at one p.m., and was heading up the river when the mishap occurred. The boat is fitted with Watts' low-pressure condensing engines, having an enormous cylinder, coupled through the walking beam with the crank-pin to the shaft. Just below the Victoria Bridge a coupling broke above the hurricane deck. In an instant the plunger was banging from end to end of the ten-foot cylinder, the turret was filled with steam, the feed pipes burst, and the whole engine-room was hissing with flying rods and escaping steam. The engineer dashed into the engine-room and shut off the steam just in the nick of time. In another minute an explosion would have occurred, sending the boat and its occupants to the bottom of the river.

Joseph Chenard, sectionman on the C.P.R., was killed near Portneuf, Que., by his car being run down by an express. The handcar was smashed to fragments, but all of Chenard's companions escaped.

The cooks in the Victoria Hospital at London, Ont., have gone on strike because they were prohibited from washing clothes in a room where food for the patients was being prepared.

"The Two Vanrevels"

The elder Chenoweth made the speech of presentation—that is, he made part of it before he broke down, for his son stood in the ranks of the devoted band. Until this incident occurred all had gone trippingly, for every one had tried to put the day after tomorrow from his mind. Perhaps there might not have been so many tears even now if the young men had not stood together so smilingly to receive their gift. It was seeing them so gay and confident, so strong in their youth and so unselfish of purpose. It was this and the feeling that all of them must suffer and some of them die before they came back, so that when Mr. Chenoweth, choking in his loftiest flight, came to a full stop, and without disguise buried his face in his handkerchief, Mrs. Tanberry, the apostle of gayety, openly sobbed. Chenoweth, without more ado, carried the flag over to Tappingham Marsh, whom Vanrevel directed to receive it, and Tappingham thanked the donors without many words, because there were not then many at his command.

Miss Carewe had been chosen to sing "The Star Spangled Banner," and she stepped out a little from the crowd to face the young man as the orchestra sounded the first chord. She sang in a full, clear voice, but when the volunteers saw that as she sang the tears were streaming down her cheeks in spite of the brave voice they began to choke with the others. If Miss Betty Carewe found them worth weeping for, they could afford to cry a little for themselves. Yet they joined the chorus nobly and raised the roof with the ringing song, sending the flamboyant, proud old words thunderously to heaven.

That was not the last song of the night. General Trumble and Mr. Chenoweth had invited their young friends to attend, after the ball, a collation which they chose to call a supper, but which, to accord with the hour, might more aptly have been designated a breakfast. To afford a private retreat for the scene of this celebration they had borrowed the offices of Gray & Vanrevel, and Crailey hospitably announced that any guest was welcome to stay for a year or two, since probably neither of the firm would have need of an office for at least that length of time. Nine men gathered about the table which replaced Tom's workaday old desk—the two Chenoweths, Eugene Madrillon, Marsh, Jefferson Bareaud, the stout general, Tom Vanrevel, Crailey and Will Cummings—the editor coming in a little late, but rubbing his hands cheerfully over what he declared was to be the last column from his pen to rear its length on the Journal's front page for many a long day—a description of the presentation of the flag.

This convivial party made merry and tried to forget that most of them had "been mighty teary," as Marsh said, an hour earlier, while Mr. Chenoweth sat with his hand on his son's shoulder, unconsciously most of the time, apologetically removing it when he observed it. Many were the witticisms concerning the difference in rank henceforth to be observed between the young men, as Tom was now a major, Marsh a captain, Will Cummings a second lieutenant and the rest mere privates, except Crailey, who was a corporal. Nevertheless, though the board was festive, it was somewhat subdued and absent until they came to the toasts.

It was Tappingham who proposed Miss Betty Carewe. "I know Tom Vanrevel will understand—nay, I know he's man enough to join us," said Marsh as he rose. "Why shouldn't I say that we may hail ourselves as patriots, indeed, since at the call of our country we depart from the town which is this lady's home and at the trumpet's sound resign the gracious blessing of seeing her day by day, and why shouldn't we admit loyally and openly that it is her image alone which shines in the hearts of most of us here?"

And no man arose to contradict that speech, which appears to have rung true, seeing that four of those present had proposed to her again that same evening.

"So I give you," cried Tappingham gallantly, "the health of Miss Betty Carewe, the loveliest rose of our bouquet! May she remember us when we come home!"

They rose and drank it with a shout. But Tom Vanrevel, not setting down his cup, went to the window and threw wide the shutters, letting in a ruddy shaft of the morning sun, so that as he stood in the strong glow he looked like a man carved out of red gold. He lifted his glass not toward the table and his companions while they stared at him, surprised, but toward the locusts of Carewe street.

"To Miss Betty Carewe," he said, "the finest flower of them all! May she remember those who never come home!"

And without pausing he lifted his rich baritone in an old song that had been vastly popular with the young men of Rouen ever since the night of Miss Betty's debut. They had hummed it as they went about their daily work, they had whistled it on the streets, they had drifted into dreams at night with the sound of it still chiming in their ears, and now with one accord as they stood gathered together for the last time in Rouen they joined Tom Vanrevel and sang it again. And the eyes of Crailey Gray rested very gently upon his best friend as they sang:

"Believe me, if all those endearing young charms,
Which I gaze on so fondly today,
Were to change by tomorrow and fleet from my arms
Like fairy gifts fading away,
Thou wouldst still be adored as this moment thou art,
Let thy loveliness fade as it will,
And around the dear ruin each wish of my heart
Would intwine itself verdantly still."

CHAPTER XVII.

It was the misfortune of Mr. Cummings' final literary offering to annoy one of the editor's friends. The Journal was brought to the new corporal at noon, while he was considering whether he should rise from his couch or sleep another hour. Reclining among his pillows, he glanced through Cummings' description with the subdued giggle he always had for the good William's style, but as his eye fell upon one paragraph he started, sat upright and proceeded to read the passage several times with anxious attention:

"Only two or three sources of regret occurred to mar the delight (in which young and old participated) of that festal and dazzling scene. One was the absence of Miss Fanchon Bareaud, one of the donors; another, that of Corporal Gray; a third was the excessive modesty of Major Vanrevel, who, although present at the time, refused to receive the ladies' sumptuous offering and insisted that Captain Marsh was the proper person to do the honors, to which the latter reluctantly, though gracefully, consented. Also, we were sorry that the major appeared in citizen's dress, as all were anxious to witness him in his uniform. However, in our humble judgment he will be compelled by etiquette to don it this afternoon to receive the officers of the regular army, who will arrive by the stage about 5 o'clock, it is expected, to inspect the company and swear them into the service of the federal government at the courthouse. We, for one, have little doubt that, owing to the major's well known talent in matters of apparel, his appearance will far eclipse in brilliancy that of his fellow officers."

Crailey dressed slowly, returning to the paper now and then with a perturbed countenance. How would Miss Betty explain this paragraph to herself, and how account for the fact that she had not seen Crailey, how for the fact that she had seen Tom? It seemed unlikely that she could have overlooked the latter—Tom was one of those whom everybody saw wherever he went. And what inquiries would she make? For Crailey had no means of knowing that she would not see the Journal. Tomorrow he would be gone—it would all be over—but he wanted this last day to run smoothly. What wild hopes he had of things that should happen when they all came marching home no one can say; even if it were not to be doubted that Crailey ever entertained hopes of any kind whatever, since to hope is to bestow thought upon the future.

But, however affairs ran with him so far as hope was concerned, he seldom lacked an idea, and one came to him presently, a notion that put the frown to rout and brought the old smile to his lips, his smile of the world-worn and tolerant prelate. He flicked the paper lightly from him, and it sped across the room like a big bird in awkward flight. For he knew how to preserve his last day as he wished and to make all smooth.

He finished his toilet with particular care, took a flower from a vase on his table, placed it in his coat and went down to the dusty street, where everything was warm and bright with summer. It was joy to be alive; there was wine enough in the air, and Crailey made up his mind not to take a drink that day—the last day! The last day! The three words kept ringing through his head like a minor phrase from a song. Tomorrow at noon they would be churning down the river, and this was the last day—the last day!

"Still not too late to make another friend at home," he said, stopping to pat the head of a mangy street cur that came crouching and wabbling toward him like a staveless little keg worried by scurries of wind. Dogs and children always fell in love with Crailey at first sight, and he never failed to receive them in the spirit of their approach. Now the mongrel, at his touch, immediately turned himself over and lay upon the pavement with all paws in air, to say: "Great lord, magnificent in the graciousness which deigns to cast a glimpse upon this abject cluster of ribs, I perceive that your heart is too gentle to kick me in my present helplessness. Yet do with me as you will."

"I doubt if you've breakfasted, brother," Crailey responded aloud, rubbing the dog's head softly with the tip of his boot. "Will you share the meager fare of one who is a poet, should be a lawyer, but is about to become a soldier? Eh, but a corporal! Rise, my friend. Up and be in your own small self a whole corporal's guard!" And if your corporal doesn't come home from the wars, perhaps you'll remember him kindly. Think?"

He made a vivacious gesture, the small animal sprang into the air, convoluted with gratitude and new love, while Crailey, laughing softly, led the way to the hotel. There, while he ate sparsely himself, he provided munificently for his new acquaintance and

I was a martyr for many years to that distressing complaint, chronic Constipation. I tried many kinds of pills and medicines without benefit and consulted physicians, but nothing did me any real good. Then I began to take "Fruit-a-tives," and these wonderful little fruit tablets entirely cured me.

At first, I took five tablets a day, but now I take only one tablet every two days. I am now entirely well, and thanks to "Fruit-a-tives," I give you permission to publish this testimonial.

recommended him, with an accompaniment of silver, to the good offices of the Rouen House kitchen. After that out into the sunshine again he went with elastic step and a merry word and a laugh for every one he met. At the old English gardener's he bought four or five bouquets and carried them on a round of visits of farewell to as many old ladies who had been kind to him. This done, leaving his laughter and his flowers behind him, he went to Fanchon and spent part of the afternoon bringing forth cunning arguments cheerily to prove to her that General Taylor would be in the Mexican capital before the volunteers reached New Orleans and urging upon her his belief that they would all be back in Rouen before the summer was gone.

But Fanchon could only sob and whisper, "Hush, hush!" in the dim room where they sat, the windows darkened so that after he had gone he should not remember how red her eyes were and the purple depths under them and thus forget how pretty she had been at her best. After a time, finding that the more he tried to cheer her the more brokenly she wept, he grew silent, only stroking her head, while the summer sounds came in through the window, the mill whir of locusts, the small monotone of distant farm bells, the laughter of children in the street and the gay arias of a mocking bird swinging in the open window of the next house. So they sat together through the long, still afternoon of the last day.

No one in Rouen found that afternoon particularly enlivening. Even Mrs. Tanberry gave way to the common depression, and, once more her doctrine of cheerfulness relegated to the ghostly ranks of the purely theoretical, she bowed under the burden of her woe so far as to sing "Methought I Met a Damsel Fair" (her of the bursting sighs) at the piano. Whenever sadness lay upon her soul she had acquired the habit of resorting to this unhappy ballad; today she sang it four times. Mr. Carewe was not at home and had announced that, though he intended to honor the evening meal by his attendance, he should be away for the evening itself, as comment upon which statement Mrs. Tanberry had offered ambiguously the one word, "Amen." He was stung to no reply, and she had noted the circumstance as unusual and also that he had appeared to labor with the suppression of a keen excitement which made him anxious to escape from her sharp little eyes; an agitation for which she easily accounted when she recalled that he had seen Vanrevel on the previous evening. Mr. Carewe had kept his promise to preserve the peace, as he always kept it when the two met on neutral ground, but she had observed that his face showed a kind of hard leashed violence whenever he had been forced to breathe the air of the same room with his enemy, and that the thing grew on him.

Miss Betty exhibited not precisely a burning interest in the adventure of the damsel fair, wandering out of the room during the second rendition, wandering back again and once more away. She had moved about the house in this fashion since early morning, wearing what Mamie described as a "peaked look." White faced and restless, with distressed eyes, to which no sleep had come in the night, she could not read. She could no more than touch her harp. She could not sleep. She could not remain quiet for three minutes together. Often she sank into a chair with an air of languor and weariness, only to start immediately out of it and seek some other part of the house or to go and pace the garden. Here in the air heavy with roses and tremulous with June as she walked rapidly up and down late in the afternoon, at the time when the faraway farm bells were calling men from the fields to supper, the climax of her restlessness came. That anguish and desperation, so old in her sex, the rebellion against the law that inaction must be her part, had fallen upon her for the first time. She came to an abrupt stop and struck her hands together despairingly and spoke aloud. "What shall I do? What shall I do?"

"Ma'am?" asked a surprised voice just behind her.

She wheeled quickly about to behold a shock headed urchin of ten in the path near the little clearing. He was ragged, tanned, dusty, neither shoes nor coat trammeling his independence, and he had evidently entered the garden through the gap in the hedge.

"I thought you spoke to me," he said inquiringly.

"I didn't see you," she returned. "What is it?"

"You Miss Carewe?" he asked, but before she could answer he said reassuringly: "Why, of course you are! I remember you perfect, now I git the light on you, so to speak. Don't you remember me?"

(TO BE CONTINUED.)

BY DOCTOR'S ORDERS.

"You must drink hot water with your whisky," the doctor told his patient; "otherwise you mustn't take it at all."

"But how shall I get hot water?" the patient queried plaintively. "My wife won't let me have it for the whisky toddy."

"Tell her you want it to shave," the doctor said, and took his departure.

The next day the doctor called and asked the wife how the patient was.

"He's gone raving mad," his wife replied. "He shaves every 10 minutes."

THE AUTO INFLUENCE.

The Splurge family were in the throes of taming an automobile, when one day a physician was summoned hurriedly to their home.

"What is wrong?" asked the medical man as he pulled off his gloves in the reception hall.

"Well," said the 16-year-old daughter who had admitted him, "father was downstairs cranking up the furnace when the telephone bell rang. He tried to take the steep grade of the stairs on the high speed and fell and got a puncture."

Archie McMillan of Eldon township, was killed by lightning while churning in the cellar.

NO MORE SAUCE FOR THE GOOSE.

You must not say "As silly as a goose" any more, for naturalists have been studying this animal of late years, and they have come to the conclusion that she is the wisest old bird going.

She never quarrels without cause; she sees danger before any other fowl; she has more courage than the rooster; she is far braver than the gobbler, and, if given a fair show, she can beat off the fox.

A flock of geese squatted around the barnyard at night is a much greater protection than the watch dog. They are light sleepers, and will give the alarm the instant they see a stranger moving about.

So in future say "As wise as a goose," and give her all credit.

Of Herpicide Is In Giving It a Thorough Trial.

There is only one test by which to judge of the efficiency of any article and that is by its ability to do that which it is intended to do. Many hair vigors may look nice and smell nice, but the point is—do they eradicate Dandruff and stop falling hair?

No, they do not, but Herpicide does, because it goes to the root of the evil and kills the germ that attacks the papilla from whence the hair gets its life.

Letters from prominent people everywhere are daily proving that Newbro's Herpicide stands the "test of use."

It is a delightful dressing, clear and pure and free from oil or grease.

Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c. in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich.

BACHELORS' CORNERS.

Mr. and Mrs. Seaton Vincent, of Chaumont, N.Y., have returned home after spending a couple of weeks with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Thompson, of this place.—Mr. John McCann and sister Nellie, Mr. and Mrs. S. Vincent, Mr. James Thompson and Mr. and Mrs. T. Smallwood spent Sunday evening at J. W. Brandon's.—Mrs. Wm. Dafoe, of West Plain, spent Sunday at Mr. M. Dafoe's.—Mr. and Mrs. L. S. Vincent and Mrs. W. R. Thompson spent Monday at Mr. T. Smallwood's.

MOUNT PLEASANT.

The weather still continues dry and no sign of rain as yet.—Miss J. Harvey, Deseronto, spent a few days at her sister's, Mrs. M. Oliver.—The song of the mower is heard in our midst, and hay harvest has begun, which is a light crop.—Mr. and Mrs. A. Oliver, Morven, visited at her mother's, Mrs. W. Abrams, on Sunday.—Mr. and Mrs. M. Abrams and Mr. and Mrs. S. Hycherson spent Sunday and Monday visiting friends in the vicinity of Picton.—Statute labor was completed this week.—Miss Ellen Roblin is spending a portion of her holidays visiting friends hereabouts.

ODESSA.

Well, our new pastor arrived last Thursday, and we hear some of the leading ladies of the congregation kindly prepared a dinner for the reverend gentleman and lady at the parsonage, which no doubt was appreciated by them, after the fatigue of moving.

On Friday evening a lawn social was held on Mr. Booth's lawn, attended by the Citizens' Band, where no doubt pastor and people were duly criticized, which allowed the sermon on Sunday to have due effect. The people are getting more wary in expressing their views of the preacher on short notice as "time rules us all" and we may change and it makes one feel small to have some one tell us why you said so and so when you first heard the new preacher. However, success to him, socially, financially, and last but not least, spiritually.

On Thursday, the New Yorkers, Mrs. B. Pleasant, Mrs. B. B. Pleasant, and grandchildren, came on their annual visit to the village.

A number of Free Masons attended a supper at the Dominion on Monday evening. After partaking of the good things provided by the host, S. J. Sproule, short but pithy speeches were given by a number and were heartily applauded. After Auld Ang Syne and God Save the King were sung, all went their several ways.

Mr. J. A. Timmerman, our genial P. M., spent a week with friends in the city.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Davey left for their home in Toronto.

Mr. and Mrs. Darius Smith and Mrs. W. A. Baker, of Odessa, paid Yarker a flying visit on Monday.

Mrs. Charlotte Thompson, Mrs. Catherine Chatles and Mrs. D. F. Thompson called on friends on Tuesday, in the burgh.

Mrs. Michael Tobin and Miss Maquirk, of Kingston, accompanied by Mr. John Tobin, of South Bend, Indiana, Miss Minnie Tobin and little Miss Virginia Tobin, of Syracuse, spent a day renewing old acquaintances in and around Odessa, on Tuesday.—Mr. Finkle's auto took a number of passengers with a band from Kingston out to Varty Lake to a R. C. picnic on Wednesday.

A failing tiny nerve—no larger than the finest silken thread—takes from the Heart its impulse, its power, its regularity. The Stomach also has its hidden, or inside nerve. It was Dr. Shoop who first told us it was wrong to drug a weak or failing Stomach, Heart or Kidneys. His prescription—Dr. Shoop's Restorative—is directed straight for the cause of these ailments—these weak and faltering inside nerves. This no doubt clearly explains why the Restorative has of late grown so rapidly in popularity. Druggists say that those who test the Restorative even for a few days soon become fully convinced of its wonderful merit. Anyway, don't drug the organ. Treating the cause of sickness is the only sensible and successful way. Sold by all dealers. 27c

WESTBROOK.

Rev. Mr. Cassidy, minister in charge of the circuit here, preached his first sermon on Sunday, to a large congregation. — Mr. William Morley and family, of Kingston, spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. John Morley.—J. R. Smith and wife accompanied by Mrs. Jacob Gardiner, Kingston, were on Sunday and Monday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Mellow, Enterprise.—Cecil Sproule, a former resident of this place, but now of Cherry Valley, is renewing acquaintances here.—Harold Snook is spending a couple of weeks with his aunt, Mrs. Will. Jones, Odessa.—Mrs. B. Rose, accompanied by Mrs. Arthur Snook and daughter Lea, visited friends at Lapum, on Monday. — Mr. William Hyland and granddaughter, Jennie, are visiting friends in Pittsburgh.—Mr. Anderson, Smith Falls, and Miss Ethel Sproule spent Monday at Wilbert Grass'. — Mr. Henry Snook is having some repairs put on his building, occupied by Mr. B. Rose.—Miss Phylis McDonald, Collins Bay, is the guest of Miss Edith Redden.—Mr. and Mrs. Will. Steward and Mr. and Mrs. John Alkenbrack, Camden East, spent Saturday and Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Rose.—Percy Wright and Victor Morley, of the Lime Stone City, spent Sunday under the parental roof.—Miss Salome Rose is the guest this week of Miss Marion Steward, Camden East. — Miss Edith Saundercock and Miss Jennie Hyland spent Sunday evening with Miss Florence Smith.—Melville Smith and Edwin Bell were on Sydenham Lake on Monday, fishing, and had a fine catch.

AMHERST ISLAND.

The Amherst Island Continuation School has closed a successful year in a pleasant and profitable way. Professor MacClement, of Queen's University, very kindly came over the water and accompanied by Miss Mackenzie and her pupils, went off to the fields and woods. Many specimens of plants were found and carefully examined. Many were the expressions of delight and wonder as the man of Science, in his own clear, simple way, explained their construction, and the uses of their different parts. Who even would have imagined that there are such wonders and beauties wrapped up in the humble weeds that we daily tread so thoughtlessly under our feet. The Professor's lectures were much appreciated, and the best of all is he has promised to come again.

Miss Mackenzie has gone to enjoy a well earned holiday with her parents in London, and her pupils and many friends are pleased to hear that she is coming back to again take up her work in which she has been so successful during the past year.

The following is the average percentage in the different subjects taken during the year:

Arithmetic 66, Algebra 54, Geometry 63, Science 70, Latin 68, French 69, German 66, Grammar 67, Literature 57, Reading 72, Spelling 75, Composition 73, History 64, Geography 66, Art 67.

BEAUTIFUL WOMEN.

PARIS IS FULL OF THEM AND NEARLY ALL USE PARISIAN SAGE.

In the beauty show at the metropolis two years ago Gold Medals were awarded to five different women.

To the most beautiful woman between 20 and 25; between 25 and 30; between 30 and 35; between 35 and 40 and between 40 and 45.

A society reporter who interviewed all five women in the interest of his papers, reported that all of them had beautiful hair, and that each of the five enthusiastically attributed her luxuriant hair to Parisian Sage.

T. B. Wallace sells Parisian Sage for 50 cents a large bottle. He guarantees it to cure dandruff in two weeks; to stop falling hair and itching of the scalp. It makes any woman's hair beautiful, soft and luxuriant.

CLOYNE.

Messrs. Cade and Card have moved their saw mill to T. Storey's, and have commenced sawing there. They will have a large cut.—Mr. Davis, of Toronto, made a business trip to Cloyne, one day last week.—We were favored with a nice rain on Sunday evening, which was much needed. — The hay crop is looking very thin.—The ice cream social on Saturday night was well attended, at the parsonage.—We are pleased to hear Rev. Mr. Snider will be left with us for another year.—Strawberries are very plentiful this year.—Leslie Storey and sister Pearl made a trip to Tweed on the midnight on Sunday night and returned on Monday evening.—Miss Cora Sedgwick has returned to her home, after spending three months in Tweed. — Mr. Jamieson, of Huron Co., is visiting his brother at the Big Dipper, and is very much pleased with the country, and expects his two daughters here to spend their holidays.—Quite a number have arrived at the Bon Echo Park again to spend the summer.—We are pleased to know we have a butcher wagon come every Thursday from Fernley, in the person of Mr. Willie Davy.—Mr. Petterford is working for N. McMillan, in the blacksmith shop for a few days this week.—Mrs. John Roach is very sick at present.—Miss Ethel Deline visited at Cloyne on Saturday and Sunday.—The 12th of July will be celebrated at Flinton this year. Everybody is looking forward for a good time.—We are pleased to see Mr. and Mrs. Martin Kenny around once more to see us.—Miss Clara Morgan and sisters, Ethel and Agness, have returned to their home from Buffalo, after an absence of a year.

MAPLE AVENUE.

The auto stage passed through here on Sunday well filled.—Mrs. David Snider and Mr. Benson Snider have both been ve[illegible] [illegible] the past week, but are gaining now.—Mr. and Mrs. Archie Thompson spent the 1st of July in Napanee. — Mr. Damon Amey spent a few days with his daughter, Mrs. Ross Paul. — Our school teacher, Miss Freeman, left for her home in Godfrey, last Wednesday.—Miss Ila Frink and friend, Kingston, spent Sunday with her parents here.—Mr. and Mrs. Pleasant and grandson, of Montreal, at Mr. James Hogle's.—Everybody attended church on Sunday, and report our new preacher O. K.—The many friends of Mr. and Mrs. Ross Paul extend their sympathy to them in the loss of their little son.

They loved him, yes, no tongue can tell,
How deep, how dearly, and how well.
Christ loved him too, and thought it best,
To take him home with Him to rest.

Lord Curzon made a caustic address on the average Englishman's proneness to humble himself.

The murderer of Sir Curzon Wyllie appeared before the London court and gave a remarkable justification for his act.

MOUNTAIN GROVE.

The dry time has been changed into a beautiful growing period. The much needed rains have greatly improved everything.—The S. S. picnic on Dominion Day was well attended, everyone enjoying themselves; dinner and tea free. Prizes were given for different sports. After all expenses were paid there was the small sum of $10.00 for the Sunday School, being cleared at the booths.—H. J. Wood, Newburgh, was in the neighboring district, doing business.—Mr. and Mrs. English are visiting at Rev. Mr. Richmond's.—Misses Stella Price and Mattie Stincombe have returned to Kingston, after visiting their parents here.—Mr. Wm. Miller took a business trip to Moscow, this week.—Mr. and Mrs. John Uens have gone to visit some friends at Camden East.—Many from here purpose going to Perth for the celebration on the 11th. — Wm. Miller had the misfortune to lose a valuable cow.—Barker & Stincombe are doing a rushing business at their saw mill.

CEDAR HILL.

Some of the farmers have commenced their haying.—Those who attended the strawberry festival report an excellent time.—Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Black and Mrs. Irvine Oderkirk at Wm. Carroll's, on Sunday.—Mrs. John Burns at Mr. Wm. Carroll's, on Monday.—Mrs. Samuel Shannon intends leaving on Saturday for Thousand Island Park to see her daughter, Miss Pearl, and thence to Chartage, N.Y., to visit her daughter, Mrs. Chas. Murthany, and other friends, where she will spend a month. Before returning home she will visit her sister, Mrs. Allen, at the Sandbanks.—Mrs. Herb Efferson and son, of Brantford, are visiting her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. G. Black, for a few days. She and Mrs. G. Black spent Sunday in Enterprise, the guests of Mrs. Agnes Huffman.—Mr. and Mrs. Andrew F. Burns wear a smile; a little girl has come to brighten their home. — The picnic in Tamworth, on July 1st, was a decided success.—Mr. Samuel Morrison spent Sunday in Chippewa, at Mr. John Kelly's.

INGLE.

The sound of the mower is again welcomed, but the dry weather has hindered greatly the growth of hay.—A number from this neighborhood took in the strawberry festival at Marlbank, on Wednesday evening. — Mrs. J. H. McLaughlin visited her sister, Mrs. A. A. Allen, Pine Grove, on Friday.—Rev. S. F. Dixon called on several in this vicinity, on Tuesday.—Mrs. O. Asselstine spent Friday with her daughter, Mrs. Ida McLaughlin.—A little girl has come to brighten the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. Johnson.

ST. OLA.

The glorious twelfth brought a regular down pour of rain, which was greatly needed.

The mission picnic held on July 1st, under the auspices of the Parsonage Board of the Mission, was a great success. One of the largest crowds ever seen in St. Ola came together, and spent a most enjoyable day. Dinner was partaken of on the spacious grounds of the parsonage, the families spreading their table cloths on the grass, and eating in merry groups. In the afternoon a programme was rendered of choruses, recitations, solos, etc., in which those from all parts of the Mission assisted. Then followed a list of sports, which were closely contested. The race which created the most excitement was that contested by the fat men. Rev. A. C. Huffman and Mr. Joseph Cox secured equal honors in the contest. Altogether the verdict of the crowd was that the day was one of the most enjoyable ever spent on the old picnic grounds. Proceeds of the stand alone was $68.00. One feature of the day deserving of mention was the presence of an invalid young man, carried to the grounds by the young men on his cot, the first the young man had been away from his home for two years, where he has been patiently lying, with a diseased hip, unable to sit up or help himself until very recently. The young man's name is Ambrose Ham.

Don't pass by a good piece of printing without noticing how much better an impression it is bound to make than poor printing. Many a good business man gets a bad reputation among cursory acquaintances by the wretched printed matter he uses for advertising purposes. We invite an inspection of our work.

LARKINS.

The recent rains have made a great improvement in the appearance of the meadows.—A number of our jolly youngsters attended the party in Baker's hall, Marlbank, given in honor of Messrs. David Turkington and Chas. Young, who have taken a trip westward. All join in wishing them every success.—Miss Stella Way spent the past week with her sister, Mrs. L. D. Healy.—Mr. Denis Fleming spent Sunday in Tamworth.—Mr. Willie Cassidy, Stoco, passed through here on Sunday, en route to Marlbank.—Mrs. A. Barnett, Tweed, is spending a week as a guest of Mrs. Jas. Gartland.—Mr. and Mrs. P. Irvine spent Sunday as guests of Mr. Geo. Cassidy.—Miss Lizzie Murphy, N.C.I., is spending her holidays under the parental roof.—Miss N. Larkin, Owen Sound, returned home on Monday last, for the holiday season.—A large number from here attended the R. C. picnic at Varty Lake, and report an enjoyable time.—Messrs. Jay Larkin and J. Hinch spent Sunday in Lonsdale. — Mr. A. Murphy spent Sunday in Stoco.—Mr. S. Mulrooney and daughter Mary spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. P. Carey.

CHURCH STREET.

We are sorry to say that Mr. Thomas Snider is failing fast.—A quiet and pretty wedding took place on Tuesday afternoon, when Miss Liddie A. Wagar was united in marriage by Rev. Mr. Norrington, of Toronto, to Mr. Charlie Wolfe, of Rochester. The wedding took place at her home here. The bride was handsomely dressed in blue silk. Her cousin, Miss Libbie Wagar, acted as bridesmaid, and her brother, Nathan Wagar, attended the groom. Only a few of her intimate friends were present.—Mr. H. King, of Parry Sound, was in this vicinity, visiting friends, for a few days.—Messrs. R. Shane and D. Haley have gone to Croghan, N.Y., to spend a few months.—A few from here spent Saturday evening last at Enterprise.—Misses G. Shane and G. Cousins spent Sunday at J. B. Kellar's.—Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Clancy, of Enterprise, spent a few days at their place here.—Misses M. and I. King spent Sunday with Miss E. Oderkirk.—Messrs. D. Keech and S. Wells spent Sunday last at G. Wagar's, Ballahac.—Mrs. J. B. Kellar spent one day recently with Mrs. S. King.—Mr. and Mrs. Henry Keech called on Mr. Thomas Snider, on Sunday last.—Mr. Bruce King spent Sunday evening with Mr. S. Wells.—Mr. Irvine Wells has purchased a new Frost and Wood mower and rake from Mr. J. Hunter, of Tamworth.

MORVEN.

The beautiful rains have made the farmers wear smiles. It was much needed in this vicinity.—Cherry picking is the order of the day. Mr. J. L. P. Gordanier has an abundant crop of cherries this year.—Mr. A. Irish made us a flying trip last week.—Mr. Thomas and Miss Opha Funnell and Miss R. Curran spent Sunday at Mr. J. Wales', Switzerville.—We wish to congratulate our Entrance pupils, Miss Ola Frink, Master Carleton Kayler and Master Roy Smith, on their success on the exams.—Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Clute spent Sunday visiting friends in Dorland.

SIMPLE WASH CURES ECZEMA.

WHY SALVES FAIL, WHILE A SIMPLE LIQUID HAS ACCOMPLISHED THOUSANDS OF CURES.

It is now thoroughly established among the best medical authorities that eczema is purely a skin disease, due to a germ, and curable only through the skin. It is not a blood disease at all; in fact, thousands of people suffer with skin disease and are perfectly healthy otherwise, and thereby prove they have no diseased blood.

Smeary salves cannot reach the germs because they do not penetrate the skin. The only way to reach the germs is by means of a penetrating liquid.

Such a liquid can be obtained by simply mixing ordinary oil of wintergreen with thymol, glycerine and other healing agents. This compound, known as D. D. D. Prescription, stops the itch instantly—and the cures all appear to be permanent. In fact, it took thousands of cures, case after case, before the best scientific authorities were convinced of the absolute merit of this remedy. D. D. D. Prescription kills the germs in the itching skin. Its effect is seen within one minute after the first application. The cure is even quicker if D. D. D. Soap is used in connection with the treatment.

A Nervous Wreck

Now in Robust Health.

Mrs. M. E. Harron, of Newton, Ont., writes: "I must say our son would have been in a consumptive's grave long ago had it not been for PSYCHINE. He was taken down with La Grippe and a severe cold. His whole system was weak, including his lungs, which were seriously affected, as is always the case after La Grippe.

"After taking several remedies and treatments we procured PSYCHINE, and tongue cannot tell the marvellous results brought about in two months. He gained over twenty pounds in weight and strength and appetite improved."

Mr. Harron himself is most emphatic as to the beneficial result of using PSYCHINE. He declares, "To-day I am in splendid health and have never been sick a day since I took PSYCHINE."

PSYCHINE is the greatest tonic known to medical science. It builds up the system and tones up every organ of the body, enabling it to resist and throw off disease. Weak nerves cannot exist where PSYCHINE is used consistently. Send for a trial bottle and prove the truth of these statements.

PSYCHINE is sold by all druggists and dealers, 50 cents and $1.00 a bottle.

PSYCHINE

If Sick

Don't risk even one single penny!

And I will tell you why I say this.

It is because every package of Dr. Shoop's medicine is absolutely free if it fails.

No one need risk even one single penny.

Just think what this means to the suffering sick!

No risk, no expense, nothing whatever unless health [illegible]. For 30 full days, and without the risk of a single penny, you can use either of my [illegible] remedies—Dr. Shoop's Restorative or Dr. Shoop's Rheumatic Remedy.

Then why take any chance whatever?

Why purchase any medicine whose maker dare not back it just as I do by this remarkable offer?

And besides, I am no stranger to you.

My "No [illegible]" [illegible] has made Dr. Shoop's Restorative [illegible] every drug store in the land. [illegible] said, "We take no chance whatever here."

For twenty years Dr. Shoop's medicines have become thoroughly standardized all over America.

And I have [illegible] honest and responsible druggists [illegible] village everywhere to [illegible] years. These selected druggists are [illegible] medicines with the sick—and the entire risk is mine alone.

But write me first for an order.

I have an agent in almost every community—but all druggists are not authorized to grant the 30 day test.

So drop me a line, please—and thus save all disappointments and delays.

Besides, you are free to consult me by letter as you would your home physician. Do so freely and fully—if you desire. My advice and the book below are yours—and without cost. Perhaps a word or two from me will clear up some serious ailment. I have helped thousands upon thousands by my private prescription or personal advice plan.

Besides, the books will open up new and helpful ideas to you. They tell of my 20 years experience at the [illegible] homes and in Hospitals. All [illegible] and relief are told of here. They tell of [illegible] "inside nerve" no larger than a silken thread that gives to the Heart its impulse. How the Stomach and Kidney each have their inside or power nerve. How these organs surely falter when these controlling or master nerves begin to fail. How Dr. Shoop's Restorative goes directly to these failing nerves and rebuilds, [illegible] restores the lost tone and power. [illegible] help you—if it is within the power of medicine to do so. My best effort is surely worth your simple request. So write now, while it is fresh in mind, for tomorrow never comes. Dr. Shoop, Box 12, Racine, Wis.

ERNESTTOWN STATION.

The grim reaper with his sickle keen has been unusually busy of late in our midst, gathering sheaves into his garner. The last one to record is Mrs. Catherine Hagerman, relict of the late Abraham Hagerman, whose funeral occurred at the Union church on the 9th inst. Mrs. Hagerman was in her 88th year, having survived her husband 22 years. She came as a bride to the home where she answered the last summons, was of a long lived stock, her mother living to be 104. Mrs. Hagerman was an exceptionally active woman for her years, possessed of a sunny and genial temperament, was loved by all who had the pleasure of her acquaintance. In religion she was a Presbyterian. Rev. Mr. Robinson conducted the service, fully attesting her preparedness for the "Higher Call." The choir rendered "Looking This Way" and "We'll Never Say Good Bye in Heaven" with acceptance. Six grandsons acted as pall bearers, all being the sons of Mr. Edward Hagerman. Three sons and one daughter out of a family of six mourn the loss of a loving mother. They are Mrs. H. Davy, Odessa; Anthony, on the homestead; Edward, 5th Concession, and Samuel in New Ontario. Also thirty grandchildren and fourteen great-grandchildren. The remains were placed for a week in Morven vault, interment taking place on Thursday of last week at Union church cemetery beside kindred dust. The floral offerings and large concourse of friends testifying to the esteem in which departed was held. Thus, one by one, the pioneers of our township are passing away.

Rev. James Cumberland, Amherst Island, filled the pulpit at the Union on Sunday last. He and Mr. Robinson exchanged work for the day.—Malcolm Hogle purchased a few acres of land from E. Johnston a few days ago, which was necessary to make square one end of his farm.—Mrs. Gillerlain and Master Jack have returned home to Hudson, after a short visit with her parents here. Dr. Wallace Laidley and bride, of Pilot Mound, Iowa, spent a few days at his uncle's, F. Laidley. Wallace is a graduate of Queen's, and one of which his Alma Mater may be proud. He has built up a lucrative practice in the land of his adoption and shows the superiority of his choice in the fair annex he has made. His name is another added to the honor list of Ernesttown boys, who have acquired distinction. Long may he and his fair bride live and prosper, is the wish of many friends in old Ernesttown.—Mrs. F. Amey was at home to friends on Thursday last.—Mr. W. Cliffe, of the Carleton Place Herald, and Mrs. Cliffe paid a short visit to Miss Fraser, while en route home from a visit with their sons, Dr. F. and D. Cliffe, and Miss Gladys in Saskatchewan.—Miss McMillan, Georgian Bay is enjoying a holiday at her uncle's, J. Kilganon.—Mr. Milligan, Millhaven, at his son's, J. Milligan.—F. Abrams, Kingston, is spending a few days with friends here.—Mrs. W. Hinch is under treatment from her physician.—F. Amey took a load of early tubers to Kingston on Saturday last, and realized a good figure for them. F. has a fine garden spot.—Mr. and Mrs. Barnum and child, Kingston, are guests at hers uncle's, F. Laidley. M. Hogle was in quite a predicament the other day. While drawing hay into his new barn, he unhitched the horses from the wagon to unload, then went in to dinner, leaving the horses to eat theirs from the wagon rack. In some manner their heads became fast in rack, their bodies shoving the wagon down the steep roadway, taking them the length of the horse fork rope to which they were attached. After taking a few tumbles they became freed from wagon, as Malcolm appeared on the scene, having gone the length of their tether, apparently none the worse for being hitched wrong end to. All's well that ends well, but that won't happen again at that particular barn.

WESTBROOK.

Mrs. Taussing and children, of St. Louis, are guests of Mrs. Thos. Sproule, this week.—James Randall, of Bloomfield, recently called on his cousin, Miss Edith Saunderson.—Miss Myrtle Stevens presided at the organ at the service here on Sunday afternoon.—Mr. Anderson and Miss Kirkland, of Smiths Falls, are spending the summer holidays at J. A. Sproule's.—Miss Lily Fretts, of Hawley; and Miss Emma Finnigan, with Mrs. J. O. Finnigan.—Mr. William Allen, of Enderby, B. C., visited his uncle, Mr. John Allen, last week.—Rev. H. I. Allen and Mr. Robert Rosevier, Kingston, called on friends here last week.—Miss Addie Snook is spending the holidays with her aunt, Mrs. Will Jones, Odessa.—Mrs. Hester Laidley recently visited Mrs. Arthur Snook.—The patrons of the cheese factory here realized 91 cents per hundred pounds of milk for June.—Mrs. Henry Snook spent Saturday in Kingston, the guest of Mrs. John Gardiner.—Mr. and Mrs. Reuben Smith spent Sunday with friends in Odessa.

MARLBANK.

Miss Kathleen Labarge, of Tweed, visited her cousin, Miss Loretta Brown, last week.—Mr. Gordon Gonyou, of Point Ann, is spending a few days with friends here.—Miss Luella Garrison, of Colebrook, is visiting her sister, Mrs. E. D. Shangraw.—A large number from here spent the 12th at Enterprise.—Mrs. Marlin is visiting her son, Mr. Jas. Marlin, here.—Of the nine pupils from here who tried the Entrance exams. at Tweed, six were successful and three failed. The successful ones are Bessie Allen, Rae Richmond, Percy Sweet, Annie Loyst, Ruby Richmond and Daisy Lasher. The failures are Loretta Brown, Laura Pringle and Olive Harten.—A much needed cement walk is being laid on Queen street.—Mr. Ross Laughlin and Miss Jennie Laughlin, of Point Ann, are visiting friends here.

DESERONTO.

Mr. James Norris, of the Ottawa Hotel, and Mr. Pardis, of Kingston, were in town on business this week.

Mr. Walter Cole won the 5-mile race in Kingston last week, defeating O'Brien, the Gananoque crack 5-miler.

Street Commissioner has cut down one of the dead trees in front of the Bank of Montreal. Scythes could be used to a great advantage, in a number of front and back yards. Cut down the enormous crop of weeds, etc., that disgrace them.

Mr. A. M. Valleau has returned to Quebec, after a two weeks' pleasant outing.

While taking on passengers and baggage on board the steamer Caspian, on Friday night, a trunk belonging to Mrs. Chas. Bruvea, was accidentally thrown in the Bay. The trunk was not air tight.

Messrs. R. Stanhope and W. Thomas, of Berlin, are visiting their parents for a few weeks in town.

Mr. John Johndraw has accepted a position in Toronto.

Mr. Wm. Haynes, of the B. Q. Ry., is spending a few days in Toronto.

Miss Katherine A. Martin, of Kansas City, is spending a month's vacation at her parents', Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Martin, 2d street.

Messrs. John Fox and Ed. Barnes came over by the str. Caspian on Sunday, from Rochester. She was on time.

The steamer Aletha had a fine crowd from Trenton and Belleville, and Deseronto helped some, to Napanee, on Saturday. This popular steamer, with a popular crew, is bound to do some business, especially with popular prices.

Eight of the gunners of 5th Bell Battery have gone to Petawawa, the balance leave on Monday, for competition practice.

The steamer Brockville took a large excursion, the St. Mark's Sunday School, to 12 O'clock Point, on Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. A. McGaughey left on Tuesday for their home at North Bay.

Mr. Wm. Harvey left for Sudbury and Cobalt on Tuesday, to see how business is in his line, cement and concrete.

It will have to be changed, the scythe would not be of any use, it would take a cross-cut saw or axe to remove the obnoxious burdocks and weeds hereinbefore mentioned.

Mr. and Mrs. Pat Fox went on the excursion to St. Ann. Mr. John Fox, of Rochester, also took in the trip.

Miss Mary Jane Callaghan, of Hogan, Ont., went from here to St. Ann.

Mrs. James and Miss Mary Burns are spending a month with the son and brother, Mr. M. J. Burns, of Brockville.

Mr. E. Armitage has returned, after a three weeks' journey, going as far west as Edmonton. He certainly improved his time while there and gives a good account of the ground gone over—it has great possibilities, also its drawbacks.

The Public School Board held their meeting on Friday evening. There will be a number of changes in the staff when school resumes after vacation.

Petitions are in circulation to repeal or to amend the early closing by-law.

The steamer Caspian was on time on Sunday at 4.55 a.m. Weather conditions prevailing are not encouraging to travellers.

The score in W. L. L. C. League is now a tie, 1-1. Lonsdale having defaulted on Saturday. They play at Kingsford on Wednesday for a prize.

Following were the winners at the sports of the Methodist Church Sunday School picnic, on July 15th, 1909:

Girls' race, 8 years and under—A. Gould, G. Convert. Boys' race, 8 years and under—H. Howard, E. McFaul. Boys' race, 12 years and over 8—H. Leonard, C. Watson. Girl's race, 16 years and over 12—Helen Cole, Eva Scott. Boys' race, 16 years and over 12—F. Stevenson, E. Howard. Ladies' race, 50 yards—Miss Amey. 100 yard dash (open)—Fred Whiting, H. Aylesworth. Leap frog race—P. Armitage, F. Clement. Running hop, step and jump—Fred Whiting, H. Aylesworth. Boot race—F. Adams, John Davern. Needle and thread race—Helen Cole, E. Perry. Wheelbarrow race—F. Stevenson, L. Knox. Blindfold race, F. Tesprance. Biscuit contest — Clark Watson. Marathon race, 2 miles (handicap)—H. E. Dyer, G. Howard, C. Watson.

Mrs. A. F. Valleau, wife of the Collector of Customs, Deseronto, died very suddenly yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

MOSCOW.

The S. S. picnic, which was held on Thursday last, was well attended and very enjoyable.—The recent rains have freshened the grain, etc., and was very acceptable.—Miss Wilson, of Woodstock, is visiting Mrs. R. Asselstine.—The Misses Joy, of Toronto, at Mrs. E. VanLuven's.—Mrs. Muirhead and son, also Miss Chown, of Kingston, at Major Amey's.—Mr. F. Amey and wife, of Quebec, at his father's.—Quite a number from here intend going to the Thousand Islands on Thursday, on the Newburgh excursion.—Farmers in this vicinity are busy with their hay.

BATH.

Mrs. Waring, of Picton, who has been visiting at Mrs. P. R. Davy's, has returned home.—Mrs. Frank Prest and Miss Marie Gilbert, of Toronto, also Mr. Byard Johnson, of New York, are visiting at Mr. D. T. Rowse's.—Mr. and Mrs. John Babcock and daughter, of Wilton, visited at Edward Wemp's, on Sunday last.—Rev. Jas. Cumberland, of Stella, officiated in the Presbyterian church here on Sunday last, Rev. Jas. Robinson, of Bath, taking the Stella appointments.—Rev. Mr. McKenzie, of Omemee, is assisting Rev. M. J. Bates, of the Methodist church, for the summer months.—Miss Mary Nash, of St. John's, Newfoundland, is spending her holidays with her parents, Dr. and Mrs. S. I. Nash.—Miss Mary Kellar and Miss Fannie Forrester are visiting with friends in Buffalo, N.Y.—The telephone rate between Bath and Napanee has been reduced from 25c to 15c.

NEWBURGH.

The excursion to the Thousand Islands on Wednesday, under the direction of the Epworth League and Sunday School of the Methodist church, was a success in every particular. Over 250 people took advantage of the cheap fares, and the special train landed them at the Folger dock in Kingston at sharp 2 p.m. The steamer America left at 2.30, and made a complete tour of the Islands, calling at points not touched by other steamers. At 6 p.m. the steamer crossed to the Canadian channel, and to give the excursionists a chance to "see them all and see them right", the genial captain took the America out of her course, and showed many islands not seen by patrons on regular trips. When nearing Kingston the search light was turned on, lighting up the distant shore of Wolfe Island and showing the old fort and military college. The trip into Kingston harbor was through the channel near the fort, between the main land and Whiskey Island, and with the searchlight, excursionists saw the spots of interest as though it were day. Kingston was a pretty sight from the harbor, and the searchlight was turned on the city hall and other points of interest along the harbor front as the steamer swept up to her dock. The passengers were landed at 9.30 p.m., and at 10.40 the special train pulled out. The special made a fast run and Newburgh was reached shortly after eleven. It was an ideal day for an ideal trip and everybody enjoyed it immensely.

Misses Florence Wagar, Enterprise and Juanita Carscallen, Tamworth, came down for the excursion on Wednesday, and were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Denyes.

Mr. George and Miss Annie Paul, Tamworth, also came down for the Islands trip, and were guests of Mrs. S. Shorey.

Miss Mary Warner, Colebrook, and Miss Florence Scriver, Napanee, are the guests of Miss Aleta Scriver.

The Epworth League had a very pleasant social evening on Monday night.

Cora Estes and wife, Guelph, and Miss Blanche Estes, Toronto, are the guests of their mother, Mrs. J. Estes.

Miss Baker, Toronto, is visiting her sister, Mrs. J. W. Courtney.

Mrs. Mallon and son, of Cleveland are visiting her mother, Mrs. Henry Wood.

MOSCOW.

The picnic held in VanLuven's grove, Varty Lake, was largely attended, and in every way a success. Those from a distance were heartily welcomed. Mr. F. Newman and family came in their automobile No. 2764, from Picton, and arrived in time for the shore dinner. In the afternoon there were several contests and prizes given. Those who won prizes were as follows: Willie Huffman 1st prize for the boys' race; Norma Johnson, 1st prize, and Helen Joy 2d prize for the girls' foot race; Clare Newman, Picton, 1st prize, and Willie Wilson 2d for the sack race; Nellie Sutton 1st, and Laura Burgess 2d for the needle race; Johnny Mills 1st for the men's running race. All kinds of fruit, ice cream and lemonade were sold at the booth. The boatmen were kept busy, and nearly all the children had a delightful row. This day's outing was thoroughly enjoyed by everyone, and it is hoped that next year there may be another fine day, another large crowd, if not larger, and another successful picnic allotted for the Moscow Sunday School.—Misses Helen and Marion Joy, of Toronto, are holidaying at Mrs. E. Vanluven's and other relatives here.—Mr. and Mrs. F. Grant, of Sydenham, spent Sunday with friends here.—Mr. and Mrs. Frank Amey, of Quebec, are spending a couple of weeks at his father's home and among relatives of this place.—Miss Ethel Wilson, of Napanee, returned on Monday, after spending a few days with Mrs. Robt. Asselstine.—Mrs. M. Huffman is very ill at time of writing.—Several from here spent Wednesday among the Thousand Islands, and returned with the other excursionists at an early hour.—Mr. and Mrs. Davis, of Napanee, spent a few days last week at Mr. Henry Huffman's.—Mrs. Wilfred Huffman is progressing favorably since her recent operation for tumor.—Miss Margaret Montgomery, Kingston, is visiting her sister, Mrs. Amos Huffman.—Miss Chown and Mrs. Moorhead, Kingston, have returned, after spending a few days at Mrs. A. Amey's.—Fishing parties are the order of the day.

DORLAND.

As the correspondent for this burg seems to be taking a holiday, we think that the public should not be longer kept in ignorance of the movements of our citizens. Perhaps the silence is due to the depressing influence of the—shall we say?—macadamized roads, which certainly must have the tendency to lessen the number of starlight drives, and thus diminish the amount of news.—Wild raspberrying is a popular pursuit of many of our energetic villagers, the fair sex predominating.—The Ladies' Aid of the Methodist Church purpose holding an excursion to the Thousand Islands, on Friday, July 30th, and we trust many will avail themselves of the opportunity of enjoying one of the choicest charms of nature.—A number from here spent Saturday in Picton, some driving home with rather disappointed faces. Cheer up. Worse may yet happen.—Mrs. Sheldrick and Miss Mogg, of Galt, who have been visiting Mrs. Robt. Cousins and other friends, have returned home.—Dr. and Mrs. Mallory are guests of Mrs. Wilmot Hawley.—Miss Gladys Trumpour recently spent a few days with Miss Hall, of Deseronto.—Mr. Edward Gallagher is seriously ill. May he experience a speedy recovery.—Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Haun, and daughter Margaret, of Toronto, are rusticating at Mrs. Jacob Trumpour's.—The weekly ice cream socials of the Anglican church are well patronized.—Miss E. M. Blackburn, Bowmanville, is spending a few days with her friend, Miss Lou Chalmers.—Mr. and Mrs. Shore Loynes are camping on Loynes' Island, Adolphustown.

A daring robbery of jewelry was perpetrated in an Ottawa store on Wednesday.

ONE OF THE SIGNS.

Lady Constance Stewart Richardson, at the supper following one of her barefoot dances in New York, praised the dress of American women.

"You do dress well," she said. "But, then you are so intelligent. You are so quick to feel, in the air about you, the signs that tell whether you look your best or not."

"What are these signs?" a young girl asked.

"Oh, they are various," said Lady Constance. "My manicurist, for instance, told me one this morning. She had on a new Easter gown, and when I praised it she said:

"It isn't becoming, really. I know it isn't becoming. Three gentlemen in the shop this morning, after handing me dollar bills, waited for their change."

ADMIRAL BERESFORD

Hero of Alexandria Will Open Canadian National Exhibition at Toronto.

Admiral Lord Charles Beresford, who has accepted an invitation to visit Canada to open the Canadian National Exposition at Toronto, is known to fame as the great leader in the national defence movement now agitating the whole empire.

Lord Charles, who is the second son of the Marquis of Waterford, first became known to fame at the bombardment of Alexandria when he sailed the little Condor into water too shallow for the big battleships and silenced a battery that was doing great damage to the British fleets. "Well done, Condor" was the signal that floated from the flag-ship after the battle, and the young Lord was known as "Condor Charlie," till more dignified titles crowded the name into comparative obscurity. Admiral Beresford can do other things besides fight. He has three medals for life-saving, has written a Life of Nelson and several treatises on naval matters, is an all-round sporting man, and is known all over Britain as a warm-hearted Irishman.

THE GRAND TRUNK IN LONDON, ENGLAND.

The crowning importance of the Grand Trunk Railway System, the expansion and extension of business, has necessitated the building of a new Grand Trunk building in London, Eng. The need of more room has been made all the more apparent since the Grand Trunk Pacific was projected. The Company has been fortunate enough to secure a site at No. 17-19 Cockspur Street, S.W., from the London County Council. Upon this site they have erected a splendid building. The Canadian Government Emigration offices are at Charing Cross, but a stone's throw from the Grand Trunk building. It is at the very hub of London. It is within five minutes of half a dozen leading Hotels and near the intake to the tube at Trafalgar Square Station. Motor busses pass the door every few seconds to all parts of London, North, South, East and West.

The inside furnishings of the new building are luxuriously complete; mail is picked up every hour of the day.

A noticeable feature of the building is the range of circular fronted balconies on the fifth floor in front of deeply recessed windows, which are surmounted by a very effective heavy moulded and medallioned main cornice.

The carving on the front wall, which includes the Coat of Arms of the Canadian provinces traversed by the Grand Trunk System, was executed by Mr. W. S. Frith. The graceful figures over the principal entrance, emblematic of travel by land and sea, are the work of Mr. Albert Drury, A.R.A.

The public offices entered from Cockspur Street, through the great central doorway, is a fine room forty feet long and eighteen feet high. The floor is marble, the walls are panelled in teak, with inlays of ebony and holly. In this room there is a magnificent frieze, by Mr. Frank Brangwyn, A.R.A., which pictures Canada in the wild, hunting scenes, Indian life, the meeting of the pathfinder, the engineer with the Indian chief, and finally the civilizing influence of the railway and the white man upon the red man's country.

The new offices were opened on Dominion Day, and hereafter the European Traffic Department of the Grand Trunk Railway System and the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway will occupy these new premises, which have already become one of the sights to be seen in London.

WHISKEY UNDER BUGGY SEAT.

Inspector Bennett Made Seizure at Owen Sound.

Rye whiskey in a galvanized iron tank under a buggy seat is the last revealed method of evading the local option law at Owen Sound. Acting upon information he had received, Inspector Bennett stopped a man named Thomas Porter, who was driving a buggy into Owen Sound on the Meaford road. Under the seat of the vehicle he found fitted a galvanized iron tank twenty-five inches long, seventeen wide and seven deep, filled with rye whiskey.

Porter did not own the buggy, and claimed to know nothing of the contents of the receptacle which he was to have delivered in Owen Sound. Magistrate Rutherford ordered the confiscation of the whiskey.

The Two Vanrevels

By BOOTH TARKINGTON,

Author of "The Gentleman From Indiana" and "Monsieur Beaucaire"

Copyright, 1902, by S. S. McClure Co.

"No, I don't think I do."

"Lord!" he responded wonderingly. "I was one of the boys with you on them boxes the night of you pa's fire!" Mingled with the surprise in his tone was a respectful unction which intimated how greatly he honored her father for having been the owner of so satisfactory a conflagration.

"Were you? Perhaps I'll remember you if you give me time."

But at this point the youth recalled the fact that he had an errand to discharge, and, assuming an expression of businesslike haste too pressing to permit further parley, sought in his pocket and produced a sealed envelope with which he advanced upon her.

"Here. There's an answer. He told me not to tell anybody who sent it, and not to give it to nobody on earth but you, and how to slip in through the hedge and try and find you in the garden when nobody was lookin', and he give a pencil for you to answer on the back of it, and a dollar."

Miss Betty took the note, glancing once over her shoulder at the house, but Mrs. Tanberry was still occupied with the maiden, and no one was in sight. She read the message hastily:

> I have obeyed you and shall always. You have not sent for me. Perhaps that was because there was no time when you thought it safe. Perhaps you have still felt there would be a loss of dignity. Does that weigh with you against goodby? Tell me, if you can, that you have it in your heart to let me go without seeing you once more—without goodby—for the last time. Or was it untrue that you wrote me what you did? Was that dear letter but a little fairy dream of mine? Ah, will you see me again, this once, this once—let me look at you, let me talk with you, hear your voice! The last time!

There was no signature.

Miss Betty quickly wrote a few lines upon the same sheet:

> Yes—yes! I must see you—must talk with you before you go. Come at dusk. The garden—near the gap in the hedge. It will be safe for a little while. He will not be here.

She replaced the paper in its envelope, drew a line through her own name on the letter and wrote "Mr. Vanrevel" underneath.

"Do you know the gentleman who sent you?" she asked.

"No'm; but he'll be waitin' at his office, Gray & Vanrevel, on Main street, for the answer."

"Then hurry!" said Betty.

He needed no second bidding, but, with wings on his bare heels, made off through the gap in the hedge. At the corner of the street he encountered an adventure—a gentleman's legs and a heavy hand at the same time. The hand fell on his shoulder, arresting his scamper with a vicious jerk, and the boy was too awed to attempt an escape, for he knew his captor well by sight, although never before had he found himself so directly in the company of Rouen's richest citizen. The note dropped from the small trembling fingers, yet those fingers did not shake as did the man's when, like a flash, Carewe seized upon the missive with his disengaged hand and saw what two names were on the envelope.

"You were stealing, were you?" he cried savagely. "I saw you sneak through my hedge!"

"I didn't either!"

Mr. Carewe ground his teeth. "What were you doing there?"

"Nothing!"

"Nothing!" mocked Carewe. "Nothing! You didn't carry this to the young lady in there and get her answer?"

"No, sir!" answered the captive earnestly. "Cross my heart I didn't. I found it!"

Slowly the corrugations of anger were leveled from the magnate's face, the white heat cooled, and the prisoner marveled to find himself in the presence of an urbane gentleman whose placidity made the scene of a moment ago appear some trick of distorted vision. And yet, curious to behold, Mr. Carewe's fingers shook even more violently than before as he released the boy's shoulder and gave him a friendly tap on the head, at the same time smiling benevolently.

"There, there," he said, bestowing a wink upon the youngster. "It's all right. It doesn't matter; only I think I see the chance of a jest in this. You wait while I read this little note, this message that you found!" He ended by winking again with the friendliest drollery.

He turned his back to the boy and opened the note, continuing to stand in that position while he read the two messages. It struck the messenger that after this there need be no great shame in his own lack of this much vaunted art of reading, since it took so famous a man as Mr. Carewe such length of time to peruse a little note. But perhaps the great gentleman was ill, for it appeared to the boy that he lurched several times, once so far that he would have gone over if he had not saved himself by a lucky stagger. And once, except for the fact that the face that had turned away had worn an expression of such genial humor, the boy would have believed that from it issued a sound like the gnashing of teeth.

But when it was turned to him again it bore the same amiable jocosity of mouth and eye, and nothing seemed to be the matter, except that those fingers still shook so wildly—too wildly, indeed—to restore the note to its envelope.

"There," said Mr. Carewe, "put it back, laddie; put it back yourself. Take it to the gentleman who sent you. I see he's even disguised his hand a trifle—ha, ha!—and I suppose he may not have expected the young lady to write his name quite so boldly on the envelope! What do you suppose?"

"I d'know," returned the boy. "I reckon I don't hardly understand."

"No, of course not," said Mr. Carewe, laughing rather madly. "Ha, ha, ha! Of course you wouldn't. And how much did he give you?"

"Yay!" cried the other joyously. "Didn't he go and hand me a dollar!"

"How much will you take not to tell him that I stopped you and read it? How much not to speak of me at all?"

"What?"

"It's a foolish kind of joke, nothing more. I'll give you $5 never to tell any one that you saw me today."

"Don't shoot, colonel!" exclaimed the youth, with a riotous fling of bare feet in the air. "I'll come down!"

"You'll do it?"

"Five!" he shouted, dancing upon the boards. "Five! I'll cross my heart to die I never hear tell of you or ever knew they was sich a man in the world!"

Carewe bent over him. "No! Say, 'God strike me dead and condemn me eternally to the everlasting flames of hell if I ever tell!'"

This entailed quick sobriety, though only benevolence was in the face above him. The jig step stopped, and the boy pondered, frightened.

"Have I got to say that?"

Mr. Carewe produced a bank bill about which the boy beheld a halo. Clearly this was his day. Heaven showed its approval of his conduct by an outpouring of imperishable riches. And yet the oath misliked him. There was a savor of the demoniacal contract. Still that was to be borne and the plunge taken, for there fluttered the huge sum before his dazzled eyes. He took a deep breath. "'God strike me dead,'" he began slowly, "'if I ever'"—

"No. 'And condemn me to the everlasting flames of hell'"—

"Have I got to?"

"Yes."

"'And condemn me to—to the everlasting flames of—of hell if I ever tell!'"

He ran off, pale with the fear that he might grow up, take to drink and some day tell in his cups, but so resolved not to coquet with temptation that he went round a block to avoid the door of the Rouen House bar. Nevertheless the note was in his hand and the fortune in his pocket.

And Mr. Carewe was safe. He knew that the boy would never tell, and he knew another thing, for he had read the Journal, though it came no more to his house—he knew that Tom Vanrevel wore his uniform that evening and that, even in the dusk, the brass buttons on an officer's breast make a good mark for a gun steadied along the ledge of a window. As he entered the gates and went toward the house he glanced up at the window which overlooked his garden from the cupola.

CHAPTER XVIII.

CRAILEY was not the only man in Rouen who had been saying to himself all day that each accustomed thing he did was done for the last time. Many of his comrades went about with "Farewell, old friend," in their hearts, not only for the people, but for the usual things of life and the actions of habit, now become unexpectedly dear and sweet to know or to perform. So Tom Vanrevel, relieved of his hot uniform, loose as to collar, wearing a big dressing gown and stretched in a chair, watched the sunset from the western window of the dusty office, where he had dreamed through many sunsets in summers past, and now took his leave of this old habit of his in silence, with a long cigar, considering the chances largely against his ever seeing the sun go down behind the long wooden bridge at the foot of Main street again.

The ruins of the warehouses had been removed, and the river was laid clear to his sight. It ran between brown banks like a river of rubies, and at the wharf the small evening steamboat, ugly and grim enough to behold from near by, lay pink and lovely in that broad glow, tooting imminent departure, although an hour might elapse before it would back into the current.

The sun widened, clung briefly to the horizon and dropped behind the low hills beyond the bottom lands; the stream grew purple, then took on a luster of pearl as the stars came out, while rosy distances changed to misty blue; the chatter of the birds in the Main street maples became quieter and, through lessening little choruses of twittering, fell gradually to silence. And now the blue dusk crept on the town, and the corner drug store window lights threw mottled colors on the pavement. From the hall, outside the closed office door, came the sound of quick, light footsteps. It was Crailey going out, but Tom only sighed to himself and did not hail him. So these light footsteps of Crailey Gray echoed but a moment in the stairway and were heard no more.

A few moments later a tall figure, wrapped from neck to heels in a gray cloak, rapidly crossed the mottled lights and disappeared into Carewe street. This cloaked person wore on his head a soldier's cap, and Tom, not recognizing him surely, vaguely wondered why Tappingham Marsh chose to muffle himself so warmly on a June evening. He noted the quick, alert tread as unlike Marsh's usual gait, but no suspicion crossed his mind that the figure might be that of his partner.

A rocket went up from the Rouen House, then another, followed by a salvo of anvils and a rackety discharge of small arms, the beginning of a noble display of fireworks in celebration of the prospective victories of the United States and the utter discomfiture of the Mexicans when the Rouen volunteers should reach the seat of war, an exhibition of patriotism which brought little pleasure to Mr. Vanrevel.

But over the noise of the street he heard his own name shouted from the stairway, and almost instantly a violent knocking assailed the door. Before he could bid the visitor enter, the door was flung open by a stout and excited colored woman who, at sight of him, threw up her hands in tremulous thanksgiving. It was the vain Mamie.

She sank into a chair and rocked herself to and fro, gasping to regain her lost breath. "Bless de good God 'lmighty, you ain' gone out!" she panted. "I run an' I run, an' I come so fas' I got stitches in de side f'um head to heel!"

Tom brought her a glass of water, which she drank between gasps.

"I nevah run so befo' enduin' my livin' days," she asserted. "You knows me, who I am an' whum I cum f'um, nigh's well's I knows who you is, I reckon, Maje' Vanrevel?"

"Yes, yes, I know. Will you tell me who sent you?"

"Miz Tanberry, suh, dat who sended me, an' in a venomous hurry she done de same!"

"Yes. Why? Does she want me?"

Mamie emitted a screech. "'Deed she mos' everlas'in'ly does not! Dat de ve'y exackindes' livin' t'ing she does not want!"

"Then what is it, Mamie?"

"Lemme git my bref, suh, an' you hole yo'ne whiles I tell you! She say to me, she say, 'Is you 'quainted Maje' Vanrevel, Mamie?' s' she, an' I up'n' ansuh, 'Not to speak wid, but dey ain' none on 'em I don' knows by sight, an' none betterer dan him,' I say. Den she say, she say, 'You run all de way an' fin' dat young man,' she say, s' she, 'an' if you don' git dah fo' he leave, er don' stop him on de way, den God 'lmighty fergive you!' she say. 'But you tell him f'um Jane Tanberry not to come nigh dis house or dis gyabden dis night! Tell him dat Jane Tanberry warn him he mus' keep outer Carewe's way ontel he safe on de boat tomorrer. Tell him Jane Tanberry beg him to stay in he own room dis night, an' dat she beg it on her bented knees!' An' dis she say to me when I tole her what Nelson see in dat house dis evenin'. An' hyuh I is, an' hyuh you is, an' de blessed Jesus be thank', you is hyuh!"

Tom regarded her with a grave attention. "What made Mrs. Tanberry think I might be coming there tonight?"

"Dey's cur'ous goin's on in dat house, suh! De young lady, she ain' like herself. All de day long she wanduh up an' down an' roun' about. Miz Tanberry are a mighty guessifying woman, an' de minute I tell her what Nelse see she s'pec' you a-comin' an' dat de boss mos' pintedly preparin' fo' it!"

"Can you make it a little clearer for me, Mamie? I'm afraid I don't understand."

"Well, suh, you know dat ole man Nelson; he allays tell me ev'yt'ing he know an' ev'yt'ing he think he know, jass de same, suh. An' dat ole Nelse, he mos' 'sessful cull'd man in de worl' to crope roun' de house an' pick up de gossip an' git de 'fo' an' behine er what's goin' on. So 'twas dat he see de boss, when he come in to'des evenin', tek dat heavy musket offn' de racks an' load an' clean her, an' he do it wid a mighty bad look 'bout de mouf. Den he gone up to de cupoly an' lef' it dah an' den come down ag'in. Whiles dey all is eatin' he 'nounce th'ee time' dat he goin' be 'way endu'in' de evenin'. Den he gone out de front do' an' out de gates an' down de street. Den, suh, den, suh, 'tain't no mo'n a half 'n 'our ago, Nelse come to me an' say dat he see de boss come roun' de stable, keepin' close in by de shrubbery, an' crope in de ballroom winder, w'ich is close to de groun', suh. Nelse 'uz a cleanin' be harness in de back yo'd, an' he let on not to see him, like. Miss Betty, she walkin' in her gyahden an' Miz Tanberry fan' on de po'ch. Nelse, he slip de house whuh de lights ain' lit an' stan' an' listen long time in de liberry at de foot er dem sta'hs, an' he hyuh dat man move, suh! Den Nelse know dat he done crope up to de cupoly room an'—an' dat he settin' dah, waitin'! Soze he come an' tole me, an' I beg Miz Tanberry come in de kitchen, an' I shet de do' an' I tol' her. An' she sended me hyuh to you, suh. An' if you 'uz a-goin', de good God 'lmighty mus' er kep' you ontel I got hyuh!"

"No, I wasn't going." Tom smiled upon her sadly. "I dare say there's a simpler explanation. Don't you suppose that if Nelson was right and Mr. Carewe really did come back it was because he did not wish his daughter and Mrs. Tanberry to know that—that he expected a party of friends, possibly, to join him there later?"

"What he doin' wid dat gun, suh? Nobody goin' play cyahds ner frow dice wid a gun, is dey?" asked Mamie as she rose and walked toward the door.

"Oh, that was probably by chance."

"No, suh!" she cried vehemently. "An' dem gelmun wouldn' play t'night no way; mos' on 'em goin' wid you tomorrer, an' dey sayin' goodby to de'r folks dis evenin', not gamblin'! Miz Tanberry 'll be in a state er mine ontel she hyuh f'um me, an' I'se goin' hurry back. You won' come dar, suh? I kin tell her dat you say you sutney ain' comin' nigh our neighborhood dis night?"

"I had not dreamed of coming, tell her, please. Probably I shall not go out at all this evening. But it was kind of you to come. Good night."

He stood with a candle to light her down the stairs, but after she had gone he did not return to the office. Instead, he went slowly up to his own room, glancing first into Crailey's—the doors of neither were often locked—to behold a chaos of disorder and unfinished packing. In his own chamber it only remained for him to close the lids of a few big boxes and to pack a small trunk which he meant to take with him to the camp of the state troops and he would be ready for departure. He set about this task and, concluding that there was no necessity to wear his uniform on the steamboat, decided to place it in the trunk and went to the bed where he had folded and left it. It was not there; nor did a thorough search reveal it anywhere in the room. Yet no one could have stolen it, for when he had gone down to the office Crailey had remained on this floor. Mamie had come within a few minutes after Crailey went out, and during his conversation with her the office door had been open; no one could have passed without being seen. Also, a thief would have taken other things as well as the uniform, and surely Crailey must have heard; Crailey would—Crailey—

Then Tom remembered the figure in the long cloak and the military cap and with a sick heart began to understand. He had read the Journal, and he knew why Crailey might wish to masquerade in a major's uniform that night. If Miss Carewe read it, too, and a strange wonder rose in her mind, this and a word would convince her. Tom considered it improbable that the wonder would rise, for circumstances had too well established her in a mistake, trivial and ordinary enough at first, merely the confusing of two names by a girl new to the town, but so strengthened by every confirmation Crailey's wit could compass that she would no doubt only set Cummings' paragraph aside as a newspaper error. Still Crailey had wished to be on the safe side.

Tom sighed rather bitterly. He was convinced that the harlequin would come home soon, replace the uniform (which was probably extremely becoming to him, as they were of a height and figure much the same) and afterward in his ordinary dress would sally forth to spend his last evening with Fanchon. Tom wondered how Crailey would feel and what he would think about himself while he was changing his clothes, but he remembered his partner's extraordinary powers of mental adjustment, and for the first time in his life Vanrevel made no allowance for the other's temperament, and there came to him a moment when he felt that he could almost dislike Crailey Gray.

Dysentery corrodes the intestines and speedily eats away the lining, bringing about dangerous conditions that may cause death. Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Dysentery Cordial clears the intestinal canals of the germs that cause the inflammation, and by protecting the lining from further ravages restores them to healthy condition. Those subject to dysentery should not be without this simple yet powerful remedy.

What becomes of a joke when it gets too old for the newspapers?

It goes on the stage.

And after that?

To the theatrical programme.

Where it ends its existence, I suppose?

Oh, no; it lives honorably for many years in the Congressional cloak rooms.

SURE REGULATORS.—Mandrake and Dandelion are known to exert a powerful influence on the liver and kidneys, restoring them to healthful action, inducing a regular flow of the secretions and imparting to the organs complete power to perform their functions. These valuable ingredients enter into the composition of Parmelee's Vegetable Pills, and serve to render them the agreeable and salutary medicine they are. There are few pills so effective as they in their action.

THEY WAKE THE TORPID ENERGIES.—Machinery not properly supervised and left to run itself, very soon shows fault in its working. It is the same with the digestive organs. Unregulated from time to time they are likely to become torpid and throw the whole system out of gear. Parmelee's Vegetable Pills were made to meet such cases. They restore to the full the flagging faculties, and bring into order all parts of the mechanism.

"By the way," queried Miss Blowitz, who had recently entertained a duke, "have you ever had any foreign noblemen as guests?"

"No," answered Mrs. Upson, "only as servants."

IN FIELDS FAR OFF.—Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil is known in Australia, South and Central America as well as in Canada and the United States, and its consumption increases each year. It has made its own way, and all that needs to be done is to keep its name before the public. Everyone knows that it is to be had at all stores, for all merchants keep it.

"May I kiss you?"

The girl hastily consulted a document.

"You may," she said.

"Why did you consult that paper?"

"To see if there is anything in our lease prohibiting it."

Clarence Urmy, the poet of San Jose, was praising California wine.

"A New Yorker visited me the other day," said Mr. Urmy, "and I opened a bottle of our native champagne. The man was delighted.

"Why, if they had this stuff in the east," he said, holding his glass to the light, "they'd run excursions to it."

With an air of sympathy Manager Fiasco passed his hand over his freshly-shaven chin.

"Hamfat, my dear fellow," he said heartily, "you'll be missed if you leave the stage."

NELSON AMEY.

The people of Ernesttown were made sad when on Wednesday morning, May 26th, the tidings went out that Nelson Amey was dead, and a still heavier grief fell upon the house that was his.

Our late friend was born in the Township of Ernesttown on the 18th day of November, 1848. He was united in marriage to Miss Capitola Bell in the year 1885, the widow that now mourns his loss.

For a number of years past Mr. and Mrs. Amey resided on the old homestead, where Mr. Elgin Amey, only brother of the deceased, also lived, their home being a happy and prosperous one, and the centre of refining influences. A tiller of the soil, Mr. Amey was one of those sturdy men that have helped to build up our country. He was by nature of a kindly disposition and won the good will of a large circle of friends. In character he was upright and sincere, hating iniquity and loving righteousness, and many will be the better for having known him. The writer bears willing testimony to his geniality as host, and to his loving tender spirit as husband and father.

His end came all too soon and suddenly. Pursuing his farm duties only too earnestly, he strained himself so that a blood vessel was ruptured, and despite all that medical skill could do he passed away after an interval of a few days, during which his intense pain was borne with a noble fortitude. Loving hands and sincere mourners bore him to his last resting place in the cemetery at Camden East. Life had for Mr. Amey many joys, death had no terrors, and we look to see him again in the land without a shadow. His wife and one son, Purcell, and two daughters, Edna and Dora, are left to mourn their best friend.—Rev. J. [illegible] Mears.
